$24,396 a day

FOR SHOES, MEAT AND MOVIES

* The salaries and wages paid to Edison employees in 1938 amounted to $24,396 a day, or nearly nine million dollars for the year. Much of this money was spent in Edison territory for the daily necessities of life—food, shelter and clothing—and for automobiles, entertainment and ice cream, too. Since 1910, the Edison payroll has more than tripled, yet this increase is not shown in electric rates, for Edison rates have steadily decreased in the same period.

To those who ride the cars . . . and to those who do not . . . the Los Angeles Railway extends best wishes for the Christmas Season.

• GOOD HEALTH . . .

By Dr. Ruth Temple

Broadcasting from Station KWA

(Keep Well Always)

We are glad to welcome to the microphone, Mrs. Emily Brown Portwig, Secretary of the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association. (Come in Mrs. Portwig).

Thank you, Dr. Temple. We feel that the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association is headed for the best era in its history. Dr. Toles, its able president and his fine corps of workers are rapidly carrying out some new plans and progressive ideas voted by the association at its November meeting.

One of the most interesting events for the next year, will be a repetition by the Los Angeles Tuberculosis and Health Association of a very fine medical symposium which brought to our city as instructors outstanding Negro doctors from all parts of the country.

Another new feature of the Medical, Dental, and Pharmaceutical Association is the plan to have the members meet at different houses and places and the different hosts will be Doctors Howard H. Allen, A. J. Booker, Ralph W. E. Bledsoe, and B. L. Bledsoe. With the permission of you announcer I will be glad to keep you posted on the activities of the Association.

Thank you, Mrs. Portwig. We shall be glad to have you come often and also to have each and every other member of Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association to voice over this station his or her thoughts on Community Health, for this column seeks to cooperate with all Community Health programs.

It will be remembered that the symposium spoken of today as well was sponsored by the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Health Association through the sale of Christmas Seals.

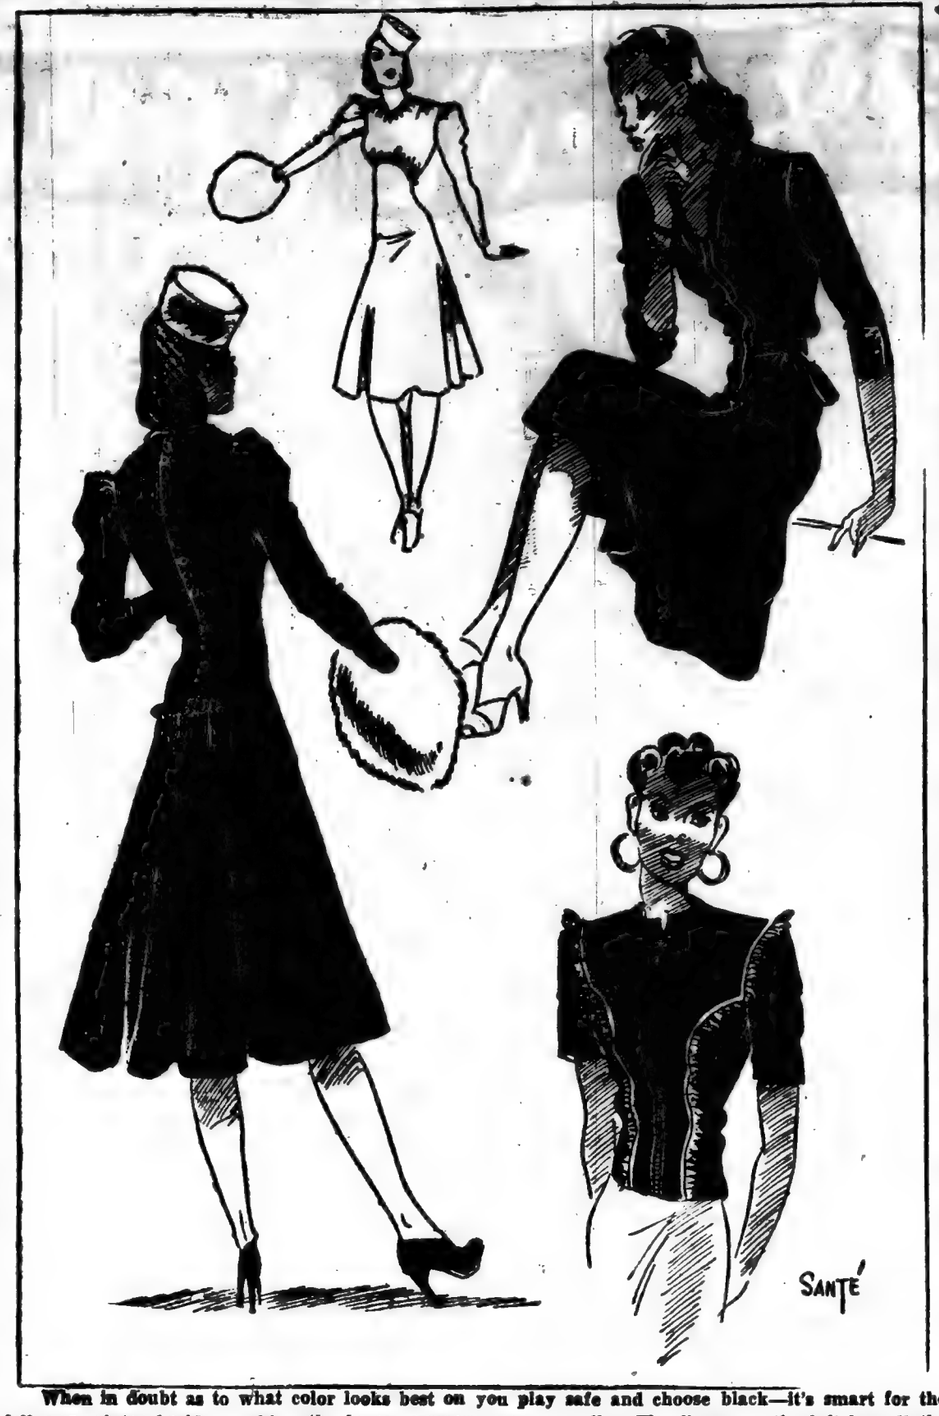
Signing off until next week. Your announcer, Ruth J. Temple, M. D.

Playgrounds Open in Full Xmas Blast

To help take care of the problem of "time on the hands" of children at leisure for the two weeks of Christmas vacation, the Board of Education has announced the start of full-time activities at city playgrounds.

Well rounded programs were started Monday at all of the play spots. At Lafayette Junior High school, a typical program is presented.

Monday, youngsters were guests of an Open House program, sponsored by the U. S. Forestry service. Tuesdays, small vacationers did woodwork in the toy shop.



Yesterday (Wednesday), movies featured boys' club activities and next Tuesday, Lafayette will conduct its own hobby show. The hobbies of all kids are eligible for display and on the following Wednesda the City Recreational Dept. will sponsor a hobby program.

Youthful automobile designers ma parade their creations on next Thrusday and a program sponsored by the Southern California Automobile club will wind up activities on Friday. All programs start at 3:30 p. m. The playgrounds are open each day from 3:00 to 9:30 p. m.

Major Johnson Succeeds Scott

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. (ANP)—Major Campbell Johnson, executive secretary of the colored YMCA and long active in social and civic work here was named by the commissioners a member of the District Board of Indeterminate Sentence and Parole, to succeed Dr. Emmett H. Scott.

Dr. Scott, formerly attached to Howard university and now engaged with the Republican National committee, had submitted his resignation due to pressure of work in his new position. He had been a member of the board since its creation in 1932.

When in doubt as to what color looks best on you play safe and choose black—it's smart for the fall and winter besides making the larger woman appear smaller. The figure on the left has all the interest centered on the back where the interest certainly is these days. Instead of the bustle this one has shirring a few inches below the waist (always small you know) and flares fully to the bottom of the skirt. The front is simple with only shirring at the bust.

The seated figure again demonstrates the importance of shirring this season with almost all attention centered on the front. Note the new length of the sleeves with shirring also on the side. It's easy and inexpensive to make and insures that chic appearance.

The new tendency towards the military effect is shown in the simple but clever evening or afternoon jacket. The trimming of braid from the shoulders down give that epaulette idea so popular in Paris this year. The front is zippered down to the waist. Gold braid or some type of fringe would be especially effective on black velvet or satin, for evening wear.

Bantus Raise Battleship Fund

JOHANNESBURG (S. Africa). Dec. 21. (ANP)—P. A. Gajana and P. E. Lemeke of Johannesburg, in charge of ad rive among Native mine workers to buy a battleship for Great Britain, have sent out an appeal for funds. The circular says:

"If every man determines to contribute every month toward this fund, we will be able to buy, or cause a battleship to be made, to our honor and loyalty to the British Empire. As of old, when a battle cry was sounded, our forefathers nevered as to the cause, but took their weapons to defend themselves or annihilate the enemy."

Urge Support of Xmas Seal Sale

An urgent appeal for support of the 1939 Christmas Seal sale, which closes on Christmas Day, was made today by Dr. F. M. Pottenger, president of the Los Angeles Tuberculosis and Health Association, as the campaign neared its close.

"While reports of early returns throughout the city indicate a gratifying response to the Seal Sale as it nears the end, we are still not sure of realizing our goal for 1939", Dr. Pottenger said.

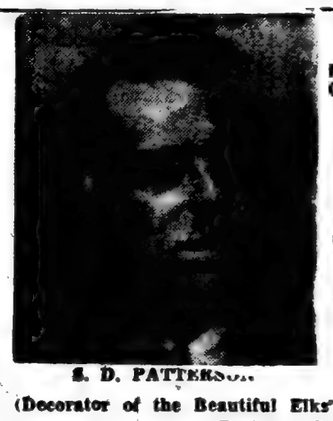
S. C. Daily Adds 'Negro Section'

Use "Mr.", "Mrs.", "Miss" Prefixes for 1st Time in History



GREENVILLE, S. C.) Dec. 20. (ANP)—Prof. C. E. Hammond, principal of Allen Grammar school, has been selected by the Greenville News, local daily newspaper, to conduct a column of "Colored News" in the Sunday edition. Last Sunday, with initial appearance of Hammond's column, Negroes here saw for the first time in the News, the names of colored men prefixed with "Mr." and that of women with "Miss" or "Mrs."

Local residents this week were somewhat at a loss to explain the sudden "change of heart" on the part of the News. It has always been violently anti-Negro, till now used the offensive word "darkey" in news stories. To refer to a colored woman as "Mrs." or "Miss," was unthinkable.

Their Washington correspondent filled his dispatches with "viewing with alarm the trend of the present administration in courting the Negro."

There is a rumor that the colored boys are not to be allowed to sell Negro weekly papers downtown any longer. Possibly this column is to take the place of the Negro weeklies. There is a law to protect the local dailies against the sale of out of town papers without a license.

DID YOU KNOW—Fraternities and secret societies have the oldest history of any group within the Negro race. The first was founded in 1775.

Hundreds turned out in Des Moines, Iowa last week to hear Etta Moten, lovely concert singer, according to press reports. Accompanied by pianist Clyde Winkfield of New York, Miss Moten is on her annual winter concert tour. To Des Moines music lovers, she presented a program of spirituals, classics; Negro compositions and by request, popular numbers from motion picture successes.

'john henry' lives in paul robeson

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 21. (By ANP)—"John Henry", the "Paul Bunyan" of colored legend, was brought to life this week at the Erlanger theatre by Paul Robeson, famed baritone singer, in the premiere of Roark Bradford's musical by the same name.

Paul Robeson

Robeson, a former football star, fitted the legendary character to a "T" and his efforts were roundly cheered by the large sized audience. He was called back for many curtain calls.

The mighty exploits of the Black River Giant were musically told, and the cast of 60—all colored except for the part of the river captain, played by Alexander Gray—gave excellent support to Robeson.

Robeson, whose "Ole Man River" song was immortalized in Flo Ziegfeld's "Show Boat", gave one of the best performances of his career. He actually seemed to live the part and critical reviews of the play in the daily papers predict for it a long run when it hits Broadway. It will stay in Philly for about six weeks as a tryout.

CROWD CHEERS

The finale, when John Henry dies in a battle of brawn against the work of a steam engine in lifting cotton, drew the audience to its feet, loudly cheering the dramatic efforts of Robeson.

Settings in the show were designed by Albert Johnson and depict scenes on the lower Mississippi. Others in the cast include Ruby Elzy, Myra Johnson, Joe Attles, Joshua White, De Witt Spencer, Musa Williams, Minto Cato, Robert Harvey, James Lightfoot and Maude Simmons. There is a singing chorus of 50 trained by Leonard DePaur.

From "Mammy", beloved character in the fabulous film 'Gone With The Wind', comes Christmas Greetings to all the movie fans. "Mammy" is humorous happy veteran of the screen Hattie McDaniels. In real life Miss McDaniels cuts a stylish figure, as above in fox furs and a pin striped suit.

After Jan. 1, Miss McDaniels will be under contract to Selznick-International Studios. She is under the management of the Music Corporation of America.

One of the most prominent featured players in cinemahood, Hattie McDaniels scored her biggest triumph as "Queenie" in 'Showboat', reportedly surpasses that effort in "Gone With the Wind".

GLADYS SNYDER, 19-year-old leading lady to Ralph Cooper in Million Dollar Production's new crime thriller "Gang War" soon to be released. She was chosen by director Leo C. NEW YORK, Dec. 21—Music lovers throughout the country will remember the comely Miss who toured the country with Jimmy Lunceford's band about three years ago.

A few seasons ago when Ethel Waters left the "Rhapsody in Black" show, Babe Matthews stepped into the place and according to all reports filled it well.

Those who have had the privilege of seeing the first showing of Sepia-Arts' new featurette, "What Goes Up", saw her in new role.

Andre Le Blau, French motion picture photographer who was visiting the studio during the shooting of "What Goes Up", said, "Miss Matthews is par excellante."

hattie mcdaniel lauded for portrayal in 'gone with wind'

Premiere crowds in Atlanta where the widely heralded 'Gone with the Wind' opened last week were completely captivated by the "lovable portrayal of Mammy" by Hattie McDaniel, according to press reports. The morning after the premiere Miss McDaniel received the following telegram from Miss Mitchell,

"The premiere was wonderful. During the intermission the mayor of Atlanta called for a hand for 'Our Hattie McDaniel". Wish you could have heard the applause. Congratulations. Signed, Margaret Mitchell Marsh."

At a recent press preview held in Hollywood critics were unanimouse in saying that Miss McDaniel had turned in an outstanding performance. Since then the actress has been beseiged with numerous telephone calls and letters congratulating her on her fine work in the "biggest production to come out of Hollywood."

jeni legon's rise to film prominence inspirational

By ALMENA DAVIS

The story of Jeni LeGon's rise to movie opportunity, (she plays the lead in Argus' Double Deal), should furnish plenty of inspiration and hope for youngsters who aspire to places in the entertainment world. And a play-by-play account of the rigors of "keeping up" should give a notion of the responsibilities attached to the fame and fortune for which Jeni is in line.

Possessing the makings of a real cinema glamour girl, Jeni is working her "fingers to the elbow" to achieve the transition. Do you remember the Jeni, who little less than two years ago, practically lived in slacks . . . was a familiar and tom-boyish figure on Jefferson's tennis courts, no more guarded of her dignity and decorum than any college girl, unencumbered by movie aspirations?

That Jeni is no more. Her slacks, pleated gabardine affairs, the envy of slack-wearing gals, are no longer worn in public. And when the heroine of filmdom's latest thriller plays tennis these days, it's quietly and guardedly in the early morning. No more of those informal gab sessions between sets, sprawled comfortably on the sidelines. Such elaborate precautions are like a sales tax on fame and fortune.

GOES TO SCHOOL

Jeni doesn't exactly "lay an egg" in "Double Deal," but she's no Ginger Rogers either. So to catch up on the histrionics she should have been learning while "hoofing" one-night stands in the middle west, the glamour girl goes to school, three hours a day to Laura Bowman, veteran actress and coach.

This is in addition to dancing and singing lessons. (Dancing is as much a part of Jeni's routine as eating.) She tops off the hard labor with 8 hours of sleep. No phone calls are taken for her after 9 p. m.

Jeni's story reads like a typical Horatio Alger plot . . . "Sink or swim" . . . "Do or die."

Reared on Chicago's Southside, refuse to be hired unless she give her dancing lessons. Nothing daunted, she did a more fortunfor instruction in steps learned by the chum each Saturday morning in dancing class. At 16 or so, Jeni embarked on her career, dancing in Sammy Dyer's chorus around Chicago. A year or so later, she was touring the South with the Whitman sisters.

Jeni came to California in the early 30's with a group headed by Shelton Brooks. The troupe thought it had a fine engagement, but arrived to find the manager's deal had fallen thru. A scramble for work followed and Jeni, the baby of the bunch, had a hard time of it. With the legendary generosity of show folk however, the troupe would Jeni's parents were too poor to was included in arrangements.

MEETS DANCER

Finally, one night, Opportunity came knocking. Jeni was seen by Earl Dancer. In Negro theatrical circles, there is not, at present, an equal to Dancer. In his hey-day, he was a unique personage. No performer, he is a producer, a discoverer of talent a manager par excellence.

Credited with the discovery of Ethel Waters . . . he's her former husband . . . Dancer took LeGon under his capacious wing, carried her to movie featurization and European triumphs.

Homespun philosophers have a saying, designed to check too whole-hearted exuberance in things new, "don't forget the bridge that carried you over." Out at Argus, it is rumored, the powers that be are trying to make Jeni LeGon forget the "bridge" that carried her over, said bridge being Dancer.

It seems Dancer has lost the "magic touch" that gave him prominence ONCE. He's slightly poisonous to theatrical officialdom now and Argus will have none of him.

Undoubtedly, Dancer is on his way out. His feet are just about beyond the thresh-hold and the door is clicking behind him . . . but I've a suspicion from talking with forthright, frank Jeni LeGon that she hasn't forgotten. That no matter the sales tax of fame and fortune, she'll remember, inside, the 'bridge that

You'll have to get this from the Decca race list, but it's mighty fine, is Helen Proctor's CHEATING ON ME and BLUES AT MIDNIGHT. MARCH 23

..."But a confused world asks its oft repeated question: "What can we do to save ourselves from further tyranny and aggression?"

"Today, we are selecting the lesser of two evils. We submit rather than to wage war. This, certainly, is a wise decision. There is no horror on earth more terrific than the spectacle of modern warfare. Once upon a time, war had an adventurous ring—when brave men died for what they believed to be right. In days gone by, the outcome of a battle often rested upon which side was most determined, most inspired in its own convictions. No longer. Today war is as precise and uncompromising an industry as any we might name. The destruction of human lives, human individuality, the highest form of creation that we know—is reduced to a fine mechanical science. No heart; no soul. Just bullets, gas, shrapnel, airplanes, bombs. It is best to wait yet a while before hurling the world's youth into such a cauldron . . ."

"The "forced" retirement of former Acting Captain Homer Garrott, and the recent "gag-beat" for officer Slaughter have stirred the Eastside.

"It has long been a recognized taboo in Los Angeles' official circles that Negroes must not be allowed to work in the central, downtown offices of the police department. However, under past administrations, colored citizens slowly gained much needed employment recognition at the local Newton Street station. But today we find that even this has been snatched away. Young, progressive Negroes who formerly held responsible positions at the station have been removed to the inglorious task of "beat-pounding".

"Dissatisfaction with Newton Street Station on the Eastside grows by leaps and bounds—and rightly so. . ."

SEPTEMBER 21st

..."There are ten more days to register in the special Ham and Eggs election which California soon will be facing. The franchise is every citizen's most valuable privilege—but in this case the value of that vote is not only theotrical but intensely important to the Average Man and his most sensitive nerve, the pocketbook.

"The Ham-and-Eggs, Thirty Dollars Every Thursday proposal is pure legislative bilge. It boasts not one ounce of economic sanity or practicability. . . VOTE "NO" ON HAM-AND-EGGS!. . ."

NOVEMBER 30th

..."The total wreckage of a man's home because policemen suspect him of a liquor or gambling violation is a disgrace more to the community than to the department itself. If citizens of the Eastside will allow such rank disregard for Civil Liberties in their home community, there is little hope for real race progress here. . ."

DECEMBER 20th

Thank you Fathers--City Fathers.

It was disclosed this week that by vote of the City Council, the Housing Project is finally set to roll. It has been a long, hard-fought battle, and so the victory is that much sweeter.

To the 7th District Councilman Carl Rasmussen must go a great deal of credit. Often alone and with every incentive to "forget all about it", he has carried on the fight for a suitable Eastside housing project in the City Council. His efforts have been as tireless as they have been unheralded. Councilman Rasmussen is not a publicity monger, thus it is with doubled pleasure the EAGLE says to him "Thank You!" And to the Council—"Thank You, Fathers!"

THE LETTER TO SANTA

• THE WORLD THIS WEEK

WHY CHRISTMAS SEALS?

One of the great triumphs of modern medical science has been it relentless—and increasingly successful—battle against tuberculosis.

Once known as the "great white plague," that disease is now in slow, but constant, retreat before the powerful minboth the cause of tuberculosis istrations of medical research and care. Today science knows both the cause of tuberculosis and how to control it. Only lack of funds stands in the way of complete eradication of the disease. Were sufficient funds available to hospitalize all cases needing attention, within six years—according to one conservative prediction—tuberculosis could be banished completely!

Christmas seals offer each of us a ready means of hastening the conquest of a foe of a stronger, healthier America. Much progress has already been achieved. Since these seals first appeared in 1907, the tuberculosis death-rate in the United States has been reduced almost 66 per cent. Yet despite this remarkably encouraging record, it still remains the leading cause of death for persons between the ages of 15 and 45.

Every letter bearing Christmas seals, by that fact bears a message of good-will to our fellowmen less fortunate than we. As emblems of the spirit of the Yuletide season, these Christmast seals bring true gifts of hope and cheer to others.

DAN CUPID SULKS

Dan Cupid and the Doctor are at outs with each other.

Instead of collaborating in friendly fashion to the mutual advantage of both, Dan Cupid is off in a corner sulking. Apparently resentful of the cool, critical eyes of the scientific newcomer, romantic Dan has been pocketing a good many of his arrows.

The result has been to send California's marriage rate tumbling. Since passage of a state law this year requiring pre-marital health tests, a marked decline has set in. In October, reports Dr. W. M. Dickie, State Public Health Director, the rate dropped 30 per cent under the October 1938 figure.

Nevada has captured a moderate share of the orange blossom ceremonies which California has been missing in recent months but, in the main, prospective newlyweds have just been staying at home.

Whatever the reasons for their sit-by-the-fire behavior, we count on them soon to realize one fact: That medical science is really a friendly ally and not a foe.

Its sole aim in this case is simply to assure long life and happiness to Dan Cupid.

ALL GUMMED UP!

Just the other day a psychologist announced that, according to his findings, gum-chewing acted as a sedative, helped ease tense nerves, and was frequently conducive to work.

New York is today ready to vouch for the last part of that report. It kept a crew at work for six months, doing nothing but scraping gum off the walls, floors, and seats of subway stations. The men have quit. "They just couldn't keep up with the chewers!" officials sadly reported.

The city fathers of the nation's biggest metropolis estimated last week that it required hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly to keep its public buildings, sidewalks, and park benches ungummed. On a lesser scale, what other cities couldn't report being "stuck up" in the same way?

Decidedly, gum-chewing is conducive to work—for others!

FAREWELL TO THE FAIR

A picturesque city of garden courts, sparkling fountains, and exotic edifices, is scheduled to pass into oblivion on Treasure Island this week under the hammers of destruction, wielded by building-wreckers.

The passing of the Golden Gate International Exposition, with the decision not to re-open it for a second year, will cause regret. But the simple, and unfortunate, fact is that the Fair was nowhere near the success its sponsors and wells-wishers had hoped for.

Generously praised, admired by most, endowed with a beautiful setting, easily accessible, why, then, did the Exposition fail to win the popular response it counted on? Slightly less than 10,500,000 visitors attended the Fair, where nearly 19,000,000 thronged the Panama-Pacific Exposition of 1915. Attendance at New York's Fair this year likewise fell far below expectations. One answer may be that Fairs, as such, are growing obsolete in this day of extremely rapid dissemination of knowledge thru the channels of newspapers, illustrated weeklies, motion pictures, and radio. New discoveries in science, medicine, industry or new trends in art or architecture, are today quickly made known to a whole nation. This was not the case 30 and 50 years ago. Then a Fair offered the sole means of enabling millions to witness the progress of the arts, sciences, and industries.

Whatever other factors played a part, the experience of New York and San Francisco this year has indicated this much: Today's public has only one-half as much interest in Fairs as the public of yesterday.

• GUEST EDITORIAL

Julius Rosenwald in a New Light

The late Julius Rosenwald, Jewish philanthropist, at the opening of the Wabash Avenue colored branch of the YMCA in Chicago said:

"The white men who make the white race honorable believe in equal rights for you . . .The man who hates a black man because he is black has the same spirit as he who hates a poor man because he is poor. . . Men are not superior by the accident of race or color; they are superior who have the best heart. . . Your enemies are also the enemies of liberty, of progress and of justice. . . . The noblest dead were, the noblest living are, your friends."

Despite the fact that Mr. Rosenwald gave $5,000 000 to build colored public schools in the South and millions more to colored colleges and YMCA's, we always felt that his life never squared with his utterances.

We couldn't understand why the Sears Roebuck stores, out of which he made his money, were intentionally discourteous to colored customers; why, in his enterprises employing 65,000 persons, only a few of them were colored.

After all, we thought, it is one thing to give a man alms and another thing to give him a job.

We couldn't fathom the Rosenwald who said, "As an American and as a Jew, I appeal to all high-minded men and women to join in a relentless crusade against race prejudice," but who, in his business, said in effect, "I employ white people only."

Light came this week in a new book, "Julius Rosenwald," by M. R. Werner, just published by Harper Brothers, New York price $3.50.

According to Werner, Mr. Rosenwald tried to employ colored men in his own company "but found the consensus of opinion among his own associates and employees was against it. . . He also met opposition when he tried to substitute colored for white help in his Chicago office building. In both cases he bowed to the will of the majority. . . He ended by concentrating on education to fit colored people for those opportunities open to them, and which they might develop among themselves. . .

Many a business leader who found his associates opposed to his program would probably do just what Mr. Rosenwald did. He would yield t the will of the majority of his advisers rather than cause a breach.

Henry Ford, in Detroit, and Harvey Firestone, in Akron, who with Mr. Rosenwald created equally great businesses, gave away no great fortunes in philanthropy but insisted that colored workers should have jobs in their plants on equal footing with all other workers.

If we had to choose, therefore, between the two we'd prefer Ford to Rosenwald, because we believe the Ford way is the American way to solve America's problems.

And we say this even when we agree that Mr. Rosenwald, sincere and noble man that he was, is responsible for the greatest revival of education the South has ever known. There, for generations children who study in the 5,000 public school houses he helped to build will call him blessed.

Many AFRO readers have heard the story that Richard Sears was colored.

Sears and Roebuck founded the mail order house which afterwards sold out to Mr. Rosenwald.

Werner explains the story like this.

Local merchants in order to fight the mail order business, stirred up race prejudice. They circulated the reports that Sears was a colored man.

Photographs of Sears were sent out in the store catalogues to disprove the rumor, and the company went to the trouble to trace the family trees of both Sears and Roebuck and make the information public. Believe it or not.

• LETTERS

Dear Editor:

In your regular weekly edition of December 16, 1939, there was a letter written to the Editor by a very estimable young man, concerning the position of Negroes in the General Motors Corporation. There were comparisons made between the Ford Motor Corporation and the General Motor Corporation.

I do not intend to criticize that young man, but I do believe that this subject should be recognized from another viewpoint. I wonder if we as Negroes ask ourselves just one question before drawing up such drastic conclusions? That question is simply this: "WHAT HAVE WE CONTRIBUTED TO THE SUCCESS AND MASS PRODUCTION OF ANY INDUSTRY?"

I am of the opinion that Mr. Ford when entering the field of automobile manufacturing, obtained whatsoever financial assistance necessary, from his own group. The same thing also holds true regarding the General Motors Corp. Therefore, neither corporation is directly obligated to Negroes as a whole, thus the employment of Negroes in such corporations is purely voluntary.

I would like to state here that this is not an argument against Negroes being employed of such corporations, but rather an attempt to urge our people to become contributors to industry in the capacity of producers rather than as consumers. The question, no doubt, arises in the minds of many, what type of industrial endeavor could be undertaken by our group that is open for development, within our financial standards and would produce reasonable profits?

I am in a position to know of several industrial projects, which fulfill the above requirements, and could be undertaken by our race successfully, with the proper co-operation and business management. As you can readily see, such an industrial organization would make our group more independent by depending to a great extent, on our own race for employment, rather than on other races, and also help solve our enormous unemployment problem.

Yours very truly,
ARTHUR A. BELL

CHESS PLAYERS ATTENTION

Dear Editor:

I wish to consult your good office on the establishing of a national organization of chess players. I find the game of chess, during may travels in various parts of the United States, to be of great interest among the Race in general.

I am confident that if you will consider the establishment of a chess club, you will have the support of Howard Murphy, Rev. W. W. Walker of Baltimore; Rev. J. C. Austin of Chicago, and R. L. Vann of Pittsburgh, together with my theory on chess, which I fell, simplifies the game on the order as kindergarten on education of the ABC and the like.

I wish to say that among us there are ever so many people who play the game of chess in private and deny it in public on account of their doubting their ability to play the game and I suggest to counter those actions by the establishing of an organization. Would like to hear from you on this subject in the near future.

An international chess player,
Sincerely yours,
THEODORE RIDEOUT

The LAUNDRYMAN

A HEAVY FOG, Capitalism's failure to provide a Christmas Savings account for him, and a sudden, irresistible impulse to rectify this omission, all combined to transform Sam Sweeney, normally an un-offending, six-foot, slow moving and slower thinking Negro, into a threatening footpad.

It all happened in a few brief seconds as Sam shambled around the corner of 17th and Central avenue in Los Angeles, about 8 o'clock two eventful nights before Christmas. A bustling middle-aged woman who had alighted from a street car a few moments before, approached him carrying a gaudily wrapped Christmas bundle. Her satchel-like purse swung from her left hand. Like Caesar, Sam seen, snatched, and "beat it". The woman screamed, but Sam disappeared quickly in the low hanging fog.

Fifteen minutes later, about 10 blocks away from the scene of Sam Sweeney's revolt against Capitalism. Rev. Timothy Johnson was sitting disconsolately in a rickety arm-chair in a bare-looking five room house that reared its dingy head close up behing a small, box-shaped Central Avenue store. Three little brown picaninnies, aged two, three and five years, played around on the bare but cleanly-scrubbed floor of the disorderly dining room wherein the Reverend sat. His buxom wife, a tired out expression on her round dark face was ironing some clothes for the kiddies in the far corner of the room.

Soon there came a knock on the kitchen door—the one main entrance to the dole-ful looking house. Rev. Johnson 'rose slowly and answered it. The caller was his landlord, a burly looking gypsy.

"I just come to tell you the sheriff will be here to put you out tomorrow: unless you get me my $25.00 back rent tonight. Thought I'd give you one more chance, it being Christmas", the gypsy said, brusquely.

Mrs. Johnson had dropped her ironing and had entered the kitchen. The three little tots followed her, clinging to her skirts as if apprehensive of disaster. Rev. Johnson's melancholly face took on an expression of utter despair.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Lazzo", he said dejectedly: "But I ain't had no work. The WPA laid me off three weeks ago, and I ain't worked since."

"I can't help that: I've got to have my money," the gypsy retorted.

Immediately, stout, quick tempered Mrs. Johnson swung into action. "You get out of here, you low down Gypsy. You're nothing but a thief nohow. This dump we're living in ain't worth $15 a month, much less $25."

She advanced on the astonished gypsy with clenched fists. He retreated precipitately and she slammed the door on him. Then, tense with emotion she turned on the Reverend and bawled him out for not throwing the Gypsy out. Rev. Johnson—perhaps wisely—held his peace. He padded softly back into the forlorn looking dining room, his worn slippers scuffing the bare floor at each step. The three tots slowly followed him. She followed them scolding louder and louder, then burst into tears finally and flopped down on the faded red leather couch.

Rev. Johnson went over to her and placed his horny hand upon her head. "The Lord will provide somehow, Honey," he said softly. The three little tots joined him at their mother's side. "Jesus saves!", said the eldest of the three softly. "Jesus saves," re-echoed the other two in soft, childish treble. Tenderly they patted her wet cheeks. Rev. Johnson sensing that the storm was past, tiptoed back to his rickety arm-chair.

Outside, a huge dark figure skulked in the narrow passage between the high-board fence and the back side of the Reverend's home. It was Sam Sweeney striving to escape the blood-hounds of the Law. The hue and cry created by the screams of his victim had brought a number of pursues upon his trail, but so far, thanks to the fog, and his skill at doubling and twisting, he had managed to elude them. Through a partly open window he had witnessed the entire tableau which had taken place in Rev Johnson's home.

He seemed unmoved apparently by the plight of the Johnson family however, insofar as one might have judged from his facial expression. To the contrary, his main interest seemed centered upon the scanning of a roll of bills which he held gingerly up to the faint light which filtered through the window. Five, five-dollar bills he counted in quick success. "They'll gimme a swell Christmas", he gloated.

Just then came the sound of voices outside of a narrow gate opening on Central Avenue, a gate which led straight down to the spot where he stood. A man, evidently a police officer was speaking;

You say you saw a big six foot colored man duck in this gateway?", he queried to someone. "Yes. It was about 10 minutes ago. He was a big heavyset feller, wearing a blue overall jumper, and he was moving like he was in a hurry. He passed right by me and turned in here. I thought mebbe he lived in the back.", was the answer.

"You go around to the alley behind this house. I'll go inside the yard and look around," the officer said, evidently addressing his squad buddy.

Panic gripped big Sam Sweeney. For a moment his slow moving brain almost ceased to function. Capture seemed imminent, almost certain. Only on thing stood out clearly. That was, that the money must not be found on him in the event of capture. Sixty feet away down the dark corridor between the snap of the swinging gate as the officer stepped inside with his flash light. Its beams began to stab through the heavy fog.

Precipitately Sam laid the roll of bills on the open window sill an dproceeded to "Haul It." By dint of jumping several fences, and ducking several random shots fired in his direction, Sam made his get away. Rev. Johnson got the money a few minutes later when he went to close the window preparatory to putting the tots to bed. Triumphantly he called out to his wife. "Honey, I told you the Lord Will Provide."

By HERBERT MORRISON

The rooster and the gobbler in a barnyard had a feud;
It started over nothing much; it could have been eschewed.
A name was called, first by the cock:—the gobbler was a "Bore",
"Churl!" the turkey gobbled back—and then it came to gore
It wasn't that Old Turk was fresh, and stole the hens away;
He much preferred the turkey-birds—he was born that way.
And neither did he hog the mash, that lay about his feet;
He kept his head so all-fired high, he most forgot to eat.
The rooster simply was so proud, he swore to brook no betters;
He didn't like the turkey's talk—nor the way he spread his feathers.
After all, why couldn't he crow, or warn the hens of danger?
Instead of strutting like a daw, and gobbling like a stranger?
Besides, the cock was very bold; his spurs cut like the dickens!
He'd even chase the dog away, they bit the little chickens.
He'd whipped the big red cock next door and even sassed the gander;
'Twas just too bad for guinea-fowl, that in his realm should wander.
But when he dashed his eight pounds too, against the gobbler's twenty,
He bit off more than he could chew: Old Tassel gave him plenty!
He'd peck and scratch and swallow stones, in practice for the kill;
And yet his charge was just as vain as Quixote's at the mill.
They fussed and fought until distraught; yet neither would give in;
The way they kicked each other 'round, it really was a sin.
The decent hens deplored the brawl, for they could give no reasons.
Came the Fall. September passed. October rolled around.
The men-folk gathered in the crops, and frost lay on the ground.
The harvest truly was a feast, and piled up by the hour
With grain and fruit; and not the least were cranberries, red and sour.
"Aha!" quoth Red, "Your time has come; I know the signs, Old Bird!"
Tomorrow is Thanksgiving Day,—I wasn't told—I heard.
And he was right. The Farmer came, and gave Old Gob the ax;
And sent him to the Mayor's house, to pay his income tax.
But did the cock have cause to crow o'er Gobbler's sad demise?
Or was he happy just to grow old, and tough, and wise?
Perhaps he was—who wouldn't be?—and yet 'twas hard to tell—
For he was often heard to say: "Alas poor Gob, I knew him well!"

From The N. Y. Amsterdam News.

In 1935, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia said, when his land was invaded by hordes of Italian troops, that if aggressions against Ethiopia, a small nation, were not stopped by the so-called democracies that it would mark the beginning of similar aggressions against other small powers in Europe and elsewhere. In less than four years, the truth of the prophesy of the Lion of Judah has come true with a vengeance.

FIVE KILLED IN 3-CAR CRASH

LOS ANGELES WOMAN AMONG FIVE INJURED IN NEW MEXICO CRASH

LONE PERSON TO ESCAPE INJURY TELLS STORY; XMAS VISITORS IN CARS

"'Twas the Day Before Christmas
And All O'er The Road
Not a Creature Was Stirring . . ."

Five persons were killed and five others were injured, at least one critically, when two automobiles were demolished in a three-car accident on U. S. Highway 80, six miles east of Deming, New Mexico, at 3:30 p. m. Saturday, as a machine carrying five Los Angeles and San Antonio Negroes collided with others, it was learned late yesterday afternoon in a sensational statement to the EAGLE.

The revelation was made by Robert King, owner of one ruined car, who alone escaped without injury.

The dead: (all white)
Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Horton, Sweetwater, Texas; R. R. Vick, Big Spring, Texas; and his two sons, eight and four years old.
The injured:
Mrs. R. R. Vick, (white), Big Spring, Texas; Elinore Hinds, San Antonio, Texas; Mrs. Peggy Helms, Los Angeles, Calif.; Joe Street and Milton Smith, both of San Antonio, Texas (all colored).

The two cars were loaded with Christmas visitors, bound for Phoenix, Arizona, and San Antonio, when death stepped into the picture on the straight-away highway.

The east-bound car driven by Milton Smith, of San Antonio, carried five Los Angeles and San Antonio Negroes en route from Los Angeles to San Antonio for the holidays. Robert King, owner of the car, was the only passenger in the party uninjured. King is a manufacturer of embalming fluid. His home is in Los Angeles.

ARRESTED

King, according to reports, was arrested by Texas police but released when facts of the accident were made known.

The accident occurred, witnesses said, when the Horton-Vick car was forced across the highway as it attempted to pass a machine drawing a trailer. The trailer swung inward, forcing the passing car into the path of the east-bound one, occupied by the Negro party.

DRIVER UNIDENTIFIED

Identity of the driver of the car, with trailer attached, was not learned. The third car and trailer was not damaged.

The Horton-Vick machine and the Angeleno's auto crashed head-on, smashing both cars and pinning the dead and injured in the wreckage. Rescuers from Deming were forced to pry the cars apart to release the victims.

ONE SURVIVOR

Mrs. Vick was the only survivor in the car occupied by whites. Her father and mother, her husband, her two sons were all killed. They were on their way from Sweetwater and Big Spring to Phoenix for a holiday visit with her sister, Mrs. Robert Ross. Mrs. Vick was in a critical condition in a Deming hospital.

TODAY, in place of my usual comment on CURRENT events, I would like to take you on a word journey through the year 1939 as we've known it here on the left side of this page. That is, I will quote excerpts from favorably received "Sidewalks" written throughout the year.

First is a comment that you read Thursday, Feb. 2, 1939:

"'Freedom of the Press' is one of the greatest guarantees of a democratic nation. However, the words have come to mean everything from overstatement to libel and criminal slander. They have become the football of politicians and the excuse of unscrupulous publications. 'Freedom of the Press' is a sacred institution that has recently gotten into bad company.

"As in all fields, the machine age has had a more or less demoralizing influence upon metropolitan papers in the United States—and the world.

"The main contributing factor to the editorial mediocrity of American newspapers is the great chains of publications and the syndicate services. From one room or one office in one place, overlords of journalism rule editorial policies of papers in cities all over the nation. The same canned verbiage may be read in The New York Morning Blah and The Los Angeles Evening Blab.

"Of necessity, such a system presents a very narrow and biased viewpoint to the American people. There is no opportunity for alert editorial activity on local issues, but only continued tripe from the syndicate's far-oc central office. No newspaper which offers such an editorial policy, which is only a member "rag" of a great string of papers, can qualify as a true representative of local populations. A streamlined editorial page is a worthless one.

"Fortunately, there is a journalistic antidote for the immense, but heartless metropolitan newspaper. Community papers have become the only vital editorial reflections of the American people. Small papers, operating in small neighborhoods, handle important local matters —while big publications with fancy representatives in all the capitals of Europe blast loudly with an argument concerning gold standards. The community newspaper attempts to reflect, to mirror, the sentiment of the people it serves. The metropolitan sheet attempts to harangue and herd these people as if they were sacrificial sheep.

"It is much more interesting for John Jones to read an editorial debating the sewerage tax on John Jones than for him to peruse an article denouncing the taxes on William Rudolph Churst, the big publisher . . ."

And in the Mar. 31 edition, you saw:

"Two bills were recently introduced in the House of Representatives by a gentleman from New York, Representative Hamilton Fish. These two measures have been widely hailed and heralded throughout the nation's Negro press and have caused considerable comment in official circles of the United States Army. One of the bills states that there shall in future be no discrimination against Negroes in the appointment and promotion of officers or enlisted men in the various departments of the army. The other resolution proposes that two Negroes should be appointed to the United States Military Academy yearly until there shall be an aggregate of eight such appointments made to maintain an aggregate of at least eight Negroes in the academy. In this measure, the Chief Executive will make all recommendations of colored cadets, although there is no restriction upon the regular congressional recommendation system.

"Liberal quarters throughout America have greeted Mr. Fish's proposals with enthusiasm. It is believed that a sweeping and badly needed reform may be the

Return of Daughter Traffic Victim Santa's Gift to Cop

Most prized Christmas gift in the home of traffic policeman Henry Dunn Monday was the return from the hospital of his 12-year old daughter, Morisontine, seriously injured in an auto accident two weeks ago.

The child lay in a coma for six days after the accident and fear was expressed for her life. However, Friday she regained consciousness and is recovering rapidly.

Suffering concussion of the brain. Morisontine was injured with her brother, Clarence, 10, in an automobile accident Saturday, Dec. 16. Young Dunn, driver of the light truck which went over a 100-foot embankment, was only slightly injured.

Rendered unconscious by the impact with which the truck landed in the backyard of a wealthy Bel Air family, the child sank into deep unconsciousness. From tests of her spinal fluid, physicians ascertained that she suffered concussion.

LOSES CONTROL

The two youngsters were returning from Bel Air about noon last Saturday. Coming down a steep road, Dunn lost control of the machine, which plunged over an embankment.

As the machine struck, the two were thrown clear, thus narrowly escaping from probable death. Alarmed domestic employes of the residence phoned for an ambulance.

Rumors of misunderstanding of the General hospital's action in refusing to admit young Dunn or give first aid treatment to him were circulating soon after the accident. Suffering a crushed rib, Dunn, a UCLA student, was four hours receiving treatment. He was refused either first aid or admission to the hospital although his sister was admitted.

General hospital officials last week clarified the hospital's policy, stating that the institution does not give first aid and will not accept persons who are able to be removed, without risk, to private hospitalization, for which they are able to pay.

Eagle Party Thrills Newsboys

Sports Notables and Screen Celebrities Appear During Day

A gala occasion was the California Eagle Newsboys' party which rollicked through from four o'clock Saturday afternoon until eleven at the Ross Snyder Playground.

Although untimely rain diminished the number of young stalwarts to put in appearance, the party was heralded as the biggest and best in the long history of EAGLE kids' jamborees. Several servings of ice cream and hot weiners were climaxed with gifts of high-grade baseballs.

Games were played indoors for several donated prizes, among them a pair of ball bearing skates.

During the afternoon, Kenny Washington, famed Bruin football star, appeared to thrill youngsters.

In the evening, EAGLE friends and patrons gathered to wish the institution a Merry Christmas and make the New Year welcome.

Entertainment was rendered by a group of Hollywood celebrities, including Alfred Grant, Hollywood Productions star. Also present were George Randol, producer, and Clarence Muse, actor-director.

Young people of Ross Snyder Playground dramatic society presented a short and competently acted play, and John Kinloch, EAGLE employe, contributed two satirical sketches. James Ascendio, International Road Shows publicity director, emceed.

2 Local Men Not First Negroes in State to Be Selected for Grand Jury

A letter to the California Eagle this week from Miss Mildred Wilson, of Yuba County, corrected a statement in the Dec. 10 edition in which it was stated that the appointment of Mr. Eli Brown and Mr. Al Morgan marked the first time Negroes had been selected for Grand Jury service in the State. Miss Wilson declares that her father, G. W. Wilson was appointed on the Yuba county Grand Jury in 1913. Miss Wilson is active in civic and political life up-State and is director of speakers for the Yuba county democratic committee.

LETTERS FROM UCLA CAMPUS DENOUNCE SELECTORS FOR BIAS

Maritime Workers Threaten Boycott of East-West Tilt as Washington Absent

Letters of protest against alleged discrimination in the selection of an all-star West team to battle in the annual Shrine charity football game at San Francisco on New Year's Day piled up in the EAGLE office this week.

The absence of Kenny Washington, sensational Bruin halfback, from the All-Star team, has been blasted by sports scribes, labor unions, college societies, leading citizens and others during the past few days.

From the UCLA campus came two scathing communications which denounced Babe Hollingberry and his selection committee for racial bias. Addressed to the EAGLE, the missives were penned by the UCLA Student Committee on Civil Liberties and Academic Freedom and the American Student Union at UCLA.

Another blistering dispatch arrived from San Francisco where maritime workers of that turbulent port threatened a complete boycott of the New Year's Day football fiasco. "Washington was one of the stand-out players on the Coast this year," said Revels Cayton, Secretary of the San Francisco District Council of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific. "He was left off the all-star team solely because he is a Negro."

"The Maritime Federation stands four-square against any discrimination in any field because of race or color. San Francisco maritime workers will be unanimous in condemning this biased committee for refusing to select Washington."

H. F. McGrath, President of the Federation, which has 45,000 members on the Coast, added his voice in condemnation of the committee.

"The game won't have half the drawing power it would have had Washington been on the field," he said. "Organized labor resents this piece of discrimination and wil show its resentment by staying away from the game."

STUDENTS PROTEST

Betty Sherman, chairman of the Student Committee on Civil Liberties and Academic Freedom, held, "We feel such an act of discrimination on the basis of race to be unsportsmanlike, un-American and a threat to democratic procedure. To those of us who believe civil liberties to be something more than a meaningless term, the five-man committee owes an explanation."

Miriam Gordon of the Westwood branch of the American Student Union heaped oil on the fires of Uclan wrath with a letter to Babe Hollingberry which stated, "We feel with thousands of others that you have greatly harmed both the cause of charity which the Shrine game represents and the cause of Football itself. We sincerely hope that in the future the committee representing the West will consider first and foremost the merits of the men it chooses; there is no other sound basis for making selections."

WRITERS HOWL

Majority of West Coast sports scribes, headed by Ned Cronin of the "Evening News" and Dick Hyland of the "Los Angeles Times," howled long and loud at the All-Star selections which ignored Kenny. Cronin contended that, without Washington, "the game has no meaning."

Canadian Court Okays Refusal to Serve Negro

OTTAWA, Canada, Dec. 28. (CNA)—The Supreme Court of Canada this week upheld the Jim Crow action of a white tavern keeper in the Province of Quebec in refusing to serve Negroes.

The case arose out of the refusal of the New York corporation, owners of the tavern, to serve beer to Fred Christie, and acouple of his friends on July 11, 1936. Christie sued for damages and at a trial, Justice Philippe Demers awarded him $25 to Christie without reasonable grounds.

The corporation appealed the verdict and the Quebec Court of King's Bench reversed the judgement, with one judge dissenting and another holding no damages had been proved, but without ruling on the fundamental question of racial discrimination.

Christies then appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada, which has now ruled against him, with Justice H. H. Davis dissenting.

FBI Will Probe Prospective Juror's Arrest

NEW YORK, Dec. 28—The Federal Bureau of Investigation will make 'an immediate investigation' into the arrest and brutal beating last June of Lawrence Sigmon, 50 year old Negro, at the hands of an Ashville, North Carolina sheriff, who resented Sigmon's appearance for jury duty after he had been called to serve.

Announcement of the action taken by the Department of Justice was made today by the NAACP following receipt of a reply to a telegram sent to Attorney General Frank Murphy December 15, urging the Justice Department to investigate the case as a violation of civil liberties.

A letter signed by O. John Rogge, in charge of Civil Liberties said in part: "The Federal Bureau of Investigation has been requested to make an immediate investigation, after whcih appropriate action will be taken by the department."

Assemblyman in Monrovia

MONROVIA, Dec. 28.—Assemblyman Lee T. Bashore was the speaker at the Monrovia and Duarte Colored Citizen Non-Partisan Study club, at their regular December monthly meeting, which was held in the AME church, Canyon and Huntington drive, last Thursday night.

Fay Allen Says 33 Schools Fire Hazards

Mrs. Fay E. Allen, Negro member of the Board of Education, charged Tuesday that 33 old wooden buildings now being used as classrooms by the city school system are fire hazards and constitute a menace to the welfare of children.

Saying she had previously requested an investigation by the board to no avail. Mrs. Allen was promised a committee by board members which will be appointed early next month to conduct the probe.

That "The voice of the turtle is heard". So my Aunt was always saying that it would be a loud-voiced turtle that could make itself heard above the voices of Cousin Cora and Sister Eunice when they got to babbling about everybody they had seen in church the minute they got outside.

Yours until worship and reverence will be the sole purposes of church-going, ch delivered by Atty. W. Tyler on occasion of Avalon 's Day Service.

AN'S SPIRIT - GOD'S CANDLE

e 27th verse of the 20th ter of Proverbs, reads as vs: "The Spirit of Man is andle of the Lord searching s inward parts."

e development of the ht expressed in this prov- s necessarily a study in hu- history. We must grasp as mentals the first social pts which were those of m, of fixed habits and find son for the breaking away ese customs and the growth after of ideas, and next of ies, and finally of an agreed acceptable plan that satis- he mind and the soul as to ealities of the great riddle of niverse and of Man's place hopes in this Universe.

we have just said, when soc- was first formed among all arious tribes, races and na- all of the ways of life were lled by custom. What one d eat and how—work and the ceremony of marriage, f the religious rituals and ces, in fact everything was ated by a custom that was anent, final, unyielding and less.

re were no impulses, no f the emotions, no freedom oever for the exercise of n sympathies. The tribal roup customs must be pre- d and down to the next gen- n to be continued unbrok- their mode of life. Man's ty he thought depended en- upon the permanence of customs.

when in this custom-bound , Man soon made some dis- ies which necessitated the ication of at least some of xed ways of life. For even is early day, Man had to fuel for fire to warm his —to cook his food,—and to his path through deep, pathless woods and forests, o warn him of the tiger— e ravine, and of the savage This fuel which would pro- this fire and this light, was ded by the Blessed Jesus He gave Man the earth, for w know that the sun is the and the author of all the mable and inflammable ance and elements found e earth or in it.

is at once apparent that inner candle of which the erb speaks was first light- to material things. It con- ed aids to the sustentation and enlarged Man's means aintaining himself therein.

ly Man soon learned that lubber of the whale, had only sustentation which sustain his body, but as would burn in a candle, or in a lamp, and shed forth t dispel the darkness of his or of his work-bench, and humble home.

l so would yon giant tree, would the grass in the field too, he could find both th and light in the glisten- al, even though it lay bur- ousands of feet in the bow- the earth.

n's spirit which is, says on, "a Candle of the Lord", its first feeble light upon l of sustentation, and behold ron of the hillside, when white hot and red upon the takes the shape of weap- ith which to beat back sav- oe or ferocious beast; the e is lighted and its rays out the plow and the churn; ine press to make both re- ment and food from the , and to compel the oil from live. The light from the reveals the loom,—the 's Arch,—the wagon , and soon guides Man in rming of the rushing and ent waters, and leads him ild the bridge that makes ossing of them safe.

candle bursts forth in yet nger and more far-reaching Job wants to know by way is the light parted, and l science is born; God asks f he can bind the sweet in- ce of Pleiades, or loose the of Orion, and astronomy rn; Archimedes constructs ew from the pattern of the spiral stairway, and you and I have our automobile jack, indispensable to a safe journey. From the crow-bar of Archimedes, comes the lever, and from this our teeter-board, and hence our scales, indispensable to the barter and exchange of nearly all the products and commodities of civilization, and from this crow-bar too, come our automobile brakes.

The candle of the Lord, lighting Man's inventive spirit, gives the modern world the telescope and the microscope, the X-ray, the radio, television, and the invisible ray.

But as valuable and as precious as are these handmaidens of civilization, as we trace the story of the spirit of Man in human history, we are compelled to the conception that as a candle to discover God in Man's spirit, it is of yet deeper significance and of even more pungent application.

We must comprehend this amazing saying of Solomon in the sense that Man's spirit can only begin its ascent towards its final destiny when the light of the candle that reveals it is in the light that shines from Jesus the Light of the World, from His having come from Heaven to Man upon the earth, to bring him the more abundant life.

We pointed out in the beginning that Man in his struggle for an understanding of a way up to the life that is nourished by the rays that beam from Jesus the Light of the World, has been from the outset, bound by fixed habits that made fixed social customs.

To break the bonds of these customs which were linked in superstition, in exploitation, in greed and meanness and ignorance and slavery, is the never ending task, labor—concern and all consuming problem of the human race. In our modern civilization, these customs and slave making ideas are perpetuated and kept in use by means of Institutions and Propaganda that to a large extent shape and control folk ways.

Let me digress enough to say, right after the Civil War, it looked as if the Negro as a human being, would have a chance to develop his personality and make for himself a social order in which he could progressively live. But to some extent, the Negro exchanged White slavery for Colored slavery.

Every conceivable cure-all, fool-proof solution of what was called the Negro problem, surrounded him on every hand, and a lot of this still surrounds him for that matter. Certainly it is that we have lost a lot of the latent genius and capacity for high achievement that our Race possesses, because we get our young people so mixed up with our "don't do this" and "don't do that", that they neither know how to go, nor where to go, about life's way.

I glean from the study of human history that there are certain fine emotions and deep human impulses and sympathies that cannot be buried forever in the human breast, and if we could get all of their faculties fully trained, they would find a way through racial barriers, far superior to the ones we get them so mixed up about in trying to tell them of.

But to return to our story of human history, and look now at the other side of the picture, that is to say, at the higher or spiritual strivings of mankind. We are still pursuing what Solomon calls the spirit of Man, and which Solomon tells us is the Candle of the Lord.

But the cold tallow of the candle—and no distinction is to be taken in the use of this Hebrew word, between a lamp, a torch, a candle, or a lantern, while still lying in cold tallow, or in cold, slow-moving oil, with its wick unlighted, can make no light—can shed no light, and cannot point the way. It must be ignited by some exterior or interior casual force. It must burn in order that it glow.

Deny thy father and refuse thy name;
Or if thou wilt not, be but sworn my love,
And I'll be no longer a Capulet".

And here for all times, the answer, says Romeo:
"I take thee at thy word; call me but Love,
And I'll be yet baptized".

The fire was burning with age-old glory, was in swell when he said:
"Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul;
While the swift seasons roll;
Leave the low vaulted past;
Let each new Temple nobler than the last,
Bind thee to Heaven with a dome more vast;
Til' thou at length are free,
Leaving thy out-grown cell;
Thy life's unresting sea".

Sojourner Truth, who could read no letter, and understand no figure, turned upon Frederick Douglas when he was complaining of the tardiness with which Freedom came, and said, in words imperishable on the pages of American history:—
"Fred, is God dead?"

Our second illustration:

We must hark back again to a world of habit—of custom, of fixed beliefs which man was reluctant to disturb, and so we find that just before the Persian Wars Athens found herself disturbed by many innovations that threatened her customs and challenged her fixed beliefs.

There were stirrings of the individual spirit; too much talk of democratic government, too much inquiry abut the reality of the Myths and Legends of her many —many Gods and their heavenly and earthly attributes.

There arose the "Conservatives", who said let things alone; we must believe what our fathers have taught us. The Aristocrats, the "well-to-do", the slave owners, said —our privileges are threatened by these new ideas. We must compel people to let things alone and to live strictly by our customs. This is the first and the world-over answer to all the stirrings of the human heart that the burning of God's Candle creates.

It confronts you and me, to-wit, as Afro-Americans in the America's everywhere they whine, —'Let things alone." Everywhere, those who exploit our neighbor and our manhood rights whine, —"Let things alone, the time is not ripe for you to enjoy these privileges which all other human beings enjoy."

You have read the 19th chapter of The Acts? You remember Demetrius? That he called the silversmiths together and aroused them against Paul because Paul's doctrine of Jesus interfered with his profits and with the profits of the silversmiths to the temple of Diana?

But to continue:—The Sophists followed the Conservatives, and said, —"Let the individual have free play; one man's opinion is as good as another; away with custom and fixed habits; let each individual become an aim unto himself."

And then came Socrates. Of him, John Stewart Mill says: "Mankind cannot be too often reminded that there once was a man named Socrates." Of whom some one said,—"He went up to heaven to bring down to earth a philosophy which established for the first time on earth the personality of man."

It is the free personality, the normal freedom that was discovered and emphasized by Socrates, that the human race has relied upon in building a new social order.

Amos, standing on the plains of Judea, dared to say to the sinful rulers of the Jews: "Thus sayeth Jehovah: I hate, I despise your feasts, your conventional assemblies, your official music, but I would that justice might flow down as the waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream.

Socrates stood in the streets, in the market place, and on the acropolis at Athens, and taught man, saying: "Men of Athens, I persuade you, young and old alike, not to take thought of your persons or your properties, bu: first and chiefly to care about the greatest improvement of your souls. I tell you that virtue is not given by money, but that from virtue come money and every other good man, public as well as private."

In Rome, Tiberius Graccus once lived to say: "Wild beasts of Italy have their dens, but the brave men who spill their blood for her, fight and die to advance the luxury of the great, while they remain without hearths or homes, or settled habitations."

Socrates attested his sincerity with his death. Amos defied the authorities to molest him; Graccus dared the Senate to do its worst, and paid the penalty.

All the while, and as it will ever be, deep under the surface of the ages in which these men lived, there lay buried a genuine impulse to life, energy, feeling, purpose, emotion, welling up from within, out of the individual, which could not lose itself once it found its way.

After Socrates came Plato with his world of ideas. In fact he would have established an intellectual aristocracy with philosophers at the head of the State.

But before Plato came Jesus. The answer to the riddle of the Universe, the Light of the World, the Giver of every good and perfect gift.

Plato said: "The world is made of ideas"; but Jesus said, "Build your world out of love and service and sympathy."

Institutional and military Rome had said:

"Buttress your freedom with forts, arsenals and legions of soldiers." Jesus said: "The truth alone can make you free."

Scribes and Pharisees had said: "Cursed is the man that knows not the law.' Jesus said "Love is the fulfillment of all law."

Selecting not the philosopher, the moralist, the soldier, the industrialist, or the philanthropist dropping libraries and school houses and swimming pools from his fingers, Jesus set up a little child in the midst of them and says, — "of such is the Kingdom of Heaven, that in these children we should see mental curiosity, the hope of the future, the willingness to explore new fields and to establish a social order of justice that would bring the kingdom of heaven to the people of the earth.

This Kingdom of Heaven, said Jesus, is like unto a grain of mustard seed which at first is the least of all seeds, but when it is grown, it becomes a mighty tree filling the earth.

The spirit of Man, which is the Candle of the Lord, is just as much a part of the creative energy of the Universe as are the rays of the sun, or the power that lies in the unceasing waves of the mighty ocean; the Negro race in America, when once this universal spirit of man lighted by the Candle of the Lord searches its inward parts, will master its circumstances—overcome degradations of its environment, outlive its past, and it must, yet, it will remake and reshape the social environment in which he lives.

SAN ANTONIO PLANS INTERESTING KAPPA CONCLAVE THRU MAVERICK

500 Delegates Expected As Mayor Maverick Promises to "Cooperate in Every Manner"

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 28. (ANP)—With Mayor Maury Maverick and his commissioners "cooperating in every manner", the people of this city are exuberantly entertaining the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity this week with some 500 delegates meeting here in the 29th annual grand chapter of the organization.

The session opened Dec. 27, and continues to the 30th, and although the order is to go easy" on the social affairs, the arrangements committee is having a difficult time keeping the locals from planning too many parties.

In extending the official welcome of the city Mayor Maverick wrote to James E. Scott, Washington, national head of the Kappas:

"As mayor of San Antonio I want to take this means of thanking you for bringing your national convention to San Antonio.

"Myself and the commissioners will cooperate in every manner to make your visit with us a success and we hope it will remain a pleasant memory."

Noted for his liberalism, Mayor Maverick, former congressman, is expected to speak at one of the meetings of the fraternity.

While delegates came in from all directions, the main group of visitors came on the "Kappa Special" oevr the Missouri Pacific from St. Louis. Nearly 200 people came by this route having left St. Louis Tuesday afternoon and arriving here about 24 hours later.

After the Thursday morning business session is over, the grand polemarch is scheduled to deliver a radio address and immediately following he will lay a wreath with appropriate ceremony at the "shrine of Texas' liberty"—the Alamo.

This event will indeed make history, for in all the years that the Alamo has stood as a monument to heroic sacrifice by those who sought liberty and freedom from oppression, never before has any group of Afro-Americans paid tribute to the men who gave their lives for the cause of Texas' liberation from the tyranny of a despotic Mexican rule.

NEGROES IN ALAMO INCIDENT

When the Alamo fell there were black hands with the walls of the doomed walls to protect its falling. A Negro woman nursed the "Babe of the Alamo" —a child who was spared by the Mexican general, Santa Anna. Col. William B. Travis, leader of the brave band that defended the fort, had his Negro manservant at his side.

Friday will bring more business for the men folk but the ladies will don afternoon frocks and attend a reception given by the Silhouettes--women's auxiliary of the Kappas. Friday night will witness the annual Kappa closed prom.

By special dispensation this 1939 affair will be semi-formal and the life of the Southwest will be depicted. The ballroom will be a replica of a Texas ranch. Each visiting senor will be 'de-coated' by smiling senoritas as he enters the ranch and a sombrero placed upon his head, and cowboy neckerchief tied around his neck. Each Kappaman has been asked to bring a gay colored shirt and wear it to the prom.

Delaney Named Alumni Director

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (ANP) —Believed to be the first Negro ever to be elected to the board of directors of a major college, Hubert T. Delaney, commissioner of taxes and assessments in New York, following his election was busy this week receiving congratulations of friends.

Commissioner Delaney was unanimously elected to the alumni board of the College of the City of New York, following his recent nomination for the same office.

He is a member of the class of 1923. City College of New York has a student body predominantly white.

Returns With Rare Afric Relics

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (ANP)—Prof. William R. Bascum, assistant in the department of anthropology at Northwestern university, who went to Africa on a scholarship as part of his study for a doctor's degree, returned home this week with two highly prized trophies.

They are rare and artistic likenesses—heads modeled of brass, of the African Negro—examples of an ancient art of which comparatively nothing is known. Bascom's trophies are two of 13 art pieces unearthed during excavations in Ife, a city in Nigeria, Africa. The other 11 heads are still in possession of the native king.

The heads—one male, the other female—are well preserved and critics say this type of art ranks favorably with that of ancient Greece. The professor says that 3,000,000 members of Africa's famed Yoruba tribe believed the heads to be those of ancient gods, are often worshipped. Bascom concealed his treasure in his baggage. Since he sailed for America, the British government has banned the export of such art objects.

Virgin Islands to Be Divorce Mill

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28. (ANP)—The Virgin Islands will attract American tourists this year not alone because it is an ideal winter resort, but because a change in the divorce laws makes it possible for couples to get a divorce after six weeks' residence and on nine different counts; according to District Attorney J. A. Baugh of the Islands who was here last week. Mr. Baugh, a native Virgin Islander and a graduate of Columbia university Law School has served two years in his present post. He was in Philadelphia to try a case for the Virgin Islands in the United States Court of Appeals here.

ATLANTA DEATH TOTAL NOW 57

ATLANTA, Dec. 28—Atlanta's 57th Negro death by violence for 1939 was recorded here last week. Dead was Arthur Cannady, who died after physicians tried vainly to sew up his heart punctured in a stabbing melee.

The Delightful Side

By BILL SMALLWOOD

You, who were not the first to stay
Nor shall be the last to go away,
You seem to think I take it sadly.
I do. I wanted you so badly.

Recollectively . . . the safest bet when chronicg of the Yuletide goin's-on in order is to start with lphe Porter's birthday soiree in, around and at the verside Breakfast Club Xmas Eve . . 'Twas fun, of ort . . . Scads of folk treading a light measure, how-doing, and gazing, thru dull moments, at the ge fireplace, which blazed on thru 'til four a. m.

There: Nora Holt Ray, like a Wagnerian charter in gold sequins on white chiffon. The likeable nel Fortiers, the Ed Strongs, Hortense Allen (lovesmile!), the personable, fun-loving Emmit Wynns (Beulah is bubbly, no less), Dolly Banks, who haven't seen in ages . . . The newlywed Gilmores, aming and dancing in a dream. Both Robert and ce have come back to the village's merry-go-round d are busy dashing around accepting invitations wine and dine. Few village medicos can wear tails flawlessly as Dr. Henry MacPherson! Striking duo, and his svelte wife. Mrs. Lightner, of Denver, and r niece; they leave for Denver after the Rose Bowl in's.

The Jimmy Boutes, insisting on luring us for gay g . . . Bea de Vaughn, easily one of the most disctive women there, in a gown that drew and held ss admiration. It's nice seeing Bea out again, too, she's been sticking close, somehow. Lela Walsh. e Rev. Clayton Russells . . . Much later, to Mrs. nner's for 'nog and chatter . . . Xmas Day? A surisingly good number of folk, we hear, got off on the 10 for Caliente. Chuck DeBruhl, of Galveston, was ere, which we regret, for we haven't seen ole Chuck eons! The gee-gees ran merrily, etc.

Hooray, right here, for Cy and Irma Cooper's ginal greeting card . . . Saturdady eve, by the bye, s. Nola Simms held open-house ('nog) along with club, at her place. Only sad touch to the festive was news of the passing of Mark Lewis. Splendid low. Xmas night 'twas Lulu Henderson Brown who yed open-house hostess at her place. Nice, though, nning smack into the Louis Creecys at dinner, Mony. Genial folk.

The December Club were annual hosts, Xmas e. Much waltzing, et al. There: Amy Landry Gilre, Chappie Blodgett with THREE men, no less, lla McDonald with a fragile orchid atop her coife. Chatter with a lissome creature, and wondering ud how the Comus holiday dance back in Noo Yawk s. Hezz Howard drifts by to remind us of his New ar's Eve party. Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Foster, she being e of the loveliest matrons for miles around. (Her daughter always has us gazing!) Jimmy Price d his lady, who I like to watch dance together.

Later, running full tilt into Kay and Nettie Mcnald, who too, are New Year's Eve hosts. More on. . . . Look-alikes: Father Moore and Dr. Cliff rdon . . . Nursery news: The Frank Harveys are excting . . . Observation: George Bryant is like Leack, who wore seven league boots and strode off erywhere at once. He covers more ground than ough . . . The Ernest Weavers had a crowd in Xmas rkey and 'nog . . . Bus Fowler and his kid son were wn from 'Frisco. Fowler, Jr. has eyes so black, if cries, they will surely weep ink.

Of the Delta ball, more to follow. 'Twas last ght (27th) . . . Hilda Allen headed the dance comttee, while Ida Bowman, Honore Carey, Bernice lon, Eula Dean Ford, Glodine Kennedy, Mildred ores, Fay Thomas and Lillian Tyler assisted her . . . we do this, assurance that it will be topnotch is, course, understood . . . Hooray for the refreshing ne to the greetings from Bill and Fannie Robinson, e and Marva, D. Ellington, the Lawrence Browns redi Washington), and the 8x12 woven greeting m the Les Stevenses, in Honolulu.

Gentle suggestion: To, the line-up of village chelors, harassed by overdue social obligations, s--a Bad Taste Ball! Folk could wear outlandish gs and the fun would be endless . . . The Chrismans ured 'nog and stuff before the Delta assembly . . . ring the holidays, by chance, noting a chap fingng an ivory cigarette holder and vaguely favoring ck Carter. Jack confides to intimates that he has en around this globe thrice but this is the first time 's been homesick. Misses his famliy. I daresay if it sn't for his crony Orson Welles, he'd have hastened ck to NY long ago.

Here and there, at this date, active folk are planng small, intimate buffet cricles for the Anderson cital on Febr. 20th . . . Delgihtful thought, what? . . Ed Harris, holidaying from Omaha, confides his cktail parties (when he was a Windy City bachelor) ce got so unreliable at this time of year that there s no telling which of the guests had the grace to die the alley and which had to take their hangovers me. Upon which we grinned, yawned, and had a ilosophical brandy 'n soda refill . . . Ed flies back Omaha Tuesday next. He reports happy nights ere, of late.

Hastening into the night, recently, and thusly impsing briefly Hicky and Verna Hickman hastening in the opposite direction. Verna, as memory rves, as hostess of the first order . . . and loves to nuse her guests with snatches from the hilarious Mehitabel and Archy" . . . Add Condolences: For Jack Donaldson, who is presenting his troubles (for keeps, we hope) to the medicos over at the hospital . .

Some colonists will trek to the Bowl, of course, but most of them prefer to go a-visitin' since the game lacks a lot. Parties will be legion . . . and there's the parade . . . and black-eye peas and rice . . . so . . . hoot mon!

. . . That being that . . . period.

As congratulations upon the big EAGLE Newsboys' Party at Ross Snyder Playground Saturday were received this week, executivs xpressed their gratitude to the many merchants, clubs and citizens who contributed generously to the success of the annual festivitits.

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, EAGLE editor, stated "The grand time Saturday afternoon at the newsboys' party and Saturday evening at the patrons' banquet could not have been realized without the whole-hearted cooperation of many of our local merchants. The EAGLE is 'truly thankful!"

Among business houses and organizations that contributed are the Western Dry Goods Co., Oliver's Variety Breads, Gordon Bread Co., 33rd Street Market, Associated Meat Jobbers of Southern California, Don Hang Market, Classic Literary and Social Club, Cudahy Puritans' club, Lilac Girls' club, Smith's Market, Major Market, Central Market, Smart Set club, Kress' 5-10 Store, Safeway Markets, Jenkins Poultry Market, Avalon Market, The Lone Wolf Club, Armour Beavers club and Conner-Johnson Funeral Co., which donated the prize roller skates, and many others.

The success of the EAGLE Newsboys' Party was an example of community cooperation of the finest sort, many observers state.

NEGRO BISHOP INTONES PONTIFICAL HIGH MASS IN LATIN IN LONDON

First Negro Bishop to Be Consecrated at Rome in Five Centuries a Majestic Figure

LONDON, Dec. 28. (By Rudolph Dunbar for ANP)—Robed in the white vestments of his office and wearing a crimson skull cap, emblem of the White Fathers of Algeria, the first Negro bishop to be consecrated at Rome in five centuries recently intoned pontifical high mass in Latin at Westminister cathedral in London.

A majestic figure like a statue of black marble, with gracious manners and a kindly glow on his face, is the Negro bishop of the Roman Catholic church who has made history. His apostolic name is Kiwanuka which means "one who comes from on high", and his family name Nakaball, which means, "hill of the rock". Tradition says that his only predecessor was a Portuguese Negro bishop of the 15th century. Bishop Kiwanuka is the newly consecrated vicar apostolic of the new vicarate of Masaka in Uganda.

His family is descended from martyrs burned at the stake for their faith in 1885 at the orders of King Mateea. The Buganda, his people on the borders of Lake Victoria, said Bishop Kiwanuka, know Latin and its meaning as well as he himself.

"I sing the ordinary service in the language of the Buganda", he explained "and the same words in Latin at high mass. My people sing both with me. We have no choir. We all sing in Uganda."

DRUMS TOLD NEWS

Whe nhe received the telegram announcing his appointment and addressed "Bishop Kiwanuka", he thought someone was playing a practical joke on him, and it was only when the native chief of the province heard the news on his radio that the new bishop was convinced.

No church bells were rung, but the drums beat for four hours to inform his people. The bishop will have a conference with Malcolm McDonald, secretary of state for the colonies, at the colonial office.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. Those words from John, "I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life," constitute the Golden Text.

A Bible citation includes these verses from Matthew: "And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people. And his fame went throughout all Syria: and they brought unto him all sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatick, and those that had the palsy; and he healed them. . . And seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him: And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying. . . . Think not that I am come to destroy the law or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil."

A passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "Jesus' spiritual origin and understanding enabled him to demonstrate the facts of being,—to prove irrefutably how spiritual Truth destroys material error, heals sickness, and overcomes death."

Atlanta Baptists Hit GWTW Choir

ATLANTA, Dec. 28. (ANP)—A Baptist choir which sang last Thursday night at the city auditorium where the 'Gone With the Wind" ball was held, and an AME choir which sang religious songs in front of the downtown theatre where the world premiere of the motion picture was held, were denounced at the weekly meeting of the Atlanta Baptist Ministers' union Tuesday at Greater Wheat Street Baptist church.

The union also drew up and passed unanimously resolutions condemning "dancing and segregation in any form."

ENDORSE CLAYBORN FOR AME BISHOPRIC

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) Dec. 28. (ANP)—Last Tuesday, Arkansas delegates to the forthcoming AME general conference, presided over by the Rt. Rev. John A. Gregg, presiding bishop, held their State meeting and unanimously endorsed Dr. J. H. Clayborn, native Arkansan, as their only candidate for the bishopric. The general conference will be held in May, 1940, in Detroit.

Come out and greet friends you've not seen since childhood—find out what they've become and swell the expected record-breaking attendance.

The place: Second Baptist church, 24th street and Griffith avenue at 9:15 a. m., Sunday, Dec. 31, 1939. Mr. S. P. Johnson, general superintendent, with his excellent corps of workers, will be on hand to greet all comers, old and new. Be sure to attend.

SETH B. RAY

Los Angeles, draws to the close of another year with the flag of industrial freedom flying proudly from the main mast. It has withstood valiantly the assaults of the shock troops of subversive vandalism. It has repulsed davebeckism and the hard hired many. It has built new homes and factories. Its industrial plans have been busy turning out needed goods for the nation. It is only fitting, therefore, at the close of the year in my business, which through its own determined stand, has refused to be likewise shackled, that credit should be given to my many good clients who have given me their business during the year.

I am proud that I have no apologies to make for any deal that I have consumated through this office to the many clients that I have sold this year. Some word of congratulation should be spoken to these men and women. They have helped me to keep my promises by doing business through me, as the policy of this office is to protect the buyer as well as the seller. Under these conditions I have been able to have a mutual understanding and very pleasant transactions.

As we approach the New Year, I indeed trust that I will be able to give to the public unwarranted satisfaction. Today, all branches of business life are endeavoring to increase and maintain trade, whether it is manufacturing, banking, farming, insurance, or the sale of real estate. Scientific research work is being carried on constantly in this endeavor to make better business and living conditions possible. Then, why should not we, as real estate men take our part in increasing of our profession and make Los Angeles business principles the standard of the world. We play a very important part in the affairs of this country, inasmuch as we are handling and grinding the most valuable assets in the world--Real Estate. The public has become convinced that real experts are required to handle Real Estate affairs. Through the great work of Real Estate Boards throughout the country, operators have been educated to adopt sound policies in managing their business.

Let me assist you in locating a home. I sincerely thank the public for their patrongae during the year.

Wishing you long life and a Prosperous New Year. I am a member of the Central Avenue District Realty Board.

Upton Dies 'On the Job'

Death Shocks City; Funeral to Be Held Today from Angelus

The tragic death of Charles Upton, 48, international president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and one-time EAGLE columnist, Sunday morning was received with shock and sorrow throughout Los Angeles this week.

At 10:30 a. m. today the funeral will be held from Angelus Funeral Home. Revs. S. M. Beane and E. E. Lightner will officiate, while the services are being conducted by the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters. Interment will be at Evergreen cemtery.

Upton died Sunday morning at 9:30 "on the job."

He was stricken with a severe heart attack several weeks ago when in the midst of arranging the mammoth function for A. Philip Randolph at 2nd Baptist Church, sponsored by his organization. A tireless and enthusiastic worker, Upton had strained his heart to the breaking point.

Born at Chicago in 1890, Charles Upton was a son of the middle west. In 1912, twenty eight years ago, he married Tennie Elkins at Crown Point, Indiana.

For many years a pullman porter, Upton went to Portland, Oregon, in 1918, coming to Los Angeles two years later He remained here for nineteen years.

In 1927, Upton was elected president of the local branch of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters. In 1936, he was hoisted to high command as international prexy. Always active in labor circles, Upton was known as a sincere and hard-hitting progressive.

At one time, Mrs. Upton was in charge of maids on Union Pacific railroad, the first Negro women to hold that honored position. In this capacity, she rendered yeoman support to her husband.

Upton was also a prominent figure in church activities, serving as chairman of the Board of Trustees at Trinity Baptist church.

Expressions of sorrow at the loss of a great leader were voiced by Los Angeles citizens, high and low, during the week.

Mrs. Tennie Upton, wife, and Mrs. Margaret Estill, sister, of Los Angeles, survive—along with other relatives and a host friends.

It is recalled that Upton's ty column "Railroad Chatter supplied information and chuck to EAGLE readers over a l period of years.

The ASTROLOGER

To Assist You In Making Wise Decisions

Specialized Study of Your Personal Problems

BABY 1940

Most everyone trusts that the coming New Year, will bring them good fortune, health and happiness. What happened this past year is gone and should be forgotten. A new hope is about to be born, that will shine like a guiding star.

The active social season is a stimulant, which will effect young and old alike. Resolutions are being made, to be kept this year, if never before. And, though they may be broken in the near future, there will be a joy in making them.

Yes! This coming year is going to be a period of expectancy in happiness. New life, new hopes and a brand new faith in humanity will prevail. If one starts the New Year, with a zest full of enthusiasm, they may, in all probability, find it much easier to face their problems.

Prof. Herman is beginning the New Year with a new and better idea in which to aid you in making your life prosperous and happier. Everyone should have their Zodiacal Horoscope to show them their hidden opportunities. Write for yours today.

L. H. R.—I have written to you several times, and have been encouraged by your answers. I feel that you have given me new hope and ingenuity, to start the New Year. The Prayer and Meditation Combination is also a great help and I shall never be without it.

S. M. S.—How can I locate my brother?

Ans.—It would be wise to get in touch with the Bureau of Missing Persons in the town in which you last heard from him. They will aid you in finding him.

L. B.—Does he mean me any good? Will I soon have a home?

Ans.—Probing into this matter I find that your husband loves you and is true to you, dismiss your unfair suspicions of him. Only one question is answered in the column.

M. W.—What should I do?

Ans.—In regards to your question I find that your friend has an inferiority complex which makes him feel he is not educated enough for you. I would advise you to forget him, as you would never be happy with him as long as he has that attitude.

A. H.—Will my daughter return?

Ans.—My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals that your daughter has no intentions of returning home. She has helped with the household duties every since she has been old enough to do so, and had very few pleasures in her life. It would be wise to hire a girl or woman to take care of your small son, and keep your home.

M. L. P.—Is the cause of her death recorded?

Ans.—Concentrating upon your question I find that by going to the Court House in Louisville, you will find a record of this person's death.

R. A. M.—Dear Sir: I just want to tell you that I have been so blessed since following your instructions and using the Hindu Charm Bag. I got the house that I wanted, and also a car. May God bless your wonderful works.

C. H. Y.—Will I be successful in my present work?

Ans.—It appears that you are now in the type of business you have desired to be in for quite sometime. I vision your making a success of it.

R. M.—Where is the money?

Ans.—It appears that someone has tried to fool you in regard to the money being hidden in your garden. I don't vision you finding any money there.

E. T. P.—Where does it go?

Ans.—Thru a careful analysis of your problem, I find that your husband has a mania for gambling and that is where his money goes. If he continues to refuse to bring his money home for the household necessities you may complain to the Court of Domestic Relations.

L. G. P.—What does the New Year hold for me?

Ans.—My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals that there is much happiness and prosperity for you in the coming year. You will get the job.

Friendly Counsellor

Dear Friendly Counsellor:

Listening to your friendly advice over station KGFJ each Monday night was just becoming a weekly pleasure when your voice suddenly disappeared from the airlanes. (WHY?) However, it is gratifying to note that you are sending out your consoling messages through the pages of the California Eagle, so perhaps you can help me.

I have had a most bitter argument with my mother and father over a proposal of marriage that was made to me recently by the young man with whom I am very much in love. The reason for the family feud over the proposal is that I am just 17 and my lover 21. He will graduate this coming summer from junior college in the printing trades.

"Charles" has been offered a job upon graduation in the South in a large print shop. He has asked me to marry him in June and then go South together.

My parents naturally, or unnaturally, object, I think. They give the usual reason, my youth and inexperience, Charles' youth and inexperience and the distance and LOCALITY of our proposed home.

Here you have the facts. What do you think? Please give a fair and impartial answer to worried SARAH.

ANS.:

Dear Little Sarah:

I certainly could wish that both you and Charles were just a couple of years older before setting out on life's most important journey. I should like to see Charles go South and spend just one year getting himself securely established before having you come on. I consider it almost missionary for an inspired young couple to brave the South's intolerance, its frequent gross ignorance, its lynch law and Jim Crowism. There is a tragic need for social organization, the teaching of hygiene, home economics, and many of the sciences that contribute to successful living. If you should decide on this course—waiting perhaps a year—you would have the time to prepare yourself more adequately for a lifetime as wife and a worker for good in the community to which you migrate.

A year from now, then, blithely kiss mother and father goodbye, and sail into youra own happy and useful future. And I am sure that the blessings of Heaven will be upon you.

Cherio.

DO YOU WANT SUCCESS IN LIFE?

won't 'blister' GWTW; quits paper

NEW YORK CITY, Dec. 28 (ANP)—Declaring he could not agree with his publishers' order to 'blister' the film epic Gone With the Wind, Howard Rushmore, movie critic for the Daily Worker, the Communist party's organ, announced last Friday he had quit his $25 a week job.

Rushmore spiked his withdrawal announcement with the statement he had not been paid for his services since signing of the Soviet-Nazi non-aggression pact. He said the Daliy Worker board had ordered him to criticize GWTW 100 per cent and to even call on the paper's readers to boycott. Knowing his review would not be published unless he made 'concessions' he said he had described the film as a 'magnificent bore'.

The Daily Worker, however, said Rushmore had been discharged because his GWTW review was: 'A shameless glorification of white chauvinism and an affront to the Negro people." The paper continued.

KKK-DIES AMERICANISM

"Our rejection to the type of review submitted brought forth from him statements which revealed not only hs anti-Negro sentiments, but also marked anti-Semitic views, whcih he sought to conceal with spurious phrases about 'Americanism' of the KKK-Dies variety . . . Their expression was climaxed in his shameful review of Gone With the Wind.

Rebutting, Writer Rushmore said: "I'm not anti--Negro, neither do I weep tears for the fallen Southern aristocracy. As a compromise, I asked Mr. Davis (Ben Davis, colored member of the editorial board), if I could at least praise the producing and acting. His reply was that we praise nothing about this picture and that the most I could say was that Vivien Leigh and other stars were forced to appear in such a reactionary picture."

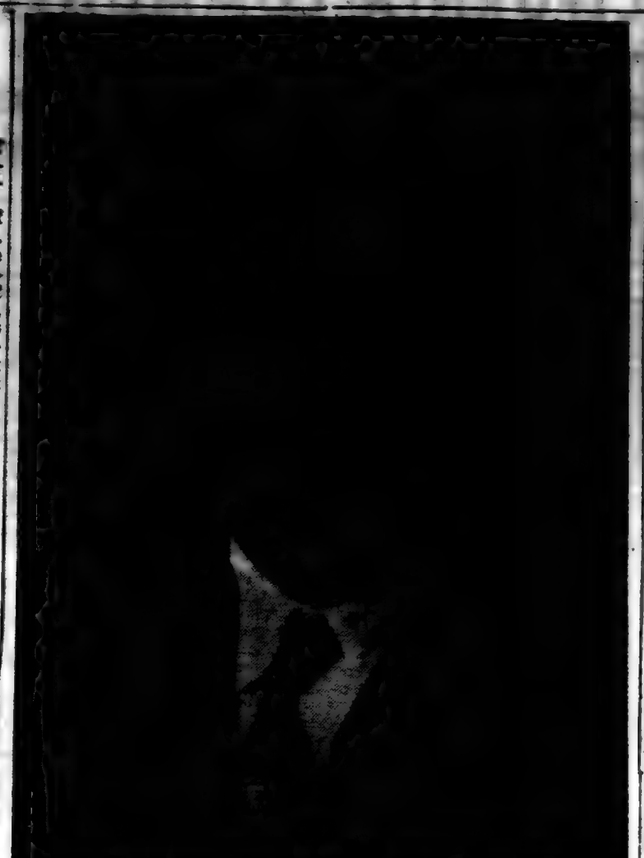
REV. W. R. CARTER, General Baptist Missionary, remembered on the "Tree of Recognition" for his "remembrance" of those he serves through the years.

Let's Keep Up The Spirit

The holiday season nears its end, Christmas trees are soon doomed to be dismantled and tossed forgotten into the ash-barrel, and the season of peace on earth, good will to men, when cheery greetings and merrymaking filled the air, will soon be gone to linger in memory only.

As the nation's lawmakers pack their bags for their march turn to the halls of Congress, on Capitol Hill, thoughts now soon to resound with debate on armaments, taxes, relief, Federal intervention against trade barriers—topice now looming in the foreground as the objects of most concern.

Over them will rage battles royal, but we venture to hope a little of the spirit of peace on earth, good will to men, will prevail long enough after the holidays to turn a mixmum of light, and a minimum of heat on the questions Congress considers. A heartening sign is already on the horizon. An interdepartmental committee has just been created by Secretary of Commerce Hopkins to work in conjunction with the Council of State Governments and help remove from America those un-American trade barriers which have fomented ill will between states, blockaded commerce, and launched reprisals and counter-reprisals among neighboring commonwealths.



We want no America divided up into warring petty kingdoms, nor any crippling taxes on interstate retail trade, impoverishing producers, wage-earners, and consumers alike. True enough, such a man as Rep. Patman will argue for the outright destruction of interstate retail stores in Congress, but history tells plainly enough that America's greatness and well-being depends on free trade among states. We can see what trade, tax, and tariff barriers have done to the eternally quarreling, warring states of Europe!

Let them keep their war spirit over there. And let us, as befits a democracy, hold a little more closely to the spirit of peace on earth, good will toward men!

All-Vegetable Laxative Has Important Points

Most people want a laxative to do three things: (1) act punctually, (2) act thoroughly, (3) act gently. Here's one that usually fills all three requirements when the easy directions are followed. It's an all-vegetable product whose principal ingredient has medical recognition as an "intestinal tonic-laxative." This ingredient enables BLACK-DRAUGHT to impart tone to lazy bowel muscles. And it is the main reason for the punctual, thorough relief from constipation that most often follows next morning after you take BLACK-DRAUGHT. The millions of packages used prove its merit. 25 to 40 doses: 25c.

Heywood Broun Militant Friend of Negro, Says White

NEW YORK, Dec. 28—"Heywood Broun was a militant friend of the Negro, who day in and day out kept faith with his belief in the righteousness of justice for all Americans whatever their race, color or creed."

This was the tribute paid to Heywood Broun, famed columnist and president of the American Newspaper Guild, by Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Broun died here Dec. 18.

Recalling the part played by Broun in giving voice to the Association's fight against the confirmation of North Carolina's Judge Parker for the Supreme Court in 1930, and again in the early days of the famous Scottsboro case, the NAACP secretary said the newspaper man was 'always in the forefront of the fight.'

The newspaper columnist was a member of the NAACP's Spingarn gold medal award committee for four years, from 1935 to 1939.

cab's 'jive' disc a best seller

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (ANP)—Cab Calloway's Vocalion record of 'The Jumpin' Jive" was the only disc by a colored artist to be included in general popular best selling records for 1939, a survey of record manufacturing companies discloses.

That novelty tune, "Three Little Fishes", by Kay Kyser on Brunswick, and "Oh Johnny, Oh Johnny Oh," the revival of an old number by Orrin Tucker on Columbia, completed the list of the three best sellers by the Columbia Recording Co. 'Beer Barrel Polka' by Will Glahee, "Three Little Fishies" by Hal Kemp and "Heaven Can Wait" by Tommy Dorsey topped Victor sales with 'Moonlight Serenade' and "In The Mood", both by Glenn Miller, and 'Begin the Beguine", by Artie Shaw, heading the Bluebird list. Both Victor and Bluebird are produced by R CA Manufacturing Corp.

"WELL ALL RIGHT"

"Sunrise Serenade," by Glen Gray; 'El Rancho Grande", by Bing Crosby, and 'Beer Barrel Polka' coupled with "Well All Right", by the Andrews Sisters led the Decca sales parade. 'Fine and Mellow' coupled with 'Strange Fruit" by Billy Holiday on Commodore and "Summertime" by Sidney Bechet on Blue Note were among best sellers by these two smaller companies.

Of the records made by colored artists, 'Hold Tight" and "Your Feet's Too Big," both by Fats Waller, and Gin Mill Special" by Erskine Hawkins, all on Bluebird, were best sellers by RCA. For Decca, the Ink Spots had 'If I Didn't Care" and "My Prayer" leading the way along with You Tell Me Your Dream" by the Mills Brothers. In addition to the Calloway tune, Columbia reported "Taint What You Do' by Jimmie Lunceford on Vocalion and "If I Could Be With You', by Count Basie on Vocalion, tops for sales among records by Negro artists.

A. Philip Randolph Back in East Following Coast Tour

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—After an extended trip which carried him through the great Northwest to the Pacific coast, speaking to large audiences in public mass meetings in St. Paul, Minnesota; Seattle, Washington; Portland, Oregon; Oakland and Los Angeles, California; Salt Lake City, Denver, Colorado and Omaha, Nebraska, A. Philip Randolph, international president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, is in New York City at the international headquarters of the union.

The Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters has a hundred per cent organization in most of the cities he visited and the spirit for trade union organization among Negro workers is steadily growing on the West coast and in the Northwest, stated Randolph.

The success of the Brotherhood's fight in winning a wage agreement from the Pullman company, with a wage increase of two million dollars has stimulated an interest among Negro workers, says Randolph, to cast their lot with the forces of organized labor in an increasingly large number of crafts and industrial union.

Bratton Tells Why He Is One of Directors of the Liberty

By E. B. BRATTON

I have been asked the question, "Why did you choose to accept a position as member of the board of directors of the Liberty Building-Loan association?"

Aside from the fact that I consider it an honor to have been elected to serve with this board; I have a very real, heartfelt appreciation of the reasons for which the Building and Loan association was organized, of the need of such an organization in our midst, and of the program governing its management.

The Negro population of Los Angeles and vicinity forms a large city of more than 75,000 people. A city among themselves almost equal in population to the capital of our state. To serve all this group there is only one financial institution organized to operate in a judiciary capacity for the benefit of its mmebers, the Liberty Building-Loan association. The service this association offers is two-fold in nature and ideally suited to the needs of the community. While not a bank, which would be primarily needed only if the commerical enterprises of our group justified it, the association is empowered to accept and guarantee deposit from its customers with as great security and facility as any banking institution, and pays, on the average, a larger per cent of interest. While not negotiating short term, unsecured loans it does loan funds at reasonable rates of interest on property values.

A glance at statistics will show that more than 90% of all loans made to Negroes bears this classification. For this reason I can repeat that the association is ideally suited to the needs of our community.

The program governing the management of the association has consistently been conservative and sound. Thru all the trying years of depression and recession, business failures and difficulties, the association has carried on and successfully weathered the storm. Not only has it emerged triumphant and sound, but it has gained federal recognition by insurance covering its deposits and its management stands vindicated and justified for the slow, sure, conservative business methods which have made this possible.

Added to this distinct advantage is the wealth of experience gained thru constant association and consultation with government experts in savings and loan association affairs—a contact which is lasting and helpful and continues to guide and protect the association and offers incomparable assistance in the management of its affairs.

The long-range forward looking program of the management of this association now calls for more money in the form of deposits; more members, more loans and better service to its community. A drive is now underway to raise the deposits to $500,000.00 during the year 1940, and place this money, the deposit of which is insured by the Federal Government, at the disposal of worthy Negro men and women of this community. We want the money earned and saved by Negroes placed at the disposal of Negroes for their benefit and assistance.

That is why I am proud to be a member of the board of directors of the Liberty Building-Loan association. That is why I shall work, slave and lend any assistance I can to help achieve a worthwhile goal. And that is why the association should and will prosper and grow.

Don't deposit where you can't borrow! Let Negro savings be held and used by Negroes! With such a slogan we enter the New Year confident of success, proud of deserving the confidence and trust of our fellow citizens and with an unrestricted invitation to each and every one of you to join us in our progress.

Card of Thanks

To our many friends, who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement in the death of our dear one, Walter M. Patterson, who died Dec. 19, we thank you; and also the Rev. Mrs. Cannon, who officiated.

PAUL ROBESON DEFENDS RUSSIA, SEES NEW ALIGNMENT IN EUROPE

World Famous Actor-Singer Tells Why of Soviet Union's Action in Finland

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 28. (CNA)—Paul Robeson, world famous actor-singer, said here this week that the action of the Soviet Union in Finland was necessary to balk a united drive of the big imperialist powers against the Soviet Union.

Robeson's attitude was expressed in an interview which appeared in the Philadelphia Record. The noted artist is here as the star of the new play "John Henry", now in its first week at the Erlanger Theatre.

Of Vincent Shean, white writer and author of "Personal History", who recently came out with attacks on Soviet Russia, Robeson said:

"Shean and other intellectuals shortly will find themselves in the pro-fascist, pro-Hitler, pro-Mussolini camp. And no matter what one thinks of Russia, that, certainly is no place for a liberal to be. Shean is haywire." Robeson was quoted as saying that he now "parts company with Shean 'on a personal basis.'"

The interview, under the by-line of Robert Reiss, said further:

"Robeson, it is evident, does not hide his interest nor his sympathy for the Russian idea, nor does he avoid replying to questions about the Soviet-Finish situation. "That momentous situation," he believes, "is preliminary to the alignment of Germany, Italy, France and England in a war on Russia."

NOT COMMUNIST

"I am not a Communist. I am now a fellow traveller, and my son is now in Harlem and attends New York's Ethical Culture school, all of which doesn't mean what you think it means," Robeson is reported to have said, referring to 12 year old Paul, Jr.

"When I look at my social background, I do so from the point of view of a slave. I sent my son to Russia because I could afford to see he would not grow up subject to the kicks and rebuffs he would receive in America," Robeson explained in the interview.

"It was not until I went to Russia, long after I won a certain amount of success here and in Western Europe, that I was able to free myself of the bitterness I sometimes felt because of those rebuffs."

result of the congressman's efforts. However, there is an aspect of these two measures that has not been mentioned or hardly observed. It is the sheer irony of having to legislate fair-play into the armed forces of the United States! — that a representative must solemnly introduce measures in an American Congress to insure fundamental democracy throughout our most important military agency. The son of an alien may receive training and a chance for earned promotion in the United States Army, while a Negro, who boasts a distinguished history of service in every American conflict since the revolution, must resign himself to cramped, segregated units—or an exalted position as valet to a sack of potatoes."

Three months before the outbreak of World War II, on April 20, you read:

"It is reported that our United States Ambassador Kennedy in London feels that Europe will be at war within a week, and that Ambassador Bullitt in Paris more optimistically places the deadline at two weeks. These are said to be the underlying reasons for President Roosevelt's sensational and unsuccessful peace proposal to the totalitarian states.

"This is one Roosevelt failure that cannot be condemned. No effort on the part of the Chief Executive is too extreme if it can possibly point a way to international peace. However, the chances of an amicable settlement of the world's woes grow less each day as new reports of troop and fleet movements are broadcast. England and France, comprising the most powerful alliance on earth, hate the war that they are being driven into. Germany and Italy grow stronger each day that actual conflict is averted. Hitler has played a game of international poker with flawless skill. Taking a bankrupt nation and an obsolete war machine, he has manged to bluff Germany into the all-powerful, strategic position which it now holds. Herr Adolph has capitalized upon the horror of the World War. He has used it as a boogy in every conference he has held with the world's two great flying doves. Neville Chamberlain and Eduard Deladier.

"A web of propaganda agencies have been planted skillfully throughout France and Britain by Nazi sympathizers. Hitler understands that a people's morale is more important than its morals. He knows that a nation will turn its back on justice if it is afraid to fight. Each Nazi agreement with Chamberlain and his various French assistants has been flanked with a hypocritical Hitler promise to "be a nice boy from now on." Today, it has finally become evident even to England's aging Prime Minister that the German potentate does not play fair. Even the horror of war has been surpassed by a conviction that horror is inevitable. The time for a show-down has come at last. Today another Munich Pact is impossible. The people of England and France, although dreading the battle, will nó longer kid themselves that the REICH has any sense of RIGHT. Yes, the war, the needless, barbaric, devastating, stupid war is at hand."

Perhaps the most popular series of "Sidewalk" presented during 1939 were my hasty accounts of our automobile journey to New York, mailed in from the road. We reprint the despatch of June 22nd--

"It was like a strange interlude, the ten hour lapse between our stop at Steamboat Springs. Colo., and the hop to our next stop--Denver.

"To this point we had been guided solely by maps of each state through which we passed. I had been constrained from asking questions by John Kinloch, our driver, who thought it best to follow road instructions provided by the state rather than become confused by crisscross advice from various local sages. However, before leaving Steamboat Springs, I insisted upon asking the gasoline man where we filled our tank what was the condition of the road that led to Denver. 'Good roads straight through', was his ready response, 'but', he continued, I'm afraid you'll run into bad weather on the mountains'.

"What? I almost screamed, more mountains? You see, it had been a long time since I had indulged in a tete a tete with my geography.

"The gas man seemed to get joy out of the discomforture that the mere mention of high places had inspired and went on to say that the high point we would reach was eleven thousand feet above sea level, but he assured us it would be alright--unless it rained.

"Even as he spoke, great black clouds were gathering in the direction toward which we were traveling. I have heard some use the expression 'being in the middle of a bad fix'. Well, here we were between Salt Lake City and Denver, great silent mountains behind and others ahead even more threatening than those left behind. As we stood in preparation for our onward journey, the clouds spread so fast and thick that one could not tell where mountains stopped and clouds began. They had just melted into one another. I readily confess that, had it not been for the courage of that 17-year-old John Kinloch, who was having his first experience either than that of driving through the streets of Los Angeles, I would still be waiting until something happened either to the mountains or the clouds.

"We had gone but a short distance when the upward climb started. The wind was rising and great drops of rain beat against windows. As we ascended, each hairpin curve carrying us higher and higher into the mountain fastness, few words passed between the three occupants of our car. As I sat there firmly gripping the side door, almost afraid to look out at the winding road that lay ahead, I realized the close proximity with eternity.

"After debating with my subconscious for along time, I took one glance at the seemingly bottomless ravine at the foot of the mountain over which we were now traveling at the blood-curdling rate of 40 miles an hour.

"Higher, always higher we seemed to be ascending. Suddenly we approached one steep point in the road and were as suddenly ushered into a snow storm which lasted for more than three hours. As far as the eye could see there was nothingi n view but white capped mountains. For a long time it seemed no other motorist kept our company on ths endless journey.

"Finally, when both mind and matter had petrified, our driver ventured to say 'We've started down at last'. We swished around a sharp curve and I realized that we were passing through the Great Divide. Just as the snow had come down upon us without any warning, so from behind milky white snow clouds golden rays of sunshine played hide and seek in the shadow of that great passage. The beauty of this scene was awe insoiring. The fear of a plunge down the mountain side, the blowing of a tire, and a night in the wilds of these Colorado mountains were all lost in deep appreciation for nature's most beautiful oil painting. Our anxiety to reach Denver in a hurry was gone with the snow. We just wanted to linger here and realize our littleness in the Shadow of God's mystery."

Mr. Joseph Parvis,

Chicago, Illinois.

My dear Mr. Parvis:

I am in receipt of your letter of November 1st, and in reply I write to say that I shall be very glad to take your case up with the Work Projects Administration if you will get a letter from your Ward Committeeman requesting me to handle this matter for you.

It is an unbroken rule of the Democratic Organization in Chicago, that each person seeking help from his Congressman must first get a letter from his Ward Committeeman requesting the Congressman to take care of the matter. I must, therefore, insist that you get a letter from your Committeeman first, and then I shall be very glad to do every thing in my power to help you.

With very best wishes, I am,

Cordially and sincerely yours,

FINLAND'S WOMEN CARRY ON IN FACE OF WAR: One of the many mothers forced to flee with their children from Terijoki, last Finnish town along the Viipuri-Leningrad railroad line, cradles her baby on a kitchen table in a classroom of a distant schoolhouse designated as an emergency refugee center.

FRENCH SOLDIERS HONOR FALLEN COMRADES: Two poilus salute at the graves of friends who died in action on the battleline in a skirmish with the enemy. Up to Dec. 1, French army, navy and air force dead numbered 2,133. During the first three months of the World War dead and missing totaled 450,000.

"AQUABATICS" AT THE END OF A TOW LINE: Speeding over the waters at Miami, Florida, behind a motorboat, Larry Mills introduces something new in aquaplane decoration as he rides a board on which a white marlin cut-out has been mounted.

SNOW STYLES: Cloud gray is the color of the wool gabardine suit shown at the left. The windbreaker jacket is designed for comfort with action pleats both back and front. The turtle-neck sweater is red wool. The amber snow shield is pushed up here to form an eyeshade. Center: Royal blue flannel is trimmed with red rickrack to enliven this skating suit. The jacket is lined with red satin. On the right: White as snow and more dazzling is this ski suit of wool gabardine. The double-breasted jacket is lined in white wool flannel. The cap and leather palmed mittens are red poplin.

PRETTYING UP FOR A TRIP INTO THE CLOUDS: Marie Walsh, Joan Ruth Strongin and Madeleine Dubin, students of Adelphia College, Brooklyn, who are enrolled in a flying course at Roosevelt Field, N. Y., apply make-up before donning parachutes for their first instruction flight.

POWERFUL FARE

When you've seen the film version of John Steinbeck's 'Of Mice and Men" no one will have to tell you that you have just witnessed one of the most powerful bits of screen entertainment yet produced. You will know it for yourself.

We hied out to the Four Star theatre on Wilshire Blvd. last week for a press showing and came away with multiple, undefinable feelings.

Those who have read the book may be disappointed if they expect to hear the cuswords so freely used by the Steinbeck's characters, but none of the potency of the lines is lost. From the time the screen credits flash upon the silver sheet with hunted men fleeing from a mob in the background until George puts a slug in the back of Lennie at the close you are an eyewitness to as powerful and yet simple a tale as the screen has unfolded.

Mixed emotions greet the character Lennie, the simple but good natured strong boy around whom the tale revolves. Played by Lon Chaney jr. Lennie is "Of Mice and Men". George, whom Lennie looks up to as a sort of god, is played by Burgess Meredith.

Leigh Whipper, veteran Negro actor, is natural and easy on the screen in the role of the stable buck, showing to advantage his experience in the part in the stage play.

A Hal Roach production, the film is from the stage play produced by Sam H. Harris and staged by George S. Kaufman. Lewis Milestone produced and directed.

"Of Mice and Men" tells the story of migratory workers and does it so well that it is definitely "must".

GABBY BITS:

That minion of the law who was stationed last Friday afternoon at Eighth and Olive gets this public commendation for helping the aged woman across the street in the midst of holiday pedestrian-traffic pell-mell . . . So Josephine Harreld, the Atlanta pianist, is planning another visit to this city. We missed her before, but not again. The Miss at one time was a favorite girl of one of my best pals. In fact, her poppa was my director when we were holding down the first trumpet seat at our alma mater in that town. What we couldn't talk over . . . The fact that Chicago has 97,950 cases on relief rolls and 66,000 on WPA and yet Gov. Henry Horner proclaimed Sunday, Dec. 17 to be "Finland Day" for which funds were handed over to the Hoover committee to "aid Finnish people", made newspaper front pages in a big way . . .

Flora Lomax, women's national singles tennis champ, is to return to California, bringing Lillian Burch-Van Buren, fourth ranking player with her. Champion Lomax was quartered in Pasadena last year, her game improving so much on her return East that she plans to try it all over again . . . "The Negro, Too, in American History", a comprehensive history of America in which the part played by the Negro is told, and written by M. R. Eppse, has been adopted by the boards of education of seven southern states . . .

Now that assistant district supervisors are being named for duty during the taking of the census, how is L. A. stacking up? Several, thru their congressmen, have already been named in the East . . . Incidentally, the status of Negro businesses will be ascertained and made available as a result of the 1940 Census of Business which is scheduled to start on Jan. 2 . . . World famous musicians hold no fear of the discrimination bugaboo. For example: Leopold Stokowsky, famous symphony orchestra conductor, plans to use Negro musicians for the percussion instruments in his 109-member, all-American youth orchestra which will make a 90-day tour of South America next summer. The conductor says he will use Negro artists because of their sense of rhythm.

90-YEAR OLD FORMER SLAVE DEAD IN MO.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Dec. 28 (ANP)—Death last week had taken Merritt Williams Young, a 90-year-old former slave who had served the family of his original master his entire lifetime. When the War Between the States ended neither Young nor his mother would leave the old Williams estate, near DeKalb county.

The aged servant passed away at the home of Police Lieut. H. W. Williams, the third generation of the family he had served.

Father Divine Again on Trial

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (ANP)—Wthdrawal of the proffered settlement by Col. Hubert Julian, of the suit against Father Divine, Harlem cultist, by Mrs. Verinda Brown, fallen 'Angel', has caused Divine to be placed on trial once again. After a week of testimony, the trial was adjourned Thursday to Jan. 2.

Sketch Subject: AL JACKSON . . . Building Contractor.

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Growing up with "a hammer and saw in his hands", it is no more than natural that today Al Jackson is a building contractor.

A native of Los Angeles, our 29-year old subject is probably the youngest Negro contractor to ever be licensed by the State of California. He holds a Class B license which permits the construction of apartment houses, theatres, office buildings, homes, hospitals, etc.

Young Jackson's father, who came to California in 1900, is also a contractor. For 10 years, the son studied and worked under the trained and expert eye of James Jackson as an apprentice.

This year Al took an examination given by the exacting State Board and came thru with flying colors—a full-fledged contractor in his own right.

TRADESMEN FEW

Once a science major at Jefferson High school, Jackson gained added experiences at Screen Gems Studio, formerly Charles Mintz Cartoon Studio, in Hollywood, where he worked for 10 years, building partitions, sets, animation boards and the like.

AL JACKSON
. . . youngest contractor

In a field which offers unlimited opportunities for sub and general contractors, Al states he has noted a lack of capable young tradesmen. His brother, Coy, with whom he works when the occasion demands, has been an employe and foreman of the Glen Contracting firm for the past 12 years, building some of the finest homes in the more exclusive sections of the city.

The fact that young Jackson, who is married and lives at 1273 E. 46th street, is a Class B licensee, caused us to put the query to him as to what were the qualifications of a Class A contractor, and learned that the latter, first of all, was an engineer, and builder of railroads, harbors, airports, etc.

Having recently constructed a home for Mr. and Mrs. Sells Reed, well known Angelenos living at 9923 Baird street, Al Jackson is looking ahead to a promising future—in a field tough to crash and where a "name" counts for a great deal.

Ethiopia White Elephant to Italy, Commentator Claims

NEW YORK CITY, Dec. 28. (ANP)—Arthur Hale, news commentator in the program 'Confidentially Yours' on Radio Station WOR gave a summary of the present Ethiopian situation in his broadcast on last Saturday evening. Excerpts from the broadcast follow:

While much is said and reported about the efforts of the Czechs and Poles to effect restoration of their countries at the conclusion of this war the Poles having even set up a government in France, nothing is said about the restoration of Ethiopia to her people. Advices reach 'Confidentially Yours" which lead us to believe that if any way could be found without embarrassment to himself, Mussolini would be glad to unload the Ethiopian 'white elephant'. Friends of Ethiopia point to the following as proof that Ethiopia is not yet a 'paying' proposition from the Italian point of view, and is in fact, costing the Italian people greatly in taxes:

"1. Coffee-less Italy. It is pointed out that in pre-fascist days coffee was Ethiopia's chief export. If Italy had conquered the country, they certainly would be able to have plenty of coffee.

"2. A newspaper man recently reporting from Italy states that the Italian press is now universally silent on Ethiopia and that the Italian people freely admit that among their worries are "Taxes,, how much the army costs, and Ethiopia." The latter is closely tied up with the two former. If the army of occupation were withdrawn from Ethiopia, the costs through taxes for its support would be reduced.

"3. Newsreels recently showed an exodus of Italian settlers—but to Libya, not Ethiopia. (Editor's Note). If further proof is necessary that Italy does not occupy or control Ethiopia, take the word of Signor Gayda in a radio address made recently (New York Times, Dec. 13, 1939): 'Italy must hvae free passage from the Mediterranean and needs more colonial territory, Virginio Gayda, editor, regarded as close to the Foreign Office, said today in a national radio speech. Comparing the Italian and French colonial possessions and populations, Signor Gayda sadi, 'The Italian population is increasing daily but has no land to exploit so that it will not be forced to work for foreigners. Revision of the colonial system is essential among the elementary necessities for a new Europe.")

Harvey Bros. Boost Boys' Home

Among those who continue to be added to the list of contributors among the race to the improvement and support of the Boys' Home on 50th street, are the Harvey Brothers, pioneer building material contractors.

After seeing the efforts put forth to develop homeless colored boys in the community into useful citizens, Rev. Clayton D. Russell, supervisor of the Home, was notified last week by Frank Harvey, general manager of Harvey Brothers, that the firm would furnish the materials necessary to hard-surface the large back yard, so that it can be made into a suitable playground and recereation center for the boys.

All individuals, organizations and churches are urged by Rev. Russell to join in making this home one of the finest projects supported by the race in the country, since it is an institution established for the community.

Once a Bank Bldg.; Now a Hotel for Men

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (ANP)—Ten years ago, the nation's lone Negro national bank and the pride of Chicago Southside, the Douglas National bank, is today the Palace hotel for men. It made its bow as a hotel last month with William C. Johns as general manager and Roy V. Huffine, his assistant, along with 10 other fulltime employes.

Organized in 1922, the Douglas made history in the race's financial circles. It was empowered to issue currency as a member of the federal reserve system and played a leading role in Southside business affairs. Then came the depression and in 1932, in common with many similar institutions of both races, it was forced to close its doors.

Anticipate Big Tourist Season

ST. THOMAS (Virgin Islands) Dec. 28. (By Ivy Geresce for A NP)—Hotel and resort operators in the Virgin Islands have reported a considerable increase in inquiries and bookings for the winter season. In addition to Bluebeard's Castle Hotel and the Grand Hotel, the reconstructed Hotel 1829 will be ready to take guests this season. Four new cottages have been constructed at Caneel Bay, St. John, to meet the steadily increasing demand for accomodations of this type. Many prospective visitors are now making airplane reservations to the islands.

FILES DAMAGE SUIT FOR JIM CROW IN HOTEL IN ABE LINCOLN'S HOME

Chicago Alderman Refused Admittance When Hostelry Learns His Identity

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 28. (ANP)—Alderman Earl B. Dickerson of Chicago is combating discrimination in the Illinois capital and former home of Abraham Lincoln, filing suit Wednesday in the circuit court for $500 damages against the Abraham Lincoln Hotel Corp., and the Abraham Lincoln Hotel Operating Co. for denial of accomodations Monday evening.

It has been customary for colored legislators to ignore Jim Crow here in the city where Illinois laws are enacted and live with private families while the assembly is in session. But the Chicago councilman, who came here as special assistant to the attorney general in a case before the state supreme court, obtained hotel resrvations earlier in the day through another member of the attorney general's staff. When he went to the hostelry, he was refused admittance after it was found he was a Negro.

Ald. Dickerson for six and a half years was an assistant attorney general working out of the Chicago office until he resigned in July after being elected a Democratic councilman. When he came here Monday he was representing the state in the case of Marshall vs. Ames involving the Retailers Occupations Tax law which he had previously tried before his resignation.

The state civil rights law provides heavy penalties for discrimination because of color in public places. Its provisions have been invoked mainly in the Chicago area.

Keep Xmas Spirit Alive Thru Chest

"Keep the Christmas spirit alive 365 days of the year by contributing for the less fortunate through the Community Chest," was the plea of Mrs. George Grimm, local vice chairman. "If you have not yet contributed, take this opportunity to make a practical expression of gratitude for your own good fortune.

"Send your contribution to Chest headquarters, 1151 South Broadway, room 370. Or telephone PRospect 7351 or to me at PRospect 0814 and a volunteer will call for it."

As a result of the continuation of the solicitation, Exposition-Adams volunteers have secured additional contributions since the report of December 14th and now have $15,055.00, the aggregate of 1843 subscriptions, and 79 per cent of quota. This included the subscriptions secured by battalions C. D. F. G. and H of Division 44 which solicited in the Central avenue area.

Total campaign contributions (Dec. 22nd, noon) totaled $2,212,899.00, the aggregate of 231,55 subscriptions, with volunteers reporting daily throughout the Chest area.

School Puts First CAA's in Air

INSTITUTE, W. Va.—West Vrgnia State College put its first unit of Civil Aeronautics Authority students in the air. There are 10 students, one girl and nine men in this unit. Rose Agnes Rolls is the lucky girl, the first of the race to make a CAA pilot training flight. She is a senior in the department of Business Administration and prominent in college dramatics.

Each of the students spent 35 minutes in the air on dual control.

The CAA program calls for 72 hours n the air with 72 hours of ground school work. Seventeen is the least number of hours before a CAA student can fly solo. The college is also offering courses in aeronautics in the regular curriculum and in conjunction with its NYA resident training project.

"gone with the wind" coming to united artists

The Hardy Family adventures in its own home town of Carvel where Andy gets into hilarious financial trouble and plays de- tective—the family facing the near loss of their mother—Andy helping his father, the Judge, to find courage in a time of stress and even proving himself a hero —these are among the dramatic highlights of "Judge Hardy and Son," eighth and latest of the popular Judge Hardy Family se- ries. Lewis Stone as the Judge, Mickey Rooney as the irrepress- ible Andy, Cecilia as Marian, his sister, Fay Holden as the moth- er, and Sara Haden as Aunt Milly, as usual, comprise the family. Added to the population of Carvel is a new family played by Maria Ouspenskaya, noted stage star and former Moscow Art Theatre member, who re- cently scored in "The Rains Came," and Egon Brecher, who turns detective. In conjunction with Judge Hardy, the United Artists Theatre is offering Leslie Howard in "Intermezzo," a love story that will thrill you with its unique plot. The program will show up to and including today and tomorrow, December 29, Dav- id O. Selznick's "Gone With the Wind," will start its engagement at the United Artists downtown.

Hot pianist FATS WALLER led critics' lists of 1939's records made by Negro swingsters. Waller's best efforts were "Your Feet's Too Big" and "Hold Tight." (See story.)

jeliffes in n. y. to seek aid in rebuilding famous theatre

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—One af- ternoon recently, at the National Theatre, here, two intelligent, bright-looking people watched with the pride and enthusiasm of parents the work of one of the minor members of Lillian Hellman's hit play, "The Little Foxes."

Most of those in the audience had come to be and were—thrill- ed by the dynamic star, Tallu- lah Bankhead. But the Jeliffes, Rowena and Russell, the bright- looking people, were intent upon the work of the Negro actor who played the part of "Cal",—John Marriott is his name.

Some 10 years before, John Marriott, a printer in Cleveland, Ohio had joined the Gilpin Players, who habit the Karamu Theatre, under the auspices of the Cleveland Neighborhood As- sociation. For the past 19 years the Jeliffes have breathed life into that project; it is a self-sus- taining unit.

PRAISE MARRIOTT

After the performance, the Jel- iffes went backstage. They gave John Marriott the sincere, simple praise they thought was his. Then he introduced them to Miss Bankhead and the other mem- bers of the company.

"This is one of the proudest days of my life," he said. "12 years ago I first stumbled out on a stage under the direction of these people. Now I can car- ry a tray without dropping it onstage."

John Marriott told Miss Bank- head about the Gilpin Players. That they had been organized and producing plays for 19 years. How they have become self-sus- taining, and how they have been the bulwark of the Negro play- wright—Langston Hughes, for in- stance, the actor, and the Amer- ican Negro folk play in America.

The the Jeliffes chimed in and told how they were in New York to enlist help in the rebuilding of the old Karamu Theatre in the heart of Cleveland's Negro section. Fire swept it away a few months ago, but the Jeliffes want to see it rise again. They have faith that it will, because they have others like John Marriott who need it to train for the high- est places.

jimmie fidler pays glowing tribute to hattie mcdaniel

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28. (ANP) —Last Tuesday, in his syndicat- ed, nationally read movie col- umn, Jimmie Fidler, ace com- mentator, paid high compliment to the artistry of Hattie McDani- el's portrayal of Scarlett's O'- Hara's mammy in "Gone With the Wind," multi-million dollar film epic starring Clark Gable, Vivian Leigh and Olivia de Haviland and others.

Declared Fidler: "Hattie, with one of the greatest dramatic per- formances of all time, steals that picture . . . Long after I've for- gotten their work (the other stars), I'll still see the emotion- wracked, ebony face of Hattie, tears coursing down her cheeks as she pleads for Olivia de Havi- land's help outside the room where Scarlett's and Rhett's baby lies dead . . . .

"The most prejudiced critic alive could not watch her work without admitting that it is act- ing at its artistic best . . . And where does this Negro artist go from here, Why, back to play- ing incidental, comedy maids, of course. An actress comparable with the immortal Marie Dress- ler, has flashed like a dark me- teor across the screen—and now must disappear because Holly- wood can't give her adequate parts. No one's to blame, least of all the producers who would ask nothing better than to capitalize on her ability . . .

"But I don't think it will be easy for me to laugh at Hattie's comedy in the future, for I'll never be able to overlook the tragic fact that a very great art- ist is being wasted."

Agent Wins Suit Against Actress

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (ANP) —George W. Lattimore, Broad- way theatrical agent, won a de- cision against Miss Ruby Greene, singer this week.

Although Miss Greene admit- ted she was under contract with Lattimore when he obtained a position for her in a Noel Cow- ard production at the Music Box theatre last winter, she re- fused to pay him a commission on the $1,10 paid her under her contract. She said she refused to pay because he was a non-Equity representative.

Lattimore's lawyers contend- ed that he was a fully licensed and bonded theatrical agent in the city of New York and hav- ing obtained the contract for Miss Greene was in no way bound by Equity.

Judge Brenner awarded Latti- more the sum of $110 with costs.

musicians and entertainers much in demand in London

LONDON, Dec. 28. (By Rud- olph Dunbar for ANP)—At the outbreak of the war, everyone thought Herr Hitler would have descended upon London with a hurricane of metal, bombing the capital with relentless sudden- ness.

Now, after weeks of anxious conjecture, and disorganization of social activities, London's night life is "jumping" again behind the blackness of air raid precautions and is more vivacious and Pari- sian in character than in normal times.

Colored musicians and enter- tainers are very much in demand at the moment. There have nev- er been before, so many colored bands engaged in first class nite- ries in the West end (Broadway of New York) of London as there are at present. The demand for colored bands is more than the supply and with the new color- ed production "Black Out" which is expected to be produced in the very near future, 16 more color- ed musicians will be required.

I have seen the book of this production which is skillfully embroidered on a satire of the West Indies. It is a new departure from the traditional hip-tossing and super-eminently harsh col- ored musical productions which have been presented in London from across the Atlantic.

Rosamond Johnson has written some of the music for this pro- duction.

ENTERTAINERS IN ENGLAND

There are only three colored American entertainers in Eng- land at present: Adelaide Hall, Turner Layton and Cris Gill. The others took flight to America when war was declared. If they had gambled upon remaining in London with entertainment flourishing as it is, they would have cashed in upon a lucrative income. In addition, demand on their services to perform at char- itable functions such as Red Cross concerts, or entertaining the troops, would have gained for them a permanent niche in Eng- land.

Adelaide Hall in this respect has been guided by the sage counsel of her manager-husband and is meeting with conspicuous and triumphant success in Eng- land.

DETROIT, Dec. 28—Miss Mar- ian Anderson, eminent contralto, was presented as soloist for the second time this season on the Ford Sunday Evening Hour here last Sunday, Christmas Eve.

Singing on a Coast-to-Coast broadcast, via Columbia network, Miss Anderson sang eight num- bers. Accompanying her was the Detroit Symphony orchestra, di- rected by Fritz Reiner. A 28- voice chorus provided a back- ground for several numbers.

The contralto first sang the aria, "O Thou That Tellest" from Handel's 'Messiah" and appear- ed next with chorus and orches- tra in a Christmas Carol Fantasy.

A later group included Tschai- kowsky's "None But the Lonely Heart," Chaminado's "Summer" and without accompaniment, the spiritual "Mary, Where's Yo' Baby."

THIS present war set-up is going to furnish some weird reading for our de- scendants about a hundred years from now. There never has been anything so mixed up—unless it was a harp play- er trying to carry his instru- ment through a revolving door. And the way so many of the nations keep changing sides it has all the earmarks of a South American revolution—or a gi- gantic game of musical chairs —with cannon furnishing the incidental music.

WHAT DOES THE NEW YEAR HOLD?

We skipped out of town over the weekend, and away from sports pages, informants and usual haunts. In the interim we learn, however, that the Vols of Tennessee are on the ground making ready for their clash New Year's Day with those sturdy Trojans of Southern Cal, for whom Al Wesson, the USC news bureau head, does such crisp nip-ups on his typewriter. And then, Kenny Washington, the UCLA man-of-the-moment, is likewise getting his All-Stars in playing condition for the date Sunday with the Los Angeles Bulldogs, those tough pro hombres.

So, another year in sports is about to start.

And with it comes added diligence on the part of this pillar to see that sportsmanship, fair-play and equal opportunity take their rightful places in a field based on merit. It is to be hoped that next year this time there will be nothing like "The Case of Kenny Washington", only one of many other sports mystery thrillers of 1939.

Al Moses, Associated Negro Press sports columnist, handles the subject well. Give him an eye:

Louie Montgomery, great little sable halfback of Boston college's football team, will again be forced to sit on the sidelines while his white mates play Clemson college in the Cotton bowl classic at Dallas on Jan. 1. Curtis Stanford, president of the Cotton Bowl A. A., in an exclusive (U. P.) release had the following to say on the subject: "We conferred with Boston college officials and Montgomery will come to Texas with the team but will not play."

The terse statement from Boston seems to convey that: "In view of the general attitude towards Negroes in Texas, it was deemed advisable Montgomery refrain from playing." As year after year these inequalities and inhuman prejudices are heaped upon a people numbering some 15,000,000 in the country, we eternally ask ourselves the question "Will this year see the end of such?" None of us are going to take these issues lying down, as they say in the vernacular, — still we can't hope to win the fight alone or single handed. If the New Year finds us soliciting the aid of thousands of white friends who all along have been intelligent and humane enough to see the injustice of such continued procedure in sports and elsewhere we'll at least be in a fighting condition to successfully combat the cancerous growth.

Let's get out and carry the ball for little Lou Montgomery . . . RIGHT THROUGH THE LINE and kick the winning point so squarely between the goal posts that no official will be constrained in the least to make a mistake in adjudging it fair.

Well put, Al Moses. We are starting the drums beating right now for Jackie Robinson, another UCLA ace who is probably the greatest natural athlete on the coast. At one time we thought Ben Stevenson, the great broken field artist who cavorted over the gridirons for Tuskegee back in the middle '20s, was the greatest ball-packer we had ever seen. But, Robinson has made us change our mind. This lad is close to perfect in any sport. He's a high scorer in basketball, a wow of a hitter, fielder and base runner in baseball, and a track star who would have made the world forget about war if the 1940 Olympics had been held.

Pro football or major league baseball can certainly use him when his school days are over. It was Kenny Washington this year and the fight made in his behalf by sports lovers has made a lasting imprint. Another athlete of his calibre in the West may go on to hand Battler Jim Crow the beating of his life.

Every week beginning next publication date, this pillar is going to "run" the name of some white person who wants to see justice done in the field of sports, said person to be (or already) a party of one to bring such a situation about.

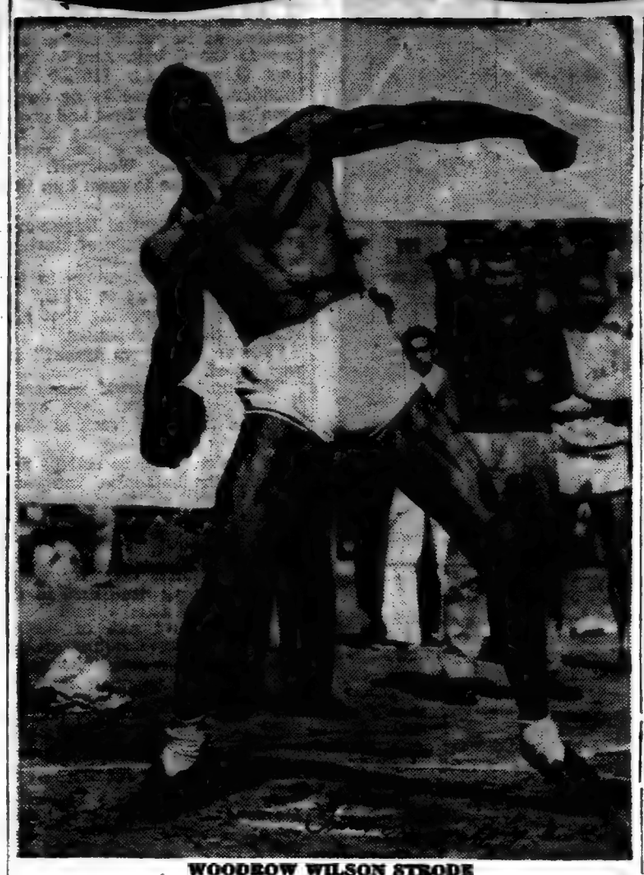
SOFTBALLERS ENJOY SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Organized by Joe "Father" Hines, formerly of the Philadelphia Royal Giants catching staff, the Driver Bros. softball team feels "too fine" over their record made during the 1939 season.

The team first came into prominence when it reached the finals in the Municipal-sponsored preseason tournament. Out of 62 teams in the tourney, Driver Brothers reached the finals, meeting Grant's All-Stars, also a Negro team, and were defeated in a thrilling game.

Mason C. Driver, manager of Driver Bros. Cleaning and Laundry service, was so impressed by his softballers that he entered the team in the Double A Division of the Municipal league.



Concluding their first season in league competition, the "Brothers" won the undisputed championship and league trophy, playing the entire schedule with only one defeat and that at the hands of powerful Paul's of Hollywood, whom they later defeated twice.

Already looking ahead to next season, Driver Bros., with a few replacements here and there, hope to present to softball fans one of the most powerful offensive and air-tight defensive softball teams in Southern California.

Strode Signs Pro Pact; To Play With Kenny Sunday

Joining his teammate, Kenny Washington, UCLA's all-coast end, Woody Strode donned the uniform of Washington's Collegians this week in preparation for the professional game Sunday afternoon at Gilmore stadium with the Los Angeles Bulldogs.

Reportedly signing up with promoter Larry Sunbrock for $750 a game, Strode will play in two games here with an option on a third one in San Francisco.

Washington, the great Bruin All-American halfback, turned professional last week when his uncle, Roscoe Washington, acting as business agent, inked a contract with Sunbrock for $1000 per game.

Strode still has track eligibility left, but because of pressing financial circumstances and the shelving of the 1940 Olympic Games in which he would have figured prominently in the discus and shot-put, it is reported he decided ot turn professional.

Also on Washington's team are several other Bruin stars of this season, including co-captain John Frawley and Mladin Zarubica, 200-pound linemen.

Kenny, Woody to Be Feted at 'Y'

Augmenting the many honors and tributes paid to Kenny Washington and Woodrow Strode, UCLA's grid stars, already, the 28th Street YMCA is planning a presentatoin for them at its Bean Feed, Saturday night. A large crowd is anticipated since the affair is entirely free of charge. Others to appear on the program are Ralph Cooper, Eddie Anderson, Pigmeat Marcum and Emmet Ashford. N. O. Houston is chairman of the planning committee.

Puppet Show to Hilite Bean Feed

Among many other attractions at the 28th Street 'Y' Bean Classic Saturday night, a puppet show will be given with artist James Goodlow performing. Goodlow has traveled up and down the coast with his show and is considered one of the best marrionett artists in California. This feature promises to provide intense interest on the Bean Bowl program. Free tickets are available now at the 28th Street YMCA.

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Dec. 28.—The Dillard football eleven will venture far afield during the next two years, it was disclosed today in an announcement by A. W. Dent, chairman of the athletic committee. Two-year contracts have just been signed with Fisk university and Talladega college, which call for a game with each school in its home city in the course of two years.

Lincoln-Howard Football Tilt Ruled 'No Contest'

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY, Pa., Dec. 28. (ANP)—Members of the C. I. A. A. who sat in session at Greensboro, N. C. Dec. 15 and 16 officially declared the football game played between Lincoln and Howard universities on Drexel field in Philadelphia, Nov. 23, "no contest".

Spectators so delayed action at the classic that the referee was obliged to call time on account of darkness with one minute and a few seconds of playing time left. Howard protested the game's outcome and charging that Lincoln university, as host, was responsible for the crowd's actions, desired to have the contest ruled a forfeit in its favor. Lincoln, however, who had been leading at the time, 14-7, thought it was entitled to the victory.

For Howard the decision of the conference members adds the final word to a season in which the Bisons scored no major victories. Lincoln finishes the season in undisputed second place. In the conference of 13 teams with a record of five victories, one tie, and one defeat.

Ball Big-Wigs Bar Fans' Jim Crow Protest

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 28 (CNA)—The winter meeting of the baseball magnates has ended without taking any action on the widespread demand to end the Jim Crow ban that keeps out what Manager Bill McKechmie of the Cincinnati Reds estimates as at least twenty Negro stars capable of stepping right into the big leagues.

The New York State Young Communist League petition calling for the abolition of Jim Crowism in Big League baseball was presented to President Ford Frick of the National League, who received the 50,000 signatures collected by the YCL from New York fans, but declared that a "social problem" was involved for which the big leagues were not responsible, that he represented a "business" and that he was therefore 'no crusader."

The petitions never reached the floor, where at least one magnate, Benswanger of Pittsburgn, had promised to fight for an end to discrimination if it came up for discussion.

Turk Hangs Up 2 Kayos In One Night

Turkey Thompson, the hard-hitting middleweight, added another record to his promising ristic career Tuesday night at the Olympic when he knocked out Big Boy Hogue twice in the top 10-rounder of a double bill.

A left hook bounced off Big Boy's chin in the first heat. The Hogue twin was out on his feet and referee Benny Whitman raised the Turk's hand in token of a TKO. Hogue said he thought the bell had sounded for the end of the round, however, so the ref let it continue.

Thompson floored Hogue twice in the second round and once again in the third as Whitman stopped it.

Bobby Pacho, veteran Mexican welterweight, outlasted Al Smith of Boyle Heights to win referee Frankie Van's decesion in the first 10-rounder. Pacho had Smith on the floor twice during the bout.

Other results: Gene Mock and Elmer Lewis fought a six-round draw; Johnny Petry TKO'ed Jim Egnatoff in the sixth round; Babe Antuna nodded Nash Diaz in the four-round opener.

Student-Athlete Aid Plan Catches On With Public

Arousing city-wide interest, the Los Angeles Fellowship League-sponsored platform rally to be held Sunday afternoon, Jan. 7 at People's Independent Church of Christ, gave promise this week of being the most unique ever staged in the city.

For the purpose of establishing a scholarship fund for worthy student-athletes of Los Angeles and vicinity, the mammoth rally will be spiced with introductions of famous sports figures.

Attorney Willis O. Tyler, who is chairman of arrangements, said today that all indications point to 100 per cent cooperation and support from all sports-minded citizens who are eager to se ethe future of needy student-athletes assured.

"The proposal of the League to establish a Student-Athlete Scholarship Fund to be designated the KENNY WASHINGTON SCHOLARSHIP FUND, is meeting unanimous approval throughout the city and Southern California", Tyler stated.

"The proposal is fast rounding into shape", he continued. "The plans are being completed for the establishment of the fund, and the committee will be named and approved for determination of awards during the coming school year.

"The Fellowship league, thru Dr. A. J. Booker, its president, requests that all prospective student-athletes, their parents, friends, and all who admire the imperishable record made by the colored athletes of Southern California, led by our great Kenny Washington, appear at this mass meeting to help launch the fund and to take part therein

"It cannot be too strongly emphasized," Tyler said, "that this fund is for future use; it is for student-athletes who are yet to go to college and no part of it is to be applied to any graduating student whether he was an athlete or not."

Negro Athlete Has Hard Lot

oOo oOo oOo

ASK LOU MONTGOMERY OR "DOLLY" KING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (By Al White for ANP)—The plight of the Negro college athlete is a sad one indeed.

Take the case of Lou Montgomery, stellar Negro halfback for the amazing Boston college team—the latest victim of the pernicious color-line phobia which rises to plague athletes who do their best for dear old alma mater.

Press dispatches on Saturday boldly announced that "Boston college will bench their Negro halfback, Lou Montgomery, for the third time this season when they play Clemson college in New Years' Day Cotton Bowl."

Curtis Sandord, president of the Cotton Bowl A. A., had this to say:

"In view of the general attitude toward Negroes in Texas, it was deemed advisable that Montgomery refrain from playing. We conferred with Boston college officials and Montgomery will come to Texas with the team, but will not play."

Perhaps Montgomery will enjoy the train ride and enjoy serving as a stooge in order to have his teammates perfect his plays to use against Clemson, but this will be no novelty to Montgomery. He was not permitted to play against Florida or Auburn universities, either. Who is the loser, you may well ask?

And again, the case of Bill "Dolly" King will come to the fore this season once more when Clair Bee's Long Island university Blackbirds take on some of the Southern institutions of higher education at basketball.

On Saturday night, Dolly was the difference between a win or a loss when Long Island met the powerful Oregon "Webfeet" at Madison Square garden, defeating them by one point, 56-55. Says the story of the Associated Press.

TIES SCORE

"Coming from behind a 14-point deficit in the last 17-minutes of regulation time, the Blackbirds tied the score at 50-all on Bill King's lay-up shot with 20 seconds to play.

"Then with the Webfeet in front 55-54 on sharp shooting in the overtime, King, muscular Negro veteran of the Blackbird courtsters, clicked again on a pivot back-hand shot with only 40 seconds to go and that was the ball game."

Yet with all of their success practically hinging on Dolly, it is doubtful if his coach, Bee, will start him against some of the southern schools on Long Island's schedule.

During the last basketball season, Bee kept Dolly on the side lines when playing one of our better southern schools and nearly precipitated a riot among the student body. In fact, they demanded that Bee refuse to book games which would prevent Dolly from playing.

Lou Montgomery Quits 'Cotton Bowl' Classic

BOSTON, Dec. 28. (ANP)—Lou Montgomery, star halfback of the Boston college football team, has by his own decision, withdrawn from the New Years' Cotton Bowl classic at Dallas, according to a letter published in the Boston daily papers here last eek.

Boston college is scheduled to play Clemson college of South Carolina which was understood to have been flatly against meeting Montgomery. However, he was to go with the team 'just for the trip."

Montgomery in his letter implied that he was withdrawing from the scene in order to "eliminate any unpleasant reactions."

TURKEY HIDE A LA HYDE REACHES NEW HEIGHTS

The culinary art of Mr. Hyde Wade reached new heights Monday night as he served Christmas dinner, aided and abbetted by Mrs. Wade, for guests including Mr. Ernest Jones, Mr. David Jones, Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, and nephew, John Kinloch.

Mrs. Wade reigned as a charming hostess, however all agreed that the piece de resistance was the hide of the turkey cooked a la Hyde.

From experience, we reports "It was scrumptious!"

nois Discriminatory licy Challenged

Ever since the great race riot of 08 in Springfield, Illinois, capital the state, there has been unabated crimination and segregation re. State senators and representves from Chicago's highly orized Negro district have come Springfield year after year to ige the obvious violations of the te civil rights law. Marian Anson, recently appearing in this hisic town was barred accomodations the Abraham Lincoln Hotel—ny enough in itself.

However, last week press desches revealed that the venerable criminatory policy of Illinois' state pital is finally to be challenged. derman Earl D. Dickerson of Chigo filed suit last Wednesday in the cuit court for $500 damages ainst the Abraham Lincoln Hotel rp. for barring him admission.

Ald. Dickerson for six and a half rs was an assistant attorney gen- working out of the Chicago of- until he resigned in July after ng elected a Democratic council- n. When he came to Springfield t Monday he was representing the te in the case of Marshall vs. es involving the Retailers Occutional Tax law which he had preusly tried before his resignation.

For many years, Eastern and midstern papers have been noted for ir ability to search out vague rror, injustice and tyranny" in Southern States and on the West ast. However, their silence has en stupendous and convenient h regards to Illinois' Jim Crow te capital.

Like blustering journalistic Don ixotes, these great Negro publiions have charged windmills oughout the nation, but have led to sweep away the refuse at ir own doorstep.

ut, at last, the bubble is burst and battle declared. No longer can situation in Springfield be ignoror forgotten. Perhaps the very rit of Abraham Lincoln has risen purge his own home town.

At any rate, it will be interesting watch the attitude of our great d-western papers now.

nny Is Supported

The obvious injustice that was mmitted against Kenny Washton in his failure to be selected the All-Star West team is scorchg material for an editorial in this per. However, none is needed. Corspondence received by the EAGLE s week from UCLA campus is all editorial needed. The letters eak for themselves: From the lan Committee on Civil Liberties d Academic Freedom:

"The UCLA Student Committee on vil Liberties and Academic Freem today went on record, through Executive Committee, condemng the action of the fivean committee which named the l-Star West team. The Committee lieves the failure to name Kenny shington, star Negro U. C. L. A. lfback to be an obvious act of unmocratic discrimination. That ashington is recognized as outnding by fans was shown by the minute ovation he received as he nt off the field at the U. C. L. A.-S. C. game a few weeks ago. The C. L. A. Student Council has also nored him by deciding that his mber, thirteen, will not be used by y player in the future. In view of great performance of Kenny ashington, plus the recognition acclaim which has been given him, is ridiculous to imagine a west ast all-star team wthout him. The nission of a star like Washington could not possibly have been based on an objective evaluation of performance.

"The Students Committee on Civil Liberties and Academic Freedom has as its program the maintenance and extension of civil liberties on the U. C. L. A. campus. We feel such an act of discrimination on the basis of race to be unsportsmanlike, un-American and a threat to democratic procedure. To those of us who believe civil liberties to be something more than a meaningless term, the five-man committee owes an explanation."

"Babe" Hollingberry and his committee were once again sharply rebuked for omitting Kenny Washington from the squad representing the West in the annual Shrine charity football game at San Francisco on New Year's Day. Miriam Gordon, president of the American Student Union chapter at UCLA, declared that her organization felt a great injustice had been done to Washington and to the cause of the West in the Shrine contest.

In a letter to Hollingberry, Miss Gordon stated "We feel with thousands of others that you have greatly harmed both the cause of charity which the Shrine game represents and the cause of football itself. We sincerely hope that in the future the committee representing the West will consider first and foremost the merits of the men it chooses; there is no other sound basis for making selections."

. . . Nothing can be added to these sincere and unsolicited statements from young Americans at Westwood. We can only echo their sentiments.

A Friend Passes Away

The death of Charles Upton, International President of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, here Sunday morning was received with shock and deep sorrow by his many friends this week.

Upton was long a leader in labor circles and for many years a popular columnist with the EAGLE and other publications.

Those who knew him will remember a witty, jolly man who saw the funny side of everything—even himself. There can be no higher tribute.

Truly, a friend has passed away. . .

Note of Appreciation

Although an unsympathetic weather man drenched Los Angeles Saturday afternoon, the California Eagle Newsboys' Party was a great and heart-warming success. However, the bulk of credit is due the many generous friends and merchants who contributed candy, toys, fruit, weiners . . . and other viands to tempt the young palate. Also, we owe deep gratitude to the many Eagle patrons and workers who gave so freely of their time and energy to "put it over".

Help for Mound Bayou

"My Dear Friend:

"In view of the fact that Mound Bayou is an all-colored town deserving of your consideration, it therefore behooves me that every colored organized group should bend every effort toward industrializing the town. I am instigating this movement and sincerely urge you and your associates to launch a program to that effect beginning the week of January 8th, 1940.

"Yours very truly,
"VIRGIL W. AUSTIN
"Pittsburgh, Pa."

The above is a card received at the offices of The California Eagle this week. Mound Bayou, you recall, is the Negro town in Mississippi which has lately attracted national attention through two rather striking murders and the presence therein of state militia. Certainly there is no more worthy cause than the industrialization of this town. It would be a case in point to herald

HAPPY LANDING?

• THE WORLD THIS WEEK

THE LEAGUE WAKES UP

Europe's strangest of all wars has produced fewer strange events than the sudden revival of the enfeebled, long ailing League of Nations. The majestic white building of the League offices in Geneva have resembled to many statesmen, more of a mausoleum than a temple of peace ever since Japan in 1931 invaded Manchuria. On that occasion, a turning point in the history of this decade, the League turned away its head and refused to take action. The handsome facades of the League crumbled still further when Germany and Italy withdrew from membership, and Il Duce's hosts marched into Ethiopia. Since then the League has become virtually a destered temple, a melancholoy ghost of a postwar ideal of lasting peace. But the invasion of Finland, foretelling the probable death of that republic, has brought life to that empty temple of peace—in the midst of war. In boldly expelling an aggressor, approving aid to the Finns, denouncing wanton aggression, the League has acted as it always wanted to act, but never before had the courage to do. It has come to life—after the die was cast!

THIS TAX HURTS

The ever-mounting costs of government, city, state and national mean a steadily lowered living standard for the nation's producing families in the interests of non-producing families. Those costs must be paid—and in full!—either by this generation or saddled onto the shoulders of today's youth for them to pay in the future. But what of the expenses that must be paid today? Philadelphia last week, in a disturbing precedent, gave a none-too-welcome answer to that. Without debate, its City Council at the behest of the acting mayor, enacted a 1½ per cent tax on all wages and commissions earned in the city, applicable to resident and non-resident alike. Angry protests, proposals for a one-day strike, threats of suits to test the constitutionality of the ax, and to transfer payrolls outside Philadelphia, immediately greeted the Council's action. Even should the levy eventually be ruled unconstitutional, this wage tax may not be without its benefits while it lasts. If it arouses customarily tax-indifferent citizens to action and sharpens their concern for government expenditures it will, in fact, have done a great good.

PEACE ON THE WATERFRONTS

'Peace on Earth" has never been a surplus in Pacific coast seaports. Checkmated by strife and strikes, their growth and development have been hindered accordingly, with consequent damage to the welfare of agriculture, industry, shipping, and the majority or maritime workers themselves. Other industries long ago worked out successful means, satisfactory to both management and employees, of peaceably settling disputes which might arise between them. On that score, the maritime industry is still in its infancy—and a spoiled and squawling infant at that! The six weeks' old ship clerks' strike in San Francisco has brought drastic proposals for reform in this field of perennial trouble. One such is Governor Olson's proposal to enact laws empowering the State to take over operation of harbors in the event of strikes. Toward State control, both shipping men and maritime workers are equally hostile, but unless permanent effective methods of arbitration are established on Pacific Coast waterfronts, the public itself may vigorously demand such a step.

SHEEPSKINS AREN'T ENOUGH

Every year universities and colleges confer thousands of degrees upon students who, armed with these credentials, march forth into the world hoping their sheepskins will serve as ready passports to bread and butter jobs. But those coveted "B. A.'s" and "M. A.'s" are in danger of becoming, not badges of learning but merely certificates of attendance at institutions of higher learning.

Frederick P. Keppel, head of the Carnegie Corporation—an organization established by the steel king for the advancement of knowledge—last week asserted that 'the creation of academic degrees has increased to a preposterous point in the United States."

Opposing not the quantity of sheepskins so much as their quality, President Keppel asserted, 'All over the country teaching and other vacancies are being filled by academic degrees—not by men and women. The appointed bodies accept the diploma as a substitute for the tiresome process of really finding out something as to the professional qualifications of individual human beings."

Not less education but stricter standards and better methods of educating youth should provide the answer. The question itself is clear enough: How to make degrees stand for something! Sheepskins of low value, like bad currencies, tend to debase even the value of good ones. And in education, America wants no counterfeit values!

NEW YEAR BELLS

Beneath our nation's peaceful skies,
We greet a glad New Year;
"Good will toward man" we love the storm,
It's music to our ears.

Oh, ring in gladness, ring ye bells,
Your chimes so soft and clear;
May find a heart in sorrow bowd,
And give it, hope, and cheer.

Ring on sweet bells, o'er land and sea
Bid warring nations cease;
Chime in the ear and heart a trust,
In Him alone, for peace.
Oh, let the angels ring the bells.
And may the chime resound;
'Til faith in God, and love for man
In every heart is found.

Here Comes Leap Year!

Take warning, girls!

1940 means Leap Year, established by tradition as woman's twelve-month open-season on the wary male.

Hurrying into print with its latest population date, the Bureau of the Census gives advance notice of the best hunting grounds for women nimrods in search of quarry.

Girls in the West have an odds-on break over their Eastern competitors for husbands. The Census Bureau reports that the highest percentage of marriageable men is concentrated in the area west of the Mississippi, with the thickest stamping ground of eligible males being quartered in the Rocky Mountain region.

Nevada, a place where a great many women lose their husbands, is also a good place for finding one. Its single men outrank women by forty per cent. Wyoming, Montana, and Arizona follow; with the next highest number of available bachelors.

The West—make no mistake about it—is still the land of promises. And though the people of the Rockies can say there's gold in their mountains, they also claim on the basis of the census reports that there's golden weddings "In them there hills"—for those that have a will and a way!

racial maturity. However, as the heckler once said: "It's a nice trick—if you can do it".

Floors, Please!

BY ROGER BIRTWELL

"Fifth floor! Curtains, draperies and kitchenware!"

I looked up—startled.

The voice of the elevator boy had a familiar ring.

Then I recognized him.

At Philadelphia, 35,000 had tensely watched as his feet made fun of distance and jeered at space. At Tokyo, 40,000 Japs had cheered as he made racing history in the Orient. And at Berlin's Olympics, 110,000 had thundered applause as he swept from last place to first and crossed the finish line—king of the 800-meter runners of the world.

It was Johnny Woodruff.

I made a date to meet him that night.

In his apartment at Edgecombe avenue, on the fringe of Harlem, Woodruff told his story.

"I'm studying sociology in the Graduate School at NYU," he said, "and I'm running that elevator to pay my expenses."

"You've given up track?" he was asked.

"Oh, no," Woodruff answered. 'I work out several days every week on the NYU track at Ohio Field."

"If you're going to college and running the half-mile, you can't spend much time playing around on that department store elevator down on Eighth St.," he was told.

"No," he said, 'only from 6:30 in the morning until 4:30 in the afternoon, six days a week."

The fastest pair of legs in North America—standing all day in a department store elevator.

Smooth, powerful calf and thigh muscles being deadened by long hours of standing. Lithe, strong tendons—precious gifts of nature—losing their spring.

As well have a Rembrandt wreck his hands as a ditch digger or a Caruso waste his voice as a train announcer on the Second Ave. El.

"There are only 24-hours in a day?" I said. 'How do you do it?"

"I get up at 5 in the morning," the Olympic champion explained. 'For 15 minutes I do stretching exercises to offset the effect of elevator work on my legs. Then I take the subway downtown—it's about seven miles—and start work at 6:30."

"But the store doesn't open for three hours."

"That's right. I tote the scrubwomen up and down, and I take the other employes who come in early.

"I finish work at 4:30. Then, three days a week, I have classes from 6:00 until 10:00. Mondays, Tuesdays and Sundays, I work out at Ohio Field, on 181st St. Then I come and study. Except for my workout, I spend all day Sunday doing research work in the library or writing here at home. I'm studying for a master's degree and I have to write a thesis."

"What kind of sociology are you studying?" he was asked . . .

"Children's problems," Woodruff explained, 'juvenile delinquency and prevention of crime. I grew up near the coal mines of Pennsylvania. There are a lot of kids out my way who never had a chance.

"I used to supervise kids in their games and keep 'em out of mischief at the Pittsburgh YMCA when I was at the U. of Pittsburgh. Of course, that was in addition to cleaning up the Stadium after football games, and other odd jobs."

"But I thought athletes at Pitt got paid—that they didn't have to work. Why, even a third-string tackle there was supposed to get a salary."

"Well," answered Johnny, 'I wasn't any third-string tackle."

"No," I replied, 'you were only the greatest middle distance runner in the world."

103,000 Cheered Him

(From the New York Amsterdam-News)

He had played 59 of the 60 minutes of the great game between his school, the University of California at Los Angeles, and the University of Southern California. As the timekeeper's pistol shot rent the air in the Los Angeles stadium signaling the end of the battle, the chocolate-brown backfield star took one last look at the gridiron under his feet and then slowly jogged around the field toward UCLA's locker room.

As he did so, 103,000 bankers, politicians, movie stars, clerks, laborers, reliefers—the cross section of America—rose as one and applauded him for 10 minutes. He was, they knew, a great back, a good student and a manly youth who had brought credit to his school, his race and his country.

The applause of the tremendous crowd, the largest ever to witness a football game west of the Mississippi River, still resounded in Kenny Washington's burning ears as he lost himself in the shadows of his locker room. "Kenny Washington cheered for 10 minutes by an American crowd of 103,000 people, was proof to all the world that in this country, there is no limit to what a boy can achieve if he stays in there and keeps trying," was what Ed Sullivan, famed Hollywood columnist of the (New York) Daily News, wrote in his column last Monday.

Every red-blooded American must have felt proud of the fact that he is an American after reading about the grand tribute paid to the UCLA star; for it's seldom that any youth, rich or poor, black or white, is ever accorded the splendid hand that was so enthusiastically given to Kenny Washington in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum as he jogged around the gridiron for the final time.

Yet, the paradox of it all, something which many in the crowd of one-tenth of a million which cheered him for 10 minutes probably never thinks of; something which gnaws at the vitals of our democracy; something that may bring frustration and tragedy into the life of Kenny as it has in the lives of others, is this:

Despite Kenny's ability, courage, honesty; despite all of his excellent characteristics, he is denied many privileges and rights which go to make U. S. citizens the most blessed in the world. He is barred, for example, from playing professional football. Thousands of jobs are closed to him, although he might have the ability to fill any of them as well as the next guy. His entire life is proscribed now and will become even more so after he receives his sheepskin from UCLA and goes out into the world to make his way.

How wonderful it would be if some of those in that crowd which cheered Kenny would think of some of those things! How much better off America would be if, after thinking about them, they would do something about them! If they would, it would fill a void in the lives of many, many Kenny Washingtons whose sole desire is to become illustrious and worthwhile Americans. It would make America a still greater nation and our democracy nearer perfect.

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I hope you had a Merry Xmas and I wish for you a Happy New Year. May the good ship sail on for many more years. Well! somehow I don't seem to get the act that I saw you in the other day in one of the Avenue stores. With both arms loaded up with Xmas toys, you still were reaching for more.

If someone who didn't know you, had seen you, he would have thought 'There is a Mother who has a houseful of kids". Well, all the good women don't bear pain for their children, but I'd like for someone to show me where there is a better mother than you.

I have known you for many a year. I have felt your motherly pat on the back and your loved one. J. B.'s good advise. And the good that you have done the Race through your screaming bird, the EAGLE.

The old timers like myself know that you and your bird have been the rock of the Pacific Coast that was hued out of the mountain side. You have done your bit. You have weathered many a storm. Your sail is still set toward the Rising Sun. Sail on.

I spent the happiest Christmas in all the years I have lived in the West. I wish everyone a Happy New Year.

Picture Minus Point

BY DEAN GORDON B. HANCOC
BY DEAN GORDON B. HANCOCK for ANP

When I was born in 1884, 55 years ago—my mother named me Gordon Blaine Hancock. The "Gordon" part, for some English general of that name, and the "Blaine" part after James G. Blaine, who was setting the political woods on fire about that time. During this period, it was customary to name Negro children for great white men and women; for we had not developed a sustaining race pride as today. Negroes of that period could not be blamed for their Nordic worship manifested by naming children for members of the dominant Nordic group.

How changed today! Instead of naming Negro children Robert E. Lee, George Washington, etc., today we have them named for distinguished Negroes such as Booker T. Washington, Robert Russa Moton, Kelly Miller and all the rest. Some years ago, I even found in South Carolina a young Negro named "Gordon Blaine Hancock Alexander." It shows a growing pride which must have a salutary effect on the fortunes and destiny of the race.

Without doubt, Booker T. Washington's name is outstanding! It is in the Negro school room that we see that Negroes think of Washington. Within the last 10 years, I have been to no schoolroom where Booker T.'s picture is not in prominent evidence. In Negro homes, we soon come across something showing Booker T. in some honorable connection and with al Booker T. Washington's is the most familiar household name among the Negro race. Jesus once upbraided the Pharisees with the charge, that they spoke of him and praised him with their lips, but their heart was far from him. I am beginning to think the same thing about the Negroes and Booker T. Washington.

Why call him great and do not the things which he commanded? Why call him our greatest Negro and disbelieve his fundamental tenets? Why laud him to the skies and place his picture upon the walls of our homes and schools and spurn the ideal closest to his heart? Booker T. Washington was committed to the proposition that Negroes had to make themselves manually proficient if they were to assure their economic survival in this country. This proposition has never been successfully refuted!

SPURN HIS POINT

It has come about that the vocational training that he so faithfully espoused is hardly more than a passing notion a quarter of a century after his death. Those who look with reverence upon his picture spurn his point. Negroes still believe that manual labor is disgraceful. The failure of our vocational program is due to the fact that Negroes do not believe in industrial and vocational education. As has been said in this column a hundred times before, young Negroes by thousands in our schools spurn vocational training because they are taught by teachers who spurn it. No teacher can get over to students what he does not himself believe. I once heard a man long since passed on, say in a great address that no man can make clear to another man what is not clear to himself.

This is equally true of teaching and preaching. No man can convince another of something of which he himself is unconvinced. The younger generations of Negroes are not vocationally minded because their teachers and principals are not. It makes one shudder to imagine the suffering it is going to take to drive home Washington's point. The white race is vocationally awake today and with them this type of training is growing in popularity. White leaders are taking hold of the task with both hands while we are taking hold with only one hand, if indeed we take hold at all. Economic woes await a group that is the last to seize the passing opportunity!

What we need today is not less of Washington's picture but more of his spirit and point. Sometimes we are in a quandry as to just what the Negro wants anyway. He did not want "Bojangles" and Louise Beavers to enter the movies in servant roles, although it was obvious that this was the only way to enter for something better. We do not want vocational training, although by such training we must live or die hungry and ragged and cold. We wanted once to be called Negroes with a capital "N." About this matter great literary battles have been waged. Now we want to be called "colored" instead, altho this is indefinite and takes us away from our African lineage which Dr. Carter G. Woodson has spent a lifetime trying to glorify. "Consecrated common [illegible] reached its zenith in Washington, the greatest prophet of his century. His picture is in our parlors, but his ideals are in [illegible]. PICTURE MINUS POINT

THE CONTINUED successes of the Finnish army this week strengthens the conviction of many experts that the swift Polish Blitz Kreig was a sell-out.

It is reasoned that, if tiny Finland, outnumbered 50 to one, can withstand the onslaughts of the Russians, certainly Poland, at only a three to one disadvantage, could have made a better showing against Nazi might.

Others contend, however, that the difference between Finnish and Polish defense is something far more significant than mere political machination.

Even Great Britain, ally of the Poles, has stated that the recently destroyed Poland was in no sense of the word, a democracy.

Prior to Hitler's invasion, Poland was a minor dictatorship. She was governed by a handful of governmental big shots who rode roughshod over the rights of many Polish minorities. The government was rotten from top to bottom, according to all reliable sources of information.

The so-called "democracy" of Poland was a weak and ineffective disguise for a third-rate racketeering set-up dominated by uninspired political grafters. There was but one force that brought about even the slight Polish resistance — and that force was the people. Harassed and persecuted by a broken-down democracy, the people of Poland were yet ready to fight foreign dictatorship. The voluntary trench-digging in the streets of Warsaw was testimony to this grim determination of the Polish people.

Suddenly, Germany struck. Millions of Poles rose in arms only to be duped and misled by their leaders. Military blunders of fantastic proportions were committed by supposedly well-trained officers. The commander-in-chief of all the Poles mysteriously crossed the border into a neutral country during the thick of the battle.

Newspapers of the world termed Hitler's Blitz Kreig "amazingly efficient". In fact, that invasion was so mechanically efficient, so prefectly timed and flawlessly executed that few military authorities are willing to concede things took their natural course.

The pitiful bewilderment of the Polish people in their defeat was plainly visible in many newsreel films exhibited in this country. It is easy to imagine the stark desperation of a nation violated and deserted by its own leaders. The conquest of Poland was effected through political pay-offs rather than military prowess.

On the other hand, Finland faced its hour of need a nation united in thought and action. The Russian strategem of setting up a false communist government in Poland has failed miserably, and the Russian alibi based on the existence of this puppet government become a standing joke throughout the world.

Finland is a democracy far more pure than our own. In that far-off country, there are few rich and few poor—therefore economic democracy exists. There are no minority problems—therefore social democracy exists. The people here have been in a position to reap the full harvest of intellectual liberty. They have brought the shunned qualities of honor and truth into the machinery of government. Their example in paying its debt to the United States without fail has been a challenge to the rest of the world. In deed as in word, Finland has been a democracy.

Hence, when the liberty of their nation is attacked by a ruthless neighbor, the defense of the Finns is magnificent. Honest and uncompromising in peace, they are deadly enemies. In war, the essential virtues of honor and courage are not strange to them. After weeks of battle, a weak, distant and outnumbered people have hurled back the world's mightiest fighting machine. Perhaps victory still lies in such simple, basic elements as faith in GOD and courage—even in this age of streamlined slaughter.

Echols Jailed on Hit-Run Charge

Threatened With Lynching After Striking Woman

When screams of "Lynch him!" were voiced by a Pasadena mob, Carl Echols, well-known newspaperman, attempted to escape from the scene of an auto mishap at the intersection of Colorado and Vernon in the Crown City Christmas night, he said in an interview with an EAGLE reporter yesterday.

Echols is jailed in the city bastille on a charge of hit-and-run driving. He struck an elderly woman, but she is not seriously injured.

His version of the accident holds that his car was sandwiched between two others and that he did not see the woman until it was too late to avoid striking her. The mishap occurred beteen 6:30 and 6:45 p. m. December 25.

After hitting the woman, Echols assertedly stopped his machine and attempted to render first aid. However, the victim's niece told him to "wait until the ambulance comes."

Meanwhile, a crowd gathered. One man broke through and attempted to strangle Echols, according to reports. Epithets were hurled at the Negro and the cry of "Lynch him!" soon was heard. Fearful of the mob's temper, Echols attempted to escape, he said. It was at this point that officers arrived.

The newspaperman alleges brutality on the part of arresting officers and charges that the Pasadena crowd attacked him.

Name of the traffic victim was not obtainable at press time last night.

Dr. Chas. A. Jackson Limits Practice to Office Work

TO MY DEAR PATIENTS AND FRIENDS—GREETINGS:

I wish first to thank you for your loyal support that has made my 12 years of practice here a success.

I have practiced medicine for 36 years; 24 of which have been devoted, mostly, to specializing in Diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat, which includes removal of tonsils and adenoids and the making and fitting of glasses. This speciality work has so grown in volume and requires so much of my time that I cannot continue handling it and also make bedside calls so desiring to give you the best service and conserve my energy as well, I am forced in the future to confine myself to office practice.

So after January 15, 1940 I will discontinue bedside calls except to Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat cases for which, necessarily a special fee will be charged.

My office hours will be 10 to 1, 2:30-4 and 6-7, preferrably by appointment, at my new location 1125 E. Vernon Ave., Phones: Office Ce. 21001, Residence, PA. 1400.

Thanking all for the support so graciously given me, whether in actual patronage and valued recommendations or as spoken endorsements I am,

Appreciatively yours,
CHAS. A. JACKSON, M. D.

Writes Letter on State of Travel, Negro and U.S. Army

Dear Editor:

Mr. Dewey, the distinguished Prosecuting Attorney of New York, said the other day in a speech: "State Socialism is creeping up on us."

In November, my wife, daughter, son-in-law, and I motored from Washington, D. C. to Los Angeles, Calif., and, it seems to me "Rebellion" is already upon us. I am not sore or deterred, I still think the United States is the best place to live on earth. However, in East Memphis, Tennessee, my wife was refused the use of the rest room at a Texaco Gas Station. Suffice to say, we did not purchase any gas at this station but went two blocks further, and were served at a Standard Oil Station, where we were permitted to use the rest rooms, and the attendants were courteous to us in every way.

In Dallas, Texas, we tried at five different Auto Camps to rent cabins for the night. They just said they did not accomodate colored people and at two or three places, they said "We are sorry." In 1938, just one year before, we stopped at an auto camp in Dallas and were given very courteous accomodation. We stopped overnight at Toyah, Texas, 17 miles west of Pecos, in an Auto Camp and were treated very nice, and the proprietor of this Camp sold Texaco gas. And, this was a new camp, clean as a pin and modern in every respect.

Well, we are out here now where we can vote, and we are certainly going to take advantage of our freedom. I served nearly 44 years in the Army, and retired December 31, 1939. When I first enlisted in 1895, we had a small "Yankee Army." Nearly all the older officers had seen service in the Civil War. They had served in the Union Army, and were sympathetic toward colored soldiers whom they had fought to free from physical slavery. They wanted to see them free from continued bondage. It's different now, most of them in authority in the Army seem to think the colored man can serve best in the servant class. No new regiments have been authorized for the colored man since 1867, except two quartermaster regiments. No colored men are being trained in the Artillery, Engineers or Air Corps in the Regular Army.

If the colored people are satisfied they should vote to sustain the present administration, and if they are not satisfied they should vote to put those out who are now in power.

As for myself, I am not satisfied. The colored man is not being given an equal chance to train for military service. Our medical doctors and dentists, who belong to the Reserve Corps, have been completely ignored in the present scheme of training. The excuse is there is no place where their services can be utilized. However, there are about 6000 colored troops in the Regular Army.

Congressman Hamilton Fish of New York seems to be the only person of influence or potential possibilities for more power who has had the courage to raise his voice in behalf of the Negro soldier. No one else seems to care a hoot or a hoak whether we have any Negro officers or not.

I sincerely hope our people will wake up and support those who make laws and administer them who would make men and citizens of our people instead of beggars and "Delesbe'vicks."

Very truly yours
VANCE H. MARCHBANKS,
Captain U. S. Army, Retired.

76-YEAR OLD EDUCATOR SUCCUMBS AT HOME IN NATION'S CAPITAL

Death Shocks Nation; He Was Dean of College of Arts, Sciences at Howard U.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 4.—Kelly Miller, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences of Howard university, nationally known writer and political scientist died at his home here Saturday.

Death of the 76-year old educator came as a shock to Washington and the Nation. No news had been heard, outside an intimate circle of friends, of his illness. Physicians, however, said the health of the renowned scholar had been failing rapidly for the past three years.

An eloquent observer of national politics, Dean Miller died on the eve of an all-important event, a presidential year. Born July 23, 1863, six months before Abraham Lincoln signed the Emancipation Proclamation, he was reared in the Republican tradition, but became a "Roosevelt-Democrat" in 1936, ardently advocating the re-election of President Roosevelt.

WANTED THIRD TERM

A nationally syndicated columnist, Dean Miller's last published column, used by more than 25 weekly newspapers, spoke out frankly for the drafting of Roosevelt for a third term.

He declared that the "third term issue is not genuine . . . but a fabricated pretext by desperate Republicans . . . to defeat Roosevelt rather than a third term."

He urged that the Democratic party "prefer . . . Roosevelt the 1940 nomination which his patriotic duty would forbid him to decline."

Born in Winnsboro, South Carolina, Dean Miller was married in 1894 to Miss Annie Mae Butler, who survives him. The couple had no children.

In 1886, the young Miller received his bachelor of arts degree from Howard, followed that with a master of arts in 1901, a doctor of laws in 1903. He extended his studies into the fields of mathematics and physics with study later at John Hopkins university.

A teaching career that encompassed half a century was begun in 1889 as professor of mathematics at Washington High school. In 1890, he went to Howard where he recently became dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

2 Leave Notes But Suicide Tries Fail

A man and a woman, within two hours of each other New Year's afternoon, left suicide notes and attempted to take their own lives.

Both notes today mock their writers because both tries were unsuccessful.

Mrs. Ophelia Roberts, 21-year old housewife of 1105 E. 24th street, is recovering today from the effects of drinking rubbing alcohol. She told police she had been despondent over financial and domestic conditions.

Newton street officers found the following note in the house:

"5 o'clock. Because I love you in death.

Ed

Ophelia

"Remember me at least. I am at rest. To all cops. Don't do anything to Edward. I love him.—Ophelia Roberts."

Her husband, Eddie McSpadden, is a Bureau of Power and Light employe, working out of Las Vegas, Nev.

"Pal. Here is the money. You take is and go home. I won't ever bother you any more. I still didn't mean to do what I did. Maybe someday wou will forgive me Sid."

So read the note left by Sidney Harris, 24-year old mail carrier, New Year's eve night when he was taken to Georgia Street Receiving hospital for medical treatment following a suicide attempt.

Myrtle Harris, his wife, told Newton Street officers that they had had domestic troubles over financial affairs, causing Harris to drink a potion of iodine. His condition is not serious.

125 POUNDS OF YUM YUM FROM CALIFORNIAN MAKES GIRL GLAD

Her face all smiles and onlookers eagerly waiting, 9-year old Delora Davis, fifth grade pupil of Chicago, cuts the 125-pound fruit cake sent her from W. C. Baker, Ojai, Calif., white baker, which was made from the same mix as that sent President Roosevelt. Friendship between little Delora and Mr. Baker started soon after the Californian gave a 1000 pound cake to the San Francisco exposition, and flourished through letters. At the cake cutting ceremonies, the entire school and recent graduates were in attendance, and a special program was rendered. Helen Tinsey, just to the left of Delora, made the opening address to the audience and Helen Scurlock, second from left, talked to Forrestville grads. Other pupils in the photograph, left to right, are: Richard Turner, Robert Sherman, Mildred Davis, Rosemary Rudd, Mary Young and Charles Dowdy. Standing in the rear are John L. Carter, school principal, and Mrs. James Lowell Hall, Delora's teachers. (ANP)

POMP FOR DICTATORS; VIRTUAL SNUB FOR HAITIAN PRESIDENT

Roosevelt Administration Greets Batista, 2 Others; Hardly Knew Vincent in Dee Cee

By EMMETT J. SCOTT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 4.—There has been a constant parade to Washington of Latin-American officials during the past 12 or 14 months. Included in this group were:

Col. Fulgencio Batista, "Strong Man" of Cuba, and now candidate for the Presidency of the Republic. He arrived Nov. 10, 1938, accompanied by a formidable group of Cuban officials. He was met at the station by General Malin Craig, Chief of Staff of the United States Army, who arranged a fitting military display for him and escorted to the Cuban Embassy by 4 Calvary Scout Cars with their full complement of men sitting behind machine guns.

BATISTA FETED

The object of his visit to Washington, Col. Batista advised, was purely a ceremonial one in response to an invitation received from General Craig.

Washington officialdom crowded the roomy, sumptuous rooms of the Cuban Embassy as social tribute was paid the Cuban "Strong Man". Military and diplomatic medals abounded and glistened upon the fronts of Army, Navy and Diplomatic representatives. No pains were spared to let Col. Batista know he was being taken into the very heart of Social Washington.

It will be noted that while General Batista is an important man, the "Strong Man of Cuba" HE HOLDS NO ELECTIVE OFFICE.

SOMOZA OF NICARAGUA

Next on the list was Anastasio Somoza, President of the Central American Republic of Nicaragua, with a population of 1,133,000.

The love of Latin-Americans for glitter and ceremonial display was fully met in the reception tendered the "Little Dictator" of Nicaragua. Every fanfare possible was invoked. Lining the streets on both sides, all the way to the White House, was a solid wall of United States Soldiers and Marines. Behind the walls massed the Washington populace, patrolled by 750 policemen, 400 firemen.

Overhead roared 9 flying fortresses, 42 army pursuit ships. Drawn up from the Capitol to the Union Station were more soldiers and filling the Station Plaza were Calvary, 30 tanks and a battery of Artillery.

The Artillery banged a 21-gun salute. With 15 tanks in front, 15 behind, the Presidential car led a parade up to the Capitol, around its plaza, down Pennsylvania Avenue to the White House. Military strictness prevailed. Officers wore their medals and decorations.

Somoza was met at the station by President Roosevelt in person, and by Representatives of the State, War and Navy Departments. The welcome given President Somoza, vied in splendor and enthusiasm with such receptions as are extended to visiting and feigning royalty. It was as impressive a display of military pomp and power,—troops, tanks and military planes participating, as Washington has ever beheld. He was also invited to address the United States Senate.

TRUJILLO'S COMING

Third on the list of Latin-Americans, visiting the United States, was General Rafael L. Trujillo, former President of Santo Domingo, who came early in July of last year.

He was received with a Guard of Honor composed of 4 squads of Marines, a Drum and Bugle Corps, and the leading officials of the State Department, and Dr. Leo S. Rowe, Director General of the Pan-American Union, and a Military and Naval display.

Trujillo's reception was decried by the Committee for Dominican Democracy which sent a telegram to President Roosevelt from New York referring to the "inappropriateness of endorsing home-grown dictators while condemning the European variety" and calling attention to the fact that Trujillo was no longer President of Santo Domingo, and therefore entitled to no special official courtesies.

PRESIDENT VINCENT'S CHILLY OFFICIAL RECEPTION

And now by way of contrast: the reception tendered President Stenio Vincent of Haiti on his arrival here early this month was painfully inadequate and restrained. No such military display as was given Batista, Somoza, and Trujillo was given him, despite the fact that he is a functioning President of a Republic in satisfactory, diplomatic relation with our Government, and a part of the Good Neighbor Society promoted by the President and the State Department.

Most informal was the reception given the active President of the Little Black Republic, with a population of approximately 2,600,000, larger by 1,467,000 than Somoza's Nicaragua.

President Vincent was greeted at the station by Mr. Sumner Welles, Under Secretary of State; the President's Naval and Military aides, three representatives of the State Department, Dr. Leo S. Rowe of the Pan American Union, and a few policemen and spectators.

No Presidential salute of 21 guns for him, no military parade, only the usual Presidential and State Department luncheons; no gathering of diplomatic dignitaries, none of the Marines, who once governed Haiti with Military might, no ceremonial display of any kind, no firemen, no artillery.

Ask Business Men to Aid in Census

Began Taking Business Census This Week

MEMPHIS, Jan. 4—The vital importance, socially and economically, of obtaining a new and up-to-date measurement of the extent and importance of the distribution industries was emphasized in an appeal issued this week by Dr. J. E. Walker, president of the National Negro Business League and of the Universal Life Insurance company. Dr. Walked called upon all Negro wholesalers, retailers and other service groups to cooperate with the Business Census, beginning Jan. 2.

"The Census Bureau has made three surveys of the trade volume of business, in 1929, 1933 and 1935," Dr. Walker said. "The showing that our wholesalers, retailers and other distribution units make in the 1940 Census will afford an interesting and valuable basis for comparison to measure the growth of our distribution and service businesses.

"The 1940 Business Census will include a survey of approximately three million firms in the United States engaged in the distribution of goods and services. The 1935 Census of Business indicated that there were more than 23,000 Negro-owned and operated retail stores which made annual sales of nearly fifty million dollars and employed more than 12,000 full-time and part-time employes who received in wages over five million dollars. Negro service businesses, such as hotels, theaters, laundries and banks, employed an additional 14,000 wage earners and distributed nearly six million dollars in wage payments."

Murder Suspect Goes Free

Four days after a coroner's jury held him to answer in the fatal shooting of William Carson, trucking employee of 5504 Long Beach, Otis Brown, was free on a writ of habeas corpus returned in his favor by Judge Clarence Kincaid in Dept. 41.

Brown, who lives at 1135 East Vernon where the shooting took place, claimed self defense. The writ, which was filed by Atty. Walter L. Gordon, pointed out the insuffiency of evidence to show a conviction could be obtained against the accused man.

NEW ORLEANS' LAST NEGRO COP DEAD

NEW ORLEANS—Jan. 4—The last of this city's Negro police officers, 74-year old Arthur Boisdore, died here last week. Boisdore, on the force 14-years, resigned in 1909 in the forced retirement of all Negro officers because whites "did not relish being [illegible] by colored police."

DANCE COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN

MRS. HILDA ALLEN, president of Pi chapter of Delta Sigma Theta sorority, was chairman of the committee, from Pi and Nu Sigma chapters, which sponsored one of the most enjoyable dancing parties of the season Wednesday of last week. Mrs. Allen is the wife of Dr. Howard Allen, prominent physician.

The Rose Room of the Elks' Temple was converted into a veritable Christmas fairyland by Ralph Porter for the dancing Deltas and their guests. Varicolored lights enhanced the beautiful gowns, worn by the 700 sorors and friends.

Furnishing an incentive for a spirited dance around the floor by the usually dignified sorors was the swinging of the Delta hymn.

Preliminary festivities preceded the dance in the form of several egg-nog parties and a cocktail party, hosted by Soror Lillian Tyler and Soror Gertrude Chrisman. Mrs. Allen was this week receiving congratulations for the success of the dance. (For further details see Smallwood's "The Delightful Side".)

Getting back to the social events, before I tell you of some of the goings-on of the past week, let me tell you of something that I consider as being the true spirit of the Yuletide . . . Some of the clubs and organizations thought up a plan whereby they could really be of service during the Xmas and New Year by spreading cheer and goodwill, which, after all, is the true meaning of Christmas. Members of the different clubs and organizations contributed large sums of money to get such gifts as clothing, toys and food which they distributed to the needy. Many Attend Impressive 25th Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. James Woods of Pasadena

By METTA PAULLYN GARNER

More than 1000 persons attended one of the most impressive and beautiful services of recent months in the 25th silver wedding anniversary, and complete marriage service, solemnized for Mrs. Anna Mae Woods and James Woods, Pasadena civic and social leaders, in Friendship Baptist church Sunday. Rev. W. R. Carter officiated.

The beautiful wedding began with a processional of 25 bride's maids in varied hues of blue and rose lace. Color effects were accentuated by arm bouquets of silver leaves and flowers and each maid carried a silver candle. To the strains of Handel's Largo with Mrs. Pearl Booker at the console, Mrs. Fletcher Smith at the piano, and Miss Ruth Berry on the violin, the procession marched to the rostrum.

Following placement of the bride's maids, the matron of honor and the best man took their places beside the altar where Rev. W. D. Carter and Rev. J. M. Brown awaited. Twelve ushers followed to complete the half circle of attendants.

BRIDE LOVELY

Finally, the strains of the Largo were changed to Lohengrin's Wedding March and three small children approached the altar. The audience was breathless upon sight of the bride.

Mrs. Woods wore white silk net with silver coin dots. The dress was of medieval style with a train, covered by a filmy veil, thrown back from the bride's face. She carried a huge bridal bouquet of gardenias and orchids.

The groom proceded down the adjacent aisle to meet his bride at the altar. In his remarks, Rev. Carter spoke of the sacredness of the marriage vows. Rev. Brown offered a prayer of benediction on the couple and on the congregation.

For several hours before the ceremony, the streets surrounding the church were crowded and for one hour before the ceremony, the seating capacity was taxed to the limit. Appropriate music was rendered by Mrs. Alice Buggs at the organ. Mrs. Carl Downs sang "I Love But Thee". Mrs. Booker played organ music and Mrs. Cora Morrow sang "O Promise Me".

Congratulations were offered the bride and groom in the large social hall where the reception was held.

The Rev. H. Philbert Lankford, D. D., D. S. of the AME Zion Church and Bishop Brown of the Pacific Coast Conference and Western District last Sunday morning conferred upon Master Gilbert Allen, the title of Minister of Music of the AME Zion Church.

In the presentation the choir and the church stood and Mr. Allen in his humble way, accepted his new title with humility and reverence.

OUTSTANDING CANTATA PRESENTED BY ALLEN

An original Christmas Cantata, "Beautiful Saviour, composed and written from the Bible by Gilbert Allen, brilliant and talented young composer, was presented before a distinguished audience at the AME Zion church at Pico and Paloma street last Thursday evening.

The cantata in itself was a masterpiece, varying in its moods and lyrics. As the Saviour, lowly and exalted, so as the music, with its terrific and dynamic build-up in the climax itself which left the audience stunned with awe and wonderment at such an event.

The Rev. H. Philbert Lankford, new minister of the church, is arranging with his music department to have special music with each service and cordially invites the public to the services.

OPEN LETTER

To the Pastor, members and Friends of Independent Church of Christ:

I take this means of explaining my absence from your services Sunday morning, Dec. 24, 1939, because I feel the situation needs clarifying.

Sunday evening, Dec. 17, 1939, Mrs. Bilbrew was guest conductor and I guest soloist at Second Baptist's Christmas Musicale. Before the program, Mrs. Bilbrew asked me to be her Christmas soloist at Independent at morning services. I agreed. After glancing at the program, she said she'd see me after the musicale and let me know which selection she preferred. Before departing at the close of the concert, Mrs. Bilbrew told me she'd call me regarding the numbers. She failed to call, so I did not appear, since there was no way to know if she had changed her plans during the interim. Usually, the choice of selection is left to the soloist, but if after hearing three numbers a chorister needs further time to decide, it would be fallacious for any soloist to appear without definite subsequent affirmation by the chorister.

Twenty years have gone into the building of my reputation for dependability, and any incident which causes me to appear unreliable in any respect distresses me greatly. No one is ever at a loss for an explanation of my actions, because my engagements are made with reservations regarding my work.

With best wishes for your continued growth and success,

ERNESTINE JONES WADE.

Figueroa.

Allen reveals that, while under the law notary's public cannot charge fees to witness signatures on applications for relief or charity, it is not compulsory for them to acknowledge the signature.

Arrangements have been made for at least six free notarizations per day at 13 branch offices of the Security-First National Bank and the Bank of America.

True Tact

PEOPLE sometimes seem to feel that tact means insincerity and dishonesty, or that it is an unimportant quality. Refusing to cultivate it, they sometimes cause others hurt feelings or embarrassment, which might have been avoided.

A dictionary defines tact as "nice discernment of what is appropriate to do or say in dealing with others; peculiar ability to deal with others without giving offense, or so as to win good will, especially in difficult situations. . . . delicate and sympathetic perception, especially of what is fit, graceful, or considerate under given circumstances." A certain surface politeness may be simply the result of intelligent control and good breeding, but the love that is unfailing and truly graceful and considerate at all times is based on the understanding of God.

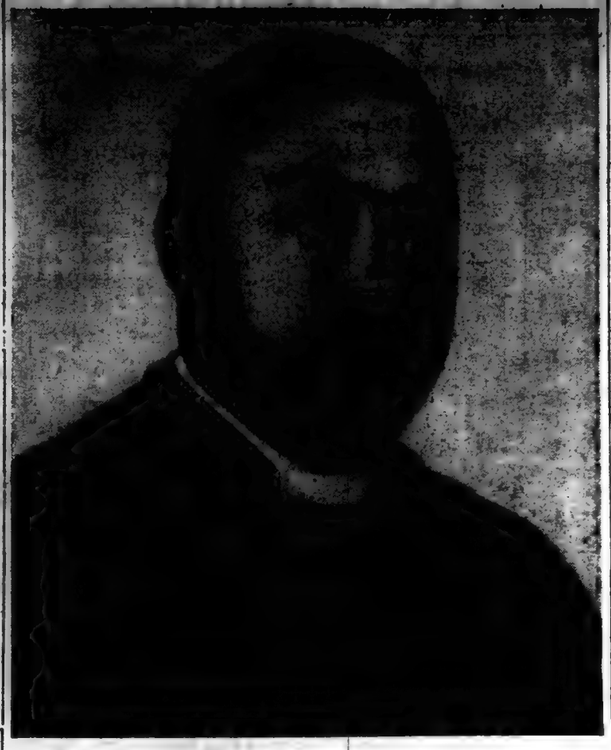
Tact is consideration, thoughtfulness of others, and it is closely related to loving-kindness. It appreciates the viewpoint of the other person and tries to apply the Golden Rule (Matthew 7:12), "Whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them."

Tact may sometimes be shown in simply refusing to do or say something which, if said or done, would accomplish no good. It may be shown in speaking an encouraging word to one who is facing a difficult situation. It may be evidenced in an interesting observation which will turn someone's attention from himself and put him at his ease. It avoids unnecessary controversy, chooses silence rather than unconstructive criticism, encourages the troubled, commends honest effort.

How truly did Jesus' life exemplify the prophet's word (Isaiah 42:1, 3): "Behold my servant, . . . a bruised reed shall he not break, and the smoking flax shall he not quench"! The "bruised reed," that which has already been hurt, even if by its own fault, may sometimes be won back to wisdom and courage, activity and strength, by gentle kindness, where blunt condemnation of the fault would fail. The "smoking flax"—that mentality which is but dimly alight needs tender and wise encouragement. One of the lovely qualities that aids our work with others is graciousness. Well may we pray in the words of a loved hymn (Christian Science Hymnal, No. 88):

"Gracious Spirit, dwell with me:
I myself would gracious be."

Tact does not tell all it knows; it minds its own business. It is greatly needed in all organization work. The business official or a committee or church worker who uses tactful methods in dealing with others, succeeds in inspiring all to better service than does the inconsiderate or the unwisely outspoken individual, whose intentions may be praiseworthy. People occasionally believe that they are tactless, and that there is nothing they can do about it but regret the fact. There is no reality in crude or brusque or thoughtless words or deeds. . . .



One should claim for himself the ability to express every good and strong and lovely characteristic which reflects God. Sometimes it takes much work and prayer to demonstrate them. It may take patience and persistence and steadfast effort to do so, but as impatience, thoughtlessness, selfishness, and narrowness of vision are replaced by their opposites, man in God's likeness becomes ever clearer.

Every earnest person wants his thinking and acting to bless others. He can always be sure that they will if he is reflecting God. Not to condone evil but not to condemn person; not to think of self but to think of others; not to be afraid, repressed, or self-conscious, but sympathetically alert to the problems of others and quick to help to meet them—earnest desire such as this will be expressed with the graciousness of love.

As we turn to Jesus' life and words for examples, we see what tact he used in illustrating his teaching by parables on subjects with which his particular audience was especially familiar. . . .

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy states (pp. 476, 477): "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick." With such a view of man, one could not be other than loving, gracious, and considerate. And with these qualities in consciousness, one's tender wisdom, thoughtful consideration, and intelligent helpfulness will be inspired by true Christliness.

JUNCTION CITY, Kan., Jan. 4. ONE WAY TO START IT

It appears to us that one way to start the New Year off right, as the American people have a way of saying it, is for every Southern Californian who wants to do a good and lasting turn for the year to go to the People's Independent Church of Christ next Sunday afternoon and contribute, financially and by their presence, to the proposed Kenny Washington scholarship fund.

Aside from the fact that a large assemblage of sports personalities, players and officials, are expected, the real purpose of the gathering should have a definite appeal.

Southern California's Negro student-athletes who would like to get a higher education but find themselves faced with a lack of funds with which to get same are to benefit from this fund.

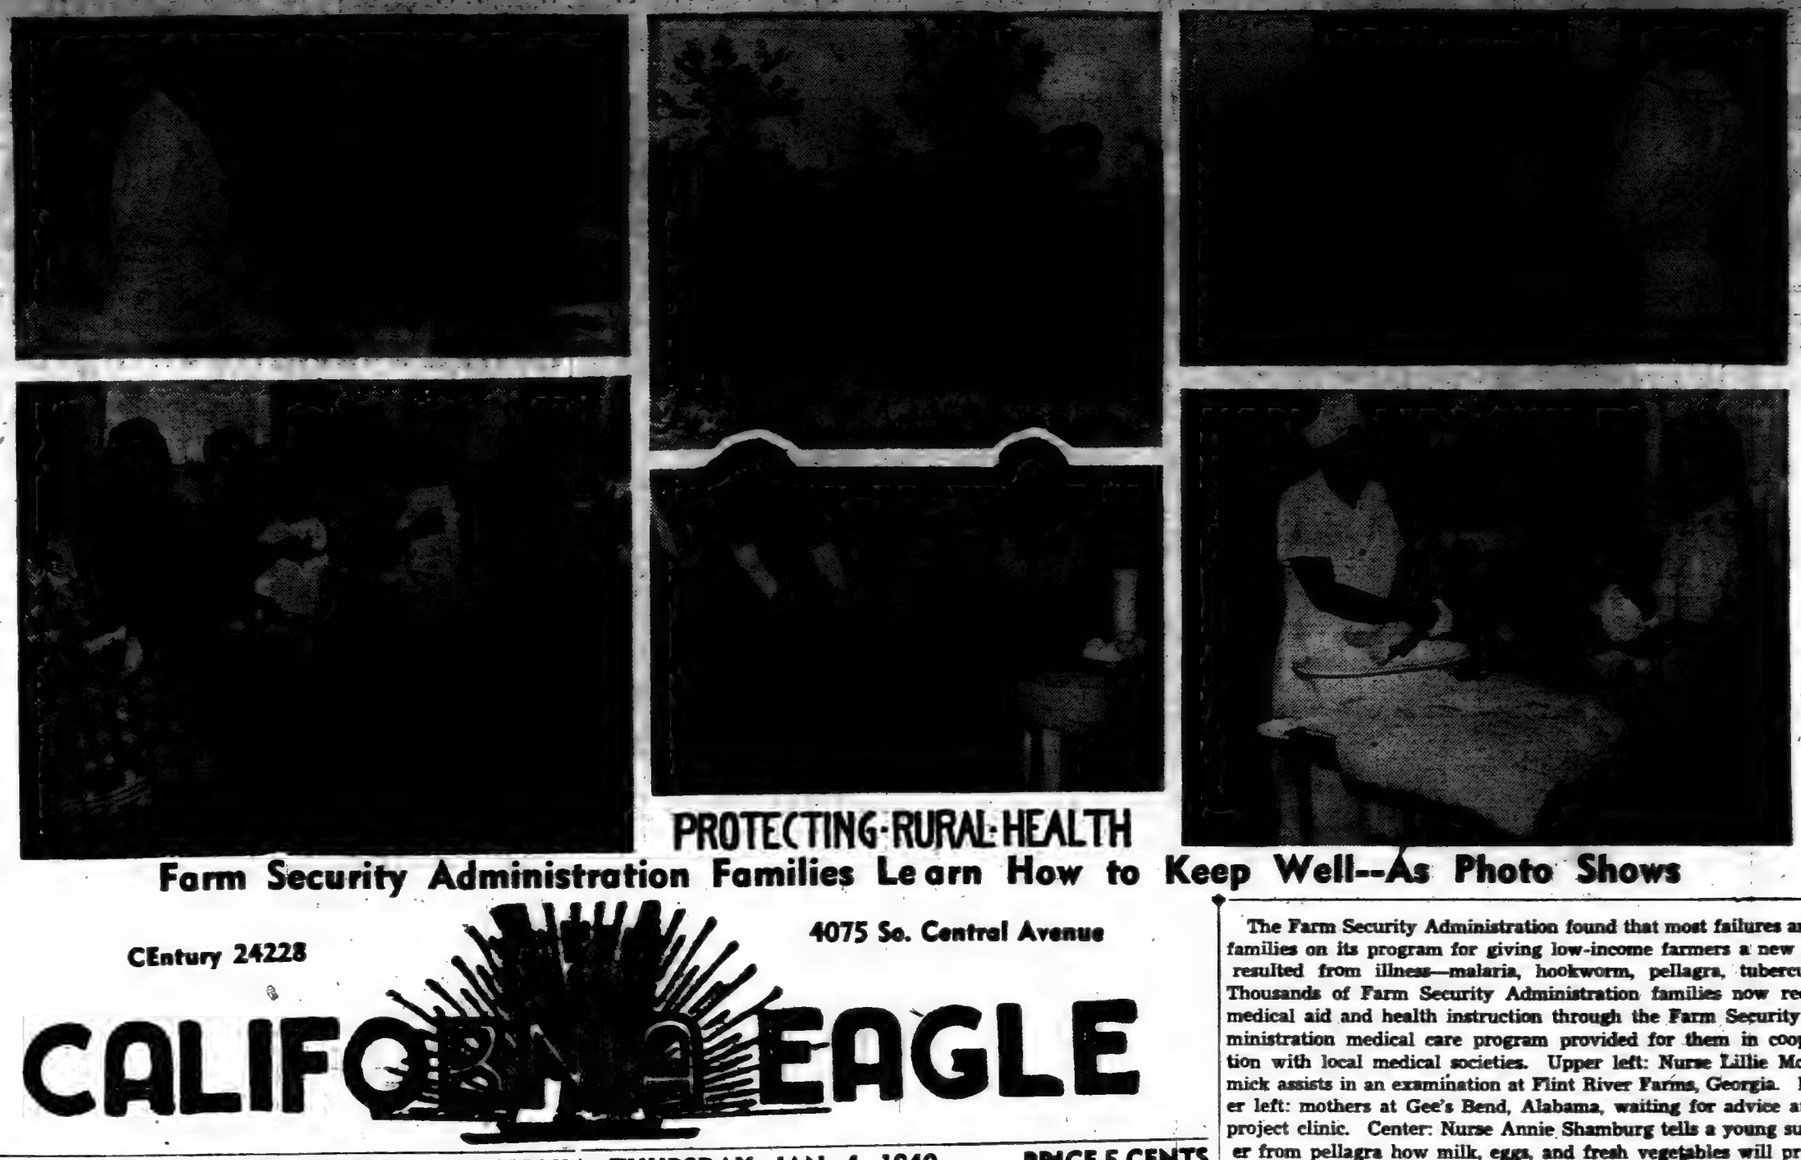
Brain-child of the Los Angeles Fellowship league, made up of a group of men in various professions and from all walks of life, it is intended that the fund be completed at the meeting Sunday afternoon thru subscriptions from all attendants.

It is not necessary here to go into details as to the struggles of student-athletes in the past, not that said struggles are something of which to be ashamed, for such a state of affairs is the rule rather than the exception. Too, it is not necessary to go into the esteem with which the league itself is held, either locally, in the State, coast or nation. The history of the league speaks for itself.

And so, the success of this worthy move actually rests upon the shoulders of the masses, from whom the student-athletes spring, who wish to assure the educational and athletic future of some of the best dual talent in the country.

A SUGGESTION

Granting that arguments appearing in many weekly newspapers recently for a stronger Negro press deserve immediate action, what about the major papers in all sections of the country coming together and setting aside a week in which to acquaint the public at large with the history of the Negro press and what said press is accomplishing and hopes to accomplish in the future?



There is no doubt but what such a week would serve a great purpose, strengthening the Negro's most potent weapon in his battle for equal rights and opportunity.

It's a suggestion and may be taken for what it is worth.

GABBY BITS:

The Central Avenue Merchants here did their bit in making the Yule season real on the "Avenue" by bannering major business sections . . . The greatest need of L. A. sports promoters appears to be a smooth-working ticket sales set-up. Sunday at Gilmore there were lines as long as from here to there, way after the opening whistle . . . Query: What ever became of Alma Travers, the songstress who came to Bob Ripley's notice because she always sang with pins in her mouth? . . .

By way of explanation: The poll of the Sepia Screen Actors' Guild, released throughout the country last week did not include Hattie McDaniel, current praise-wearer, because the poll was completed before "Gone With the Wind" was released.

Farm Security Administration Families Learn How to Keep Well--As Photo Shows

The Farm Security Administration found that most failures among families on its program for giving low-income farmers a new start resulted from illness—malaria, hookworm, pellagra, tuberculosis. Thousands of Farm Security Administration families now receive medical aid and health instruction through the Farm Security Administration medical care program provided for them in cooperation with local medical societies. Upper left: Nurse Lillie McCormick assists in an examination at Flint River Farms, Georgia. Lower left: mothers at Gee's Bend, Alabama, waiting for advice at the project clinic. Center: Nurse Annie Shamburg tells a young sufferer from pellagra how milk, eggs, and fresh vegetables will prevent and cure the disease. Upper center: gardens which provide an ample variety of protective foods are one of the few strings on Farm Security Administration loans. Upper right: baby's weight and diet are checked regularly at this clinic—forty miles from the nearest urban center. Lower right: many farm mothers have to leave the care of their babies to young children. Mothers are encouraged to bring these young helpers to the clinics for instruction in making beds, bathing the baby, and care of bottles. A doll is being used to illustrate how the baby should be handled.

Group Protests Establishment of Jim Crow School

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 4. (ANP)—Wednesday morning the Colored Clerks circle began anew its fight against the Lincoln University school of law in the Poro building established in the state's effort to uphold the Supreme Court's decision in the Lloyd Gaines case.

Picketing among the circle were members from the Society of American Civil Liberties, a national organization of white youths. There were 19 whites from the University of Missouri, Washington university and Eden seminary, headed b the Rev. Harold Milke, pastor of the Evangelical church of Columbia, Mo., the Rev. Arno Hack, St. Louis and the Rev. Elmer Arndt, Eden seminary.

Frank M. Jones, president and organizer of Colored Clerks circle, said "These students appeared in protest to the undemocratic procedure and waste of public funds" in establishing the separate law school.

"The Lincoln university law school is a farce," Jones said, "and in inferior in every respect to that of the University of Missouri school of law and in no wise does it meet with the decision of the supreme court for equal educational facilities. The results obtained by this school are not enough to pay for the principles relinquished."

LOST 'HEAVEN' BECAUSE OF VISIT WITH MATE, 'ANGEL' TELLS COURT

Demands Return of $6,000 in Suit Against Divine; Rebuked When She Saw Husband

NEW YORK, Jan. 4. (CNA)—The ban imposed by Father Divine on marital relations between husbands and wives in his far-flung kingdoms caused 54-year old Mrs. Merinda Brown, a former "angel" to break with the cult leader and finally to demand a return of some $6,000 in cash and goods that she and her husband had turned over to Divine during a four-year period, she testified in Supreme Court here last week.

AUTHOR OF CURRENTLY POPULAR NOVEL

ZORA NEALE HURSTON, brilliant author of the currently popular "Moses, Man of the Mountain," which has received wide praise in literary circles since its publication recently by J. P. Lippincott company. Miss Hurston, a Guggenheim Fellow of several years ago, won fame with her first novel, "Jonah's Gourd Vine." "Of Mules and Men," and "Their Eyes Were Watching God" have brought added laurels.

The former "Rebecca Grace" who is suing for recovery of the money and to have the vast Divine Peace Mission properties placed in receivership, told Justice Benedict D. Dineen that after four years of peace and fellowship with Father Divine he discovered that she and her husband, "Onward Universe," were meeting from time to time, and sternly rebuked her.

As Father Divine and big olive-colored Mother Divine looked at her, Mrs. Brown testified that Divine dogged her steps and her husband's in 1929 and 1930 until they gave him five $20 gold pieces she had received as gifts, $1600 in savings and household furniture. More donations were to follow.

Divine, Mrs. Brown said, told her upon accepting the gifts, "Peace, it's wonderful! I will put this money in my Heavenly Treasury and keep it for you. I will not keep it for myself, but for you."

Mrs. Brown, who says that so far, Father has kept the Heavenly Treasury funds only for himself, declared that on July 8, 1930, she turned over $121.06 in cash to him, and then, finding two pennies remaining in her pocketbook, surrendered these also. He took them.

"Peace," he said, she testified. He then added, "I don't want you angels to carry material things in your minds that would prevent the highest spiritual good."

TELLS HOW

In 1930, she said, she told Father Divine how thankful she felt toward him for giving her strength to live apart" from her husband. She asked him how she "could make the grade to eternal life."

"You can have eternal life by living and keeping the laws just as I have written them in Matthew, Mark, Luke and John," he replied, according to Mrs. Brown. "You, yourself and your husband, you are no more husband and wife because I never ordained that anyhow. It's just a man-made law that took it on themselves to join a man and a woman together."

On another occasion, Father Divine told her, Mrs. Brown testified:

"I want you to discard mother, father, sister, brother, your organizations and all your family and friends and keep me in your utmost consciousness. Erase everything that pertains to mortals out of your consciousness and keep only me in your utmost consciousness."

The former angel admitted that Divine never once asked her for money He merely urged her and the other angels to scorn material things and often mentioned the merits of his own "heavenly treasury."

Asks Rights for Virgin Islanders

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. (CNA)—Senator Mead (Dem. N. Y.) indicated this week he will ask Congress to clarify the citizenship status of thousands of Virgin Island natives who left the islands before their purchase from Denmark by the United States.

Ashley L. Totten, secretary-treasurer of the International Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and president of the Virgin Islands Civic Association, wrote Mead that many Virgin Islanders, forced to leave the islands because of economic conditions, are now virtually men without a country. Totten estimated that there were 8,000 Virgin Islanders in Harlem.

D. C. NEGROES GET HOUSING PROJECT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. (ANP)—Hard upon the protest against the actions of the Alley Dwelling authority in building houses for colored tenants compared with the number of houses so erected for white tenants, comes an official announcement that a project has been authorized, calling for the expenditure of $1,366,000 for building 286 units for colored dwellers in the northeast section of the city.

American Library Ass'n to Hold Next Meet in South

CHICAGO, Jan. 4. (ANP)—After having observed a ruling for the past few years against meeting in any city where colored delegates would suffer discrimination, the mid-winter council meeting of the American Library association in session at Chicago last week voted to reconsider this action.

The council, which directs the association policy, took its stand against segregation following the annual convention at Richmond, Va., several years ago, when Negroes suffered embrassing discrimination.

The motion to reconsider the ban was made by Charles H. Brown, Iowa librarian and chairman of the third activities meeting, who said he had been approached on the matter by southern white members of the association.

The 1940 convention will be held in Cincinnati in late spring where it has been assured no discrimination will be practiced against Negro delegates.

Government Employes Ask 50 Negroes at Annapolis

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4, (ANP)—In a resolution sponsored jointly by the United Government employes and the Elks' lodge Sunday, President Roosevelt is asked to use his "limited emergency" powers to see that 50 qualified Negroes are appointed to the naval academy at Annapolis.

The resolution also asks that one of the 45,000 ton battleships to be completed in four years be named after a Negro such as Booker T. Washington and 5,000 colored seamen be enlisted for training in the navy and marine corps.

President Roosevelt is asked to provide, in the 1940-41 budget, the necessary funds to "continue the work already begun by the CAA and the U. S. army to train 100 Negroes for officers for the U. S. army air corps to the end that there may be established at the Virgin Islands an enlarged naval and air base in command of Negro officers, seamen and airmen to assure the fullest protection to the Panama canal and the national interests of the U. S. in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, the resolution concludes.

ETTA MOTEN, stellar concert artist, who open her 1940 season tonight at Rollins college, white, in Winter Park, Fla. Miss Moten, who is presented by the Chicago Concert Bureau, has 8 engagements—chiefly interracial—in the winter resort area of Florida during January, when she will also visit Nassau, Bahamas, the British West Indies. In February, after four concerts in Mississippi, three in Louisiana, and one at Lane College, Tennessee, she goes to Virginia, where she will sing in Roanoke and St. Paul School and to West Virginia. March 16, she sings in Denver, with Texas and Oklahoma engagements following.

Covington Joins Gold Hour as M. C.

Appointment of Floyd C. Covington, executive secretary of the local Urban League, as master of ceremonies on the "Gold Hour," was announced this week by Morris Gold, president of the Gold Furniture company, sponsors of the popular radio program.

Well known over the State as a brilliant public speaker, Covington began his new duties with the first program of the New Year, Monday. He replaced George Irwin, representative of Smith and Bull Advertising agency, which launched the program for "Gold" almost a year ago.

In announcing his acceptance of the post, Covington emphasized that his new duties will "in no way" interfere with his executive position at the Urban League, one of the most active social agencies in the city.

"Radio and dramatics have long been avocational interests of mine," the youthful executive stated. He pointed out that he recently worked for 12 weeks with the Radio Players of the University of Southern California and was announcer on the original "Music Makers" program, which discovered Bob Parrish, now a Broadway musical star.

MINISTER'S SON

A native of Colorado, the "Gold Hour's" new emcee was partly reared in Los Angeles. The adopted son of the late Rev. J. Logan Craw and Mrs. Craw, now of Topeka, Covington lived here during the prelate's pastorate of the First AME church.

At Washburn college, Topeka, Kansas, Covington was a brilliant student and stellar athlete. Afterwards, as an Urban League fellow, he took his Master of Arts degree at the University of Pittsburgh, has since worked on a doctorate at Rose Croix university in San Jose, the University of Southern California.

Covington began work with the local Urban League in 1928, as industrial secretary for 18-months. He followed that with a year as assistant to his father-in-law, T. A. Green, former executive secretary of the League. His wife, the former Alma Green, is a teacher in the Los Angeles City School system. The couple have a four-year old son.

Its popularity increasing with each night's "airing," the "Gold Hour' will pass a milestone of one year "on the air" in February. Heard nightly at 6:30 over KGFJ, (1200 kc), the half-hour broadcast has become a community institution, just as the Gold Furniture company, at Washington and Central, through 20-years of service, has become the most dependable business of its kind on the Eastside.

Music, educational lectures, drama and news are some of the "Gold Hour's" features. Covington will have the continued assistance of the "Gold Hour's popular program' director, Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew.

many Negro artists among nation's favorite swingsters

CHICAGO, Jan. 4—This year's annual Down Beat poll to select America's favorite swing musicians has ended, once again bringing national recognition and acclaim to many great Negro jazz artists.

Ballots of more than 14,000 musicians were tabulated in two months' voting and final results, published in the Jan. 1 issue of Down Beat, put Coleman Hawkins, tenor sax; Charlie Christian, guitar; Fletcher Henderson, arranger, and vocalist Ella Fitzgerald, all on this 1939 All-American band of bands.

CHRISTIAN TOPS

Unknown a few months ago, the sensational young Negro guitarist, Charlie Christian, now with Benny Goodman's band, skyrocketed to the top of the heap to run off with guitar honors. Christian beat out such stellar box-men as Floyd Smith (with Andy Kirk), Freddie Green (with Count Basie), Teddy Bunn, Allen Reuss and Carmen Mastren.

Fletcher Henderson copped the arranger spot with a total of almost 7,000 votes. Duke Ellington was beaten out by ofay Glenn Miller for second place among arrangers. The Duke took third.

Satchmo Armstrong sneaked off with fourth place in the trumpet section, with the much-publicized Harry James copping first, Goodman's Ziggy Elman second, and Bunny Berigan, third. Roy Eldridge was sixth, Rex Stewart, 14th, Red Allen, 15th, and Cootie Williams, 16th.

Ella Fitzgerald soared to the peak to walk away with girl vocalist honors, winning out over such outstanding vocal personalities as Billie Holliday, Mildred Bailey, Maxine Sullivan and Bea Wain.

Count Basie's band took fifth place in the swing band division of the poll, with Duke Ellington's great outfit ending up sixth. Bennie Goodman's band took first in a walk-away.

Jo Jones, drummer with Count Basie, ranked third among the nation's drummers. Krupa took first and Ray Bauduc of Bob Crosby's band second.

Johnny Hodges and Benny Carter were chosen third and fourth respectively in the alto sax division, in which Jimmy Dorsey and Toots Mondello took first and second respectively.

John Kirby hit third place on bass, with Walter Page fourth . . . . Duke Ellington's was voted one of the most under-rated bands, and Lionel Hampton ranked 'way up among the favorite soloists . . . . J. C. Higginbotham took fourth place among trombones, and Laurence Brown, sixth . . . . On piano, Count Basie zoomed to third place, Teddy Wilson placed fourth and Fletcher Henderson, fifth.

premiere set for lincoln, bill robinson

Premiere of Argus' "Double Deal," all colored moving picture, has been set for the Lincoln and Bill Robinson theatres, Argus officials announced today.

Characterized as a romance, packed with exciting action, the picture was produced in Hollywood under the banner of International Road Shows with Arthur Dreifus as director.

Jeni LeGon, famous stage dancer, is starred. Playing opposite her is Monte Hawley. Miss LeGon is seen as a glamorous entertainer, while Hawley is her gambler sweetheart, who finally "goes straight." Others featured in the cast are: Maceo Sheffield, Shelton Brooks and L. E. Miller.

Negro press featured in new pic

Thanks to the efforts of the Negro press in fighting the exploitation of their people as gangsters and Uncle Tom characters in motion pictures, the public has been promised colored pictures showing the "real side" of the Negro.

Announcement was made this week that Arthur Dreifuss has chosen as his next International Road Shows' release a story showing what goes on behind the scenes of a colored newspaper office, and what an important part the profession plays in the everyday life of the fifteen-million people that it represents.

"I share the opinion of the International Road Shows that the Negro, through their papers, have proved that they will not tolerate being exploited and ridiculed on the screen, and feels that in order to produce successful all-colored pictures, a company must film stories of the true side of the race, and "that these pictures should be produced under the supervision of someone who knows the real Negro," stated Dreifuss.

Probably the only inter-racial band in America, composed only of girls, is the aggregation in the above photo. Fast becoming nationally known, they are the International Sweethearts of Rhythm, student band from Piney Woods school in Mississippi.

International they certainly are: a Chinese saxophone player, a Hawaiian trumpet player, a Mexican director. On a tour of the South and West in the interest of their school, the girls will be heard in sweet music tonight over the "Gold Hour," KGFJ, from 6:30 to 7:00 p. m.

'darktown strutters ball' to be george randol's next film

George Randol, president of the George Randol Productions, only all-colored motion picture company in Hollywood, announced early this week that he is now preparing for production the dramatization of the song hit of a few years back, "Darktown Strutters Ball." Composer of the ever-popular number, Shelton Brooks, in collaboration with F. E. Miller, has written a story that will be as interesting and entertaining a picture as "Alexander's Ragtime Band," Randol claims.

George Randol, who will produce and direct "Darktown Strutters Ball," is sparing no expense in making this, his first screen offer for 1940, the top ranking production of the year; and he feels that "Darktown Strutters Ball" will overshadow and surpass his best production, "Deep South," runner-up for the Academy Award, the picture "Mad Money" winning by one vote.

The picture is scheduled to go into production around Jan. 15, and will be released through International Road Shows, who, with this and 14 other all-colored pictures, scheduled for 1940, hope to end the era of gangster films.

local beauty acclaimed by earl carroll; is jeff high grad

Ethelyn Stevenson, graduate of Jefferson High school, reportedly was chosen by Earl Carroll, famous impressario, as one of the prettiest and most talented girls in Hollywood. Miss Stevenson is appearing at the Onyx Club, famous filmland rendevous, as a soubrette, is being groomed for a feature part in an all-colored production by International Roadshows, Inc.

The Onyx Club show is produc- Joe Stevenson, Ethelyn's husband, rated as one of the best stage producers in the film capital. He is also appearing in the show as a featured male dancer.

Supporting Miss Stevenson is the vivacious Lovie Lane, who thrills the audience nightly with the "Dance of Death," which she features with the producer, Joseph Stevenson; Dudley Dickerson, comedy star of stage and screen, who is stopping the show nightly with his antics; a singer of sentimental songs, Juanella Carter; the Four Chocolate Drops, a harmony and comedy musical quartette, signed by Bing Crosby for his next picture after hearing them "swing out;" Jessie Cryor, as Captain Kid, the Lavender Pirate; the Chicago show-stopper, Marie Bryant; Snowball and Charlie, tap dancers, and C. girls' band on gold hour tonight

One of the most unique bands ever to play here, the International Sweethearts of Rhythm, 15-piece girls' aggregation from Mississippi, will have a California premiere tonight over the "Gold Hour," popular radio program, sponsored by the Gold Furniture company.

Famed throughout the Southwest as dispensers of all kinds of music from "jitterbug" tunes to the classics, the band arrives, via bus, this morning (Thursday), from Tucson, Arizona. Everyone, from the first trombone player to the drummer, is a girl. Coached by a woman, the aggregation hails from Piney Woods school in Mississippi, is made up of High school and college students.

INTER-RACIAL

So named because they include a Chinese saxophonist, a Hawaiian trumpet player, and a Mexican director, in addition to Negroes, the International Sweethearts are scheduled for several Los Angeles engagements.

The Gold Hour considers itself fortunate in securing the girls for their local appearance, thereby introducing them to Los Angeles," stated Floyd C. Covington, program announcer. The band, playing a variety of tunes, will feature tonight's program, heard from 6:30 to 7:00 p. m. over KGFJ.

Only man traveling with the group is the driver of the bus, which is as unique as the band. Catering to the feminine need for the comfort of home, the bus, 40-feet long, is built to overcome the "camping out" feeling, has a linoleum-covered floor, pullman beds, bath, kitchenette, piano.

Prof. Lawrence Jones, principal of Piney Woods, traveling in advance of the girls, arrived here Tuesday. Well known locally, he is noted for the introduction of unprecedented extra-curricular activities to Piney Woods.

"To that peace-time army that knows no peace, no armistice; the officers of the law. To the noble men and women of the Negro race who dedicate their lives to the stamping out of crime; to the thousands of matyrs who have lost their lives in line of duty and those who carry on, this picture is dedicated."

With this slogan, Millian Dollar Productions' latest picture, "Gang War," was screened "in the rough" Christmas Eve. Just finished after two weeks of day and night shooting and over two months of preparation, the picture has an outstanding cast.

The story is a withering indictment of racketeering and gangsterism. Ralph Cooper, the star, is "Killer" Meade, a greedy, suave gang leader. Opposite him is Gladys Snyder, new leading lady, as Mazie, who loves the gang leader for his better qualities.

PROFESSIONAL SPORTS AND THE NEGRO

After watching the Los Angeles Bulldogs and Kenny Washington's All-Amercians in a professional football game Sunday afternoon at Gilmore stadium we have hit upon two notions with reference thereto.

(1) The jump from the collegiate to the professional brand of pigskin handling is much longer than the world broad jump record distance hung up by Jesse Owens.

(2) What American sports need is an infusion of Negro stars wherever they can make the grade—baseball, football, track, basketball, et cetera.

Both notions are definite reactions to what we saw on the field of play and around about us.

As for No. 1 and the jump between college football and pro ball, few of the players we saw representing the All-Americans could have exchanged suits with a Bulldog in the same position. Aside from Vic Bottari and possibly Dave Anderson, both former California Bear stars with the former being an All-American two years running, and Washington, it is doubtful if any of the other All-Americans could have ousted a Bulldog from his job.

However, it is to the credit of the All-Americans that they held the Bulldogs, who are American Professional League champions, to as close a score as they did. The All-Americans are a potentially great team and it is reasonable to expect that with a few more weeks of practice under their belts it will be hard for not only the Bulldogs but any other pro outfit to stop them. Before the game Sunday, the All-Americans had been playing as a unit for little over a week.

And for notion No. 2: 17,500 people packed and jammed their way into Gilmore stadium. The total was just 700 off stadium capacity and it was the largest crowd of the year to watch the Bulldogs. And why did so many people attend the game. We'll tell you. Kenny Washington is the answer.

As soon as big league baseball owners face facts and sign up Negro players capable of stepping into the majors the sooner will THEY get out of the dumps as far as attendance is concerned.

The same applies to Negro grid players capable of stepping into the pro leagues.

In playing Sunday, if for no other reason, "Kingfish" Kenny proved that his is a magic name. That's the reason boxing promoters, motion picture studios, and others are making overtures to this great athlete. He has something the public wants to see and is willing to PAY to see.

SHORTS IN SPORTS:

So USC whipped Tennessee in the Rose Bowl. We can't say that it was unexpected and it showed, too, that UCLA probably would have done the same thing. At any rate, West coast football stock has jumped up many, many points. Says Ned Cronin, Daily and Evening News sports editor, this week: "... There are four teams on the coast that could give the Volunteers all they could handle. Southern California is number one, of course. The Bruins could have provided them with more than enough competition and so could Oregon State and Santa Clara. And at the end of the season, the University of Washington outfit could have come pretty close to standing the Volunteers on their ears ..."

Don't look for any more meetings between Henry Armstrong and Lou Ambers. It seems the two leather tossers have agreed to disagree with both getting in each other's hair ... Jackie Robinson, he of the famed man-in-motion Bruin attack, is slated to play forward this week-end when UCLA's cage team plays Loyola and St. Mary's in practice games. Ray Bartlett, who developed into quite a halfback during the football season, although an end, is playing guard for the Westwooders ...

"Turkey" Thompson, who definitely is a threat for the middleweight crown, just as Jackie Wilson is for the lightweight bauble, tops the Olympic's boxing card Tuesday ... Don't forget the Kenny Washington Scholarship Fund rally Sunday.

h'wood stars entertain vets

Negro actors graciously responded to the call of the Lt. Jas. E. Beck Post when they took time out during the holidays to give a full hour show to the disabled veterans at the government hospital in Sawtelle. According to Donald Brown, veteran and manager of the huge auditorium at Sawtelle, the show, emceed by Ernest Whitman, versatile singing actor of radio, stage and screen, was one of the finest shows to be given the veterans.

"Don't think that they sat there to be courteous," Brown told members of the cast after the show was over. "They've walked out on some of the best talent that has come out here. The fact that not a man left the auditorium during your show means that it rang the bell with them. Please come again, and soon."

Each number was received with hearty applause and each performer was given a real veteran's cheer of vigorous handclapping, whistles and stamping.

"Something About A Soldier"

The Melodic Dots, directed by Alma Hightower, started the program by rendering a unique and beautiful arrangement of "Silent Night." Following that, the Dots struck an appropriate theme when they played "There's Something About A Soldier" Bud Harris, internationally known comedian and his stooge, Miss Steptoe, kept the audience in stitches with their line of chatter. Laurence Pepper Neely scored in his rendition of "South of the Border." Lynwood Young, dramatic tenor and Frances Melton, torch singer also appeared.

Aside from the sparkling wit that completely captivated the audience from the first time he came upon the stage until the show was over, Whitman sang two numbers, "Old Man River" the Kern classic and "Go Down Moses." Both numbers received thunderous applause.

Members of the Auxiliary, headed by Mrs. Randall and Mrs. Reese, passed out cigarettes to the veterans at the close of the show.

Mexican All-Stars at Ross Snyder

The final major football game of the season on the eastside, will be played at White Sox Park this Sunday afternoon, when the Mexican All Star footballers face the well known Ross Snyder Bulldogs.

The Mexican Athletic Association Football League is in it's first year and have turned in some very good games. The leading players of the various teams in the league have been selected to form the All Star team and they are going into the game determined to win. Headed by a number of celebrities from the local Mexican colony, the All Stars plan to bring a rooting section of one thousand persons to witness this struggle.

The Bulldogs need no introduction to local fans, although they have played most of their games out of this district this season. They are the only Negro team in the Municiple League and have earned a reputation of clean hard playing and good sportsmanship. They depend on speed and deception and have always been considered the most dangerous team in the Municiple League.

"Turk" Tops Boxing Card

Rated by Ring magazine as the outstanding middleweight prospect for 1940, "Turkey" Thompson, he of the dynamite fists, will meet "Bandit Johnny" Romero, San Diego lightheavyweight in the 10 round main event at the Olympic next Tuesday night, Matchmaker Jimmy Murray announced today.

Memo Llanes opposes Henry Hook in the six-round semi windup. The rest of the card follows: Jimmy McDaniels vs. Babe Hernandez; Soldier Stanley vs. Willie Fields; Soldier Gleason vs. Georgie Dilworth and Clyde Alexander vs. Nick Caster.

YMCA 'Bean Bowl' Draws 650; Celebs Take Part

"It was "great". This was the expression of 650 young men and boys as they trailed home from the huge bean feed at the 28th Street YYMCA last Saturday night.

650 people couldn't be wrong and the event, the first of its kind given by the local "Y", proved really worth while. Festvities started off with a bang at 7:30 when the swimming pool, specially heated for the occasion was opened. There were so many desiring to swim that several shifts of 30 were necessary. A swimming show, handled by Leslie Bisco followed.

Later in the gym, the crowd gathered and was entertained by ennis Brown's wrestling team, Eddye Lynn's weight lifters, and George Tolson's Boxing show. The latter event provided great interest featuring class exhibitions between John Thomas and Louis Wise, standouts in the amature ranks.

Alston Hoosman, tri-city Golden Gloves champ, staged two exhibitions with Henry Brown and George Bolden. George Tolson introduced George Godfrey, great prize fighter of former years.

eorge Harpole turned the microphone over to Ralph Cooper, the regular Master of ceremonies. Cooper introduced Woody Strode.

The great moment finally arrived. The beans were served!

KENNY WASHINGTON'S ALL-AMERICANS LOSE BUT LOOK GOOD AT IT

Near-Capacity Crowd Sees "The General" Score Team's Lone Tally in Second Period

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Kenny "The General" Washington and his All-Americans were on the short end of a 22 to 6 pro grid total Sunday afternoon at Gilmore stadium but, losing to the Los Angeles Bulldogs, American league champions, Kenny and his outfit looked good—very good, in fact.

It was the first professional start for the UCLA All-American halfback and although his team had had but little more than a week of practice it held the strong Bulldog squad fairly even for two periods.

romoted by Larry Sunbrock, the game attracted 17,500 spectators, a near sell-out crowd, a crowd that came to root for its favorite, "Kingfish" Kenny.

Known over the length and breadth of the land for his swivel hips and all around playing ability "The General" scored the All Americans only touchdown. The pay dirt scamper was unveiled in the second quarter when Kenny fading to the Bulldogs' 30 to pass, saw his receivers covered and galloped to his right, straight-arming a couple of Bulldogs who sought to stop his advance. The run actually was good for only 18 yards, Kenny [illegible] back an additional 12 to [illegible] the Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs scored twice the second period, Hal [illegible] going over from the one and Peterson tossing a pass to Hutchinson which was good for 60 yards. In the third period Peterson intercepted a Washington aerial on his own 30 and lateraled across the field to Hutchinson who ran 70 yards for the score. Tillie Manton booted 20-yard field goal to complete the Bulldog scoring.

Besides Washington, "Vic Bottari and Dave Anderson, former University of California greats, were outstanding in the backfield. On the line the All Americans boasted such stalwarts as Woody Strode and Jo Frawley, both UCLA stars, and center George Smith.

Washington, Strode Feted By Masons; Given Awards

"If there is anything the race really needs, it is men of the calibre of these young men."

Grand Master Roscoe H. Broyles was speaking and he was presenting the Masonic awards to famous University of California at Los Angeles football heroes, Kenneth S. Washington and Woodrow W. Strode.

The occasion was a banquet last Friday evening at Masonic Temple, 50th and Central avenue, given by the Prince Hall affiliation honoring the Bruin stars "for distinguished service in athletics".

Approximately 150 guests sat around the banquet tables, dined on a sumptuous turkey dinner prepared by caterer Roy L. Loggins, listened to a program capably emceed by Frank White with Nathaniel George as toastmaster.

EASIER WAY

Highlight of the program was the response of both Washington and Strode. The Uclans expressed their gratitude to the Masons and the assemblage, said because of their records they hoped that the way had been made easier for other Negro athletes who are to follow them.

Rev. H. Mansfield Collins began the program with invocation. Earl A. Pleasant, vocalist, and steel guitarist Jacqueline Freeze were roundly applauded for their renditions.

The committee responsible for the affair included Broyles, Ida M. Robertson, grand matron; Rev. S. M. Beane, grand patron; S. J. Hopkins, grand lecturer; Will Johnson, grand orator; J. B. Frierson, grand treasurer; J. L. Taylor, chairman of F. C. C.; Wm. C. Faulkner, general chairman of banquet committee; W. Kyle, general chairman program committee; White, W. NEWS VIEWS

By HARRY T. MORGAN

Well, here we are faced with another whole year—and it's interesting to imagine what may happen before 1941 rolls around. 1939 was made up of about as tough a crop of days as you'd care to overlook. Everybody was picking on everybody else. Half the world wanted land, liberty, pensions, privileges, money, power—and the other half was dead set against them getting it. Let's hope that the affairs of the coming year show more fusion and less confusion. I suppose by now we've all made our resolutions, but they don't mean a thing unless we try to keep them every day in the year. What this country needs is a good, non-breakable resolution.

And while we're on the subject of New Year's resolutions, why not add the House of Morgan to your list. Now is the season for good, piping, hot drinks. We have a fine stock of liquor and can give plenty of suggestions on how to mix Hot Rum Punch, Tom & Jerry's, Hot Toddies. Drop in today to the House of Morgan at 2729 Central Ave. Ask for Harry Morgan.

JOHN BREWER GETS HIGH POST AS KAPPAS CLOSE FOUR-DAY SESSION

Washington, D. C. Man Reelected Grand Polemarch; Kansas City Next Meet Site

By G. JAMES FLEMING

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 4.—Reelection of James E. Scott, Washington, D. C. as grand polemarch, and selection of Kansas City, Mo. as the place of the next meeting brought the 29th annual Grand Chapter of the Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity to a close here last Saturday, after a very successful four-day session in this Texas town.

Coming from 22 states and the District of Columbia, 150 voting delegates and about 200 other member-visitors found a warm welcome here.

Principal consideration of the Kappa delegates was investigation into the grades made by Negro students in the leading colleges of the country.

The Guide Right Commission, led by Attorney R. J. Reynolds, of Topeka, Kans., made a broad-guaged study of the vocational interests and choices of the pre-college student and also explored the sources which are able to give expert advice to the young and inquiring Negro.

In many cases it was found that failure in college was tied up with reasons like these:

1. A boy who has lived in the city all his life and with no real interest in farm life, registers for agriculture, for some reason or other.

2. One who dislikes mathematics and was poor in chemistry in high school, decides to study chemical engineering because he believes he can make "plenty money" after graduation.

3. Youngsters from cities with few or no Negroes reach a campus with large numbers of Negro girls and go "haywire" over the mass of beautiful women.

4. Students who seem never able to make the adjustment between high school and college.

5. Students with too much money to spend.

CONDEMNS "DOLE-SCHOOL"

Turning attention to many matters beyond fraternity business, the fraternity passed resolutions condemning the 'so-called Dole School system in many of the states as being undemocratic and harmful to the best interests of the American people' and advocating equal educational opportunities for children, regardless of race.' Segregation of and discrimination against Negroes in the U. S. armed forces was also condemned, together with the bars raised against the appointment of Negroes in the Federal Civil Service and the practice to refuse membership to Negroes in many labor unions throughout the country.

Attorney George C. Hayes, member of the faculty of the Howard Law School and member of the fraternity's housing commission was endorsed for a seat on the bench of the District of Columbia court.

While endorsing all organizations engaged in the fight for the maintenance of civil liberties, the organization called upon its members to discourage anti-semitism and all programs aimed at discriminating against minority groups because of race, creed or color. Anti-lynching legislation was endorsed and the cooperation in vogue between the N. A. A. C. P. and Kappa Alpha Psi was authorized continued.

Besides Attorney Scott, the national officers elected are: Attorney Louie F. Orr, East St. Louis, Ill., senior grand vice-polemarch; John H. Brewer, University of California, Los Angeles, junior vice grand polemarch; J. Ernest Wilkins, Chicago, grand keeper of records and exchequer (re-elected for eighteenth year); Elisha Scott, Jr., student at Washburn college, Topeka, Kans., grand strategus; James Gleason, student, Lincoln University, Missouri, grand lieutenant strategus; Elder W. Diggs, Indianapolis school principal, historian.

5 Lynchings in 1939, NAACP Says

Two Victims Were White, According to NAACP Report

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—There were five persons, two of them white, lynched in the United States during 1939, according to a report announced here today by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

In only one case was the charge of molesting whites alleged. The other cases grew out of differences between employer and employee, and an automobile accident. The list of lynch victims in chronological order, together with the alleged causes, follows:

Walter Lee Frazier, week of Jan. 29, Eldorado, Arkansas, shot, allegedly for molesting white couples; Miles W. Brown, white, April 1, Panama City, Florida, shot, convicted of first degree murder for killing employer; Lee Snell, April 29, Daytona Beach, Florida, shot, charged with fatally injuring white child with his taxi cab; Joe Rodgers, May 8, Canton, Mississippi, shot, charged with defending himself in fight with a lumber mill foreman; M. Eggleston, sometime in the spring of 1939, a national maritime union official, New Orleans, Louisiana, drowned, alleged to have uncovered graft among certain reactionary union members.

55 Involved in Alabama Illicit Liquor Ring

ANNISTON, Ala., Jan. 4. (AN P)—Agents of the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit here this week renewed their efforts to break up an illicit liquor ring involving 55 Negroes. Investigation of the alleged syndicate began in 1936, when a colored man was arrested with a carload of whiskey. His arrest broke open the ring's activities, involving both whites and Negroes, and the federal investigation widened.

Ten members of the reputed ring have been sentenced by Federal Judge T. A. Murphee. Fourteen new arrests were made over last weekend and operatives said they expected to have the remaining 31 suspects under arrest within a few days.

TESTED RECIPE
—By Frances Lee Barton—

EVEN though fresh fruits and berries have taken their leave, don't banish that delectable dessert, shortcake, from your table. For there are winter shortcakes as well as summer shortcakes. And among the prizes in the winter shortcake group is —

Apricot Coconut Shortcake

2 cups sifted cake flour; 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder; ½ teaspoon salt; 4 tablespoons butter or other shortening; 1 cup sugar; 1 egg, unbeaten; ¾ cup milk; 1 teaspoon vanilla; ¾ cup cream, whipped; 2 cups drained apricots, cut in quarters; 1 can moist, sweetened coconut.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually and cream together well. Add egg and beat very thoroughly. Add flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in greased pan, 8x8x2-inches in moderate oven (350° F.) 50 minutes. Split warm cake in half. Spread whipped cream over cut surface of one-half of cake; arrange 1 cup apricots on cream and sprinkle with ⅓ can coconut. Adjust second layer, cut-side down, and repeat garnish. Cut in squares and serve at once. Serves 9 to 12.

Canned peaches or pineapple, oranges, bananas, or other fruits may be substituted for apricots in this recipe.

CAN'T RESIST ANIMALS
Charlie Ruggles, who shares starring roles in Paramount's "The Farmer's Daughter," is a lover of all sorts of animals. From a start with two dogs a few years ago his kennels of blue-blooded canines has grown to be the largest in Southern California. But, in addition to the dogs, Charlie also pays the feed bills for an assorted collection of monkeys, cats, makaws, parrots, gold fish and other fauna.

WORKED HARD
Otto Kruger, who plays the father in Paramount's picturization of Booth Tarkington's novel, "Seventeen" featuring Jackie Cooper and Betty Field, rode freight trains to reach New York and seek a stage career. Prior to that he had been a telephone lineman, a store clerk and worked at other odd jobs.

VERSATILE
Vivien ("Scarlett O'Hara") Leigh, who plays a Southern belle in "Gone With the Wind", will be seen as a cockney girl in "Sidewalks of London" in which she is co-starred with Charles Laughton. 'Sidewalks of London" is an English production to be released in this country by Paramount.

ttleship Named Negro?

A press despatch received from nation's capital this week states e United Government Employees, anization of Negro Federal work- urged today that one of the vy's proposed new 45,000 ton bat- hips be named in honor of a Ne-

No particular name was proposed or the battleship.

The United Government Employe- s a very militant body in Washing- and has participated in some , rousing battles during the past years.

However, the proposal for naming of the new battleships in honor Negro strikes several foul notes. ong them is the fact that the U. E. does not submit any specific ty to be so honored. Doubtless re are scores of Negroes, past and sent, worthy of the honor; but n the U. G. E. fails to mention one prospective honoree, it com- s an unpardonable breach. Boiled wn, the colored Federal employe- organization has demanded the or on the sole grounds of race-- olation of American ethics that groes must always fight.

Ve are bitter and angered when ors are snatched from us, as a al group, solely BECAUSE of col- t follows, then, that we must ob- to the bestowing of honors solely AUSE of color.

he proper procedure for the U. G. ould have been to decide upon e meritorious Negro--Douglas, arver, or Washington,--and pro- his name to the Navy depart- t on the solid grounds that such ndividual has EARNED recogni- . The fact that no Afro-Ameri- has ever been honored by the U. this way might have been used skill as a secondary argument.

RE IMPORTANT FLAW

ut, perhaps it is needlessly fas- us to wrangle over this point her, so another, more essential t in the U. G. E. proposal is found. us briefly review the basic points lved: 1) the U. S. plans to build e new battleships; 2) the United ernment Employees want one of e ships named after a Negro.

hus, it has been completely ig- d that, were the honor conferred ditions of bitter discrimination in Navy would not be affected in least. We would have the ironical tacle of a ship named after some t man in which members of his race are permitted only to serve kitchen mechanics and glorified ts for the rest of the crew.

appears, then, that the U. G. E. d better expend its energy in a t to break down segregation and rimination in the nation's arm- forces, rather than demanding ty honors from a prejudiced y Department.

IOUSLY CONSIDER NEGRO SOLDIER

With the commencement of open ilities in Europe, the role of the erican Negro in the U. S. Army Navy is a subject of serious con- ration for all colored citizens in- sted in the advancement and the ity of the group. During the several years, the place of Afro- ericans has steadily diminished e Army, where colored men have nguished themselves since revo- nary days.

very interesting and informa- letter received by the EAGLE week (the full text appears else- e in this edition) from Captain ce H. Marchbanks, U. S. Army, red, stated: "I served nearly 44 s in the Army . . . When I first ted in 1895 we had a small 'Yankee Army'. Nearly all the old- er officers had seen service in the Civil War. They had served in the Union Army, and were sympathetic toward colored soldiers whom they had fought to free from physical slav- ery . . . It's different now, most of those in authority in the Army seem to think the colored man can serve best in the servant class. No new regiments have been authorized for the colored man since 1867, except two quartermaster regiments. No colored men are being trained in the Artillery, Engineers, or Air Corps in the Regular Army . . . "

It is strange to note the increas- ing intolerance on the part of Army officials since the end of the World War of 1914-'18. The chivalry and courage of black troops under fire is one of the epic stories of that great conflict. Rather than aiding the Negro soldier's position in the Army, however, this gallant exhibition seemingly has boomeranged. It ap- pears that officials today are vigi- lantly guarding against any such he- roic repetition. Perhaps the great fallacies concerning the valor of black fighting men were too serious- ly challenged 20 years ago and the injustice of Army discrimination re- vealed too clearly in all its folly.

At any rate, the attitude of mili- tary authorities in the nation is to be one of the Negro's greatest problems during the year 1940. There is no agency of democratic government so prone to intolerance and bigotry. There is no branch of American ser- vice in which the poisons of race and social segregation are so repeatedly concocted. Disciplinary standards, necessary in any fighting machine, have made the battle against Army injustice a bitter and difficult one. Young Negro soldiers may not pro- test discrimination to which they are subjected because of the threat of insubordination charges. In a demo- cratic order, the Army is forced to exist on an arbitrary and dictatorial basis. The word of superior officers must not be questioned by any pro- per soldier — even though orders are obviously unjust and obviously stu- pid.

VOTES DON'T COUNT

Another great disadvantage with which civic groups are faced when they attempt to investigate Army practices is the fact that military big-wigs are among the few officials in our democratic society whom we cannot reach with the ballot. In- deed, there is only one focal point of authority for both Army and Navy through which the voter may strike — and that is the President of the United States. But this exalted be- ing suffers from political astigma- tism and cannot see the injustice and tyranny of discrimination in the nation's armed forces. He cannot perceive the stupendous threat to democratic procedure when, for in- stance, a young man of high mental and physical qualifications is denied an advanced course in Military Sci- ence at the University of California at Los Angeles simply because of his racial identification.

Of course, it is useless to pretend that Mr. Roosevelt is the only Presi- dent of the United States who has suffered with such blindness when reviewing the policies of our Army and Navy Departments. But Mr. Roosevelt, more than any other ex- ecutive the nation has ever seen, cries louder in the name of a "New Deal". And since, as his support- ers contend, this is the Roosevelt era of liberal thought and progres- siveness, it is hoped that some opti- cal miracle may occur to clarify the President's military vision. Outside a divided and indifferent Congress, he is our only hope. The legion of bigoted commanders in both Army and Navy are directly accountable to him alone. With his support, they can defy the body politic of the nation itself.

We await presidential action. We await the factual realization of all the fine, noble, democratic senti- ments expressed during the past sev- en years by Mr. Roosevelt. For him to act in this matter would be proof of the greatest and rarest form of liberal thought — since it would be in defense of a weak, unpopular and persecuted minority.

We are waiting . . .

LITTLE MAN WHAT NOW?

• OTHER PAPERS SAY:

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People made public the other day a letter from a group of Georgia Negroes asking aid.

"We want you all to look into everything to get liberty and Freedom for us," the letter read. "All of us Colored People are praying to God that the Anti-Lynching bill will pass."

It is not too soon to call the attention of Congress to the fact that his appeal ought to be answered at this session. More than a majority of Congress was inclined to do so last session. The good impulse was stifled by a filibuster in the Senate.

The test came on a motion to put a stop to the endless talking and to vote on the Wagner-Van Nuys bill. It would have made a county wherein a lynching took place liable to civil damages to be tried in Federal courts and peace officers liable to fines for failing to do their duty in defending victims from mobs. There were forty-two Senators who voted to curb the debate and only forty-six against. Competent observers were sure the bill, if brought to an actual vote, would have passed.

There never was a time in the history of this country when the equal enforcement of law was more important, for such enforcement is one of the distinguishing marks of democracy. To pass the Wagner-Van Nuys bill or its equivalent would strengthen this ideal by expressing the considered support of it by the representatives of the whole nation. It would provide protection not only for Negroes but for white men and women, too, for lynchings are not confined to any race or to any section. Congress wants to take steps to stop lynchings. It should do it.

The LAUNDRYMAN

TIME MARCHES ON. Already the new year of 1940 is upon us, pregnant with Hope, Fear, with dark Foreboding as to what its slowly unwinding scroll may hold in store for us, and the world.

It finds this twentieth century civilization of Man in a mighty turmoil; earthquakes taking a heavy toll of human life, Dictators and Premiers hurling threats of deadly war, bewildering diplomats holding secret caucuses behind closed doors, while millions of the Voiceless Masses stand arrayed in battle armor, pledged to maim and destroy one another. The white man's boasted civilization hangs trembling in the balance, poised upon the brink of a precipice.

What the outcome will be, no one knows, save HE of whom inspired Milton sang, "Thou who sat'st brooding on this vast abyss and mad'st it pregnant."

In our own free America much that is history-making is being written upon our judicial pages. In a record making decision, Dean J. M. Landis of the Harvard Law School announced that the evidence presented in the case of Harry Bridges, west coast CIO leader, does not warrant deportation on grounds that he is a Communist. Landis further stated that although it may be admitted that Bridges' aims are energetically radical, the proof or evidence submitted, failed to establish that the methods he sought to employ to realize them, are other than those permitted by the framework of Democratic and Constitutional government.

The findings of Dean Landis are unquestionably a triumph for the cause of Free Speech, and the right to THINK OUT OF THE RUT. It has become a common custom nowadays for Conventional thinkers to instantly brand anyone who differs with them, a RED. The word or better, its meaning, has been stretched into a coat of Joseph colors, used as a Scarlet letter to damn and disgrace anyone bold enough to do his or her own thinking, regardless of the ravings of Radio spellbinders and subsidized pressmen.

It was largely through the OUT OF THE RUT thinking of the Fathers of the French Revolution that we who live in America today enjoy freedom of speech and action.

In rendering this decision Judge Landis has built another bulwark, a second Maginot line for the defense of Liberty, Free Speech and Free Thought. America should be thankful for Judge Landis. We need more men like him.

Great Britain's troubles increase. Four hundred million Hindus are clamoring for Independence as the price for their aid to England in this latest World War. Ireland is now in a state of ferment, due to threats of an uprising by the outlawed Irish Republican army. Britain's favorite policy of "Divide and Rule" has kept Ireland in turmoil—and subjection—for the last half century. Six counties in the Northern part recognize themselves as being a part of the British Empire, while 25 Southern counties function as an independent state with Eamon De Valera as President. The Irish Republican army aims at re-union of the two sections, thereby making all Ireland an independent state. May luck be with them. Nicely timed for psychological effect upon her native African subjects, was the elevation of Kiwannuka, a native African of the Bugunda tribe, to the Bishopric of the Roman Catholic church. He was consecrated last Sunday at Westminster cathedral in London, during which service he intoned Pontificial High Mass. The occasion marked the first time a Negro has been so elevated in the Catholic church since the 15th century. One can hardly help pondering why, after a lapse of 500 years, this particular time was chosen for the conferring of such unusual honors. British diplomacy is shrewd and calculating, but she must remember that "You can't fool all of the people all the time."

Wm. Pickens jr. Arrested for Forgery

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (ANP)—William Pickens Jr., prominent young lawyer, was arrested in his offices last week on charges of second degree forgery and larceny. When arraigned before Judge Donnellen in general sessions court he pleaded not guilty.

According to the district attorney's office, the young attorney allegedly gave an insurance company general releases bearing forged signatures of clients he had represented in accident claims in two instances. After receiving the checks, they were cashed bearing forged signatures of clients, it was charged.

What About Us, Uncle?

From the Republican National Committee.

PRESIDENT Roosevelt has been loud in his plea that the foreign dictator nations call off their wars. He was exceptionally loud spoken in his plea for Finland.

We agree with him in principle. Any true American and exponent of democracy cannot truthfully approve of the "big fellow taking what the little fellow owns." We as a minority people certainly must be in the front ranks or those demanding a recognition of the rights of others but we still insist that President Roosevelt could do much more if he would raise his voice here at home for the recognition of full citizenship rights of Negroes.

Why should Negroes be secretly excluded from the wide scale industrial recvery? Why does not President Roosevelt call attention of the rest of the nation and the industrialists in particular to the fact that the recovery of America must include the industrial emancipation of Negro workers?

Why must President Roosevelt remain silent on the equalization of educational standards for Negroes of the South? Why must he remain quiet as to the need for passage of the anti-lynching bill? Why must he remain silent at the brazeness of the Ku Klux Klan which is again starting out on a race terroristic program?

We call upon President Roosevelt to not extend too great a hand across seas before he extends a much needed one here at home. We want to see the establishment of a true democracy here before we begin a hue and cry for it abroad. We further believe that we are heading for war when we interfere too much in European affairs—that is why the Neutrality law was passed.

President Roosevelt must remember that in 1940 Negroes of this Nation will loudly ask—"WHAT ABOUT US, UNCLE?"

"Land of the Noble Free"

BY LALE LANE

(From the New York Age)

A few years ago a high water mark of the NAACP campaign against lynching was a full-page ad in the New York Times on America's disgrace. It was an expensive proposition, costing about $1700; yet wherever The Times went, there went also an indictment of American justice. Almost exultingly, one read our recital of wrongs with the feeling—"this tells the world."

Now comes Bernarr MacFadden with another full-page ad for a "Night of Light" on Christmas Eve; an appeal which, in contrast to the NAACP advertisement, seems ludicrous. To quote Mr. McFadden—"What I propose to my fellow Americans is that we re-dedicate our hearts and minds to the purposes of democracy—by lighting every light in America on Christmas Eve."

In order to get official support for his proposal, he sent a telegram similar to the following to every governor and mayor in the country, to religious, fraternal and labor groups:

"As America's answer to the black-out threatening the world a black-out of freedom as well as light—will you proclaim Christmas Eve "A Night of Light," calling on citizens to keep every room of every home and building fully lighted, with blinds wide open from dusk to midnight, I believe this would dramatically contrast America's freedom to the darkness which enshrouds not only Europe's cities, but her democratic institutions and would re-charge our determination to keep America beyond the reach of dictatorship."
—Bernarr MacFadden.

High school youngsters who were asked to suggest more effective ways of defending democracy, flippantly asked, "who's going to pay the electric bill? How much does the electric company pay MacFadden for his idea?"

In all of us there is an almost primitive response to light which is enkindled equally as readily by the street bonfire as by Broadway's illumination. That glow, however, is purely emotional and as transitory as the fireflies. Unless MacFadden's "Night of light" becomes a steady spotlight directed on the hidden purposes and actions of people as well as on evil conditions, it will serve no other purpose than that of enriching the gas and electric companies.

Nevertheless, I should be happy could I think of as ingenious a plan for getting more light especially on some suestions that disturb me. First and foremost, I should like illumination on the defense of the Russian attask on Finland but our distinguished country man, Paul Robeson. The news dispatch does not give a very lucid account of Mr. Robeson's views, but two explanations can be gathered: First, that in Russia, Paul Robeson found an atmosphere in which he was free from the prejudices and rebuffs of America. Certainly a condition on the credit side of the Russian ledger. Secondly, criticism of Russia will shortly place liberals in the pro-fascist, pro-Mussolini camps: "certainly that is no place for a liberal to be," adds Mr. Robeson.

One can easily understand that the honor and prestige accorded Paul Robeson in Russia would make him sympathetic toward that country. Gratitude does not demand however, that one suspend all weighing values especially when one's remarks are used to give directions to the thinking of millions of Negroes here and abroad.

The second explanation that liberals may find themselves in a pro-fascist camp is a type of logic unworthy of a mind honored with a Phi Beta Key from Rutgers.

What I should like to have Mr. Robeson answer particularly are these questions:

What are the possible consequences of the Soviet-Nazi Pact upon the principal and practice of racial equality?

How is the espousal of Russia's policy of aggression likely to affect the struggle of American and colonial Negroes against the discrimination and exploitation by stronger groups?

LITTLE INCIDENT

Dear Editor:

I am writing to tell you a little incident that will please you. The substitute mailman on our route is a very fine and intelligent Negro. The other day when he handed me my mail he said "Are you the Edythe Copeland that wrote that article in the EAGLE"? (Letters to the Ed., Aug. 31, 1939). I said "Yes" and he said he "sure liked it." The following day, (my husband, who is a semi-invalid, sometimes goes to Manchester playground to play checkers), a very fine Negro gentleman, who comes to the club to read, heard my husband telling a friend of his at the checker table that I had been with one paper four years, and he, the Negro gentleman, came to my husband and said "Is Edythe Copeland your wife?" Upon being told "yes" he said. "Well, I sure did enjoy her fine article in the EAGLE, about the Negro Race." I thought the two incidents would please you.

I should be glad to give you articles at low rates.

Sincerely,
Edythe I. Copeland

THOUGHTFUL COMMENT

Dear Editor:

I want to congratulate the business people, all agencies and you that are responsible for securing employment for so many capable persons as salespeople, etc., in the Central Avenue area during the Holiday season.

By comparison with other areas I received the same polite, efficient service as elsewhere which shows when given an opportunity, they can prove an asset to this or any area where polite help is wanted.

May the years to come be better for us all along business and economic lines.

Very truly yours for success,
SAMUEL WM. THOMPSON

Catalina Island,

Dear Editor:

Wishing you a happy New Year from the Magic Isle. Though the Pacific ocean separates us, my rememberance is of you always. My guiding light is the EAGLE. It keeps me posted on all the race news; I would not be without it.

Strange as it seems, there are only five families (colored) on the Island, and they all subscribe to the EAGLE: Clarence Paulfright, Clynton Durham, Jimmie Wilson, Burley Stanford.

They all join me in wishing you "Happy New Year!"

Sincerely,
MATT LAWS.

• POST NEWS

Lt. Col. James M. Beck Post No. 2651, Veterans of Foreign Wars, meets every first and third Wednesday in each month at the Patriotic Hall, Moody Staten, Commander; Leon Stewart, Quarter Master, Robert Culpepper, Adjutant. Office and Club Room at 5403 S. Central avenue.

A Happy New Year and Best Wishes to All.

During the past year we have continued growing and have extended our influence for good. Let's face the New Year with a resolution to be more useful not only to ourselves, but to our organization and the communities in which we live as well. During the holiday season the Post and Auxiliary were very active. Dec. 23, we sponsored a Kiddies Christmas party at the Patriotic Hall where hundreds of children enjoyed a real party. Dec. 26, we took an excellent show to Sawtelle where more than 1000 veterans enjoyed what has been said was the best show on the reservation. Thanks to Mrs. Ruby Goodwin for getting together that very fine group of artists, who donated their services.

An important part of the show was the performance of Mrs. Alma Hightower's kiddies. On. Dec. 28, the Auxiliary entertained the Post and friends at a Christmas party at the beautiful home of Comrade and Sister Doc Harrel, 2943 S. Western avenue.

We are happy to note that Comrade Robert Culpepper is convalescing at his home at 1375 E. 56th street after some five weeks in the hospital at Sawtelle where he underwent several operations. We regret to report that Comrade Harry McCormack is sick in Ward 23, Sawtelle.

We have started our membership drive with a "blitzkreig", aiming to bring in 100 new members and to reenlist 100 percent of the old ones before the April election. Don't forget the National Encampment comes to L. A. this year, and don't forget the VFW has begun the pension. drive. "It's not up to general alone, nor the army as a whole, but to the everlasting teamwork of every blooming soul."

P. S. The Club is under new management. Come up to see us sometime.

Still Time to Take Part in 'TB' Fight

Approximately 100,000 post cards, reminding residents of Los Angeles that there still is time to take part in the vital year-round fight against tuberculosis were mailed last week by the Combined Christmas Seal Fund.

The Fund mailed Christmas Seals to most residents of this area on Dec. 1 to raise money to finance the work of the Los Angeles Tuberculosis and Health Association and the Los Angeles County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

"We have always relied on late contributions to bring the Seal Sale up to the amount required to finance the tuberculosis prevention work of the two Associations," Roy V. Reppy, chairman of the Fund, said. "Failure to receive these late payments might seriously prejudice the fight against tuberculosis in this area."

"Seals frequently are mislaid or forgotten in the holiday rush," he said, "but they may be used any time during the year to spread knowledge of the dangers of tuberculosis and to focus attention on our control program.

"If you have not yet contributed, please search your homes and offices for sheets of Seals you may have overlooked, and forward your contributions to the Combined Christmas Seal Fund, 725 S. Spring street."

In San Francisco, one can't work in districts and if a policyholder calls for his agent or leaves word that he's ready to pay his premium, Curry doesn't wait to deliver the message. He goes and gets it for the agent.

What about reports. Curry makes them at the end of each day and turns in money, report and all the following morning. He never makes one of those "Lend me a pencil to write these down" reports. Everything is there when he walks into the office.

I could go on and on about this John F. Curry, but there'll be another time and other space to tell you more . . . Suffice it to say that he's a "swell guy" along with all these other things and has an income that most men dream about. Incidentally, he's from Georgia . . . came west to San Francisco in 1920. Mr. Curry has a wife and three lovely daughters . . . and a 1940 Dodge . . . He intends to stay in the field until he's old, then he would like, maybe, an office spot.

ON SICK LIST TWO YEARS

Dear Sirs;

I have thought of writing you, thanking you with all of my heart for the splendid way you and your Company have responded in my behalf.

I have been insured by the Golden State for eleven years. There have been times when members of the Race have made disparaging remarks about the integrity and trustworthiness of Negro business. I have always believed that remarks of this kind are unfounded.

I have been on the sick list for more than twenty-three months and the Golden State Mutual has paid to me in sick benefits more than $490.

I write this testimany not only to let you know that I am proud that I dropped all other insurances in preferance to Golden State, but also to offer these words for publication. I do so in the hope that prospective applicants will be encouraged to do likewise.

January Is Anniversary Of Funeral Policy

January, 1940 marks the second anniversary of the Golden State Mutual Funeral Benefit policy declared by both undertakers and beneficiaries to be one of the most valuable policies issued by the Company.

Since its issuance in 1938, nine beneficiaries have been paid death claims on the policy upwards of $3,000 in addition to claims paid on ordinary and monthly life policies and has contributed towards bringins the total claims paid since organization to over $950,000.00.

POPULAR PROVISIONS

The success of the sale of the funeral benefit contract is due largely to its liberal provision and the fact that the amount cannot be assigned for any debt of the policyholder other than funeral expenses. Beneficiaries and surviving dependents have enjoyed the

The Golden State Mutual's "Go Forward" Program For 1940

For several years the directors, agency department and employees of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company have been looking for the time when the Company would reach one of two major goals in its corporate history. Strange as it seems, with the help of thousands of satisfied policyholders BOTH GOALS WILL BE ATTAINED IN 1940.

For fourteen and one-half years, every member of the Company has been looking forward to the time when the Golden State would have an Annual Income of One-Half Million Dollars. They have also been looking forward to the time when the Assets of the Company would exceed One-Half Million Dollars. Both goals are possible in 1940. The Company's Forecast is that its INCOME AND ASSETS FOR 1940 WILL EACH BE IN EXCESS OF ONE HALF MILLION DOLLARS!

Just what will this mean to the policyholders of the Company?

First, increased Income makes possible improved service to policyholders; increased employment; and greater pride in the accomplishment of their own business.

Second, One-Half Million Dollars in Assets mean greater strength; larger reserves for the protection of all policyholders; and more funds to invest in first mortgages and other desirable securities.

With the help of its loyal policyholders the Golden State Mutual has travelled a long way since July, 1925 when its Home Office was accommodated in a 10x14 room with one branch office. TODAY, the Company occupies the entire 8,000 square feet of space in its own modern Home Office building, and operates ten branches in California and Illinois. From one man's idea and a hope, the Golden State Mutual now employs more than 200—a principle of self help.

In 1940, the Leap Year, it is the forecast of the Company that it will "leap" to the successful accomplishment of its joint goals—$500,000 in Income and $500,000 in Assets. Golden State service to its thousands of policyholders and to thousands of new policyholders will make this forecast possible in 1940.

For a greater race institution, for a better service to all, for increased employment, let's all join hands and GO FORWARD WITH GOLDEN STATE MUTUAL IN 1940!

Each man showed a substantial monthly increase in new business throughout the year in every department, minimum lapse and claim ratios and all around ability in serving policyholders and working with their associates. Aside from having increased their several incomes considerably, each "Monarch" received a $35.00 cash award.

benefits of regular life policies to a greater extent than ever because policyholders have been thoughtful enough to secure the funeral contract. Undertakers have been greatly relieved because payment of expense for embalment, services and interment have been assured, and beneficiaries have been spared the embarrassment of any litigation that another type of policy might have been involved in.

As officials reviewed the favor with which the policy has met they credited its practical benefits and prompt payment of CASH for funeral expense together with the fact that the policy is available on the easy monthly deposit plan as the principal reasons for its success.

Honorable mention and checks for $10.00 each were awarded Edward Ford and Leland Whitney of Los Angeles and Calvin Saunders of Fresno who failed to make

After securing plates for the color process, the entire lot of calendars was printed on the new Multilith machine recently added to the Golden State Mutual printing department. This marks the first time in the history of the Company that it has printed its own calendar. Not only that, Golden State enjoys the distinction of being one of the few insurance companies in the country equipped to turn out such work thus opening up more and varied avenues for increased employment.

Lecturer From India Among Visitors

The visitors' register for the last quarter of 1939 is filled with imposing names from all parts of the country and all walks of life. Not the least imposing among them is that of A. Phillip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, who, in 1938, was called the most "dangerous" Negro in America because of his power with labor. Mr. Randolph is internationally known for the improved working conditions he has brought about in his sphere.

During the Yuletide season, the home office was visited by Raju Patel of India, lecturer for the International Youth Congress, in company with Robert L. Chasson of the University of California at Berkeley.

RIVERSIDE HAS DAY

On October 26, L. V. Jiggets, Riverside representative, brought a motorcade from Riverside and San Bernardino to visit the home office. These enthusiastic policyholders and friends were guests for the afternoon and much inspired by their visit.

Among them were Mmes. Myrtle L. Taylor, E. D. Streeter, Edna A. Williams, Hettie Carter, Cornilla Strickland, Ellen Wiley, Fannie Johnigan of Riverside; Mmes. J. E. Murdock and Harriet Brown of San Bernardino. Mrs. E. Witherspoon of Los Angeles joined friends in the group.

Others signing the register during the quarter included the following Angelenos: Mrs. Osee Coleman, Lester Davis, Rose Bairpaugh, Rev. S. M. Beans, Alfred Darby, Prof. and Mrs. David R. Keys, Edna H. Goddardd, Mrs. P. Bailey, and Mabel Berry From outside the home office city are registered: Mrs Veryl W. Reid, Seguin, Texas; Mrs. Vivian Johnson, Berkeley; D. L. Adams, Dennison, Texas; Charles Y. LETTER BOX

SAYS GOLDEN STATE SERVICE LEADS ALL

Gentlemen:

I wish to state here briefly what it would take more words than I have at my command to convey, and more time than you could spare to listen—my deep appreciation and sincere gratitude to your great Company.

I was struck down by an automobile one year ago last October, sustaining a very serious injury which has confined me to my bed ever since and almost cost me the loss of a leg. Four ambulance rides, care in two private hospitals, an operation by two surgeons: Dr. Frank R. Whiteman and Dr. M. George Henry, bone specialist; numerous X-Rays, nursing care and countless other expenses that follow as a natural result of a grave injury—these were all made possible and only possible by reason of an accident policy that I was fortunate enough to carry with the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company. My family and I realize more and more each day the inestimable value of this policy.

I also want to pay tribute to your Claim department, headed by that wizard, Mr. Hunigan. In my experience in the newspaper field I have had many years' observance of the workings of insurance companies as well as several years' actual dealing, and I can truthfully say that the Golden State service leads them all. They not only settle their claims according to the terms of the policy but do so with astounding promptness.

I am watching with interest your rapid growth and development and I long to see Insurance Company will be waving in every state in our Union.

Sincerely yours,
Signed: IRA SMITH,
742 E. 31st Street, Los Angeles.

A VOICE FROM LOUISIANA

Dear Sirs;

I received the check for $7.00 and really appreciate the very nice letter that accompanied the check.

My friends here are carried away with the insurance and are very sorry that you don't have agents on this end.

I am better and take this opportunity of thanking you again.

Gratefully yours,
PRISCILLA LINTON,
Jeanerette, Louisiana.

REPORTS POLICYHOLDER RECOVERING

Dear Sirs;

Thanks to your Company for your promptness in serving my husband, William Evans, while confined to the S. P. Hospital on account of illness. Many thanks to the Company.

I was just over to visit him today. He is much improved and I think he will be able to get out of bed for a while soon.

Very truly yours,
MRS. WILLIAM EVANS,
Oakland.

PAYS ON HOME WHILE ILL

Dear Sirs;

I would like to thank the Golden State for the weekly checks I have received during the two periods of illness I have had this year. With the money I have received from

AGENCY CORNER

WHEREIN YOU ARE INVITED TO A HUDDLE WITH GOLDEN STATE'S TOP MONARCH

By H. F. C.

I do not think there is a man or woman serving Golden State Mutual in any capacity who does not know the Company synonym for consistency, the agent's star to shoot at, and anybody's word for worthiness or graciousness. The word, the star, the man is John F. Curry.

Friday, December 29, J. F. Curry came to the home office with the Oakland-San Fancisco "Bears", victorious team in the annual "football" production contest. After the rally and sundry presentations that attend the honoring of champions, Curry had time to spend some thirty minutes in the publicity corner where we went into a huddle on why he does what he does year after year . . . and how.

As you would expect, the gentleman is very modest. The only way to really get him to talk is to convince him that it's for the sake of other people . . . on the field, and policyholders, too. Oother people are the sum total of Curry's weakness . . . and strength.

He entered the insurance field because he liked meeting and learning people. The opportunities for meeting new people seemed to him unlimited in the insurance business, and he didn't forget that the income was unlimited, too! So Mr Curry threw aside his shoe repair apron that spelled a steady salaried job with the largest chain of Coast repair shops and took to insurance. . . to Golden State Mutual Life Insurance.

"And why, Mr. Curry, did you choose Golden State?", I asked.

"Because I was looking for a Company that would allow me to render the type of service to my people that I thought they wanted and needed, . . . the kind they were not used to receiving," said Mr. Curry quite definitely and looked at me as if to say "Next?".

"You talk."

"About what?"

"About you."

"Well, what do you want me to say?"

"Just talk . . . go ahead, tell me how you do it."

"Anything special?"

"No, not special . . . just anything. You just talk and don't pay any attention to me." I floundered a little and wondered how this interview was really going to end.

Mr. Curry began on the inspiration it gave him and other "Bears" to visit the home office . . . on what it meant to see so many people (he said girls) working and looking good. And I began to get ready for a long breath when he mentioned the advantage the men in the home office district had who could bring their prospects to see what was being done with income. Then he said, "The fairness and stability of the Company and the confidence it gives both the agent and the policyholder counts most. When you can get fair consideration, half the work is done."

Then I knew Mr. Curry was off on the track I wanted him on and settled to listening.

He began with seeing the "When the Company sets a goal, each man has a part to play in making it and I've found that day by day planning my work is the best way to do my part . . . and I want to do more than my part. I aim to overdo it."

People get the first consideration with Curry (I feel that I know him well enough now to leave the "Mr." off.) He plans to see a certain number of persons each day, policyholders, prospects . . . and some he has never seen before. And if a prospect says, "See me in three months", no matter how badly he might want that business for the current contest, Curry thanks him and writes it down . . . and lets the prospect do the forgetting Before the three months is up, that "Monarch" of all agents calls to remind the prospect of their engagement and keeps it. After all, he philosophizes, "When a man is unable to take insurance and it is forced upon him, it is liable to lapse almost as soon as he gets it." All agents know how that lapse ratio affects "Monarch" standing.

As soon as he has the prospect lined up, Curry finds out what type of insurance he already has and what kind he is naturally inclined toward . . . he lets the prospect commit himself before offering him any insurance program If the man fails to take a $1000 ordinary and can afford only the smallest amount the Company allows, Curry writes that . . . and builds it as the policyholder grows in his appreciation for insurance and in ability to afford more

He never encourages Accident and Health insurance for a person who doesn't carry a life policy. In fact, he doesn't like to write it. I wanted to know why and interrupted him.

"Because," said our top-notch agent, "There is no natural death benefit in a straight policy. If a man dies, the beneficiary without remembering it was a straight A. & H. policy, will tell friends and family, 'He was insured in Golden State and they didn't pay him anything. And that's the cause of a lot of confusion. It doesn't give the best service to the policyholder and doesn't help the company."

So Curry tries for a combination, and usually wins. Then everybody's happy. No matter how small the policy, he always reads over the contract with the holder especially the part about claims, grace periods, any part that will affect his getting benefits. It saves a lot of trouble later. He gets acquainted with the entire insurance pragram of everyone who's transferred to him. Says he has written one fourth of his business in that way without belittling the work of a former agent in any way. "This is a fine program Mr. So and So has given you. but don't you think you could afford this now?"

Since I mentioned the other agent, you ought to know that Mr. Curry sometimes collects as much as one fourth of

San Francisco-Oakland "Bears" Have Field Day in Home Office

The roaring "Bears"—San Francisco - Oakland Staff — were home office guests on Friday, December 29. Ten of the popular team, including superintendent A. E. Hackshaw, and the Monarch of "Monarchs", J. F. Curry, descended on the Los Angeles office to take home the Walt Gordon trophy and pennant as winners of the fall production drive.

The day began with a rally program in the Los Angeles district office agency rooms with E. J. Johnson as emcee and A. J. Williams leading the singing. Superintendents of the Los Angeles staffs greeted the victorious "Bears" and their greetings were followed with singing 'Our Sturdy Oakland Bears".

Presentations were made to Thurman Brooms, winner of second prize in the Football contest; and the Bay area turkey winners. The pennant for the greatest percentage of games won during the contest was presented to the "Bears" by Secretary-treasurer Norman O. Houston, and the Walt Gordon trophy (while the "Lions" looked on) by Vice President-Director of Agencies George A. Beavers, Jr.

A. E. Hackshaw responded for his stalwarts and each Bear was given an opportunity to 'roar' before President William Nickerson presented the Monarch awards. John F. Curry, San Francisco special representative, was the hero of the occasion having maintained his standing as a Monarch for four years. He was presented with a ruby for his pin and the thirty-five dollar cash prize. Los Angeles Monarchs stood for recognition, having already received thir pins at the Christmas program.

Following the rally, the "Bears" as a group and individually made themselves at home on a tour of the home office with everyone outdoing himself to see that the honored guests missed nothing. Pictures in front of the home office building ended the morning activity. A leisurely spent afternoon rested the group for the party hosted by the L. A. office Friday evening.

Clerical Awards Instituted In 1939

Striving to increase efficiency in every department along with creating new employment opportunities, Golden State Mutual Life awarded three members of its clerical staff with cash awards at the close of 1939. The young women were awarded for having not missed a single day at their desks during the year. Awards were announced by Norman O. Huoston, secretary-treasurer.

Those receiving awards were Mrs. Ione Daniels who has been employed in the home office for nearly fourteen years, Misses Barbara Gordon and Ruby McKnight, who both live in Pasadena and are also employed in the home office.

Concurrently with the awards, Mr. Houston announced that all clerks would be paid for each day of sick leave not taken during the coming year and receive full remuneration in addition to the regular Christmas bonus.

Two Hoodoo Drives For '39

Drives Net 1100 Apps

January 13 and October 13 of 1939, chosen as national Black Cat Days by the National Accident and Health Review, official organ of the Accident and dHealth Insurance Association, during which companies throughout the nation competed for accident and health business, were red letter days for Golden State Mutual Life.

Golden State Mutual not only led the State of California in both drives, but ranked fifth in the nation and was the only Negro company in the country, according to available records, officially participating in the drive. A total of 1100 applications were written by Golden State men and sixty-two Black Cat Club membership certificates awarded for a minimum of thirteen applications in one day.

The records established on these two days reflected the extent to which Golden State has advanced not only in the favor of the public but in the calibre of men who are daily on the field to serve the insurance needs of thousands of policyholders. Officials see drives like these, especially Numerous expressions from friends, policyholders in Golden State Mutual, and co-workers attested to Mr. Hunigan's popularity during his illness.

Back at his desk since the Thanksgiving holiday, the claim supervisor is once more hitting his steady stride in serving Golden State policyholders and dlooks forward to more opportunities to serve.

MOB MEASURE PASSES HOUSE

ANTI-MOB BILL PASSES HOUSE BY VOTE OF 251-133; FEAR FILIBUSTER

Rep. Arthur W. Mitchell Accuses Repubs of Trying to "Buy Back Negro Vote"

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 11.—The Gavagan anti-lynching bill passed the House of Representatives yesterday to the tune of a resounding 251-133 vote.

Climaxing two days of bitter debate, during which Rep. Arthur W. Mitchell, (D. Ill.), only Negro member in Congress, tossed an almost fatal monkey wrench, yesterday's tally chalked up one of the major victories of the measure's lengthy congressional record.

House debate struck a verbal mine when Rep. Mitchell rose to denounce Republican support of the bill with the shouted challenge: 'You are trying to buy back the Negro vote!' The following explosion rocked official Washington from bow to stern and sent an apprehensive shudder through national officers of the NAACP that might have accounted for yesterday's mysterious disturbance on the seismograph at Cal Tech.

"You won't let us work in your factories," declared Mitchell, "but you come here and hug and kiss us for our vote. It is time now for both parties to lay politics aside.

"I want to remind you that while your grandfathers and fathers were engaged in battle to keep us slaves, we were loyal to you. We are loyal now. We are the group that provides the victims. You are the group that provides the mobs. We ask only to be protected from these mobs and we will be satisfied with nothing less."

Surprise was expressed today that Republican support of the bill survived Mitchell's biting attack. Rep. George H. Bender (R. Ohio), stated that Mitchell had made the most effective speech against the measure.

TOUGH SLEDDING AHEAD

Southern Senate Democrats, meanwhile, disclosed a plan to "pigeon-hole" the measure in the Senate Judiciary Committee. Senator Tom Connally (D. Tex), who led successful filibusters against the measure in 1935 and again in 1937, announced that "extensive hearings" would be necessary before the Judiciary Committee.

If and when the bill reaches the floor of the Senate another filibuster is expected.

However, NAACP executives will stage a bitter battle against filibuster methods this year. Already a plan is on foot to flood the country with "Stop Lynching" buttons during the time the bill is being debated in the Senate, according to word from Daisy E. Lamplin, Field Secretary and Director of Button Sales.

The executive committee of the local branch, meeting at the 28th Street branch YMCA Monday night, voted to communicate with local Washington representatives to act favorably on the bill.

DEBATE HIGHLIGHTS

Aside from Mitchell's explosion, other highlights of the two-day House debate featured the

EVEN with a greater awareness of his white American brother's concern in keeping him in the dog house in the Army, the Navy, industrial and political life of the Republic, the American Negro remains loyal in every respect to the nation he helped build.

The advent of communism in the United States met with equal antagonism from Negro and white Americans. It was not until the promulgators of the doctrine of Carl Marx pointed out that the white and black workers in the industrial life of this nation are not separated by a difference in pigmentation, but by a few individuals whose greed for wealth sees the promotion of race prejudice as a medium of exploitation of both groups.

So, like the fiddler who cried "On With the Dance" while Rome burned, the practitioners of American race hatreds are still shouting, 'On with the doctrine of race restrictions in all the walks of American life!"

It has been said that the communist party as an integral part of the body politic views the fourteen or fifteen million Black Americans as an army of potential recruits not to be scoffed at. And while the average colored citizen remains loyal to the principals of the American doctrine there is a hand-to-ear attitude on the part of the college attending Negro as he listens to the program of Lenin.

In America there are three social worlds: the wealthy, the middle-class and the poor. Likewise in black America, with the double difference, however, that the black order is proportionately tiny in the higher brackest and, by the same token, tremendous in the lowest.

Unlike the West Indies, there is, supposedly, no caste system in this country. But, aided and abetted by whites in the three first social set-ups and definitely for political purposes, Black Americans have created a caste system that keeps them divided.

This system has sustained for more than a half century, but it represents the old school of thought in Negro life and is on its way out. The Negro aristocrat in the first social division is a fine imitation of his white counterpart, except that in his vigilance to keep on top he is apt to be more drastic in keeping his race brother subdued.

Prior to the coming of communist influence in the Negro's house of politics, which was two-thirds Republican and one-third Democratic, little thought was manifested in the question "How are Negroes made and un-made politically?"

One of the first tasks undertaken by the communists was to point out that there were no benefits to be derived by Negroes' affiliation with either big political party. So radical were the offers of the communist party to colored members that they often dazzled and delighted new converts.

Among the most appealing of communist attractions to many Negroes was the will-o'-the wisp of "social equality". Many were completely captivated at the notion of free intermingling.

Now, of course, most fair-minded people agree that free intermingling of all citizens is the only sound basis upon which a democratic nation can survive, despite the fact that many states hold anti-intermarriage laws—among them, California. Thus, there can be no objection to the communists' blatant offer of "social equality". However, the manner of presentation struck a foul note that denied any meaning of true friendship. There was a hint of vague interracial daring in the communist social functions that tantalized Negroes suffering from disguised inferiority complexes.

High ranking Negro members of the communist party ran for such exalted positions as vice-president of the United States of America, and for a time it appeared that communism would make serious inroads upon the black electorate.

However, events of the past several months have almost completely discredited the pro-Stalin communist party. This is

"Yappi Bandits" Go on Trial Here

The corridors of the Hall of Justice were packed to capacity this week as spectators gathered in the Court room of Superior Judge Thomas L. Ambrose to hear the trial of four men, termed by the police as the "Yappi Bandits," because they allegedly yelled "yappi" after terrorizing their asserted victims.

The four men are Ernest Mondine, George Joseph, Adolph Hightower and Stephen Sheppard. The men are accused of having robbed a Japanese Grocery on the night of September 12.

Yesterday, Kiyo Koga took the stand and pointed out three of the men as having robbed her store, located at the corner of 35th and Denker avenues.

Under cross examination by Defense Attorney Walter L. Gordon, Jr., representing Joseph, she admitted being unable to identify any of the men two days after the crime when brought to her place by police officers. The trial is expected to end sometime early next week. The other men are represented by five white attorneys.

A jury of eleven men and one woman is hearing the evidence.

Deny Widow $140,000 Estate

Arizona Law Keeps Widow from Estate Because of Her Color

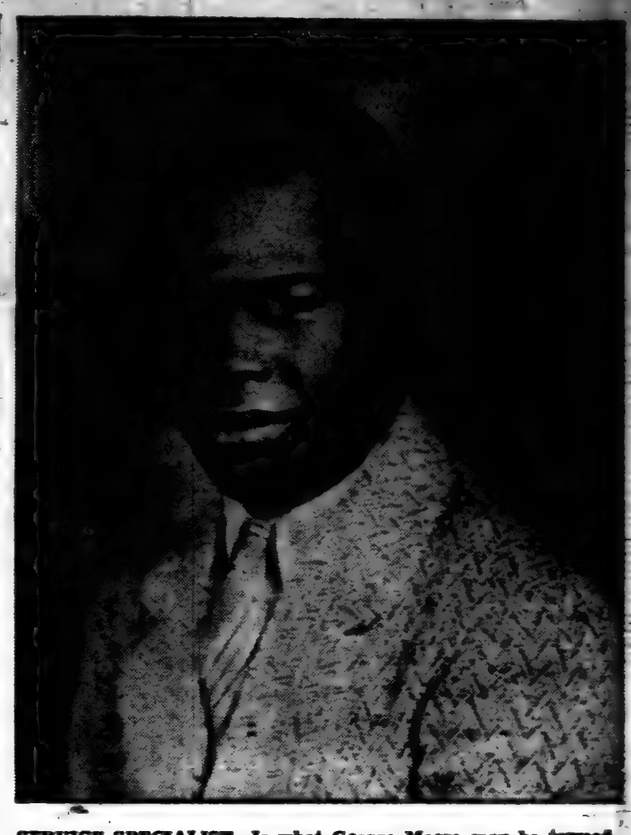
SAN DIEGO, Jan. 11.—An Arizona law which forbids marriages between whites and persons of mixed blood took the $140,000 estate of Allan Bradford Monks from his widow, Mrs. Antoinette Giraudo Monks, and awarded it to Mrs. C. Gennant Lee through an old will filed in 1913.

The estate had been claimed by Mrs. Monks on the basis of a 1928 will. Mrs. Monks, whom Superior Judge L. N. Turrentine declared was proved to be one-eighth Negro, married the wealthy member of a socially prominent Boston family in Yuma in 1929.

The court held that Monks had been defrauded, as he was led to believe, prior to his marriage, that Miss Giraudo was a full Caucasian of French descent. Judge Turrentine recognized a 1913 will written in Dedham, Mass., giving the estate to Mrs. Lee, wife of C. Gennant Lee, boyhood friend of Monks, a business associate for many years.

Wide comment has been caused by this decision in legal circles. Many protest that rights of the deceased have been violated—since the judge refused to honor Monks' own wishes according to the latest (1928) will.

Eagle Drama Workshop Presentation Draws Quick Response



Orson Welle's beard turned green with envy last night after the performance of the Negro Newspaper of the Air Drama Workshop. Presenting a striking account of the Negro press in America since its birth more than a hundred years ago, the broadcast drew immediate audience response. John Kinloch, EAGLE reporter, sparked the play, while Bensell Graham and Laurence Harris, young High school students, were featured in the running attack.

Next week, the Drama Workshop dishes up a sensational review of the part Negroes have played in the armed forces of the nation. Arnett Hartsfield, young Bruin military expert who was once refused the Advanced Military Course at UCLA will be presented. Hang on to your dial!

Kansas Citians Charge Daily With Racial Bias

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 11. (ANP)—A committee from the local branch of the NAACP, headed by J. Prentiss Hoffman, its past president, called on Roy J. Roberts, editor of the Kansas City Star here last week to protest the manner in which writers on that publication used the word Negro. The committee charged that the designation Negro was overused in connection with petty crimes. It pointed out that the publication rarely, if ever, mentioned any achievement by a Negro of prominence and if it did, sought to play up some humorous angle. The committee took along a bunch of clippings from the Star to impress its point and was armed with petitions bearing the names of 3000 people who agreed that the Star's methods humiliated the Negro race in the eyes of white subscribers.

Roy Roberts, editor of the Star, which is the paper credited with bringing Alf M. Landon out as the Republican candidate for president four years ago, minimized the charge, assuring the committee that the word was used frequently because it was short and therefore easy to fit into headlines. His explanations did not appease Rev. D. A. Holmes, pastor of Paseo Baptist church or Thomas J. Webster, also members of the committee.

LaFollette Probe Hears of Attempt to Lynch Negro

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11. (CNA)—"They got out a rope and told me they'd lynch me. . ."

Elmer Joseph, Madera County Negro cotton striker, was telling his store to the Senate Civil Liberties Committee.

Joseph said on leaving a strike meeting in Madera county park on the night of Oct. 17, 1938, 15 Associated Farmers approached him. He said he heard one say:

"There he is now! There's the black son of a ——— that started all this."

Joseph was a member of the strike's executive committee. He said the would-be lynchers, led by Sherman Thomas, large grower, tried to question him, then told him to get out of the country and not to have anything to do with the union.

"Did you take these threats seriously?" asked Senator Robert M. LaFollettee, chairman of the civil liberties committee.

"I did," said Joseph. "I feel a little nervous yet."

Joseph then revealed that although he asked District Attorney George Mordecai of Madera county for a warrant against his assailants, none has been issued so far.

Placed on the witness stand, Sherman Thomas claimed to have heard no threats, seen no ropes, or any hostile signs by the men gathered around Joseph. Then he said,

"I heard him say if they'd give him another chance he would leave and not go back to the strike."

Senator LaFollettee leaped at the admission, wanted to know why Joseph was asking for another chance if nothing was wrong. Thomas got confused and said he hadn't heard all the talk.

1940 Census May Uncover Many Facts

Will Census Show Negro Population Declining, Is Query

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 11. (ANP)—Is the Negro population of the United States diminishing to such an extent that the next census may find that there are fewer Negroes when compared with the white population than ever before? Or is the census an exact count of the Negroes in the United States?

Few people believe that the census has given a correct count on the Negro and are eager to see what the outcome of the present one will be.

Figures from the Department of Commerce which administers the affairs of the Bureau of Census show that in the first census of the country, taken in 1790, there were 3,929,214 persons who lived in the United States. Of that number, 757,208 were of African ancestry, or in other words, nearly 20 per cent of the country's total population in those years right after the revolution were Negroes.

To every 1,000 white persons, there were 239 Negroes. But in censuses that followed, there was a gradual sure rise in the number of Negroes in this country. Figures on them are as follows:

1850	3,638,808
1900	8,833,994	11.6%
1930	11,891,143	9.7%

12,000,000 ESTIMATE

Unofficial estimates today placed the Negro population at figures that range upward from 12,000,000 persons. Yet the proportion of Negroes in the total population has dropped. And

Echols Free on Hit and Run Charge; Held on 2nd Count

Carl Echols, Pasadena's poet-journalist, through Attorney Ivan Johnson of Los Angeles, succeeded in quashing the charge of hit-and-run driving on which he had been held in the county prison since Christmas night in lieu of $2000 bail. Testimony of the prosecution's chief witness, granddaughter to the elderly woman hit by Echols, substantiated his story of stopping his car immediately after hitting the woman to render assistance. Another witness testified as to the cries of bystanders to "get him" and "lynch him" and to the appearance of bruises on his face.

Echols admitted drinking a glass of wine with some friends. This, coupled with the report of the arresting officer, was held by Justice Morton, as sufficient

Demands Pay for Redcaps

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 11. (ANP)—Suit was filed in federal court Saturday in behalf of 93 Union station redcaps by the Brotherhood of Railway clerks asking $120,000 in back wages allegedly due from the Terminal Railroad association under the Wages and Hour law.

The red caps said they had been working for tips only and contended they had the status of employes and were entitled to wages. Tips, they said, could not be considered wages.

The suit also asked an additional $120,000 under a provision of the law that the amount of wages found due by a court might be doubled as liquidating damages.

We ought not to look back unless it is to derive useful lessons from past errors and for the purpose of profiting by dear experience.—George Washington.

Western Dry Goods Largest Clothing Mart on Eastside

The largest clothing mart in the Central Avenue district is the distinction claimed by the new and improved Western Dry Goods store at 4363 S. Central avenue.

Recently remodeled, Western Dry Goods, a pioneer in Avenue merchandising, is housed in one of the most up-to-date buildings on Central avenue. Along with the remodeling, additional space was taken to make it one of the largest stores on the Avenue.

"But what is most important," a spokesman for the store said, "is what we have inside the auspicious front."

Every description and size of clothing, from infant wear to grandfather's flannel standbys is sold at bargain prices. Located out of the downtown Los Angeles high-rent district, Western Dry Goods is able to compete with downtown prices for its quality merchandise.

Neighborhood help is employed extensively at Western Dry Goods. Several regular and part time clerks are happy and hard-working employes.

Off the record activity of Mr. Bluestein, owner of the store, is his cooperation, through numerous contributions and donations, with the Community churches. A firm believer in the Church as a focal point of Community activity, Bluestein's support can always be counted on by religious leaders, heading worthwhile projects.

Pardon Cop in Murder of Negro

Last of Trio of Seattle Officers Freed By Governor

SEATTLE, Jan. 11. (CNA)—Governor Martin this week had granted a conditional pardon to Patrick L. Whalen, last of a trio of police officers to be freed before serving a day of a 20-year sentence for manslaughter.

Whalen was convicted o delivering the blows that killed Berry Lawson, Negro waiter, in the police station in the Spring of 1938.

A conditional pardon places Whalen virtually on parole, the state board of paroles and prison terms explained.

. H. Pashall and W. F. Stevenson, the two other members of the trio convicted of manslaughter in the death of Lawson, were pardoned several months ago by Gov. Martin.

Whalen received word of his pardon from a hospital bed where he collapsed sobbing 8 months ago on the eve of his departure for Walla Walla penitentiary.

A story of bribery and perjury was unfolded when the notorious case came to trial.

A coroner's jury allegedly "whitewashed" the death with the verdict that Lawson had come to his death by a fall downstairs while "resisting an officer."

One witness protested that Lawson had walked into the wagon room and after a few minutes alone with the police officers he had been hauled from the room—a corpse. Lawson had been arrested for sleeping in a chair in a hotel lobby.

Surprise witnesses were produced who declared they had witnessed the prisoner falling downstairs, but when charges of murder were subsequently filed against the police officers, the witnesses returned to testify they had been bribed.

Publishes Locke's Annual Review of Negro Literature

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—A thorough and penetrating review of all the Negro literature published during the past year, written by Dr. Alain Locke, Professor of Philosophy at Howard University, is one of the outstanding features of the January issue of Opportunity, Journal of Negro Life.

In this review, entitled "Dry Fields and Green Pastures", Dr. Locke discusses the battle being waged between the realistic and the romantic authors in their efforts to produce an undistorted picture of Negro life. He shows a decided preference for the realistic approach, which he says results in a more truthful portrayal of the Negro's existence.

Among the books reviewed by him are O Canaan! by Waters Turpin; Star Spangled Virgin, by DuBose Hewyard; Moses; Man of the Mountain, by Zora Neale Hurston; and Let Me Breathe Thunder, by William Attaway.

Dr. Locke also surveys the year's output of Negro juvenile fiction, poetry, and drama and music.

'Ave.' Chest Workers 'Go Over Top'

Continuing solicitation through the holidays for the Community Chest appeal, Mrs. Aldridge and the captains of Battalion C, Division 44, have been rewarded for their perseverance and have the distinction of being the first of the Central Avenue groups to "go over the top" with more than 100 per cent of quota obtained.

Working with Mrs. Aldridge were Mrs. Sadie Hicks, Mrs. Anna Washington, Mrs. R. R. Johnson, Jr., Mrs. C. B. Brownlee, Mrs. E. R. Baldwin, Mrs. C. L. McAfee, and Miss Lelia Follis. Mrs. Nettie B. Reese, superintendent of the Eastside Mothers' Club, a Chest agency, has been of great assistance, Mrs. Aldridge stated.

Campaign leaders are hopeful that, encouraged by the example of Battalion C, other workers here will again take the field and complete their solicitation for the Chest with 100 per cent of their quotas.

Total contributions to the Chest as of Monday, showed $2,324,287, with volunteers making daily reports of additional contributions to the charitable fund.

"We expect to equal the mark we reached in 1933, when we sold 125,000 "stop lynching" buttons, Mrs. Lampkins said. "We believe that citizens everywhere will welcome this opportunity to carry in their coat lapel this silent protest against lynching, as long as the bill is up for action in Congress."

Mrs. Hamlin hopes to build a Soldiers' Widows' home at Sawtelle. Existing at present is a home for white only, which Negroes help support.

L. A. Ry. Employees Are Home-Owners, Survey Says

The average Los Angeles Railway employee is married, has a family, works without a layoff and either owns his own home or contemplates becoming a homeowner in the near future.

These results of a partially completed employee survey by the Los Angeles Railway indicate a well-balanced organization and an asset to the city, national survey experts declared.

Home ownership was said to be a key factor in determining the success of properlymanaged employment and personnel departments, observers said.

It was pointed out that the feeling of security derived from home ownership reflects directly upon the manner in which the work of the employees is performed.

"Further than this", the report continued, "it has been found that only in communities where men and women feel secure in their jobs do they take the important step of buying or building a home.

"The fact that the Los Angeles Railway average employee feels himself to be financially safe and unaffected by hard times helps him to do his job in the best manner of which he is capable."

Sailor Succumbs on Board Ship

JERSEY CITY, Jan. 11—A Seattle youth, William Holmes, sailor on the freighter, American Robin, died on board ship last week. Theory advanced for cause of death is that the ship was fumigated and the fumes contaminated the food supply, or that fumes had apparently seeped through bulkheads into the crew's quarters.

A search is being conducted for relatives of the dead youth. Police, declaring that an insurance company desires to settle the insurance claim, ask that anyone knowing the whereabouts of relatives of Holmes, contact the Missing Person's Bureau of the Seattle, Washington police department.

A native of Chicago, Mrs. Harrison was the first Negro to be graduated from the Chicago Conservatory of Music, where she studied under the father of the late Flo Ziegfield. She was married to Harrison in 1895.

After the death of 'De Lawd," the widow's health failed and when their son, Lawrence, died three years ago, she was confined to her bed. Sole survivors are a daughter, Miss Marian Harrison and a granddaughter, June.

Electric Water Heaters Popular

A new national record is in the making by electrically-minded Los Angeles, which has taken first place in the number of homes equipped with 'matchless' household appliances, including electric refrigerators, ranges and water heaters.

The new record shows, according to data compiled by the Bureau of Power and Light, that nowhere else in the country have electric water heaters, like electric refrigerators and ranges, gained such popularity as here.

Geo. Moore An Astute Businessman

George C. Moore, progressive young businessman, has recently enlarged his tire and wheel business to include super-service. Proving himself an astute businessman, Moore purchased the lot on the southeast corner of Santa Barbara and Central, refused a profit of $2000 on his investment to erect a modern and up-to-date super-service station. The service station is an addition to the lucrative tire and battery business established in his old location at 2324 S. Central.

Moore is 32 years old, married and the father of 7 children. He and his wife, Mrs. Bessie L. Moore, are active members of Zion Hill Baptist church, where Moore sings often. Hunting and fishing are the sports he participates in during vacations, and music is his hobby.

Born in Malvern, Arkansas, Moore moved to Los Angeles 11 years ago, becoming active in the business life of the community and succeeding to the point where he now gives steady employment to six persons besides himself. Moore said that he is offering the public a roadside service anywhere in the city. Any motorist with tire or battery trouble can have the service of a courteous and efficient attendent by simply calling the Central Avenue Tire and Super Service, Ad—12917.

The best and noblest lives are those which are set toward high ideals. And the highest and noblest ideal that any man can have is Jesus of Nazareth.—Almeron.

Orchid Girls Club Extends Thanks for Xmas Support

The Orchid Girls' club wishes to extend thanks to their many friends for the cooperative spirit shown in making their Sixth Annual Kiddies Christmas Party a huge success.

"With your generosity, we were able to make 1500 little hearts merry on Christmas morning at the Lincoln theatre," a spokesman for the club stated.

"We also wish to extend a great big orchid to the Ladies Auxiliary of the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical association, who sponsored a Christmas party, where a carload of toys were bought by members and friends and turned over to us to help swell the number to be distributed. These charitably-minded ladies who have watched the struggles of the Orchids in their efforts to supply underprivileged children of the Eastside with toys for Christmas, have voluntarily pledged their annual support in aiding us to care for the large number of children of the Eastside that are toyless on Christmas, because of the fact that the amount of needy children is greater than the number of toys distributed by the Orchids. Mrs. E. I. Robinson, president of the auxiliary says that she is proud to lend her support and the support of her organization to such a worthy cause. Other organizations that have contributed to this cause at various times and to whom we are extending Orchids are: the Van Courtlands, the Assistance League, Lambda Chapter of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity, and Saint Mary's Guild," the spokesman continued.

To our faithful friends: Mr. Wolfe, who yearly throws open the doors of his theatre and welcomes his young guests for the morning by entertaining them with comedies that makes them chuckle with childish glee; Mrs. Charlotta Bass, whose office doors are always ajar to receive and store our toys for safe-keeping weeks prior to the Christmas party; Attorney and Mrs. Ivan Johnson, III, the success of the party depends on them. They arrive early and watch even the smallest detail to see that everything moves lik clockwork; Mrs. Lauretta Butler's Famous Kiddies who could hardly enjoy their trip home from Honolulu worrying for fear that they would arrive too late to do their annual bit for sweet charity's sake; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Burke who never fail to put in their appearance and always do a splendid job in handling the crowd of excited children; Mr. W. E. Wright who handles the stage, and Mr. Cheney, technician at the Lincoln theatre, without your splendid cooperation, the show could not go on; and last but not least, our generous friends of our annual charity balls, Elks Temple No. 86 and Mrs. Jessie Terry, our godmother, who nursed the first party in its infancy when we entertained 300 children in her home. Although it has grown to 1500 she has not forsaken it. To all these faithful friends we are grateful for six years of success and growth in spreading Christmas cheer to unfortunate children of the Eastside.

"Others on who we are showering with Orchids for their helpfulness are: Bob Clarke, who really makes a gay old Santa Claus; Harold Lloyd, president of the Royal Chancellors, who had quite a task listening to the tales of woe of lost, stolen, or left at home tickets. Those who used their cars for taxi service to bring the smaller kiddies from Holmes Avenue school who had no means of reaching the theatre were: Marguerite Carrere, Odessa Battish, Melvin Martin, Billy Valley, Claude L. Hudgins, Jim Lewis, Lena Wilson, Mr. Andrews and Mr. ann Mrs. Steele. Those who helped the Orchids on the stage in distributing toys, candy and apples and assisted throughout the theatre were: Dede Hudnell Jones, Vivian Walker, Naida McCullough, Mrs. Ethel Johnson, Mrs. E. I. Robinson, Mrs. Emily Portwig, Mrs. Mr. Eugene Allen, principal of Holmes Avenue school. Candies and apples were donated through the courtesies of Dr. Charles Jackson, Conner & Johnson Co., and the Golden State Insurance Co. The Christmas tree was donated by Mrs. Bessie Burke, principal at Nevins Avenue school and her staff of teachers.

"And to all of you kind friends may the spirit of Christmas you have expressed to others return fullness of life to you is the sincere wish of the Orchids."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

Communion Services will be conducted on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Sacrament" and the Golden Text is from Leviticus: "I am the Lord that bringeth you up out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: ye shall therefore be holy, for I am holy."

The Lesson-Sermon includes also these verses from Matthew: "When Jesus came into the coasts of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom do men say that I the Son of man am? And they said, Some say that thou art John the Baptist: some, Elias; and others, Jeremias, or one of the prophets. He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am? And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God. And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Bar-jona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven. And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church."

Among the selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy are the passages: "Jesus established his church and maintained his mission on a spiritual foundation of Christ-healing. . . . In other words, Jesus purposed founding his society, not on the personal Peter as a mortal, but on the God-power which lay behind Peter's confession of the true Messiah."

Scott Methodist Pastor Asks Pasadena to 'Face the Facts'

The Rev. Karl E. Downs, S. T. M., pastor of Scott Methodist Church, Pasadena, made a plea to "face the facts about Pasadena", Sunday night, speaking over KFOX, on the "Negro's Side of the Race Restriction Program in Pasadena".

The youthful prelate claimed that the manipulations of real estate agents are responsible for the current restlessness of property owners. That like the poor of all the groups, Negro masses are sinned against in the matter of exorbitant prices for run down properties in so-called exclusive neighborhoods.

Voicing the plea for understanding and cooperation, the speaker called attention to maltreatment of Jackie Robinson, PJC-UCLA football hero and the cries of lynching made when Carl Echols accidentally hit an aged woman on Christmas day.

"Pasadena can continue to be the Crown City; but the precious jewel in her crown will be justice to all her citizens, regardless of race, color or creed", he asserted. George Garner, tenor and Mrs. Paullyn Garner rendered special music and Edward Strong was the announcer.

The only way to have friends is to be one.—Emerson.

Scott Writes on 'Hampering the American Way of Life'

BY EMMETT J. SCOTT

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Jan. 11—We hear a great deal of talk nowadays about the American way of life. Unhappily, however, there is no basic agreement among the disputants as to what really constitutes the American wal of life. Much of the discussion is purely political in character, and, generally, is designed to propagandize in behalf of whatever political program the disputant may be, for the moment, supporting.

Such discussions get nowhere, because they lead nowhere. Instead one is befogged in winding passages of incoherence, atrant demagoguery, and not much of what may be called sober thinking.

It might be well, as we start the New Year, to hark back over the years since constitutional government was established in America, and inform ourselves anew as to what the original architects of our plan of government had in mind.

AN ECONOMY OF FREE LIFE

It probably will not be denied that, first of all, they planned an economy of free life— the formal declarations of our Charter of Liberty, and the Bill of Rights make this altogether plain.

There stand out most militantly in these declarations certain guarantees which assure individual initiative, the right to earn one's own living, a free press, the freedom of religious worship, and the individual right of expression. Inseparably related to these is the guarantee of security of life and the opportunity to realize one's hopes and aspirations through progressive general intelligence and industry, without regard to whatever lowly beginnings he may have.

DEMOCRACY BEING HAMPERED

Are these assured blessings of our American democracy being realized as we begin the 1940 year of our Lord?

Have industrialization and regulatory, governmental interference prevented the opportunity to improve one's condition and position in life?

Are rampant poverty and lack of opportunity due to conditions beyond our ability to overcome?

What factor in our present day way of life is lowering the American standard of living, and promoting distrust, distress, misery and want?

These questions need to be answered if our house is to be set aright. Alibis, explanations, excuses have been offered. But depressed conditions continue more or less unabated, the problems presented remain unsolved.

PRESENT-DAY CONDITIONS

With nearly 10,000,00 employable men and women unemployed; with mounting, staggering taxes being enacted on a war-period basis; with relief rolls maintaining parity numbers year by year; with a Government debt at an all-time high and threatening the Congressional limitation of $45,000,000,000; with the seeds of class consciousness being planted; with governmental bureaucracies regimenting labor, industry and many of our everyday affairs of men; with indirect taxes enacting tribute from the already discouraged and underprivileged poor, and from every household—with all of these things destroying the morale of the people, there is a growing demand for a progressive government which will realistically solve these problems, and restore to the people confidence, ambition and a just pride in the administration of their affairs.

It is all too patent that the New Deal cannot change its spots any more than a leopard can change his. Nearly seven years have been spent in trying out experiments, various and sundry, and the end is not yet.

Booker Allen and Silas Tippins have kept Santa Monica males informed as to what Esquire is featuring. Misses Margie Jones and Venita Tarver are Santa Monica's cutest debutantes. Scholastic honors go to Miss Cornelia Craddock and Mr. Alfred Quinn, Jr. The biggest dummy, oh well, goes to me. Mr. and Mrs. Le Vert Payne, with much entertaining, became Santa Monica's most hospitable couple. Miss Esther Cook

Softened and filtered water for the 13 cities of the Metropolitan Water District will be provided by this plant, now under construction. Above is an architect's drawing of the plant, which is expected to be ready for operation in about one year, and below is an artist's map of the 392-mile Metropolitan Aqueduct system with an arrow indicating the location of the plant now being built South of Foothill Boulevard near La Verne.

Construction of the most modern and one of the largest water softening and filtration plants in the United States is now being pushed forward by the Metropolitan Water District as one of the links in the giant Metropolitan Aqueduct system.

Located on the aqueduct's distribution system, the new plant is expected to be placed in operation in about one year. At that time the aqueduct will be ready to deliver water to the 13 District cities, and the water will all be soft and filtered, District officials point out.

F. E. Weymouth, General Manager and Chief Engineer of the Metropolitan Water District, under whose direction the 392-mile Metropolitan Aqueduct is being built, reports that more than 150 construction workmen are now employed in building the softening and filtration plant, which is located on the upper feeder of the aqueduct distribution system in the vicinity of La Verne.

Nationally known water engineering experts, under whose supervision the plant was designed, have incorporated the latest developments for water softening and filtration in the new plant and state that this ultra modern unit will provide soft water which will be sparkling clear and of a quality superior to the average water now being used for domestic and industrial purposes in Southern California.

The location of the plant will make it possible to provide soft and filtered water for all domestic and industrial purposes in the 13 cities of the Water District, and also makes it possible to provide unsoftened Colorado River water for horticultural purposes in areas which in the future may be admitted to the Metropolitan Water District.

Sketch Subject: LAWRENCE DICKERSON . . . Market Proprietor.

By JOSEPH B. O'NEAL JR.

"He visionized business and made it into realization."

How authentic the mentioned statement is can best be told by Lawrence Dickerson himself.

It was the year of 1908 in the City of New Orleans that the first son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dickerson blessed their household. Several years later the entire family included six children and parents.

William Dickerson worked as a janitor.

Lawrence, at the age of three, desired to be a businessman, although his parents decided their son's talent inclined toward medicine, but which he denounced.

Between the ages of 8 and 12 he was assistant to his father, receiving 10 cents per week as a salary. Working hours began at five o'clock in the morning and lasted until time to attend school. The duties consisted of cleaning furnaces, hauling ashes, and cutting wood. He not only did labor as a helper to his father, but after school hours he would shine shoes in the streets of New Orleans. Occasionally Lawrence would tell his customers of his ambition.

Until 17, he stayed with his parents, afterward lived with an aunt in New Orleans.

She inspired the lad to learn a trade and complete his high school career.

The trade that was accepted was centered on sewing machine mechanics which he sufficiently learned enabling the lad to be employed as a repair man among the few Negroes of Singers Incorporation.

During his employment Lawrence had the opportunity of acquainting himself with "Uncle John", a Negro, who was considered one of the best repairmen in New Orleans. Young Dickerson served as an apprentice to "Uncle John", although his apprenticeship ended at the fiscal year, because of the company's financial difficulties.

After that experience, he secured a job at a club in the seaport town as errand boy. Lawrence remained in New Orleans until he was 22. Before departing from his home town he married.

The couple came to Los Angeles for short stay and in the year 1935 they started the grocery store. Four years Dickerson rented the space at 5003 Hooper avenue. But dissatisfied with renting, he erected the store now open.

Sojourner Truth Home in Drive for $5,000

The Sojourner Truth Home is making a city wide appeal to its Citizens. The club feels that patience has its reward, after two years of the Negro girl's and women's need of housing, the Community Chest has granted permission to begin a drvie for funds for a larger Sojourner Truth Home.

The present Home has been in operation 25 years, housing thousands of girls and women, giving to the Community a recreationoal center. More than one hundred dmeetings by various organizations have been held at this Home the past year. This includes civic, religious, political social and educational groups, none were denied the recreational facilities of this Home, which is now wholly inadequate to fill the present need.

Paul Williams, architect, has completed plans and dspecifications for a spacious and beautiful Home, which will double our capacity for rooms and recreation.

A sketch of the New Home will appear in the next issue of the California Eagle.

Contractors may submit bids after January 18 at Sojourner Truth Home.

We are depending upon the Advisory Board, Citizen's Committee, and the general public for full cooperation to make this drive a success.

All members of this club, headed by Gertrude Hicks, president, Geneva Wade, secretary, and Margaret D. Scott treasurer, are collecting contributions.

A BIT TOO FAR?

Following is from The Post-Press of El Centro, Column: Rambling Reporter.

"The Department of Amazing Christmas Presents brought forth this exciting gem Thursday:

"During a family reunion of the Maggio clan at Christmas, Dr. Guy Maggio was puzzled by the receipt of a large pasteboard box labeled 'Handle With Care'. There were small holes punched therein, apparently for air, and strange sounds came from inside.

"While the family looked on with mingled amusement and amazement, Dr. Guy opened the 'gift' and out popped a baby of extremely dark complexion!

"Payoff came when the child's irate father came around to collect it. He didn't know the brothers Maggio had 'rented' the child for an hour for $3. Grounds for kidnaping?"

Mr. and Mrs. Major Terry are parents of the baby.

PROGRESS HINT

Leigh Whipper, as the bent, gnarled stable-buck called "Crooks" in the film version of "Of Mice and Men" says a line that goes something like this when "Lennie" (Lon Chaney jr.) invades the sanctity of his living quarters: "Why should you want to come in here. I can't sit around with you fellows because I am black".

"Crooks" is given credit in the film for being an intelligent hombre, "sits around and reads all of the time".

All of which gives birth to the idea that "Crooks" is an example of cause for progress of the Negro in sections of the country where discrimination is rife. Segregated on every hand, Negroes own large stores, theatres, banks, schools, newspapers.

CHURCH BULLETIN

The following "New Year Aspirations" are lifted from a church bulletin:

"Live in the active rather than the passive voice, intent upon what you can do rather than upon what may happen to you.

"Live in the indicative mood, not the subjunctive, concerned with the facts as they are rather than as they might be.

"Live in the present tense, concentrating upon the duty at hand, without regrets for the past or worry about the future.

"Live in the first person, criticizing yourself rather than condemning others.

"Live in the singular number, caring more for the approval of your own conscience than for popularity with the many."

GABBY BITS:

Catchy headline was that appearing in a local evening newspaper anent divorce proceedings begun by her husband against Vivien Leigh, co-star of "Gone With the Wind". The headline: "Vivien Leigh's Mate 'Gone With the Wind'" . . . We apparently pulled a boner in that sports column on another page when we said Fritz Pollard, former Brown U. star, was the only Negro to play in a Rose Bowl game. It has come to our attention that there were two others, Johnny Riddle, formerly of USC, and now an associate architect with Paul R. Williams; and Charles West, one-time Washington & Jefferson ace. Our sincere apologies, gentlemen . . .

From a reader: "What are Omegas, of Omega Psi Phi fraternity, doing on coast?" To which we quickly reply, nothing to speak of, although we belong to this frat. Might also add that Omegas here are among some of the city's great men in fields of ministry, professions, law, et cetera. That may explain current inactivity as a fraternity . . . Mrs. Jessie Terry, likable, able member of City Housing Authority, intimates plenty of activity may be expected now that Central Avenue are low-rent housing project has been approved . . . PUBLIC RALLY TO BE HELD ON UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF IN STATE

Lieut.-Gov. Patterson, L. A. County SRA Director Sam Allen Principal Speakers

Sponsored by the L. A. Council of the National Negro Congress as a practical expression of community sentiment opposing the maneuvers of conservative organizations to cripple unemployment relief in California, a public rally will be held next Wednesday at 8 p. m. at Wesley Center, 1029 E. Vernon avenue.

Principal speakers at the rally will be Lieut. Governor Ellis E. Patterson and L. A. County director of the State Relief Administration. Among other participants will be community leaders and other officials of the SRA.

"The well organized and cunningly directed attack on the SRA by reactionary organizations and legislators being promoted at this time is designed to influence the special session of the State Legislature to enact measures which will cripple, if not completely kill unemployment relief in this State," said Mrs. Fay E. Allen, executive chairman of the Negro Congress. "Their object is to secure the return of financing and administering relief to the several counties —a procedure which has been disastrous for communities elsewhere which have tried it. Witness the situation in Cleveland."

Pointing out that opposition to this projected plan of returning relief to the counties must be developed before the Legislature's scheduled opening on Jan. 29, Mrs. Allen and other executive officers of the Congress issued an appeal to organizations and individuals throughout Los Angeles County to participate in Wednesday's meeting, and to help make it a real expression of the people's demand that centralized, State administration of relief be continued, and that the Legislature assure adequate funds and continued operation of recently inaugurated progressive and humane features—such as the consumers' cooperatives.

Church of Whittier, third vice-president. The new treasurer is Delphine Meyer of Beverly Hills and the secretary is Jack P. Leonard of Los Angeles.

THERESA HARRIS

There wasn't much room in the old Chevrolet. Seven people, of them excessively big, and five of them kids from 10 to 15 rs old, more than fill up a five passenger car. And when you add family's entire possessions, ding a parrot and a dog to collection, you've really got automobile filled.

ut Ina and Anthony Harris 't mind. Neither did their children. They were going Southern California, the land nilk and honey, the land re it never got cold and or- es grew in forests so thick couldn't see the sun through trees. They were leaving ston, Texas, behind.

ney were a colored family because they had tonight's ner and tomorrow's breakfast ed away in the car, they . They sang pretty good, too, a 4 in-legged girl, mocha ned, sang best of all. Like the ling of a clear bell, her e could be heard above all others, even the roaring bass er father's.

r name was Theresa and she leven years old. She was g to be a wonderful singer e day. Even the white ladies se homes she "visited" when, her mother, she washed nes, said so.

he dilapidated Chevrolet ped along the highway day day and the Harrises sang. then they came to journey's in Los Angeles. They were y. Pa got work with a con- ction company and Ma didn't to wash clothes. The kids to school.

is is really the story of resa, so it should be enough ay that the other children-- hony, Jr., Sam, Grace, Mar- --went to school and did all t. Theresa was the girl who going to be a great singer, going to school, to Theresa, a privilege, a sacred trust e fulfilled honestly.

om a grammar school she t to Jefferson High School in Angeles and four years later was graduated, with out- ding scholastic honors. And , because her voice now was and rich and lovely, she was itted to University of South- California Conservatory of ic; later, to Koellner's Con- atory of Music.

es, Theresa was going to be onderful singer some day.

en there was an accident Theresa's father died. He 't meant to get killed, and adn't meant to forget to pay insurance policy. But that's way things go, and that's Theresa had to quit study- voice and go to work. So did other kids. But Ma didn't e to wash clothes, because grown children can always e enough money to feed an lady and themselves and s roof overhead.

heresa found work, quick. got the lead with the La- tte Players—a Negro music- omedy troupe, and played th of Irene in the production the same name. Remember, had a beautiful voice. An- y, Jr., found a job with a ro mortician; Sam became a cer; Grace and Marjorie be- e maids.

nd then Theresa r.. into pic- s. They were just little parts y are called bits) but they good money. Then came a k, a part in "Baby Face," in ch she spoke a lot of lines— got $75 a week. After that e better bit parts (and better ey) and appearances in pic- s like "Professional Sweet- t," starring Ginger Rogers; ld Your Man," starring Jean low.

heresa wanted to sing. But couldn't sing in pictures, ap- ently, and she had to earn ey, and save it, like Pa had to do. So she kept on in pic- s.

he years passed and it seem- o Theresa that one Christmas hardly over before another at hand. And now, Theresa playing in pictures like ebel," "Toy Wife," and 'Tell Tales.'

he was doing alright. She proud of the apartment she for herself and her mother— d that she had paid for ev- hing in it, and the two cars.

ow, it is in 1940, and Theresa s has the biggest part she's ever had in pictures, in Paramount's comedy production, "Buck Benny Rides Again," starring that fearless hero of the plains, Jack (Buck) Benny. She is teamed with Eddie (Rochester) Anderson, and she sings (yes, sings) and dances and acts.

Talk to the trim, quiet Theresa and she will tell you: "Yes, I have one great ambition now. I want to be known someday as a great Negro actress. The Negro race has produced great singers, comedians and musicians for the theatre. But not, as yet, great actors. I hope, sincerely, I will be a fine actress some day."

She is writing a novel now—a novel about politics.

"Writing is my hobby," she explains.

Theresa is un-married.

'double deal' breaks all records

The sensational success of "Double Deal" in Kansas City, Los Angeles, and in every city that it has played to date, has proven beyond a doubt that all-colored cast pictures are now to be rated along with the product of the major studios, for they are just as entertaining and are produced, directed and written by men of the same calibre as those who have helped to make motion pictures the world's best entertainment.

This realization of Class A colored pictures was brought about by International Road Shows, who after many years of experience in producing colored shows, formed the first organized combine to produce and release all-colored pictures. This combine headed by Bert Goldbert Port, Inc., and consisting of three producing units, George Randol Productions, Aetna Film Corporation and Argus Pictures is now making all-colored films on a planned schedule. These companies work the same as the major studios in exchanging stars, stories and directors.

• NOTES ON A SCRATCHPAD

BY BILL SMALLWOOD

IT'S THE TRUTH . SO HELP ME. .

A bulletin informing this desk of the august approach of Tallulah Bankhead bestirs a financial bit of recollection. . . When Mamba's Daughters opened on B'way. last season, it was Lulu (as she's intimately known) Bankhead who had a sizeable ad drawn up in a daily with several thousand dollars worth of B'way signatures applied, all of which attested in startling and sincere fashion to the magnificent portrayal of Miss Ethel Waters, as Mamba. . . The whole thing was a fine gesture and all but set Harlem on it's well-set ear. Especially so when you just can't get away from the fact that Bankhead is a 'Bama gal.

She was crazy about the Nicholas Brothers, too. When they were headlining at the Cotton Club, I used to wander around backstage and watch her greet them effusively. She gave them bikes one Xmas. Quite a gal . . . And now that Mamba's Daughters will play the Biltmore soon, the reunion of the two actresses should be fine for theatrical scribblers.

Willie Bryant, who forsook emceeing and waving an uncertain band baton, nearly walks away with a good hunk of the show, let me tell you. A battle royal, the likes of which you won't see on the stage for a decade, climaxes the vehicle. Willie gets plenty of mauling and yanking and kicking by Ethel Waters, who usually is content to let well enough alone and merely croon her torchy blue ballads alongside a piano.

As mentioned elsewhere in these pages by this typewriter, Angeleno tastes probably, on a whole, won't respond ardently to the theme of this play. But it's good theatre. And will give you something else to wrangle about other than G. W. T. W. (Add note: How about a Society For the Prevention of G. W. T. W. Discussion?)

Florence Mills, if she were alive, would be forty-two years old on the twenty-fifth of this month. . . born in Washington, D. C.

Satchmo earns our back-pat for the month: While Swingin' the Dream was running on Bway he insisted that Maxine Sullivan get top billing at the Cotton Club because she was lised third in the stage show. . . We wonder if Trummie (T'ain't Whatcha Do) Young will fetch his young bride to town, when they come in on Febr. 9th? Martha Tilton, ex-B. Goodman canary, will be here when that outfit arrives next month. I'm wondering if the air will be frosty when they meet, for—and I'm not positive of this—I don't believe they parted top palsy-walsies. . .Marthat was supposed to wed Benny's maanger, Leonard Vannerson, another nice guy. . .

An open paragraph to Hattie McDaniels: If anybody hits the jackpot this year, it will be you, Hattie. How can you lose? You'll never know how ftrvently all of us pray and hope that Hollywood will follow thru your G. W. T. because she was listed third in tha was supposed to wed Bennever kno whow fervently all of W. assignment with something even wider and more flexible. Two things about you I like tremendously. Your admirable imperviousness to unfair criticism from unimportant sources. And your devotion to the memory of your Mother, whose photo stands always on your mantle, probably reminding you how easy it is to keep both feet firmly planted.

Things I'd Like to See and Hear: Duke Ellington record the number he was commissioned to write for Maxwell House Coffee Hour . . . Fats Waller revive his Rhythm Club idea which used to solidly break it up via Cincinnatti's radio station. . . Louise Beavers do a Bway show of merit. . . More AND more of torrid Erskine Hawkins, who is a killeroo. . . Congress outlaw the slightest reference to the maddening, Oh, Johnny, Oh. . . A fair break for that actor, here from NY, in sepia films and who, for some reason, is on the pan by certain folk. . .why?. . .Orson Welles do a show with an all-sepia cast. . . A revue built around all the tunes penned by Jas. Weldon and J. Rosamond Johnson. . . A clever reference (of some commendable sort) to K. Washington, added to the script of "Meet the People".

A chance lunch with 20-year old Gus Sager, young MGM writer, brought this mutual point to a pat close; The Hebrew chillun really have the screen and stage and radio worlds in the old bag! . . . Nicest part about travelling for a Grade A show, getting back to Mamba's Daughters, is this feature. Grateful backers provide you with a first-class sleeper with plenty trimmings, etc. No flop-hotels or greasy-spoons to battle with. A chef turns out flawless cuisine, you don't have to elbow your way into the washroom, you get porter service, etc. Just like home!

Prayer for a columnist: Please, Lord, this year answer my plea for help in a land of borrowed ideas to keep and develop what originality I have. Make me more aggressive, more interested and alert in my daily contacts with people and with life, that I may find fresh material on which to write; increase my power to observe and feel and think, and to express my inmost thoughts with incisiveness and pungency;

Forgive my indifferent spelling and my careless literary lapses, and prune my copy of faded phrase and dangling sentences; give me courage to say resolutely, "I don't know," and then to go out unashamed and discover the right answer. Give me abiding pleasure in the arduous task of writing, keeping in mind always my obligation to win the interest of readers.

If any.

hattie noel tops para stage show

Fanchon and Marco are currently presenting in person on the stage, the screen's mirthful mammy, Hattie Noel, who is the headline attraction in the gay and colorful stageshow, "Follies of 1940."

The screen attraction for the entertaining program is "The Great Victor Herbert," hailed as the greatest heart story of the show world since "The Great Ziegfield." The production costars a grand new romantic singing team in Allan Jones and Mary Martin. Others in the brilliant cast include Walter Connolly, Judith Barrett and Susanna Foster.

Hattie Noel is a veteran of the screen and has to her credit many outstanding roles. In addition to her film work she has been on the radio quite a lot and she is often referred to as "Eddie Cantor's Sweepstakes Winner." Other personalities in the revue include the fiery Latin lass, Armida, who is famed for her gay singing and dancing. LaMarr and Barlow, Johnson and Diehl, the twenty dancing Fanchonettes and Rube Wolf and his orchestra round out the program.

"The Great Victor Herbert" brings to the screen no less than twenty-eight of the best loved of Victor Herbert's melodies. Both Mary Martin and Allen Jones are heard singing these songs and for their remarkable performances they undoubtedly will win new screen laurels. Miss Martin will be familiar to many as the vivacious young girl who sprang to national fame when she sang on Broadway, "My Heart Belongs To Daddy."

HOLLYWOOD LEGION AND NEGRO BOXERS

This year, still in diapers, is going to mean a lot to Negro boxers. A new stadium in which to display their talents is in the offing.

Back in early September, shortly after a comparatively new State Athletic Commission assumed its duties under the chairmanship of able attorney Jerry Geisler, the moguls of State boxing set a date for a public hearing in an effort to ascertain why Negro boxers are kept from fighting at the Hollywood Legion stadium.

That move caused repercussions which were felt up and down the fistic rialto, as subsequent developments proved. Here was a commission, at last, which was desirous of conducting its business in conformity with the principles of democracy. It made no mistake about letting all concerned know of its intentions when it set Nov. 17 as the date when the hearing into the charges and counter-charges (if any) of discrimination against the Legion stadium would be held.

Attorney Hugh E. MacBeth, as coordinator of the Community Builders, Inc., threw the "fat on the fire" at the time the hearing date was set when he presented the formal charges of discrimination saying that "the enemies of democracy are being given aid and comfort in light of this discrimination", and recommended that democratic processes prevail in the matter.

It was brought out at the time, too, that Harry Levette, one-time sports editor of the EAGLE, and Dan Shaw, sports editor of the old California News, now non-existent, had over the years, ever since the practice began at the Hollywood stadium, told the public of the asserted discrimination thru their newspapers.

Commissioner Archie Clossen, of Lodi, told the commission and assemblage present at the September meeting, that the matter of asserted discrimination on the part of the Hollywood Legion stadium, which is operated under the banner of Hollywood Post No. 43, had come up at the American Legion convention at Oakland, a few weeks previous. He stated at the time that the Legion, as an organization, has no power to tell a subordinate post who must or who must not be employed.

Chairman Geisler made it clear, however, that the commission had the power to revoke the license of any licensee in its jurisdiction on proof that said licensee was guilty of violating the rules and regulations of the commission.

x x x x

Then things began to happen.

It was reported that Legion stadium officials sought a ruling from State Attorney General Earl Warren, aimed to have the effect of denying the commission authority to hear the matter.

It was reported too, that the filmland arena officials requested a postponement of the hearing, ostensibly to allow them "to get their house in order".

Then, following a meeting between Macbeth and officials of Hollywood Legion, at the insistence of the latter, the parties concerned forwarded a joint request to the commission asking a continuance of the hearing.

Attorney General Warren ruled also that the State Athletic Commission has the power to probe into discrimination complaints and that the commission had broad powers in granting and revoking licenses and legally could inquire into allegations that civil rights were violated.

The commission met November 16 and 17 and heard charges that the continuance was not justified and that the matter should be heard then and there. Thru its chairman, it promised, however, to fully air the matter at its next meeting in the south, which is this month. All five commissioners will be present at this time.

The letter containing the joint request and signed by Attorney Macbeth and Attorney John D. Home, representing the Hollywood Legion stadium was said by sources close to the matter to be a virtual admission on the part of Hollywood Legion of jim crow practices.

". . . It is the sincere belief of the parties hereto that all misunderstanding and grievances complained of will be adjusted (along the lines of true democracy) with satisfaction to all parties concerned", the letter read in part.

The "agreement" between both parties will be submitted to the commission for its approval on the 19th, the letter said in closing.

Expected fireworks on the 19th may not develop, as the case against the Hollywood Legion appears to be open and shut and it is the opinion of this column that the matter will be amicably adjusted to the best interests of all concerned—which, incidentally, is as it should be.

Dr. Martin who has been the principal owner of the Memphis Red Sox for years, is expected to bring sorely needed business methods into Negro baseball affairs. A stickler for fair play, opposed to rowdyism and believing that colored baseball players are the most colorful in the game, his administration is expected to prove stimulating to better playing and greater profits in organized baseball. 'Turkey' Thompson Ready Now for Champion Garcia

"Turkey" Thompson, right at this moment, is ready to take on Ceferino Garcia for the latter's share of the middleweight championship!

At first glance, it might appear that we have unhesitatingly and without much thought placed ourselves way out on a limb but, the Turk we saw Tuesday night at the Olympic mercilessly beat "Bandit" Johnny Romero, the San Diegan, can shear the Filipino of his championship laurels.

In fact, at most, the "Turk" is hardly more than four fights away from the middleweight championship.

Some years ago we saw Young Peter Jackson, when that lad was in his hey-day, stretch the bolo-punching champion his full length on the canvas with a rocking right cross to the jaw. The "Turk", powerful and bull-shouldered dynamiter, carries more steam in either mitt than did Young Petah.

"Bandit" Johnny, a ringwise veteran and plenty tough to boot, was the 5 to 7 choice of the gamboleers to stop Thompson's win streak.

RESPECT EACH OTHER

Romero, a southpaw, kissed the canvas in the fifth for a nine-count when he caught a short left hook to the jaw. It was the beginning of the end for the "Bandit" as the pace began to step up at the beginning of that round.

Thompson had a lot of respect, too, for Romero's potent left and succeeded in keeping out of harm's way for most of the bout.

Going into the ninth, the "Turk" maneuvered Romero into a neutral corner, where he had been getting in his best licks thruout the fight, and massaged the San Diegan with both rights and lefts. Romero's face was crimson as he fell to the floor, taking another nine count. As he rose, referee Reggie Gilmore waved "Turkey" aside, raising his hand in doing so.

Well-paced, it was one of Thompson's most convincing victories and should catapult him into the middle of Garcia's throne room.

POLITE RETURNS

Jan. 30, Richard Polite returns from New Orleans, to tangle with Toby Virgil, who recently knocked out Nick Peters at Hollywood.

In the six-round semi-windup, Ray Lunney, of San Francisco, had too much class for plugging Everett Simmington, Iowa, winning by the TKO route in the fourth canto.

Other results (all four-rounders): Jimmy McDaniels, making a comeback, dropped the decision to Babe Hernandez; Willie Fields, sepian, looked good in out-smarting and out-roughing Soldier Stanley; George Dilworth, another sepian, found Soldier Jim Gleason his superior, dropping the decision; sepian Clyde Alexander, San Berdoo, and Babe Antuna, fought each other to a standstill in the opener.

Track Stars Return to Form

Eulace Peacock, Jimmy Herbert Star in Games

NEW YORK, Jan. 11. (ANP)—Eulace Peacock, former Temple U. track star, and Jimmy Herbert, 1938 indoor sensation, returned to championship form as the 1940 season opened Saturday night in the Knights of Columbus games at the 13th Regiment armory, Brooklyn.

Peacock won the great American sprint series with a first place in the 60 yard dash in which Herbert Thompson, national champion, pulled a tendon, took the 100 easily and was second behind Thompson in the 80. Herbert took the Columbus 500 by five yards in 58.6, just a second slower than the world record.

Long John Woodruff, Olympic champion, finished fifth in the 880 which Glenn Cunningham won. Woodruff lost his long stride when Gene Venzke tripped and fell in front of him and could not regain his form. Curtis Giddings, former New York U. ace, was fourth.

ROSS SNYDER BULLDOG 11 FACES MEXICANS

Set back because of wet weather last Sunday, the "tortilla bowl" game, with the Mexican All-Stars and Ross Snyder Bulldogs as opponents, will be played Sunday afternoon at White Sox Park.

JOHN THOMAS, BOXER, NAMED 'ATHLETE OF MONTH' BY S. P. A. A. U.

Award Goes to 19-Year Old Amateur from Jeff on Basis of Sportsmanship and Record

His display of sportsmanship along with ability that surpassed the performances of other Southland amateur boxers in the recent Golden Gloves tournament won for John Thomas, 19-year old Jefferson High school student, recognition as the athlete of the month in a selection made by the records committee of the SPAAU. It was made public today by Bill Schroeder, committee chairman. Thomas was presented with a gold medal, emblematic of this honor at a meeting the SPAAU, board of managers Friday night, in the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Also honored by the records committee were Art Martel, a member of the S. P. A. A. U. boxing committee, as the committeeman of the month, and Louis Ardonin, amateur wrestling referee, as the official of the month. Both were presented with certificates of merit at Monday night's meeting.

The two fisted Jefferson High School youth punched his way to both the Southern California Golden Gloves championship and the Pacific Coast Tri-City Golden Gloves championship in the featherweight division.

Thomas won six of his eight bouts in the two tournaments by either knockouts or technical knockouts and the two on decisions. Exhibiting unusual sportsmanship, worthy of recognition, Thomas in one bout had the referee stop the fight at the end of the first round, so that he would not have to inflict further punishment on a badly outclassed rival.

The records committee started their selection of the athlete of the month in December, when Bob Hoffman, blocking halfback of the Trojan eleven, was selected for the honor and Miss Edith Pemberton, pretty LAAC swimmer, was named the AAU athlete of the month.

Armstrong K. O.'s Ghnouly

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 11.—Welterweight champion Henry Armstrong successfully defended his world's championship here Tuesday night when he stopped Joe Ghnouly in the fifth round.

Armstrong, fighting in his old home town, had Ghnouly on the floor four times.

Hank Won't Fight Garcia; to Tackle Montanez Jan. 24

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 11 (ANP)—Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong, who knocked out Joe Ghnouly of St. Louis in 34 seconds of the fifth round of their scheduled 15 round bout Thursday night, said before leaving here his proposed bout with Ceferino Garcia, middleweight champion in New York and California, was "all off" and that he would defend his crown against Pedro Montanez in New York on Jan. 24.

"Garcia is too heavy," said Armstrong, who defeated the Filipino in the latter's final welter bout before turning middleweight. "I wanted him to get down to 150 pounds but he wouldn't do it, so the fight's off."

Homicide Hank weighs 138 at present and said he could not get over 140 pounds and still stay in his best fighting trim.

"He's too big and punches too hard for me to meet him with a great difference in weight," Armstrong explained. "He made 146 pounds for me before, and I won that fight in 15 rounds."

In the Ghnouly fight, Henry started out with a rush and had the Italian challenger on the floor three times in the first round and once in the fifth before the finish shortly after the sixth opened. Armstrong seems to have slowed up slightly, but he is more methodical now, not wasting as many punches as he once did.

Refreshments will be served to all.

Wheeler, Jones in L. A. Open

Shooting an 82 and 86 respectively, Howard Wheeler and Roscoe Jones, Negro golfers, were eliminated Friday in the first 18 holes of the annual $5,000 Los Angeles Open.

Wheeler, an Atlantan who came here for the NNGA tournament hosted by the West Coast Golf Club last summer, is rated as one of the best Negro golfers in the country.

Lawson Little, former Stanford student, won the championship Monday, when he shot a blazing 65 for a 282 total.

Geo. Stevens, Pro Gridder, Dead

Star Athlete Who Missed Chance in College Succumbs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. (By Al White for ANP)—The name of George Stevens will never flash across the sports pages of the press of the country because last week up in the little town of Beverly, Mass., George died suddenly, a victim of appendicitis. A splendid physical specimen, George had never been sick a day in his life—until the dread and fatal appendicitis took him out of play.

Weighing around 205 pounds, standing about five feet, 7, in his high school days, George was a holy terror in the line. After completing his preparatory work, he found his way down to New York university, a school supposed to be liberal in its treatment of colored athletes.

Here, the freshman who would have been a find, if he had not been shoved around by coaches, was tried at every position on the team except the one for which he was built and which was visible to the eye of even the rankest amateur footballer.

PUT IN BACKFIELD

Imagine playing a chap like that at end—and then shunting him into the backfield—when his natural position, by virtue of his natural endowments was in the center of the line, no where else.

So after stringing along with Mal Stevens, Charley Commorford, et al for two years, George drifted away from the squad, although he still attended school. He turned his talents to professional football. And the coach of the team welcomed the mighty chap with open arms.

In subsequent games, George proved a veritable tower of strength in his position and soon won the admiration of his fellow players and more than the wholesome respect of his opposition.

Stevens helped himself through school by working in the Harlem Branch YMCA where he was one of the most well liked men in that huge institution. His death was a distinct shock to his former friends and associates—and robbed the sports world of a figure it sadly needed in a world so chaotic and bedevilled.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 11—Xavier university honored the greatest tennis ace in the brief history of the institution last week, formally presenting to Jimmie McDaniels the many trophies won by him during his freshman year.

He was beaten but once in competition last year and that by a youth from his home state, Harold Mitchell of Oakland, winner of the Pacific Coast championship last September.

With Richard Cohen, whom he dethroned for the National Intercollegiate championship, McDaniels won 19 singles and doubles titles, out of 23 events. He was left without a partner, however, upon the graduation of Cohen last June.

'Y' Varsity in Win Over Pasadena Five

Playing heads up ball all the way, the 28th Street "Y" Varsity Basketball team tripped up a Pasadena quintet 29-20, on Jefferson high school court last Thursday.

Coach Nat George had two crack teams that displayed remarkable teamwork and a bewildering offense. Dave Flynn led the scoring with six points while Richie and McLaurin scored four points a piece. A second team composed of McLain, Underwood, Jackson, Charles Scott, Spiller and Mars handled the opponents just as effectively. At the half time ended, the score read—28th Street, 14—Pasadena, 10, but the home team increased that margin to 9 points before the game ended 29-20.

Leading the visitors was Reynolds who scored six points to share scoring honors with Flynn. 28th Street meets Long Beach Saturday on the Long Beach "Y" court.

NEWS VIEWS

By HARRY T. MORGAN

Well, here it is the second week of the New Year, and I suppose most of our resolutions are standing up about as well as a thin-shelled egg in a cement mixer, and our self-manufactured halos are pretty well tarnished and knocked askew. I was kind of interested in the list of resolutions made by the Hollywood movie stars. It looks like there must be a lot of perfect people in the movie town from the kind of vows they made: 'Get to New York as often as possible', 'Shoot a golf hole in par,' 'Learn to ski', 'Take things easier'. Seems to me the best of the remarks was Sidney Toler's. He's the fellow who plays Charlie Chan—and he says, "Resolutions, like love in the moonlight, fade at dawn."

After the holidays most folks are more "choosy" about what they drink. That's why more people are coming to see Harry Morgan who has the largest stock of liquor on Central Avenue. Come to 2729 Central Avenue and meet Harry Morgan who can tell you all there is to know about liquor.

Final Services for William Davis Held Here

Funeral services for the late William Davis, held last Saturday, were attended by hosts of friends and relatives. Rites were conducted in the chapel of Conner-Johnson Funeral parlors. Rev. Clayton D. Russell, assisted by Rev. Carter, officiated.

Floral designs of many descriptions testified to the esteem in which Davis was held. Tributes, condolences and resolutions were presented from groups and organizations with which the deceased had been associated.

Representing Local No. 582, Cooks and Waiters' Union, Richard Salisbury read the resolutions. Percy D. Buck represented the Commissary department and spoke in personal tribute of his late associate.

Mrs. P. M. Grant read a personal tribute from Mr. Grant. A letter of condolence from the crew with which Davis worked, was read by Mr. Killings. William Gillespie was soloist.

Pall bearers were Joseph Mitchell, Theodore Payne, James Butts, Charles Johnson, Preston Killings and Andrew Price.

VFW Post to Meet Next Week

Lt. Col. James M. Beck Post, No. 2651, Veterans of Foreign Wars, meets every first and third Wednesday of each month, Moody Staten, commander; Leon Stewart, quartermaster; Robert Culpepper, adjutant.

Special notice: Our next regular meeting will be held at the Post Club room at 5403 S. Central avenue at 8:00 p. m. sharp, on Jan. 17. Our last meeting was well attended and was very successful. Comrade Henderson won the Jackpot and gave one-half to the Post Relief fund and turned the other half back to the Jackpot for the meeting of the 17th, which will make a sweet pot to shoot at.

Our energetic quartermaster is keeping on the go in his campaign to re-enlist 100% of the old members. It is gratifying to note that he is having great success—But it takes money and time for him to run each individual down, so why not bring your '40 dues to the next meeting or stop in at the office and leave them with the Custodian.

Comrade Harry McCormick is still in the hospital, but we are happy to report that he is doing nicely. Our very active and loyal Comrade Tommy Shores was sent to the hospital Sunday for treatment with a very badly infected eye. Sister Alma Randall, Auxiliary president, has been confined to her home with a very bad cold. Sister Wm. Johnson and Sister Arthur Ellis have also been confined on account of illness. We are happy to report that they are all showing improvement.

The following members were our last meeting: Manolo Henderson, Von Kuykendall, and I.

From New York to California comes Bill Chesley, former chauffeur for Maxine Sullivan, to make his home in Los Angeles and on the Pacific slope. Bill says, "I enjoy the land of sunshine and flowers."

Monte Hawley, motion picture actor, is now on vacation and can be seen doing the nite spots on the loose.

Lorenzo Flennoy's "Chocolate Drops" at the "Club 41" are breaking all attendance records —with Dootsie Williams, Joe Lewis and George Reed. Hollywood is listening. Look out! Theyre on their 'their way and don't say 'I didn't tell you".

Miss Della Miles planed in from Buffalo and Detroit bringing with her Mrs. Roberts, her sister-in-law. They are giving the 5 and 10 mutual windows a good play at Santa Anita.

The Hammonds of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Price and Pierson of Cleveland have not crossed the Rockies yet for their annual trip to the coast and Santa Anita.

Don't believe the "hokum" about Eddie "Rochester" Anderson breaking loose from the racing game and disposing of his stable of race horses because he has a stable of prize fighters. Both divisions of Rochester's enterprises are synchronizing like a watch.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Green, Joe Hamilton, Miss Jackson, Artillia Burns and Ace Adams taking on a few at the Alabam.

Charlotte Walker, Billie Davis, Fay Hollis, Ilene Glass and Grace Lewis sitting at a corner table in the Town Club, attracting male and female gappers.

Johnnie Jones, Henry Armstrong's ex-trainer, Artie Graves, playboy, Grover Woods, Freddie McClane, globe trotter, Salty Dog, now in Seattle, 29 up and down like an elevator and J. C. Sweeney drove a 40 La Salle off the floor to L. A.

Red Cyoute and his band with Bee Wilson, entertainer, holding them down at Jack's Tavern . . Wilbur Baranco, piano; Bob Barfield, sax; Vernon Alley, bass; Edna Ross, Percy Bost, entertainer, packing them in nitely at the Alabam, the only black and tan in Frisco.

J. R. Bowerman, thanks for the letter of introduction to Mr. Mathews, who seems to be a nice chap . . . Aggie Geary back in the San Francisco hospital, for another operation with his many friends rooting for his early recovery . . . Mrs. Cleo Sparks, Rex Langford, Chet Marant and Carl Harris played hard at the Alabam, Jacks Tavern and the Town club.

Steve Broady, Johnny Davis, Woo-Fang, and Nash, racing fans and globe trotters did not do so bad in '39 as they cashed in some big bets on long shots. Hope they will keep up the good work for 1940 . . . Tom Magee, Jimmy Barker, Grant Edison and Bud Chase are regulars and the biggest bettors that go to Santa Anita . . . Johnny Cornish streamlined to Detroit with five 'Gs" in his front pocket to drive a new 1940 automobile off the floor and head it back out California way.

George Ramsey of the Douglas hotel, San Diego, after 13 years being so-so with his wife, Mabel, the court granted a divorce upon demands of Mrs. Ramsey; asked George to buy or sell—he sold. She is now the new boss and asked all of George's employes to "please take a rest". Mr. Ramsey is now a resident of Los Angeles at the Clark hotel and playing the races at Santa Anita. So what?

Five Funeral Services Held at Angelus During Week

HAYDEN

The funeral of Dewey Lee Hayden, well known bail bondsman, was held in the church chapel of Angelus Funeral Home last Friday with Rev. Clayton D. Russell officiating. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

Born in Coffeyville, Kansas, Mr. Hayden died at his home, 4109 Naomi avenue, Jan. 2, after living here 20 years. He leaves his widow, Mrs. L'Ouverture Hayden, mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. George Hayden, and several brothers ano sisters.

ALLEN

Last rites for Mrs. Eliza Allen, who succumbed at her home, 781 Cypress avenue, Pasadena, Jan. 4, were held at Friendship Baptist church of that city, with the pastor, Rev. W. D. Carter, conducting the ceremonies. Angelus Funeral home directed burial in Mountain View cemetery.

Mrs. Allen was born in Stone Mountain, Georgia, and had lived in California 11 years. She leaves two daughters and a son; Mrs. Dorothy Jones and Earl Parker of Pasadena, and Mrs. Ruth Carr of Pennsylvania.

RICHARDSON

Arrangements are being made by Angelus for the final service for Mrs. Rosezellia Richardson, 732 E. 53rd street, who died at the General hospital, Jan. 5. She was born in Lombard, Miss., and had lived here 20 years. Her husband, J. D. Richardson, mother, and other relatives survive.

ROBINSON

The funeral of Mrs. Sophia Cornelia Robinson, 1116 E. 12th street, who died at the General hospital, Jan. 6, was held in the church chapel of Angelus Funeral home Wednesday morning. Rev. S. M. Beane officiated and interment was in Lincoln Memorial Park.

The deceased was born in Little Rock, Arkansas, and had lived in Los Angeles 10 years. She is survived by a husband, John E. Robinson; a brother, Burt Britt, and a cousin, John H. Thomas.

CARTER

Arrangements for the last rites for Robert Carter, of 237½ North Mountain View, are being made by Angelus. Mr. Carter died Monday at the General hospital.

Better Approach to South L. A.

First action to open 103rd street from Clovis avenue to Avalon boulevard was taken this week by Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough to give Watts an adequate approach from the west.

McDonough presented a resolution to the Board of Supervisors setting the money aside for the immediate purchase of necessary right of way for opening 103rd street west of Clovis avenue on condition that the City of Los Angeles will improve the right of way for travel.

This opening of 103rd street to Avalon is one of the projects recommended by the Watts Chamber of Commerce because the street now dead ends at Clovis avenue, and the opening will give Watts adequate approach from the west.

Rector Taking Leave of Absence

Since it has become imperative that J. E. Rector, Supervisor and Deputy Clerk of the American Woodmen, take a much needed rest, he has announced that the major portion of his duties will be discontinued on and after January 10, 1940.

During his absence, Mrs. Zella M. Taylor, Clerk, will have charge of the office, and urges that members pay their dues promptly thus avoiding lapsation of certificates and inconvenience to the member. Office hours are from 9:00 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Mr. Rector expresses gratitude for the hearty support of the officers and members of the three Los Angeles Camps, and solicits their continued good will in the future.

We should behave to our friends as we would wish our friends to behave to us.—Aristotle.

The heart of the giver makes the gift dear and precious.—Luther.

Mr. Shapos is a car repairer. He has worked for the Railway for fourteen years.

Here's what he says about his job:

"What do I think of the Los Angeles Railway? Well, I've been here fourteen years doing the work I like and am fitted for — and I guess that's what most of us want. My paychecks have been sufficient to educate my children, purchase my own home and give me some of the good things in life. The Los Angeles Railway suits me and I know most of the men I work with feel the same."

NAACP Head Reviews Swim Case

The Pasadena NAACP installed officers Sunday as a feature of the community celebration of the Emancipation Proclamation. High light of this program was furnished by Attorney Thomas Griffith, Jr., president of the Los Angeles NAACP and member of the National Legal staff.

Griffith, in charging the 1940 administration to loyally fulfill its responsibilities, reviewed the famous Brookside Park Swimming Pool case to be appealed to the State Supreme Sourt. This case involving the use of the city p nge equally by all the citizens had been decided against the petitioners who sought a writ of mandamus to have city officials open the plunge to Negroes every day that it was open to others. Trial judge Clement D. Nye, decided the writ of mandamus was not the proper remedy. It is this decision which is to be appealed.

"It can be made the law of the State and so become a precedent for all future sections of this kind," Griffith asserted. He mentioned the supporting interest of the national office and also of the Civil Liberties Union.

"If the Pasadena Improvement League can be interested in financing a race restriction program to the sum of five thousand dollars; certainly there are people in Pasadena who believe in justice and democratic ideals who will raise the much smaller amount needed to bring this plunge case to a successful conclusion, in the interest of justice for all the citizens," he said.

The new president, Dr. Lina Griffin, responded in a plea for "unified work on the part of all, that our best work may be done in 1940."

Seattle Woman, 95, Dead

SEATTLE, Jan. 11—Mrs. Emma Brown, 95, one of the oldest Negroes in the State, died here last week at Georgetown hospital, following confinement caused by a paralytic stroke.

Born a slave, Mrs. Brown never knew her exact age. Prior to the Civil War, she lived in the State of her birth, Georgia. Her family moved to Texas where she lived until coming to Seattle in 1908. Outliving all five of her children and husband, no known living relatives survive her.

Jefferson High Hears Federal Theater Chorus

Under the direction of Carlyle Scott, the 85-voice chorus of the Federal Theatre project entertained the Jefferson High school student body at a double assembly Friday.

Mr. Fisher, who was introduced by Sam Lankford, student body president, in turn introduced Mr. Carlyle Scott and announced the numbers. Olive Ball sang "Danny Boy", Carrie Daniels sang "Goin' Home" and James Miller sang the solo p rt of his own arrangement of 'I Feel a Song Coming On.'

The chorus and the male quartette gave selections and the program was ended impressively with the singing of tne "Hallelujah Chorus."

A number of the members of the chorus are former students at Jefferson.

War Minister 'Gets the Sack'

The War Minister of Great Britain dismissed last week by Neville Chamberlain and the bloc of English conservatives probably is the finest official the Empire's War Department has experienced in more than a century.

Hore-Belisha has effected sweeping reforms throughout the traditionally stuffy command of the English Army. Upon his appointment, Hore-Belisha immediately dismissed scores of incompetent and aged major-domos whose inefficiency had long hampered the power of English fighting forces. However, these conservative and ancient commanders have maintained their positions through successive administrations because they were scions of the proper families and belonged to the proper military societies. They were sacred cows and they knew it. To them, such young "radicals" as Anthony Eden and Hore-Belisha were impertinent upstarts threatening to undermine the venerable traditions of the Empire. In this case, the traditions of the Empire were themselves.

Another move of Hore-Belisha that struck fury in Tory hearts was his bold espousing of the enlisted man's cause and the rights of native troops. One of the ancient fetishes of the British High Command is the notion that native troops should fall over themselves to protect the Empire, meanwhile suffering vicious discrimination and humiliation at the white troops. In highest conservative circles, this particular move—the recognition of native troops as more or less responsible soldiers—was an unforgivable affront.

So, this week, Hore-Belisha suffers the fate that befell his predecessor in conservative disdain, Anthony Eden. This week the one active force that might have swept the cobwebs from Britain's military machine, has been removed. It is a strange turn of events. Actually, Chamberlain has dismissed Hore-Belisha because he was too efficient—too competent in raising an army of 1,000,000 men—and threatening to raise commanders from the ranks.

. . . . The native troops are once again friendless.

Pacific Defense Plans Told

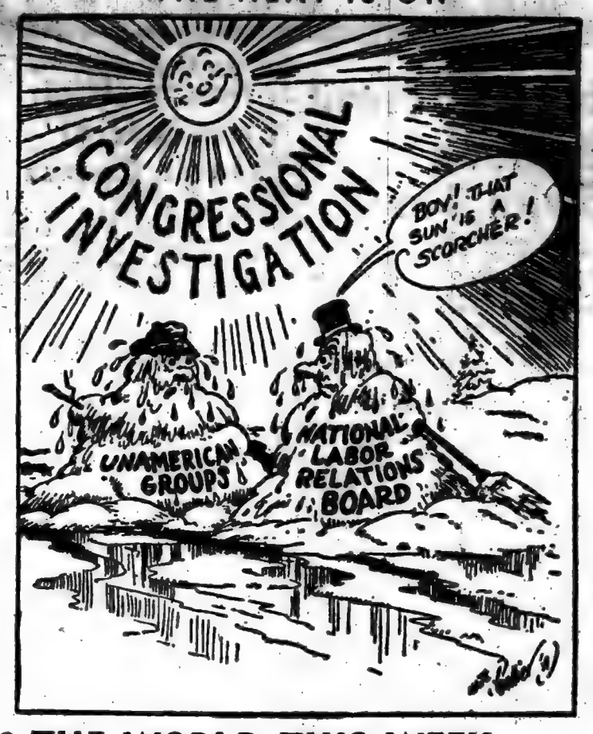
The aspect of the European War "spreading" to the Orient has inspired the Federal powers that be to invest increasingly large sums in the defense of the Pacific Coast

For many years, some residents of the West Coast have wailed loud and long o'er the possibility of invasion from the East—to no avail. Now, however, Washington has suddenly realized the vulnerability of our vast Coast Line—and the potential defense "weak link" that is Alaska.

But it now appears that the War Department will reform vigorously and immediately. Praise be.

150-Year Life Span

"There are children born in this decade who will live to be 150-years old as result of advances made in trace minerals and vitamins in diet," said Dr. Christian P. Segard, New York City, who does field work for the Wisconsin Alumni Research Association, it was revealed this week.



The newest thing in the field, only recently coming into use by physicians, Dr. Segard says, is giving copper with iron in treatment of anemia. This speeds up the cure remarkably. Copper like iron is in all human bodies.

Dr. Segard believed that proper use of vitamins and trace minerals can so adjust what the body does with food that the period of life can be greatly lengthened and be made more agreeable.

He says that emotional stress, one of the great causes of indigestion, will have to be regulated by the individual himself. But with that aside, medical science now has enough knowledge to increase the span of life.

Dr. Segard does not believe the time ever will come when man can live on tablet food. Nature simply did not arrange things that way.

THE HEAT IS ON

THE WORLD THIS WEEK

"DIVINE DESTINY"

To Japan's government the New Year has brought anger and grief. The grief comes from the unflinchingly militant stand of the Chiang-Kai-Shek regime in China. Far from showing signs of collapsing, China's resistance is steadily strengthening, and the dauntless spirit of her millions of people clearly says, "We have just begun to fight!" But Japanese anger, in the past few days has been reserved for the United States, and its apparent indifference to arranging any agreement to take the place of the Japanese-American commercial treaty expiring January 26. The slamming shut of the Open Door in China, no less than the merciless bombings of civilian populations has sharply alienated American feelings toward Japan's "new order in Asia". But this the Japaneses leaders are unwilling, or unable, to see. To them, the conquest of China is part of their "divine, historic destiny." In the face of this, America's lack of sympathy or cooperation is regarded as sheer stubbornness and pervisity. It is indeed a cruel and heartless world that greets the warlords of Japan this week!

FOR PEACE ON EARTH

President Roosevelt's appointment of Myron C. Taylor, Protestant steel magnate, as personal representative to the Vatican marks one more attempt to discover an avenue to peace in this warring world. As such, it has won widespread approval, despite some quibbling from the sidelines by those who at first feared it represented formal diplomatic recognition of the Vatican. It may be doubted whether this action will stem the tides of warfare now sweeping Europe and a goodly part of the seven seas, but any step for peace, however improbable of fulfillment it may be, is a wise step and should not be neglected. The destruction of government, of homes and of industry, exact tremendous tolls from the material and spiritual resources of mankind. Any worthy efforts to halt the explosive violence of warfare, to hold fast to the ideal of "peace on earth, good will toward men," deserves wholehearted support!

COSTLY "CLIENT"

Relief has brought a four-aspirin headache to California. Charges of pressure group activities, nepotism, waste and inefficiency in the business activities of the State Relief Administration—made in a special report last week—give indication that not all of California's great and growing relief bill can be blamed on relief clients themselves. Maladministration, judging by the report, has also been a costly "client" on the State's relief payrolls. With the deficiency in the State treasury's general fund now at its highest peak in history, having reached $55,637,821 at the end of the first five months of the present fiscal year, plugging up of wasteful leaks in relief administration is imperative. The alternative is an ever rising flood of expenditures which cannot help but ultimately threaten the State's solvency—and throw thousands more on relief.

AN EYE FOR FREEDOM

Precious privileges often remain unrecognized—until they are suddenly withdrawn. How much is the privilege of living in America worth? Ask Fein Hayden, Albanian now awaiting deportation. He offered an American woman, blind since the age of 6, his right eye if she would intercede in his behalf. The proposal failed. Immigration officials said her efforts would be futile. But there's a measure of the value one man sets on freedom!

NO ELECTORAL COLLEGE?

Seeking to streamline government in the interests of more accurate representation, measures have been introduced into every Congress for years proposing to abolish the electoral college and changing the present method of electing a president. The present session will be no exception. In a pre-congressional debate, Rep. Lea last week again advanced a constitutional amendment to discard the electoral college, but leave each state its present number of electoral votes. These votes, however, would be apportioned among the candidates for the presidency according to the size of the popular vote. Under the present, admittedly less representative, system of election, a candidate who wins a majority of the vote in California, for example, receives all the electoral votes of this State. As a result, the electoral college frequently gives a distorted picture of public political sentiment. But streamlining government, even in the interests of efficiency, is a very slow process, weighted as it is by the heavy hand of tradition. A early end to the elec- but not counted on.

toral college may be hoped for—

OTHER PAPERS SAY:

Digesting the News
By T. JOHN WOODS in Seattle Enterprise.

Many years ago, before we had reached school age, or became interested in Negro history, our step-dad told us there were 13,000,000 Negroes living in America. We thought our step-dad was a wonderful man and we figured he was perhaps the only person in the world who knew how many Negroes were in America. We asked him how he knew about the Negro population and he told us his dad had told him when he was about our age. We were not old enough at that time to conclude that there should be more than the original 13,000,000 Negroes in America. However, we thought that was quite a number of people living anywhere.

In our second year in grade school, our teacher, whose name was Mrs. Saunders and who had a talent for figures, told us one day that, of all the people living in passing years, they had reached the conclusion that Seattle Negroes have a problem—in fact, two problems.

The results of this collective brain storm revealed that the two major problems confronting the race were the matter of jobs for the group and the problem of juvenile delinquency which is on the increase. It was unanimously decided that there are a few jobs which rightfully belong to the group but for obvious reasons the group does not hold. In the question of the younger group, our leaders arrived at the conclusion that said group can find nothing to do with its spare time (of which it has plenty) and no place to do it. After arriving at these conclusions, the leaders have retired to their respective sanctum sanctoriums to watch and wait while the problems solve themselves.

Lookin' back to six months ago, when I was tempted to worship at the shrine of this rare Negro society, and bow in reverence to the high quality leadership by which it is represented, I now wonder on what they base their claims. When I think of the opportunities that rapped at the door of Negro leadership—opportunities to create figures.

Ten years ago we heard Dr. R. R. Moton tell a large gathering of people how the influence of Tuskegee Institute affected the 13,000,000 Negroes living in America. Nobody else seemed to doubt that only 13,000,000 Negroes lived in America, so we did not attempt to get Dr. Moton off to one side and try to sneak in a couple extra million Negroes on the count. Besides, Dr. Moton was a great educator and probably knew his apples when it came to Negro affairs. We let him get away but we still felt he was short on his count.

Five years ago, we attended a big mass meeting in Brooklyn and heard Ben Davis enumerate the benefits he said the 13,000,000 Negroes had derived from the Communist Party. We had been doing a little figuring and had arrived at the conclusion that there should be about 15,000,000 Negroes living in America by now. We didn't want to make a liar out of Mr. Davis for a mere 2,000,000 Negroes, so we didn't attempt to prove our point.

Dr. Emmett J. Scott, eminent Republican, in a release for national publication, said last week that the 13,000,000 Negroes in this country are returning to the Republican Party. We know we shouldn't doubt a man like Dr. Scott, but it seems to us that he doesn't know his figures or else there is something very rotten in the city of Denmark.

Now in the last 75 years, Negroes have rapidly multiplied and we think those new Negroes should be made to answer the roll call. Negroes have no claim on longevity it is true, but they don't die any faster than they are born. What we want to know is, what has become of all those Negroes? Who has them and for what? We don't understand how the count is kept down, but it looks to us like there is a Negro in the woodpile someplace. In fact, there must be a lot of them in a lot of woodpiles for they continue to elude the census takers and the authorities on Negro affairs.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

GROUCH LIST

Dear Editor:

For a long time in transacting the business of ordinary living on the Eastside, I have been irked by several conditions which are inefficient, bad business and a waste of the time of both the customer or patron, and businessman or representative of an institution.

Since this is a new year, I would like to list my "grouches" and air them through your paper. No doubt there are others who feel the same way about hese small annoyances. Perhaps the persons responsible will heed our concerted voices and remedy matters.

The Eastside branch of the Post Office is first on my "grouch list". Station K, as it is called, is the most untidy branch in the city, and in addition, the service is terrible. The windows look as if they are washed only twice a year. The floor looks as if it were never scrubbed.

The clerks, I am sure, do their best to perform their duties speedily and thus keep traffic moving, but there evidently are not enough of them. Never have I seen more than one window opened for money orders, and there are usually 10 to 12 people at a time, waiting to be served. It takes a good three minutes to make out each money order, so you see how long you have to wait when you're near the tail end of the line. Only one window is kept open for stamps, postal cards and packages. To buy a two cent stamp, one must wait at least 15 minutes.

My next "grouch" the Vernon Branch of the Public Library. In all cases mentioned, I must emphasize that the persons serving the public render a maximum of service, are courteous and helpful within the means at their disposal.

I hardly think a finer staff than the one at Vernon could be found at any library in the city. My beef is with the Library board which permits such a deplorable lighting condition to exist. After four o'clock in the afternoon, it is almost impossible to see in certain sections of the library. I understand that a faulty wiring condition exists, which accounts for the impediment. But some makeshift remedy should be employed because our girls and boys, men and women, who use the library, are literally ruining their eyes. I also wish to comment on the lack of Negro reference at Vernon. Situated, as it is, in the heart of California's biggest Negro section, the Library should carry every Negro newspaper, periodical and book in the country. But it doesn't.

I trade almost exclusively at Safeway Stores. Usually, because I live near Avalon, I go to the one located at 41st and Avalon. Sometime, however, I am on Central avenue and I stop in at the one on Jefferson and Centray. To do so is always a displeasure. Contrasted to the one at 41st and Avalon, the Central store, which seems to do a greater business, (perhaps I am wrong), is untidy and crowded. Don't misunderstand me. The quality of merchandise is all right, is fine, in fact. But it is so unattractively displayed.

Safeway to me, a long-time customer, has always meant just what the name implies, the Safe Way of shopping. But a glance at their Central avenue store does not inspire faith in the Safe Way.

Briefly, other "grouches" include: the discourtesy of Avenue hotel clerks, the slowness of Avenue restaurant and lunch counter waitresses, the poor lighting of streets East of Central.

My proposal is this, that persons who concur with me in these "grouches", clip this letter if you print it, and mail it to the persons involved. For example, to Mrs. Briggs of the Post Office; to the Public Library Board.

I shal sign my name, but respectfully request that you withhold it from publication.

NAT'L. GUARD UNDER FIRE

Ed's. Note: The following is a copy of a letter sent Congressman Ford and submitted the EAGLE for reproduction.

Honorable Thomas F. Ford
House Office Building
Washington, D. C
My dear Congressman Ford:

We again submit for your consideration the subject of National Guard participation for Colored citizens in the State of California. You are familiar with efforts expended toward that goal during the past two or three years. There has been existent an impregnable defense, both within the state and at Washington, for the exclusion of Colored citizens from such participation in peace-time military training. The reasons for such exclusion have ranged from "political expediency" to the technical factors of national defense. At the center of all these subterfuges is the matter of color, rather than citizenship in a democracy.

It is a strange paradox, and commentary on democracy, to see those citizens denied an equal opportunity to acquire military skills in times of peace, forced to bear arms in times of war; for the protection of a nation so indifferent to the truisms of free government.

To partially correct this inadequacy of citizenship privileges, we present for your consideration the advisability of introducing conditional legislation to the Congress. It is our opinion that a separate bill, or an amendment to all bills, should be introduced and enacted to cover any legislation carrying War Department or National Defense appropriations for National Guard expenditures, as follows: Provided that no part of such sums shall be allotted to any state which does not provide equal opportunity for all citizens to receive National Guard training regardless of race, color or religion.

Please favor us with your early consideration of this proposal and reply.

With best wishes for a profitable New Year session of Congress, we are

Sincerely yours,
Baxter S. Scruggs, Chmn.

NEGLECTED VETERANS

Dear Editor:

Being confined to a hospital bed at any time of the year is unpleasant in itself, but being thus confined during the Christmas season is depressing indeed. That has been my lot this Christmas.

Not only has it been my lot, but the lot of many other disabled Negro war veterans, a condition that none of us want again.

There are more than 80 of us here at the present time and you can imagine how eagerly we wait for Thursday and the California Eagle. That is one of the few pleasurable events of the week and when a copy of the EAGLE has made the rounds of the different wards, it has been avidly read, I assure you.

We had as pleasant a Christmas as could be expected under the circumstances. I am sorry to say, however, that I cannot say thanks to the members of our Race.

Mrs. Bass, do you know that every enterprise known was represented here during the holidays, giving presents, consolation and cheer to the disabled veterans except those of our Race. Not a dark face representing an organization entered these doors. Not a present, a smile, encouragement, consolation or a cheer came to us from any veterans' organizations, religious organizations, fraternal, social, charitable, or what have you, of our own people in the entire city.

I am in a ward of 68 veterans. Four of us are colored. We don't feel hurt, but ashamed of our people's gross and noticeable neglect. I say noticeable because several questions were asked about it by veterans of the other groups, very embarrassing condition indeed.

We are grateful for you and the California Eagle. I am pleased to remain,

Respectfully yours,
Vernon W. Reynolds, A. M.

THANK YOU NOTE

The LAUNDRYMAN

Our group lost a grand old man when Kelly Miller, former Dean of Howard University was ushered into the Unknown last week. His qualifications and contributions as an educator are so widely known that I feel it unnecessary to attempt to add thereto. However, there was another intimate, personal side of this eminent man of which many were probably not aware.

Unsuspected, by many who met him only formally or listened to his scholarly addresses—and wondered privately from what dictionary he had filched his freight-car words—Dean Miller had a broad unfailing sense of humor which often cropped out in unexpected moments.

I remember an afternoon some years ago when Dean Miller was preparing to leave the University to speak in Richmond, Virginia. At that time, he was teaching the sophmore trigonometry class. Your humble servant happened to be one of its densest, most unenlightened members. After convening the class and announcing that he would absent for a few days, he immediately pounced upon me, sent me to the blackboard and gave me a problem to work out and explain to the class. With my heart beating a rapid tattoo, I wrote the problem on the board at his dictation.

Then, instead of trying to solve it—an effort which would have been utterly useless, for to this day I have not the slightest idea as to the wherefore of TRICKONOMETRY—I turned and looked straight at Dean Miller with a martyr-like expression in my eyes. The great mathematician must have read my mind for he grinned indulgently.

"I guess you can take your seat now, Mr. Jones. You probably did all you could do when you wrote the example down. I'll call upon someone else to finish it," he said. As I started to my seat with a sigh of relief, he added, "Don't be too discouraged. Time solves many problems. Maybe the next generation of the Joneses will produce a mathematician."

Dean Miller had a very kindly heart and was always willing to aid impoverished boys who were trying to work their way through school. One case I remember well, involving a classmate dubbed "Crip" Young, a handsome, square-shouldered, dark-skinned young man from Memphis, Tennesee, whose sartorial elegance was the despair of many a senior as well as sophmore. One bright Fall day, one week after the opening of the Fall semester, Dean Miller received a letter from "Crip" Young which he read to the class. It stated that "Crip" was stranded in Buffalo, and that he wanted the Dean to forward him his fare so that he could return to school. As "Crip" was a great favorite, the class scraped up a few dollars. Dean Miller made up the balance needed and forwarded the money to him.

Two days later "Crip" Young showed up on the Howard campus with a wardrobe that would have shamed a movie-actor. It comprised 10 silk shirts, five new suits of clothes and two modish overcoats.

For four successive days, he appeared in Dean Miller's classroom garbed in a different suit each day. On the fifth day, he appeared in a striking pearl-gray outfit, with gloves and hat to match. Dean Miller could stand it no longer.

"Mr. Young," he said soberly. "When you wrote us for aid, I got the impression that you were in financial straits. It seems now that I was all wrong. So far I have noticed you sporting five different suits, while I, your Dean, have only two." Unabashed, Mr. Young answered seriously: "That may be true Dean, but you should remember that I am "Crip" Young and that I have my reputation to maintain the same as you." Everyone laughed heartily at Young's audacious answer and the Dean joined in.

All in all, Dean Miller for all his erudition was very human. In the classroom, he was very informal, easily reached when outside of it, kindly, sympathetic, and possessed of a rare sense of humor. He was one of the truly great men of our group of the past generation and played well his part in the evolution of our group during the active years of his life.

America's step-children must make best of what hollywood throws at them--huffman

BY EUGENE H. HUFFMAN

Yes, the "best seller" of 1936-7, that rabble-rousing literary whirlwind that was hurled across the literary horizon by the amazing might of a fragile Southern Lady some few years ago; that "immortal masterpiece" which, thus far, has been paralleled only by "The Klansmen" and its subsequent screen product "The Birth of a Nation," after three years of the eternal Hamletan question, "To be or not to be?" and "who" was to be and who just simply but emphatically would not be, finally "came to life" on the silver screen and was presented to a palpitating world for a "Christmas present" in the year of our Lord, 1939. Glory be!

And what is this terrific wind that is now blowing across America's silver screen? TRIPE, my dear children, just plain tripe. Even though it is served up with all the rare spices and embellishments at the command of Hollywood's most talented and fabulous-salaried cinema chefs, "Gone With The Wind" is still dramatic tripe of the most wanton, bawdy and immoral sort. It lacked only the genius of Miss Mae West to lift it from the commonplace to a real work of art.

To begin with, "Gone With The Wind" is based upon a theme that is supercharged with sectional and racial dynamite. And since its author obviously had no message for the world or deep concern for the destiny of humanity, the world is in no wise better off as a result of her amazing industry. The story of her wanton Jezebel and profligate Casanova could easily have been written without all the historical drama of Sherman's "March Through Georgia" and the Reconstruction period to hang it upon. This danger-fraught material should be left to inspired writers whose pens are capable of bringing humanity into closer unity and lifting universal thoughts to a higher plane. Mediocre reactionary writers shouldn't play around with so much dynamite for the mere sake of giving the sensation-loving masses a thrill.

HARMLESS FIREWORKS

Fortunately, Hollywood has learned much since the filming of "The Birth of A Nation." It has learned how to extract practically every ounce of TNT from even the most dangerous explosive and convert it into comparatively harmless fireworks. Messrs. Selznick, Fleming, et al, are deserving of innumerable laurels for their success in this direction. But it is just too bad that so much fire photography, technicolor and scenic art had to be wasted on such rubbish.

Those who distinguish between fine acting and mere physical attraction cannot but regret the choice of principal characters. Certainly Mr. William Powell would have given a much finer portrayal of the devil-may-care sophisticate than the genial Mr. Gable. And since Miss Mae West isn't the "type," Miss Katherine Hepburn would have completely eclipsed Miss Vivien Leigh had she been cast in the role of Scarlett. But, after all, what difference? Reaction is reaction regardless of who is doing the "acting."

Much has been written about Miss Hattie McDaniel having "stolen the show,"—when the cold truth is that Miss McDaniel simply wasn't allowed ample opportunity to do any successful "stealing." The role of "Mammy" is deliberately misinterpreted from the beginning to the end. But this misinterpretation is obviously the handiwork of the directors and continuity writers and the sin does not lie at the door of the talented actress. In her screen version, "Mammy" is represented simply as a bossy shrew who is a fanatic about the oftimes ridiculous conventions of the time. Her great Christian virtue and deep spirituality is completely lost sight of. The result is that she is too often comic. The "Mammy" that was created by Miss Mitchell bossed the O'Hara brood out of love and devotion, and devotion to their saintly mother. This fact, if not firmly established in the opening chapters of the novel, was very clearly established near its close when Mammy, having finally despaired of Scarlett's wantoness, announced that her "work was done," that she heard the voice of the now long deceased "Miss Ellen" calling her, and she, too, was going home to Tara, to await the Final Curtain.

This touchingly dramatic scene would have given Miss McDaniel her greatest opportunity. But Hollywood is not a land of opportunity for talented Negroes. America's stepchildren must take what is grudgingly thrown at them in Hollywood and make the best of it.

"Gone With the Wind" is entirely too long a story to give a thorough criticism of its merits and demerits within limited space. And anyhow, I had better stop before I SAY something, something that a lot of people won't be able to take. I had better content myself with the report that every Negro performer in the mammoth cast did credit to cinematic art and to the RACE with such opportunity as was afforded them. But if the show was stolen, then it was stolen by Miss Olivia de Havilland as the saintly "Miss Melanie." Miss de Havilland played upon the heart strings every time she showed her sweet face on the screen, and touched even the most callous with the beauty of her Christian virtue. The most touching scene in the entire picture was between Miss Melanie and the beautiful harlot, Belle Watling, when the latter came under cover of night to impress upon Mrs. Wilkes the inadvisability of [illegible] ing an intended personal call [illegible] her at her brothel.

A lot more could be said, but since "Gone With the Wind" lacks the slightest claim to greatness, like its symbolical theme, it soon will be gone forever.

Galento Talks Great Fight With Louis

Two Ton Tony Calls Louis Awkward in June Fight Ballyhoo

ORANGE, N. J., Jan. 11. (By Irvine I. Turner for ANP)—Wednesday evening, Two Ton Tony Galento, No. 1 challenger for the heavyweight crown now worn by Joe Louis, who was interested in playing a smart game of poker with Jimmie Frain, his publicity manager, and others at his tavern at 24 S. Day street, was interrupted when two local colored reporters entered and requested that he grant an interview.

Galento was prevailed upon to answer several questions, among which was one having to do with being banned from New York in another championship brawl with Louis. In replying, Galento shouted:

"I wouldn't give a happy if those old Civil-War veterans don't want me to fight Louis in New York. In the first place, the present old maids' uncles" speaking of the N. Y. boxing commission "should be pensioned, because they have never had on a pair of gloves and know nothing pertaining to boxing, and they are foolish for thinking they can hurt me, for to tell the truth, both Louis and myself can get a better bet in Philly, because in Philly there are more colored and certainly more Italians, and there is at least one colored person serving on the boxing commission which I think is all the more reason why Louis as well as myself should want the fight to go to the State of Pennsylvania. Who cares, let New York lose that handsome bunch of cabbage (money) don't worry about Tony, because they think they can drag the average fool around they have another guess coming.

CLAIMS THOMAS FIGHT ON LEVEL

"As far as them banning this coming champion fight between Louis and me because of their interests in pugilism, they don't have to beat around the bush, yes, they think that fight with Thomas was a fixed one. Why don't they go and ask Thomas why he did not shoot off his little snoot before or after the fight? Thomas knew he had better lay down before I knocked him flat, that is the reason why they say the fight was in the bag. When I entered the ring, Thomas was out like a light, because he knew I could knock his eyes behind him. He must ave done like any other smart boxer would have done in his place. When he came out of his corner and tasted one of my best Sunday schoolers, he knew he had better hit the deck. I knocked him out on the level, for I wanted to be the champion.

SAYS OTIS "HOMAS TOUGHEST

When asked if his eye was really on the blink, and if Louis was the cause of his bad sight, Tony Galento said, "there is nothing wrong with my vision, because I can read the finest size type out of both eyes from the regular distance and my eyes do not hurt me, and Joe Louis was not the cause of my eyes bothering me. Joe Louis was not the toughest man I fought, for Otis Thomas did more damage to me than Louis can ever be able to do. Otis hit me with evreything and more often, hurting me everywhere, and left two lumps in my head, lumps in my jaw, and bad eyes. Otis Thomas almost knocked my socks off, and I took a terrible beating but my left was his down-fall and would have been Louis' if I had not turned my back on him after knocking him down.

"When fighting Louis I discovered a great thing. Louis sends home a punch with either hand, but that hand gives a twist, and whoever it strikes it cuts up that person. Louis is an artist at twisting a punch, and that punch is certain to bleed a man. If we fight again, Louis will not be able to hit me that way again."

A Winter Treat – Baked Spiced Oranges

BY BETTY BARCLAY

What winter fruits lack in variety they more than make up for in universal appeal and availability. Everyone likes oranges and apples; everyone can have them as Nature is generous with these fruits which are packed with health as well as flavor.

There's no better way to serve apples or oranges than just as they come from the tree—or in juice form for oranges, but there are many ways of cooking them which will be different and delight the family. For instance, these large California Navel oranges which ripen just in time for the holidays and can be had all winter are grand when seasoned a bit and baked to serve hot with meat—especially with goose, duck, pork or ham.

Many variations in cooked oranges to accompany the meat course have been originated by Californians—perhaps because California Navels, seedless and firmer-meated than most varieties, usually grow to a larger size than other oranges and are therefore easier to work with.

For the Baked Spiced Oranges pictured, choose large or medium-sized fruit, one orange for every two persons. Cut oranges in halves. Loosen segments in each half with a sharp knife or scissors. Top each half with:

1 teaspoon brown sugar
½ teaspoon butter
Sprinkle of nutmeg and cinnamon

Bake in moderate oven (350°) for about 45 minutes or until well heated, and butter, sugar and spices have penetrated into the fruit. Serve as a meat accompaniment. Each orange half may be decorated with a cherry or a glazed cranberry. It is important that the oranges be hot when served.

If you don't have time to prepare these spiced oranges, why not try some broiled orange slices? Choose clean, unblemished fruit. Cut the whole, unpeeled fruit into slices ¾ inch thick. Marinate 30 minutes or more in Lemon French dressing, using ¼ cup lemon juice, ½ cup salad oil and seasoning. Place about 3 inches under the flame and broil for 5 to 10 minutes until edges of orange slices are slightly browned. Serve hot.

Another recipe which is delicious is for baked oranges to be served hot with meat or cold in a salad or dessert.

4 Navel oranges
2 cups water
2 cups sugar
¾ cup white corn syrup

Boil whole, unpeeled oranges for about 30 minutes or until tender. Cool. Cut into halves, quarters or ½ inch slices. Mix corn syrup, sugar and water together and cook 5 minutes. Pour this syrup over the cooked oranges which have been placed in baking dish. Cover closely and bake at moderate temperature (350°) for 1½ hours. If orange pieces are not completely covered by syrup, baste frequently. Remaining syrup may be served with oranges as a sauce.

For variation syrup may be colored red, may be flavored with spice or with maple syrup. The orange may be stuck with whole cloves before baking.

To keep for future use, seal while hot in sterilized jars.

For a salad, arrange pieces of baked orange around a mound of cottage or cream cheese on bed of lettuce; accompany with any desired dressing.

For a dessert, brown a marshmallow on each quarter or slice or sprinkle with coconut.

Compton Jaysee Opens Hoop Season Tonight

Compton Junior College's fast quintet will open its 1939 Metropolitan Conference basketball campaign tonight against the rangy Glendale Junior college five in a game to be played in the Tartar gymnasium. The tip-off for the varsity contest is set for 8 p. m. The two teams appear evenly matched and a close and high-scoring game looms.

Heading the Tartar attack are a trio of veterans from last year's great Compton quintet Ed Moore forward; and John Stege and Leonard Buchanan, guards. Don Moore, former Huntington Park High school ace, and Nye Moses, ex-Redondo prep star, will complete the Tartar starting lineup at forward and center.

The Tartar five is probably the shortest in the history of Compton Junior College, but the team boasts of exceptional speed. Mentor Tay Brown plans to utilize this speed against the rangy invaders.

Bill Gibson, speedy forward and Gene Hamlin, sharp-shooting guard, who prepped at Huntington Park, and Guido Zamperini of Sau Pedro, brilliant reserve guard, are also considered as threats for the Tartars.

Tomorrow night the Tartars will journey to Santa Monica to tangle with Sangor Crumpacker Chaffey Invitational championship five. Leading the Santa Monica offense are a pair of sensational basket-shooting forwards—Bob Nelson and Bo Rohrer.

true not only among Negroes but liberal Americans at large.

First blow was the Hitler-Stalin Pact, which robbed communists of many of their ardent supporters. However, the most damaging shift of communist party policy was the sudden and unaccounted for pleas for American isolation. During the Spanish Civil War, communists had been loud in their arguments for the lifting of the Arms Embargo and other measures purporting to insure neutrality. Indeed, thousands of earnest young American communists died on Spanish soil. There was no more eloquent revelation of communist policy. The Reds, favoring such gallant personal intervention, certainly must have desired nation-wide intervention to "protect the beleagured Spanish Loyalists."

But after the Hitler-Stalin Pact, the Reds suddenly joined forces with Republicans in their desire for U. S. isolation. The reason was soon obvious: American communists wanted Uncle Sam to keep hands off Europe so that Joe Stalin could pursue his tyrannical course with tiny Finland

This combination of events strengthened the doubts of many American liberals who had long distrusted the pro-Stalin communist party. It was recalled, for instance, that the official Red publication have long been an affront to all true journalistic standards. Every minute news stories in such publications were thoroughly biased--often to the point of abomination. Informed people vouch for the fact that many inflammamtory articles printed in Red papers were unchecked for accuracy and often presented flagrant misstatements and slurring falsehoods.

High minded liberals long had feared that such an inferior press could not represent a movement with any pure objectives.

However, since the Russo-Finnish conflict, there has grown up a sudden and dangerous intolerance with regards all communists all radicals and all unionists.

The failure of Judge Landis, dean of the Harvard Law School, to recommend deportation of Harry Bridges, West Coast labor leader, has been denounced with ferocity in some quarters.

During his stint upon the witness stand Bridges denied that he was a communist, admitted that he has associated with them, and defined a basic fundamental of his labro organization as "a determination to resist any and all discrimination based upon race or creed."

Now it would appear that Bridges' fearless defense of minority groups at a time when such statements might have cost him deportation reveal, perhaps, a great deal more of true Americanism than is betrayed by his loudest enemies. At least, it is reasonable to assume that Bridges' remarks concerning racial discrimination are more in accordance with the American ideal than the acts of certain highly respected citizens who refused to name Kenny Washington on the All-West football squad simply because his skin was a little darker than that of other contestants.

Though active pro-Stalin communism has been completely discredited, we must guard against classing all radicals together. Russian exiles Karensky and Trotsky are living symbols of differences in communist opinion out of the Soviet itself. Certainly, then, it is logical to assume that there are earnest—and significant--differences among American communists. We must remember that the Red party still has the protection of U. S. Laws. Any citizen has the right to believe in the downfall of capitalism and has also the right to work for that downfall through legal means, as provided in the Constitution. However, no American has the right to operate as a foreign agent for another government, working for our national downfall rather than the end of an economic order. Here is the essential difference between the two schools of thought in U. S. communism. One is entitled to every protection of our laws; the other merits the full punishment of our laws.

Another notion that had best be removed from the national list of preconceptions is that radicals are somehow impure and un-American. Historically America is the birthplace of new ideas and new concepts, so the "Un-American" is thoroughly out of order. Second, the idea of radical "impurity". To a discerning eye, it is plain that most sincere radical believers are far "purer" in their ideas than the rest of us. Usually, they have well defined beliefs which are of vital importance to them. Contrast this purity of radical belief with the vague, indifferent, and often uninformed attitude of members in more conventional political parties. Indeed, radicalism often demands courage of the highest type to withstand frequent social ostracism and the general discomfitures of a bitterly opposed minority.

Personally, I do not believe that communism, even the purest kind, is the solution of our problems. I believe that personal ownership is a too well-fixed and stimulating part of human nature to be arbitrarily denied by any political or economic deserting of GOP backers by Rep. Wadsworth (R. N. Y.), who denounced the bill as a "futile measure that can never be enforced; one that is a snare and a delusion, which will bring bitter disillusionment ultimately to multitudes of good people."

Chairman Hatton Summers, (D. Tex.), of the Judiciary committee, which refused to approve the measure, told the House the bill "violates fundamental natural laws underlying democracy."

Rep. Hoffman (R. Mich.), attacked a provision in the bill which would exempt from penalties imposed on counties, States and local police officials, responsibility for deaths caused in Labor disputes by mobs.

Within the past few years, he said, more deaths had occurred in labor disputes than by lynchings.

Rep. Gavagan (N., N. Y.), sponsor of the bill, had previously announced he would move to strike out the exemption on labor disputes.

COALITION EFFECTIVE

After noses were counted by newsmen and NAACP officials, it was concluded that a coalition of Northern Democrats and Republicans had jammed the measure through the House. It was contended in some quarters that anti-lynching enemies had neglected to "turn on the heat" in the House, since they intend to sink the measure via filibuster in the upper chamber.

Senate southerners were reported on good authority to be lubricating their vocal chords in anticipation of the verbal marathon.

Expect Census to Show Negro Status

dropped consistently as the figures indicate. What will the present proportion be? Experts declare the question debateable and feel that the 1940 census will show an even smaller percentage of Negroes in the country than there were in 1930.

However, in the coming census, officials are more than anxious to have more correct information and data on the Negro population of the United States and are seeking to make this count as accurate as possible. To that end, information that may throw a new light upon the social and economic problems of the Negro in the U. S. will be obtained.

This will be derived from six separate censuses, all of which will be taken in 1940. They will be the census of population; the census of agriculture; the census of housing; the census of business and manufacturing; and the census of mines and quarries. The latter three will begin earlier than the first three as they require several months to complete.

There can be no mergers of land ownership; the property must remain divided. Florida's 'Scottsboro' Case Before U. S. Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, D. C. Jan. 11.—Florida's famous "Scottsboro" Cace, involving four Negro youths who have faced death five times since they were picked up in Broward County, Florida and charged with the murder of a Greek fish peddler, was heard before the United States Supreme Court, Thursday.

Representing the defendants Izell Chambers, Jack Williamson, Charlie Davis and Walter Woodard were: S. D. McGill, of Jacksonville, Florida, who four times snatched the youths from the electric chair and Leon A. Ransom, of the NAACP National Legal Committee. Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the NAACP appeared on the brief. McGill and Ransom argued the case before the high court.

Associate Justices Frankfurter, Black and Roberts repeatedly questioned Tyrus A. Norwood, assistant attorney general of Florida about the reported 8 days of torture endured by the youths in the Florida jail, which resulted in "confessions" from the boys and the loss of sanity of one of them.

In response to one question from Justice Black and Justice Roberts, Norwood said "The defendants had a right to apply for a writ of habeas corpus and when they failed to do they waived their constitutional rights."

CLIMAX

The climax of the Florida assistant attorney's attitude came when he told the Court, in response to a question regarding the torture of the boys:

"I don't think it is this court's business to say to the sheriff of Broward County that 'We don't believe you and we do believe these Nigger murderers'".

During the four times that Attorney McGill carried the case to the Supreme Court of Florida he won four reversals, but the fifth time the case came before the state's high tribunal the court upheld the death sentence decision of the lower court. However, there was a sharp dissenting opinion handed down by Justice Brown.

It was then that McGill, who had helped to finance the case with his personal funds, together with financial aid from Florida branches of the NAACP, enlisted the aid of the Association's national office.

Story of Marian Anderson Told in Liberty

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The inspiring story of a poor Philadelphia girl who through her glorious voice has become one of the greatest exponents for the good of her race, is told in the current issue of Liberty magazine. Marian Anderson in an exclusive interview granted to famous author John Erskine, tells of her aspirations and ambitions,—not alone for herself,—but for her people as well.

Marian Anderson has been singing since she was six years old. At that tender age she took part in a duet with another little girl at the Union Baptist church in Philadelphia, where she was born. When she was 8 years old she was known as the "baby contralto" and the phenomenal range of her voice began to be disclosed. Her musical education was started by the people of her church who contributed their nickels and dimes to a fund for "Marian Anderson's Future". That she has repaid her good friends amply is evident in her wide acclaim among all peoples.

500 ATTEND AS PASADENA OBSERVES EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION

Speeches Delivered By Moore, Griffith Downs Feature Race Restriction Airing

Five hundred people crowded Scott church Sunday afternoon in Pasadena's celebration of the 76th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation by President Lincoln.

The Rev. E. V. Banks, new pastor of Calvary Community M. E. church, led the devotionals. The Rev. J. W. Coleman of N. Fair Oaks Community Baptist church, presided and introduced Dr. Elbert W. Moore, founder of the NAACP, former pastor of Zion Baptist church, Philadelphia, who delivered the address, "Emancipation—Lest We Forget."

Citing the Old Testament narrative of the Jews' deliverance from the hands of the Egyptians, Dr. Moore drew analogies in the emancipation of the Irish and Negro peoples. But while the Jew and Irish remember, the Negro tries oftimes to forget, he said.

"Seventy-six years are looking down upon us. The past must be accepted, no matter how far beneath the present; but it is for us to immortalize our day. We have contributed to the valor, the music and the industry of America, since 1863.

"What is freedom to the hungry man? The Easterner had one answer, 'Jesus leads me, but Roosevelt feeds me!' There are no more jobs peculiar to the Negro, South or North Competition is keen for all the available jobs everywhere. There is a program of social security. As long as 10 per cent of America's population can furnish 20 per cent of the relief roll, there is a great economic task facing us. Something more than election promises is needed. Performance on the part of those seeking our support; faith in ourselves, greater cooperation with ourselves and with all endeavors for civic betterment, remembering the depths whence we came."

Touching on the panel discussion to follow, Dr. Moore gave the city of Orange, Texas, to illustrate what Negro Pasadena could do in the situation facing them. In Orange, the colored people have a Civic Improvement League which pays the membership of its president in the city Chamber of Commerce, thus giving direct representation to the race in the most potent body in the industrial and economic life of the community. This league has an employment office on the watch for employment opportunities and needs; cooperates with National Negro Health Week and the National Negro Business League.

PANEL DISCUSSION

A panel discussion, "What the Negro in Pasadena expects," was chairmaned by Father Alfred Wilkins of St. Barnabas Chapel. Representatives of religion, youth, club work and business, stressed these expectations: 1. equal justice; 2. cooperation; 3, improved understanding; 4. encouragement to achieve; 5. assistance in realizing educational objectives; 6. sympathetic aid in preparation for employment. Speakers were Miss Bernice Birch, Mrs. Corrine Hicks, Rev. W. H. M. Dickerson, Dr. Brandon Bowlin, Levi Mills jr., and Ed Sanders. An animated discussion was entered into by the audience as to opportunities for colored persons in public employment as teachers, policemen, etc. It was shown that subtly, but surely, prejudice exists against the employment of colored persons in these fields, regardless of how well they are qualified.

Ask Better Housing for Girls

Council of Social Agencies Reports Results of Survey

Looking to better housing conditions and facilities for Negro girls and women, a survey of the local situation has been made by the agency and area study committee of the Council of Social Agencies, the results of which have just been announced by Mrs. Fred. B. Marquard, chairman.

It was found that only 65 per cent of Negro girls and women now seeking rooms from three Community Chest agencies are served. The Eastside Mothers' Club, the Sojourner Truth and Industrial Club and the Twelfth Street YWCA cooperated in making the study, it was stated.

Proper housing conditions for the group are made difficult by the limited income of the Negro working girls which prevents payment of rents in high-rent areas. Also, there are practically no desirable hotels for Negro women who come within the lower average income scale.

INCREASED CAPACITY

Recommendation made by the committee, which was composed of 22 lay persons and social workers, call for increased room capacity at the Sojourner Truth club, 1119 E. Adams street, and the YWCA, 1108 E. Twelfth Street. It was recommended that the local branch of the YWCA be moved to a location more readily accessible to Negro girls.

It was suggested that as soon as more rooms are available at these two Chest agencies, that a change be made in the activities of the Eastside Mothers' club, and its program be changed from housing to neighbor settlement work.

Suitable rooms in private homes also are registered at the YWCA. Before rooms were certified, homes are investigated by the agency.

The program as outlined is typical of the social planning work undertaken annually by the Community Welfare Federation, which operates both the Council of Social Agencies and the Community Chest.

CITIZENS "BACK HOME" URGED TO SUPPORT MOB BILL

H'WOOD LEGION JIM CROW AIRING SET

WILL DETERMINE FATE OF LYNCH BILL IN SENATE, WHITE STATES

Fight Depends On Pressure That Can Be Exerted By People Back Home, NAACP Executive Secretary Asserts in Mob Bill Forecast

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—"We're going to have a tough fight to pass the Anti-Lynching Bill in the Senate. Whether or not we will win this fight depends almost entirely on the pressure that can be exerted, and exerted at once by the people back home."

This was the statement made by Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, as a forecast of what is to happen to the Gavagan-Fish Anti-lynching bill which passed the House Jan. 10, by a vote of 252 to 131, and has been sent to the Senate.

The N. A. A. C. P. secretary, pointing out what is necessary to be done now, in the fight to pass the bill in the Senate, said he believes that Senator Tom Connally, of Texas, an avowed enemy of the bill, will insist on holding hearings. Although Senator Henry F. Ashurst (D) of Arizona, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, has not announced the names of members of the sub-committee which will hold hearings, it is understood that Senator Connally will probably be a member of the committee.

Mr. White urged individuals and organizations interested in pushing the passage of the bill through to:

"Write to your Senator and tell him that you want hearings to be held at once, and that you want him to exert his influence to bring this about, and that you urge him to vote for cloture (limitation of debate) if a filibuster is started against the bill."

CORRAL WITNESSES

The Secretary of the N. A. A. C. P. said that the Association plans to corral witnesses from many of the southern states and to have them testify, when hearings are held. Many of these witnesses will come from Texas, the home state of Vice President Garner, Senator Connally, and Representative Martin Dies. "These witnesses," he said, "will show that in Texas, which has had more than 500 lynchings to its credit since statistics were first undertaken in 1882, continues to operate as one of the key

DECISION IN LEGION STADIUM CASE OF NATIONAL SIGNIFICANCE, CLAIM

Hearing Brings to Head Long Campaign to Get Action on Asserted Discrimination at Legion Stadium

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Of national and, possibly, international importance, the State Athletic Commission Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in its chambers in the State building will take up "as a special order of business the consideration of the employment of Negro boxers by Hollywood Legion stadium".

And thus comes to a head a long campaign conducted by the press and interested organizations and individuals against alleged discrimination of Negro fighters by the flicker city arena because of color.

Back in early September, shortly after a comparatively new State Athletic Commission assumed its duties under the chairmanship of attorney Jerry Geisler, the moguls of State boxing set Nov. 17 as the date for a public hearing in an effort to ascertain why Negro boxers are kept from fighting at Hollywood Legion stadium.

Attorney Hugh E. MacBeth, coordinator of the Community Builders, Inc., brought formal charges of discrimination at the time the hearing was set, stating that "the enemies of democracy are being given aid and comfort in light of this discrimination", and recommended that democratic processes prevail in the matter.

Shortly before the scheduled hearing, representatives of Hollywood Legion stadium, which is owned by Hollywood Post No. 43 and operated by a board of directors, reportedly contacted Attorney MacBeth, ostensibly to allow the Post "to get its house in order", and a joint request was forwarded to the commission asking a continuance of the hearing.

WARREN RULES

Subsequently, it was learned that Legion stadium officials reportedly had sought a ruling from State Attorney General Earl Warren aimed to have the effect of denying the commission authority to hear the matter.

Attorney General Warren ruled, however, that the commission has the power to probe into dis-

MRS. RUBY BRAXTON . . . mistreated

Former Employe at Market Claims She Was Mistreated

Reports of discrimination at the C. S. Smith Market, corner of Griffith and Washington, were circulated this week as Mrs. Ruby Braxton, 512 E. 48th street, charged that she had been mistreated by store executives.

Mrs. Braxton was employed at the store over a period of nine months, being discharged last week. A company union at the establishment signs a one-year contract with all workers guaranteeing employment if work is efficient. It is alleged that, when handed her check, manager Cliff Hall said to Mrs. Braxton: "I hate to see you go, Ruby, because you have been such a good worker." Thus, it is contended Mrs. Braxton's contract has been violated.

Bone of contention was Earlene Coates, another employe in the Bakery Dept., who was promoted over Mrs. Braxtons head. The colored woman had been assistant manager of the bakery department until two weeks ago. Miss Coates had only been working in the division for two months, yet she was promoted to the managerial post, and Mrs. Braxton demoted to the night shift.

Antagonism between the two women had been brewing for several weeks, it was stated. Assertedly Miss Coates was insulting to the colored woman before customers, and on two occasions attempted abnormal attacks upon her. It was also held that the white worker suffered from constant colds, admitted having spent two years in a sanatorium, and was a health menace in the Bakery department.

Supported by Urban League Secretary, Floyd Covington, Mrs. Braxton protested to both store manager and supervisor when her seniority rights assertedly were violated in the promotions. Both stated that the matter was out of their hands.

At the time of her dismissal, Mrs. Braxton was to have had an interview with C. S. Smith, market head; the meeting never materialized. Contrary to general custom, the woman's dismissal check was signed by Smith himself.

On one occasion, Mrs. Braxton revealed, the store executives asked her to give them a list of Negro churches on the Eastside with large congregations. She complied with the request, and it was revealed that a Negro church received a ten dollar donation last Sunday, months after the list was compiled.

Mrs. Braxton attended UCLA for three years. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Johnson, prominent pioneer family, having lived here for 48-years Mrs. Braxton is the sole support of her young child.

Charge Jury Prejudice as Suit Lost

Attorney Lloyd C. Griffith to Appeal from Jury Verdict

Accusations of jury prejudice, as vicious as any below the Mason-Dixon line, followed loss of a Civil Rights suit in Municipal court here by three prominent matrons.

Plaintiffs in a case against the Roxy Drive-In company, Mrs. Juanita Ellsworth Miller, Miss Edith Keyser, and Miss Alma Thomas were decided against by a jury, in unanimous agreement, last Friday afternoon. They lost a suit for damages, growing out of an alleged refusal last June 5 of a waiter to serve them, because of their race.

The suit marked the first defeat in a Civil Rights case of attorney Lloyd C. Griffith of the Eastside firm of Griffith and Griffith. Atty. Griffith said he had only been called into the case the night before trial began, on Thursday. He said he was confident, however, that presiding judge Morgan Galbreath

Fails Again to Get Army Training

UCLA Student Refused by School Board

For the fourth time, the application of Arnett Hartsfield, UCLA student, for higher military training has been refused by the "Advanced Course Board" at Westwood, it was revealed this week.

Although Hartsfield's scholastic standing is exceptionally high in this work, he has been refused on four occasions, while classmates passed easily into the Advanced Course.

Military authorities at the university will not comment upon Hartsfield's failure to qualify; give him no explanations or designate a deficiency on his part.

No Negro student has ever qualified for the advanced course in military science at the Westwood institution. It is alleged that prejudice in the camp at Monterery is the reason for the discriminatory policy, but authorities make no statement.

Hartsfield appeared in a 'scoop' broadcast last night as the guest of the Negro Newspaper of the Air Drama Workship (EAGLE sponsored), station KGFJ, 8:15. The performance attracted wide attention.

Hartsfield began his military training at Manual Arts High school in 1933. Under Major Wilson, he enjoyed a very successful three years, holding the successive ranks as cadet captain, plattoon sergeant, first lieutenant and graduating as cadet captain. Besides holding these ranks, he was rated the best corporal in the battalion while he had that rank, served two semesters on the fancy drill team, and was active in the "Non-Commissioned Officers Club."

When Hartsfield enrolled at

House Gallery Doorman Reprimands Mrs. Bethune

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (ANP)—Threatening to have her removed from the gallery of the house of representatives for applauding speakers on the floor, Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune was brusquely warned against such demonstrations last Wednesday afternoon by one of the youthful doormen in attendance at the gallery for visitors.

"Upon conclusion of a very fine speech in favor of a bill, the "guests of the house" in the gallery applauded, despite the hard and fast rule of the house that no person in the gallery is permitted to join in the demonstrations.

Mrs. Bethune had followed the general impulse when the youth left his post at the door, came down to the row in which Mrs Bethune was seated, leaned over two persons and said:

"If you do that again, I'll have to ask you to leave the gallery."

Quietly and in a dignified manner, Mrs. Bethune nodded and said, "Thank you sonny."

Garner Gets 2nd Query on Whether Negro Should Vote

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. (ANP)—Failing to get a reply from Vice-President Garner on the question of whether he believes that Negro Democrats in Texas and other southern states should be given the opportunity to exercise their constitutional right of franchise in voting during the 1940 primaries, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has again written Garner asking him to interpret the statement he issued last Dec. 16, when he threw his hat into the ring as a 1940 presidential candidate.

Last December, when he announced his candidacy, Garner issued a 44 word statement, which said in part:

"The candidate (for president) should be selected at primaries and conventions as provided by law, and I sincerely trust that all Democrats will participate."

It was on that part of the statement which said:

. . . "all Democrats," that the N. A. A. C. P. queried the vice president, in a telegram sent to his home in Uvalde, Texas. The telegram asked Garner to clarify his statement and to state whether he included Negro Democrats in his thinking when he made the statement.

I HAVE IN my possession this week a very remarkable document. It is from a Negro citizen; a letter explaining exactly what the black Frenchman thinks of his native land. Significantly, at the top of this letter is a round purple stamp bearing the legend "Control Des Informations," the official French censorship bureau. And throughout the communication there are one or two eliminations made in heavy blue pencil. At any rate here is the statement of a Negro Frenchman about France:

"Dear Editor:

I accept with pleasure to write for your American readers, on the position of the coloured man in the French nation.

The coloured men who live under the French flag have acquired the rights of free citizens. They are bound to France by the solid ties of sentiment and reason. They have an eternal gratitude towards this noble nation which declared in the face of the world for the first time in history the equality of all races.

The recognition of the coloured people as equal members of the great human family dates effectively from the French Revolution. When the National Assembly, in its historic session of August 20, 1789, proclaimed "Men are born and remain free and equal," it announced the rights of all human beings without distinction of sex, nationality, religion or colour.

Indeed, by men must be understood all human beings without any distinction.

The Convention, in a magnificent act of justice and humanity, respecting the principle of equality, abolished slavery on February 4, 1794.

In 1803, however, Napoleon wishing to satisfy the cupidity of the colonial settlers protected by Empress Josephine, violated the principles of 1789 by re-establishing slavery in the colonies.

The Republic of 1848, inheritor of the traditions of the Revolution, gave the final blow to this servile condition by effacing forever from the laws and institutions of France the disgrace of slavery.

During the reign of Napoleon III, from 1852 to 1870, the coloured inhabitants of France's four most ancient colonies, Guadeloupe, Martinique, Guyana and Reunion, took no active part in the political life of the nation.

I wish to emphasize by this historical introduction the point that the evolution of the coloured people in the French Empire and the place they now occupy in the nation is the work of less than a century.

The abolition of slavery in 1848 permitted a small number of coloured people to receive an education, despite the open hostility of the former slave-owners. By 1875, several of them had become doctors, lawyers, court clerks, etc., all positions until then exclusively reserved to the white aristocracy.

The proclamation of the Third Republic in 1870, which re-established universal suffrage, was the point of departure of real intellectual and social progress of the coloured people of the Antille. Universal suffrage quickened the movement of liberation.

In Guadeloupe and the Martinique, the first coloured elite won seats in the legislature. This was the start for timid but useful reforms which soon transformed the Antilles and favoured the rapid evolution of the coloured people.

No doubt but political power was the most powerful lever which hastened the coloured man's definite emancipation. It permitted the development of primary and secondary schools which in turn helped the coloured youth of the Antilles develop into men needed to conduct the island's affairs. Intellectual progress was so rapid that at the dawn of the 20th century, Guadeloupe and Martinique had already formed an elite in the local schools and in the universities of France, the pride of the nation as well as the natives of Antilles.

The educated and modernized coloured man is completely integrated into the social and political life of the French nation.

The Republic, faithful in that point to the immortal principles of the French Revolution, con-

Oversized Pants Worn to Court Wins Case for Harlem Man

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. (ANP)—A pair of pants twice his size, worn to court by 60 year old Ike Marshall of Harlem, won a judgement for the ludicrous looking old man against the merchant who sold them to him for $9.90.

Ike had bought the suit as a "perfect fit" but when he got home, tried the suit on again, it was too big. He returned to the merchant for his money and entered suit when it was not forthcoming.

The merchant who made the sale shrugged his shoulders and told the court: "Well, those things happen, sometime, maybe. It can be adjusted."

The judge ordered him to give the customer his money back.

Brown Not in Race for Congress

CHICAGO, Jan. 18. (ANP)—Edgar Brown, CCC executive and head of the United Government employees, stated here Saturday he had changed his mind about running for congress from the first district on the Democratic ticket and will not enter the race for the seat now held by Arthur W. Mitchell.

This announcement was made after the Kelly-Nash machine formally declared its support of all incumbent congressmen, including Mitchell.

Funeral Services Set for Mail Truck Driver, Waiter

Funeral services will be held Saturday at Second Baptist church for Rejuize C. Pierce, 24-year old U. S. mail truck driver, who was killed in a collision at Menlo and Santa Barbara streets last Thursday.

Expected to be well attended because of the youth"s poularity and the prominence of his family, rites will begin at 2:00 p. m. Interment will follow in Evergreen cemetery with Conner-Johnson Co., in charge.

Young Pierce, the son of Mrs. Fannie Pierce, with whom he lived at 1459 E. 51st street, was struck from behind as he went thru a signal, police reported. His truck was overturned, pinning the youth beneath. He was killed almost instantly.

Driver of the involved car was Carl E. King, white. King was not held and a coroner's inquest Monday exonerated him from blame.

SECOND FATALITY

Pierce was the second U. S. mail truck driver to meet death under similar circumstances in recent years. Two years ago, Thaddeus Mitchell, postal employe, died as a result of injuries received in a collision while on duty.

Popular among the younger set, Pierce was reportedly engaged to be married. Born in Waskom, Texas, he attended Los Angeles

In all ages there have been dreamers, Sojourner Truth, for the freedom of her Race, Frederick Douglas, the abolitionist, Booker T. Washington, agricultural freedom, and Paul Williams, architect.

The women of the Sojourner Truth Club dreamed, and in their dream they saw the need of housing Negro girls, and women, before there were a Social Agency, or an Community Chest, and pioneered by buying a lot, and erecting a home to consernate that dream.

This was to be an haven for many a lonely, tired, and weary girl and often we did not have rooms but prepared beds in the Library(and Granada that they could be sheltered, and protected, and have social contact with others.

They could have the privilege of the library, laundry, cooking, and entertain their friends.

Our building does not meet our present need, and growing populatoin. The Community Chest has consented for a Building Drive, and our success depends on our loyal friends, and supporters.

We hope to have many duplications of the S. P. and Santa Fe Red Cap Union which contributed $100.00 towards our Building Fund through Mrs. Exie Bontee.

A larger Sojourner Truth Building is a matter in which we as a Race stand, or fall, together. Oneness of mind and purpose is what we are asking in this Drive. Give, give, give, it will return in a thousand folds. We have "faith."

No Lynching, Posse and Troops Can't Find Suspect

KNOXVILLE (Miss.) Jan. 11. (ANP)—There was no lynching in Mississippi during the first week of the New Year because a posse which had apparently trapped the alleged killer of a deputy sheriff and national guardsmen who hurried here to save him, found their quarry had escaped. A mob was also thwarted earlier in the week in another instance.

Two men believed to be brothers and known as "Texas Red" and "Oklahoma Slim" had been blamed for church robberies and other depredations. Monday, they were surprised and attacked in a house near Meadville. Shooting their way out, the pair killed Hilliard Hall, 21, a deputy sheriff, and wounded two other white men, J. W. Shell and Constable Phillip Shell before escaping.

Immediately a posse was formed. Texas Red was seen daily but the searchers could not trap him. Thursday he was believed surrounded in a wooded area near here and State militiamen were dispatched to thwart threatened mob action.

But neither the posse of 100 nor the guardsmen could find Red. Bloodhounds have been of little use because of the large number of men in the searching parties which erased all trails. Oklahoma Slim has not been seen at all since the slaying.

Last Monday night as New Year's Day faded, a mob twice tried to seize a Negro jailed at Columbia in another case. This resulted from the attempt of J. C. Sanford, white, contractor and former marshal, to arrest three Negroes he believed were running liquor. He was killed. Two escaped to New Orleans where police say they are being held, and one was arrested at Columbia. After the unsuccessful lynching effort, the latter was removed to an unannounced jail for safekeeping.

Memphis Letter Carrier Gets Three Years, Fined $750

MEMPHIS, Jan. 11. (ANP)—Emmett L. Rice, Sr., 47, ace letter carrier and former president of Letter Carriers band and secretary of the American club, an organization composed of letter carriers, received a stiff sentence and fine when he appeared before Federal Judge Martin Tuesday and pleaded guilty to a theft of $3.50 on two counts. He was guilty of taking $3.50 from two "decoy" letters and received 3 years in penitentiary and a $750 fine.

His arrest came recently when Postal Inspectors R. H. Tomlinson, J. N. Phillips, and W. B. Williams of the local bureau picked him up at the Grosstown postal station. One letter was deposited in a box at Madison and Cleveland and another at Poplar and Cleveland, postal inspectors said. Inspectors stated that between September and Christmas 35 complaints have been registered by persons on Rice's route.

Everybody was astonished at the incident surrounding Rice's case, for he was considered one of the ace carriers, being able to master more routes than are usually allotted to a carrier or substitute and received $175 a month. He had been employed by the government approximately 25 years. In 1931, he led a delegation of 75 carriers to Oakland, Calif., to attend the national convention of letter carriers.

sides justly that all its citizens have "an equal right to be admitted to all public honors, posts and employment, according to personal ability and without any other distinction than their capacities and talents." The country believes that to refuse a coloured man who has shown proof of his ability because he is a coloured man would be committing an iniquity.

Coloured men are admitted to all the higher schools of the State, Polytechnic, Colonial, Saint-Cyr and so on.

They are admitted to the highest posts the government has to offer. They have become governors in the colonies, administration directors, court justices, etc.

In the army, they can become high ranking officers. Such is notably the case of Rear-Admiral Mortenol who commanded the anti-air raid defenses of Paris during the War of 1914.

There are many coloured professors in the schools and colleges of France charged with the task of forming the hearts and minds of French youth. M. Serge Denis, professor in the University of Paris, has just been named member of the Jur at the Sorbonne which examines candidates for professorship.

The coloured man plays an important role in politics also. They are not only elected to Parliament by the inhabitants of the colonies, white or coloured, but also by certain sections of continental France. Dr. David, a practising physician from Toulouse, and M. Blonc urt, a professor, both represent the French home department and were elected in the 1936 elections.

They have occupied and still do many high posts in the Chamber of Deputies and in the Senate. The fact no longer astonishes anyone here.

Some have even been members of different Cabinets in the capacity of Ministers or Under-Secretary of State, as for example, M. Lemery, Diagne, Delmont a Monnerville.

Henry Lemery and Gratien Candace are uncontestably the most representative colonial personalities in the French Parliament. Senator for Martinique, Lemery is one the best orators in tht Upper House. He was Under-Secretary of the Merchant Marine in Clemenceau's Cabinet and Minister of Justice in the government headed by Deumergue.

Gratien Candace, who represents the Guadeloupe as deputy —and has for 27 years, has been twice Under-Secretary for the Colonies and is now Vice-President of the Chamber of Deputies.

This policy of assimilation practised by France throughout the Empire has won it the grateful friendship of all the coloured people who live in the shadow of the flag; they share in the life of the nation and for that reason are ready to defend the human ideal of liberty and justice for which France stands.

(Signed)

MAURICE SATINEAU,
Deputy for Guadeloupe,
Vice President of the Chamber Committee of Accounts and Economics

Member of the Superior Council of Over-sea France.

So this is the striking statement of a Negro Frenchman during his country's hour of need. In order to bring home more clearly the implications of M. Satineau's letter, let us translate into American equivalents the offices held in the French government by Negroes. There are several members of the House of Representatives and the French Senate. There have been four Negro Secretaries of State—jobs equal to the one now held in the U. S. by Cordell Hull. One man has been both Asst. Secretary of the Navy—equal to the job until recently held by Charles Edison, son of Thomas A. Edison, in America—and Attorney General, the post held here recently by Frank Murphy. At the present time, a French Negro holds a position equivalent to that of House Majority Leader Bankhead of Alabama.

There is one vital sentence in M. Satineau's letter that is well worth repeating. It reads, "No doubt but political power was the most powerful lever which hastened the coloured man's definite emancipation." There are no geographic limitations to this sentiment. What is true of France in this instance is also true of America . . .

. . . "political power is the most powerful lever which hastens the coloured man's definite emancipation."

I RECEIVED information that Arnett Hartsfield, a young student of one of our local universities, has been denied by Army officials the chance to study the Advanced Course in Military Science. It is a bitter irony to hear from beleagured France that her black sons are honored and respected in the Army without discrimination. It appears that the great American democracy can still learn something from that nation in which the infant "Liberty" was first christened.

In all ages there have been dreamers, Sojourner Truth, for the freedom of her Race, Frederick Douglas, the abolitionist, Booker T. Washington, agriculturalfreedom, and Paul Williams, architect.

The women of the Sojourner Truth Club dreamed, and in their dream they saw the need of housing Negro girls, and women, before there were a Social Agency, or an Community Chest, and pioneered by buying a lot, and erecting a home to consernate that dream.

This was to be an haven for many a lonely, tired, and weary girl and often we did not have rooms but prepared beds in the Library(and Granada that they could be sheltered, and protected, and have social contact with others.

They could have the privilege of the library, laundry, cooking, and entertain their friends.

Our building does not meet our present need, and growing populatoin. The Community Chest has consented for a Building Drive, and our success depends on our loyal friends, and supporters.

We hope to have many duplications of the S. P. and Santa Fe Red Cap Union which contributed $100.00 towards our Building Fund through Mrs. Exie Bontee.

A larger Sojourner Truth Building is a matter in which we as a Race stand, or fall, together. Oneness of mind and purpose is what we are asking in this Drive. Give, give, give, it will return in a thousand folds. We have "faith."

No Lynching, Posse and Troops Can't Find Suspect

KNOXVILLE (Miss.) Jan. 11. (ANP)—There was no lynching in Mississippi during the first week of the New Year because a posse which had apparently trapped the alleged killer of a deputy sheriff and national guardsmen who hurried here to save him, found their quarry had escaped. A mob was also thwarted earlier in the week in another instance.

Two men believed to be brothers and known as "Texas Red" and "Oklahoma Slim" had been blamed for church robberies and other depredations. Monday, they were surprised and attacked in a house near Meadville. Shooting their way out, the pair killed Hilliard Hall, 21, a deputy sheriff, and wounded two other white men, J. W. Shell and Constable Phillip Shell before escaping.

Immediately a posse was formed. Texas Red was seen daily but the searchers could not trap him. Thursday he was believed surrounded in a wooded area near here and State militiamen were dispatched to thwart threatened mob action.

But neither the posse of 100 nor the guardsmen could find Red. Bloodhounds have been of little use because of the large number of men in the searching parties which erased all trails. Oklahoma Slim has not been seen at all since the slaying.

Last Monday night as New Year's Day faded, a mob twice tried to seize a Negro jailed at Columbia in another case. This resulted from the attempt of J. C. Sanford, white, contractor and former marshal, to arrest three Negroes he believed were running liquor. He was killed. Two escaped to New Orleans where police say they are being held, and one was arrested at Columbia. After the unsuccessful lynching effort, the latter was removed to an unannounced jail for safekeeping.

Memphis Letter Carrier Gets Three Years, Fined $750

MEMPHIS, Jan. 11. (ANP)—Emmett L. Rice, Sr., 47, ace letter carrier and former president of Letter Carriers band and secretary of the American club, an organization composed of letter carriers, received a stiff sentence and fine when he appeared before Federal Judge Martin Tuesday and pleaded guilty to a theft of $3.50 on two counts. He was guilty of taking $3.50 from two "decoy" letters and received 3 years in penitentiary and a $750 fine.

His arrest came recently when Postal Inspectors R. H. Tomlinson, J. N. Phillips, and W. B. Williams of the local bureau picked him up at the Grosstown postal station. One letter was deposited in a box at Madison and Cleveland and another at Poplar and Cleveland, postal inspectors said. Inspectors stated that between September and Christmas 35 complaints have been registered by persons on Rice's route.

Everybody was astonished at the incident surrounding Rice's case, for he was considered one of the ace carriers, being able to master more routes than are usually allotted to a carrier or substitute and received $175 a month. He had been employed by the government approximately 25 years. In 1931, he led a delegation of 75 carriers to Oakland, Calif., to attend the national convention of letter carriers.

Saints Home Church '40 Program Set

The 1940 program of the Saints Home church, Church of God in Christ, got into full swing this week, according to the venerable pastor, Elder E. R. Driver. Recently returned from the national conclave of his church, and from a tour of Southern states, Elder Driver, renewed in inspiration and energy, has instituted his church's program for the New Year, promising a bigger year for Saints Home than ever before.

Pioneer California, Elder Driver is the father of a large family. One son, Elder Louis Driver, is assistant pastor of his father's church. Sons Mason and Eddie Driver are proprietors of one of the largest cleaning plants on the Eastside and Dr. Foster Driver, another son, is a druggist.

OES Program for 1940 Approved

Program for the year 1940 of Mrs. La Gulia Shaw, matron of Deborah chapter No. 13, Order of Easter Star, was accepted by the chapter, meeting in regular business meeting Friday.

Many enjoyable events have been planned for the year, to be climaxed on June 6 with the annual Deborah chapter banquet. Bishop Sara Butler has already been named mistress of ceremonies.

siders justly that all its citizens have "an equal right to be admitted to all public honors, posts and employment, according to personal ability and without any other distinction than their capacities and talents." The country believes that to refuse a coloured man who has shown proof of his ability because he is a coloured man would be committing an iniquity.

Coloured men are admitted to all the higher schools of the State, Polytechnic, Colonial, Saint-Cyr and so on.

They are admitted to the highest posts the government has to offer. They have become governors in the colonies, administration directors, court justices, etc.

In the army, they can become high ranking officers. Such is notably the case of Rear-Admiral Mortenol who commanded the anti-air raid defenses of Paris during the War of 1914.

There are many coloured professors in the schools and colleges of France charged with the task of forming the hearts and minds of French youth. M. Serge Denis, professor in the University of Paris, has just been named member of the Jur at the Sorbonne which examines candidates for professorship.

The coloured man plays an important role in politics also. They are not only elected to Parliament by the inhabitants of the colonies, white or coloured, but also by certain sections of continental France. Dr. David, a practising physician from Toulouse, and M. Blonc urt, a professor, both represent the French home department and were elected in the 1936 elections.

They have occupied and still do many high posts in the Chamber of Deputies and in the Senate. The fact no longer astonishes anyone here.

Some have even been members of different Cabinets in the capacity of Ministers or Under-Secretary of State, as for example, M. Lemery, Diagne, Delmont a Monnerville.

Henry Lemery and Gratien Candace are uncontestably the most representative colonial personalities in the French Parliament. Senator for Martinique, Lemery is one the best orators in tht Upper House. He was Under-Secretary of the Merchant Marine in Clemenceau's Cabinet and Minister of Justice in the government headed by Deumergue.

Gratien Candace, who represents the Guadeloupe as deputy —and has for 27 years, has been twice Under-Secretary for the Colonies and is now Vice-President of the Chamber of Deputies.

This policy of assimilation practised by France throughout the Empire has won it the grateful friendship of all the coloured people who live in the shadow of the flag; they share in the life of the nation and for that reason are ready to defend the human ideal of liberty and justice for which France stands.

(Signed)

MAURICE SATINEAU,
Deputy for Guadeloupe,
Vice President of the Chamber Committee of Accounts and Economics
Member of the Superior Council of Over-sea France.

So this is the striking statement of a Negro Frenchman during his country's hour of need. In order to bring home more clearly the implications of M. Satineau's letter, let us translate into American equivalents the offices held in the French government by Negroes. There are several members of the House of Representatives and the French Senate. There have been four Negro Secretaries of State—jobs equal to the one now held in the U. S. by Cordell Hull. One man has been both Asst. Secretary of the Navy—equal to the job until recently held by Charles Edison, son of Thomas A. Edison, in America—and Attorney General, the post held here recently by Frank Murphy. At the present time, a French Negro holds a position equivalent to that of House Majority Leader Bankhead of Alabama.

There is one vital sentence in M. Satineau's letter that is well worth repeating. It reads, "No doubt but political power was the most powerful lever which hastened the coloured man's definite emancipation." There are no geographic limitations to this sentiment. What is true of France in this instance is also true of America . . .

I RECEIVED information that Arnett Hartsfield, a young student of one of our local universities, has been denied by Army officials the chance to study the Advanced Course in Military Science. It is a bitter irony to hear from beleagured France that her black sons are honored and respected in the Army without discrimination. It appears that the great American democracy can still learn something from that nation in which the infant 'Liberty" was first christened.

STORY IN DAILY BRINGS LADY FORTUNE TO UNEMPLOYED SINGER

Sings for Supper in Pennsylvania Station; Wins Offer and Contract

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. (C)—"New York is the city of opportunity," Parker Watkins, tenor extraordinary of Atlanta, Ga., was told over and over. But it took him 15 years to find out for himself.

For it was just 15 years ago Parker Watkins, now 35, came to New York full of ambition and boiling over with enthusiasm. He had a rich, powerful tenor voice, the ability to deliver, the personality to attract and later learned the art to hold. But somehow he could never find the magic that spells S-U-C-C-E-S-S.

It was the skill of Ted Poston, Negro newspaperman and writer for one of the N. Y. dailies, and the power (magic is the word) of the white press that brought it to him.

Watkins had been successful in securing some of the best teachers in the musical field—Sigmund Jaffa, Edgar Scofield, Eugent Davigneau and Mme. Gerster-Gardini, former wife of Fritz Reiner. He was also successful in obtaining jobs with well established musical organizations such as the Psci and Aeolian Opera companies, was soloist with the Hall Johnson's choir and the St. James Presbyterian church in Harlem, and when his luck was at low ebb, with the WPA Music Project.

His luck was at its lowest ebb the afternoon the phenomenon began to take shape. It was the night before Christmas eve. The WPA 18-month ruling had deprived him of his jobs months ago, and he was broke. He, for no reason at all, idled into the main lobby of the Pennsylvania station. It was filled with organ music of Banks Kennedy, RKO organist.

Watkins went over and stood close by. Kennedy watched him from the side, and after a while asked jokingly:

"Why don't you step up and sing a number?"

Watkins was surprised, but asked, "How do you know I can sing?"

"I know you can," replied Kennedy.

DROWNED ORGAN

Watkins stepped up, and Kennedy got his surprise. For the powerful tenor voice drowned out the notes of the giant organ and stopped the rushing travelers in their tracks. They put down their bags and missed trains to listen.

That was the beginning. The next evening Kennedy asked him to sing again. He did. He sang a half hour and gave his listeners folk songs, spirituals and operatic arias in five languages. Before the half hour was up his audience had grown from just a handful to almost a thousand.

In the middle of the unrehearsed program he raised his hands, said: "If there're any impresarios or musical agents here, I'd like to make a plea for employment. I've been at leisure since the WPA 18-month ruling went into effect."

Just then someone took a hat and passed it around. Fifteen dollars was collected.

Every evening after Parker Watkins went back and sang from six to six-thirty to a steady growing audience. He was heard by great artists, agents, producers and just people. Marjory Fellding, producer, sent him to the Cotton Club with a note introducing him as the "Colored Caruso". Josef B. Geiger, dramatic director, who claims he remembers Watkins as the fellow he heard last summer singing in the backyards of West 72nd St., sent him to RKO Pictures and the National Broadcasting company. Watkins got all sorts of promises from people with big names. But they were just promises.

Saturday, Jan. 6, Poston heard him. Monday noon his story appeared on the front page of the New York Post. Two hours later agents, directors, producers and radio stations were calling the Penn station. At five o'clock he was singing over WINS. Six o'clock Penn station was packed.

Tuesday morning all of the big dailies followed up the story. Reporters and photographers were on the hunt for Parker Watkins. Big time managers were looking for him, including Marian Anderson's manager who had his picture taken with Watkins, and contracts and bids were pouring in from everywhere.

The "concert" came to a close Jan. 10, and the Pennsylvania station was packed and jammed with reporters, photographers, lensmen, opera stars, producers, conductors and spectators.

And after 15 years, Parker Watkins, with the aid of an ace reporter, found out that America isn't so bad after all.

Browning's Voice One of 'Most Pleasing'

Credit Dentist Announces Opening of New Offices

Dr. S. M. Cowen, Credit Dentist, has announced the opening of his new, modernistic credit dental offices in the Metropolitan Building at 5th and Broadway in downtown Los Angeles.

Although the offices are located directly on the corner of 5th and Broadway, it is important to know that the entrance to the building is at 315 W. 5th St., directly across the street from the entrance to the 5th Street Department Store.

Described as the newest and one of the largest and most beautiful dental offices in America, Dr. Cowen invites the inspection of the general public all this week.

Modernism is the theme of these new offices, and this has been carried out in detail in the large, cheery reception room, furnished to afford patients the greatest of comfort; operating rooms equipped with the latest scientific dental operating units; a modern X-Ray department, and a large laboratory for the production of Dr. Cowen's dental plates.

Since thousands of patients have been treated by Dr. Cowen and his staff at the old offices on Hill street during the past decade, it was found that removal to larger and more centrally located offices would be more convenient. Dr. Cowen has spared no expense to bring to the public a dental service that conforms with the high standards of the profession, and yet continues with low prices and liberal credit terms.

In these new offices, as before, special attention will be accorded Dr. Cowen's hundreds of colored patients and their friends. A special night staff will be maintained to give treatment to those whose working hours prevent their receiving daytime treatment.

Dr. Cowen's Southern California record is an impressive one. Early in his career he made a survey of dental problems among the working classes, and discovered a widespread need for the care of teeth among earners of small incomes. At that time people thought it impossible to obtain a standard dental service at a cost suited to their income, and as a result they neglected their teeth.

Dr. Cowen's plan of offering good dentistry at low prices, in addition to liberal credit terms without additional cost, has made it possible for thousands of people to enjoy good dental health. That his plan has been successful is evidenced by the fact that more than a quarter of a million patients have been treated in his offices, of whom more than 50 per cent come recommended. This is a true indication that a large part of the public positively needs a low price dental service.

In commenting on his new offices, Dr. Cowen said: "I have spared no expense to bring to my patients what I truly believ to be one of the most modernly equipped dental offices, including every innovation required for rendering a skillful and efficient dental service. I try to make it possible to bring good dentistry within the means of everyone and I particularly invite my many Colored patients and their hundreds of friends to come and visit these new offices. They will be open every day from 9 A. M. to 8:30 P. M. and on Sundays from 10 A. M. to 1 P. M."

Right now Dr. Cowen is featuring the new transparent dental plates that reflect the beautiful, pink color of natural gums. This is the latest creation of the profession, and hailed as the most natural appearing dental plates ever produced. Dr. Cowen will be pleased to show samples to his Colored patients.

Hollywood Productions' Film Is Neat

BY JOHN KINLOCH

Preview of "Horror House," Hollywood Productions.

This is a good picture. As is to be expected with most colored flickers right now, the production is a mite frayed around the edges—even a bit out at the elbows. But two commodities hitherto omnipresent in sepia screen offerings are practically abolished—we are in reference to (1) corn, (2) ham.

Spence Williams turned out the story. It stretches your imagination all over the lot, but it's good fun anyway. Incidentally, Spence contributes a nifty comedy characterization, and lifts his own brain child out of many a dull stretch.

However, to our mind, the film is most significant in displaying the wares of Mr. Alfred Grant, a young actor who knows his way around any old sound stage. This guy is good—but plenty. Intelligently underplayed, his role is thoroughly, competently handled He is the best young actor that colored films have turned up, to date. If you recall, he had a nice bit in Mr. Mamoulian's "Golden Boy," it was a memorable stint, indeed

Of course, Laura Bowman is in there pitching, too. At first, she seems to have some difficulty in getting adjusted to the new medium: that old bugaboo of stage actresses on the screen, overplaying. However, the tendency is neatly overcome, and she impersonates the salty old doctor with artistic finesse.

Zack Williams in the "monster" portrayal, which might have easily been botched beyond repair, plays with great skill. His presence is a real help.

Now, to a painful and unwanted duty. Colored films have yet to produce a competent ingenue. The feminine lead in this Hollywood Production is no exception to the rule She plays without poise or understanding. This ain't to say that her case is hopeless—by no means. Perhaps a number of earnest sessions with veteran Laura Bowman will solve some of the young lady's histrionic problems. But as viewed in "Horror House"—no, no, NO. (Gad, I feel mean.)

At any rate, its a neat little picture see it!

Recent Bride Entertained At High Tea

One of the leading social events of the seasen was the High Tea given last Sunday afternoon at the palatial home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Webster of W. 28th street. The occasion was the initial event of its kind given by one of Los Angeles' social leaders, a member of Delta Sigma Theta sorority, Mrs. Walter R. Webster honoring Mrs. Charles Satchell Morris, II, a recent bride, who is also a member of Delta Sigma Theta sorority. The bride was lovely in a creation of white chiffon and gold.

The house was decorated with a profusion of white and pink cut flowers and was a beautiful setting for the 36 fashionably gowned ladies who partook of the delectable three-course luncheon.

The centerpiece of the dining room table was most attractive in that a cluster of white sweet peas on a mirror with a miniature bride and groom gave a beautiful background under the mellow glow of slim tapering candles for the many beautiful and useful gifts received by the bride.

It will be remembered that a very short time ago society was surprised by the elopement of the well known Angeleno, Irene Givens Freeman, and the nationally known educator ad clergyman, Charles Satchell Morris, II, to Phoenix, Ariozna, two months ago. The day following the marriage, the bride returned to Los Angeles and the groom left on an extended speaking tour. He is leaving Detroit today and after filling numerous engagements, will join his bride here sometime during the ensuing month.

In the receiving line were the hostess, the bride, the bride's sister, Mrs. Paul R. Williams, Rev. June Cobb and Mrs. Cornelia Leggett Bradford.

Among the guests were the bride's mother, Mrs. Cordelia Perry Givens, Mesdames J. L. Hill, J. D. Fowler, Gerald Moore, Elbridge Lee, James Brown, Fred Whiteman, Rufus Portwig, Doris Houston, Florence Ellsworth, A. Hill, Frank Harvey, Etta Greene, Leslie King, Howard Allen, Edward Atkinson, Frank Pearl, Laura Porter, Madelyn LeSene, Blanche Finis, Chester Burke Anna J. Leggett, J. T. Smith, Otis Bowdoin, T. Curtis Smith, Nadine Whisenant, Owen McCard, Willis O. Tyler, Misses Jennie Dora Grayson, Iva Washington, Pauline Slater and Gertrude Corisman.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Life" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The Golden Text is from I John: "This is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son."

One of the Bible citations in the Lesson-Sermon presents these passages about Jesus from Matthew: "Behold, there came a certain ruler and worshipped him, saying, My daughter is even now dead: but come and lay thy hand upon her and she shall live. And Jesus arose and followed him, and so did his disciples. . . And when Jesus came into the ruler's house, and saw the minstrels and the people making a noise, He said unto them Give place: for the maid is not dead, but sleepeth. And they laughed him to scorn. But when the people were put forth, he went in, and took her by the hand, and the maid arose."

The Lesson-Sermon includes also these statements from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Life is real and death is the illusion. A demonstration of the facts of Soul in Jesus' way resolves the dark visions of material sense into harmony and immortality. . . . We must hold forever the consciousness of existence, and sooner or later, through Christ and Christian Science, we must master sin and death."

San Francisco Man Lectures Here on Christian Science

"Health, abundance, and security are within the reach of every industrious man and woman," declared Peter V. Ross, C. S. B., of San Francisco, in a lecture on Christian Science given last Sunday afternoon at First Church auditorium.

Mr. Ross, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, spoke here under the auspices of Christian Science Society (Colored). Referring to God as Life, and to man as an exhibit of divine Life, he said:

"Disease cannot be genuine. This is why sufferers are constantly in revolt against it. If disease were a reality people would have to accept it without protest, for realities cannot be evaded or overcome.

DISEASE NOT GENUINE

"Science insists that disease is in belief, in appearance, or in ignorance, rather than in reality. It belongs in the same category with the belief in the flatness of the earth. For certainly the earth appear flat. Occasionally to this day may be found a person who believes it flat. Obviously the flatness is in his thought, in his ignorance. Some day the simple fact will dawn upon him that the earth is round. Then the flatness will be cured.

"Some day the undeniable fact will dawn upon the supposedly sick man that Life is God. Then his sickness will be healed, because disease and mortality cannot be ascribed to Deity. If God is Life, then Life must be diseaseless, ageless, endless."

MAKING THE RIGHT CHOICE

"Human experience," he continued, "consists to a considerable degree in making choices and decisions. Christian Science acquaints the individual with the spiritual facts which enable him to judge and choose wisely and rightly.

A person makes a right choice, he gives himself a Science treatment when he embraces Life and renounces everything opposed to Life. When he recognizes that Life is irrepressible, unconquerable, incorruptible. When he realizes as best he can that this resistless Life is his, that it is in full and unrestricted operation right where his infirmity may seem to be. Which means that the infirmity is not there, is not his, is not in existence."

SPREAD OF SCIENCE

"Christian Science, discovered and founded by Mary Baker Eddy, has gone as widely abroad perhaps as the Sermon on the Mount", stated the speaker. "In other words it has permeated universal thought. There is hardly a person in western civilization who is not talking a different and better life, who is not living in a different and a better world because this great woman has lived and labored here."

Juvenile Delinquency High in Slums of United States

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 18.—While the juvenile delinquency rate in the slums of America is two or three times as high as in the better housed neighborhoods, it was virtually zero in 1939 among the 40,000 children of 25,000 low-income families removed from substandard homes by the United States Housing Authority slum clearance and low rent housing program. Claim to this was made this week by the U. S. Housing Authority.

Declaring this record convincing proof that slum clearance pays dividends in human as well as economic values, USHA Administrator Nathan Straus pointed out that freedom from juvenile delinquency and crime in general, as well as from traffic mishaps has marked ne the 61 low-rent housing projects that have been tenanted in the USHA program.

These tenanted projects include 14 built with USHA aid by local housing authorities in 9 cities, which were opened for occupancy in 1939, and 47 low-rent housing projects in 34 cites built by the PWA Housing Division and now owned by the USHA. Most of the PWA-built projects were tenanted in 1937 and 1938, and for the most part are now operated by local Housing Authorities under lease from the USHA.

Although the Committee had urged the President to appoint a qualified colored citizen, it viewed the naming of Murphy as an excellent choice.

"Judge-elect Murphy has been a long time friend of the N. A. A. C. P. and a champion of the causes for which it fights. He achieved national recognition through the masterful manner in which he presided at the famous Sweet Trial in Detroit," a spokesman for the Association said.

Senators Hiram Johnson and Sheridan Downey have urged to vote for confirmation of the appointment. A letter was written to Murphy, by the Branch, over the signature of Baxter Scruggs, chairman of the legal and political division.

3 Lakes Open for Daily Fishing

Lake Hodges will be open for fishing every day during 1940, according to the outing bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

This makes the third lake in San Diego County to be open the year around. Morena Lake and Lake Henshaw also permit fishing every day. Good reports have been coming in from these lakes, the catches consisting largely of bluegill, crappie, perch and some bass.

BUSINESS GAINS

Dr. J. E. Walker, president of the National Negro Business League, in an article for the Associated Negro Press, says:

"Let us pause to review the record of 1939 and count the gains made in our economic life. According to surveys made in many sections of the country by officers and members of the National Negro Business League, practically every phase of our economic life has registered some gains.

"Many hotels conducted by our people have made improvements; restaurants are generally cleaner and are giving better service. More small businesses are being promoted by Negroes, more sales are reported by our stores, greater circulations by our newspapers, splendid increases by our insurance companies, more employment for Negroes in industry and more recognition of Negroes in organized labor.

"I am also happy to report that during 1939, more local Negro business leagues, chambers of commerce and other such trade groups have organized than in any other similar period in the national league's history. Such a record reflects a steadily increasing interest in our economic problems.

"The year 1940 offers the greatest opportunity for progress and improvement in our economic status than any time in our brief history of 76 years, since emancipation.

"As soon as the leaders and masses of our people are convinced that we must look more to ourselves, depend more upon our own thinking, conserve our resources and spend our dollars where they will bring the greatest results, we will start in the right direction towards solving many of our problems. We must be thoroughly sold on the idea that our economic freedom lies for the most part in our own hands. Living beyond our means, spending our money before it is earned and "aping" the follies and living standards of those who hold the wealth of the country in their hands, have been some of the impediments to the steady advancement of our people. There can be no political freedom, there will be no social freedom, until we have broken the chains of economic slavery, that have held us down since physical emancipation.

"The educational philosophy of Booker T. Washington, founder of the National Negro Business League, still blesses and inspires a world sadly in need of his teaching, that men should prepare themselves to work well in whatever may be their vocation. We should, therefore, consolidate our economic gains made in 1939, and grimly resolve that during 1940 we will make the greatest progress in our history.

"Far removed as we are from the terrible conflict in the Old World, every effort should be made to take advantage of the privilege and freedom offered by the constitution of the United States and help to make it a living and workable instrument for black as well as white.

"We invite our ministers, our professional leaders and men and women in all walks of life, to join hands with the business leaders, to achieve the objective of the National Negro Business League, which is 'to promote the commercial and financial development of the Negro'."

Healthy words, these!

GABBY BITS:

The late Charles Upton was always alive to the things about him. We remember him best at a party during the summer for Jack Blackburn, the one-time great fighter and now the capable trainer of heavyweight champion Joe Louis. Upton was a happy man that night as he talked about the mitt game . . . Norman B. Houston, son of the insurance exec, becomes the second Negro admitted to the Knights of Polytecnic High. Prerequisites for admittance into the exclusive body are scholarship and service. Among Norman B.'s accomplishments are a two-year letterman in football (he's a center), treasurer of Boys Self-Government (he'll be vice prexy after the 18th), member of camera club. A junior at Poly, Houston wants to be an actuary. "Son of Ingagi", latest Hollywood Productions' film, will surprise Negro theatre audiences. Its something entirely different from the usual run of all-Negro cast pictures.

MR. AND MRS. SPENCER T. CAVE of Parkville, Mo., standing in Alumni Hall on the Park college campus Sunday afternoon, January 7, the day before their golden wedding anniversary when the college honored them with a testimonial program. Mr. Cave was paid tributes by students and faculty members for the 65 years of continuous service he has given Park college, a white institution. Mr. Cave is holding a bouquet of red roses presented her by Mrs. William Lindsay Young, wife of the president of Park College. Mr. Cave is holding a box full of correspondence he and Mrs. Cave received on the occasion from hundreds of Park College graduates scattered throughout the country.

Jordan Hi P-TA Meet Success Despite Weather

Jordan High school's P-TA most recent meeting was quite successful despite the inclement weather. Outstanding highlight of the program was the panel on "How Can Democracy Benefit my Home?" brought by Mrs. Rider, program chairman. Mrs. Jellison, principal of the 92nd Street school, defined Democracy. B-12 student, Ophelia Westly and John Burghart, supervised by Mrs. Salisch, explained how Democracy worked in their individual homes. Mrs. Margaret Lyons, wife of the 102nd Street Playground director, explained how Democracy worked in the home, as a parent. Principal Brown summed up the panel by saying the practice of the "Golden Rule" was the first and paramount objective of every American citizen. Mrs. Faustina Johnson spoke on the practice of Democracy in the P-TA.

February 16 has been set aside as "Tree Planting" day by the District, to be held at South Gate High school at 10:00 a. m. All are invited to attend.

Friday night wrote another page in history for Jordan High. The class of W'40 held its annual Prom. The hall was beautifully decorated and the atmosphere was similar to that of the Cocoanut Grove. The P-TA committee, under the leadership of Mrs. Daisy Scott, publicity chairman, Mrs. Mendoza and Mrs. Spurlock presented to each girl graduate present a beautiful gardenia corsage and to every boy a carnation boutonniere.

Don't forget the magazine luncheon, enchiladas and tacos, Jan. 25 at the school cafeteria, 11:00 a. m. Mrs. Irma Mackey, magazine chairman, is in charge. Reservations may be phoned to the school, LA-2188 or to Mrs. Mackey directly, LA-6446.

January 23, at the school, 2:30 p. m., will be executive board meeting. All officers take notice.

Work will start on the $161,350 structure immediately and students in the Mechanical Department of the Institute will be largely employed in the construction.

Murphy to 'Fight' Racism, But Won't Touch Coughlin

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (By CNA)—Attorney General Frank Murphy told his press conference that he will launch a drive against racial and religious intolerance—and at the same time promised vigorously not to touch America's No. 1 anti-Semite and fascist race hatred peddler.

Murphy spoke for several minutes about his firm devotion to the principles of religious liberty.

The attorney general announced that the special grand jury which convened here on Jan. 2 to hear charges against so-called "foreign agents", would also deal with anti-Semitic organizations.

"In connection with anti-Semitic activities, are you going to investigate Father Coughlin?" a reporter asked.

Murphy stopped and began cross-examining the questioner. He wanted to know where the reporter had read charges that Coughlin is anti-Semitic. Finally, he declared:

"No complaint of any kind has ever been placed in this department against Father Coughlin."

C. and young attorney at law will represent the Negro, John Kikuchi, student of the Los Angeles City College will represent the Japanese, and Dan Sinsburg, will represent the Jew. All are welcome to come.

USHA Issues Loan Notes for Projects

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 18.—The United States Housing Authority today announced a second issue, amounting to $35,501,000, of six-months-maturity Temporary Loan Notes to finance construction of public low-rent slum-clearance housing projects, will be offered for public sale by 10 local housing authorities. Bids will be opened by the local authorities on Jan. 24.

The initial issue of $50,000,000, offered to private investors on Nov. 8 last, was snapped up at rates of interest averaging slightly less than six-tenths of 1 per cent. This was an interest rate of about one-fifth of what the USHA, under the law, must charge for its loans to local authorities.

Los Angeles, Calif. housing authorities will participate in the offering to be made this month with $1,020.000.

Oakland Man Elected to Engineers Society

OAKLAND, Jan. 18.—Joseph T. Gier, son of Mrs Alice Gier of this city, a recent graduate of the engineering college of the University of California, was recently elected to Sigma Xi, national technical engineering society, because of outstanding achievements in that field.

Gier was honored because of outstanding research in the field of radiation and illumination and his contribution to the development of a radiometer, for measuring radiant energy, the only one of its type in the country.

Young Gier is on the staff of the testing agency for the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Library Book Notes

(Courtesy Vernon Branch Public Library)

Many books of interest are on this week's list of recent additions to the Vernon Branch Library collection. Among them Marie Sandoz's new novel "Capital City" is sure to be widely read and enjoyed. Miss Sandoz is well known for her stories of pioneer life in Nebraska—first in a biography, "Old Jules" and later in a novel "Slogum House." The story of "Capital City" is told by Hamm Rufe, grandson of a founding father, who has turned against the community in which he was once a power. Rufe lives in Shacktown, an object of suspicion because of his managership of the hated Co-op and because of his criticism of his own class. Through his eyes we see the scandal, the political intrigue, hatred and the curbing of individual freedom which threatened to kill the pioneer spirit in our Midwest. The Capital City is rumored to be Lincoln, Nebraska.

An extremely unusual story is "The March of the Hundred," by Manuel Komroff, a strange and gentle tale in allegorical form, based on the march of Xenophon's ten-thousand. It is fantasy and irony rolled into the same package, this story of a man and his circle of friends marching toward a peace they cannot find, a security that is non-existent. The author says that he has here attempted to do for the 20 years of peace what "All Quiet on the Western Front" did for the war years—he has "painted the picture of a generation which survived war only to be shattered by the chaos of peace." Do not be surprised to find yourself one of the hundred.

NEGRO LABOR

Some very good reading as well as valuable material is to be found in "The Negro Labor Unionist of New York" by Chas. Franklin. The author was a member of the Mayor's Committee which undertook a study of the causes of the Harlem Riot of March 19, 1935, one of the phases which dealt with the problems of Negro employment. The book gives a history of the labor union movement among Negroes in New York City and follows it with a study of the Negro in the NRA and post-NRA situations.

Joseph Widney's book on "The Three Americas" is a very interesting study of the racial factors in the New World. It takes up the Scots, the Negroes and the early French and Spanish explorers. There are chapters on the probable fate of the earlier races inhabitating the continent, such as the Mayas in Central America, and the Toltecs and Aztecs.

Herculte Poirot appears again in Agatha Christie's new mystery, "Death on the Nile" and solves a baffler with his usual neatness and dispatch.

Ascot School 6th Graders to 'Adopt' Baby

Sixth grade girls of the Ascot school are going in for community uplift in a "big way".

During the holiday season the girls gave baskets of food to the needy, and in appreciation for the service rendered the public and for the large amount of health work done for women and children by the Temple Health institute, the group presented to the mother's department of the Temple Health institute of Central avenue, a full layette.

They plan to "adopt" the baby selected to receive the layette by the Current Health Problem's committee of the Community Health association. The girls further plan to follow the baby selected and each year to do what they can to help meets its needs.

Bad Publicity Hurts Harlem

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Publicity in the daily papers has given Harlem such a bad name that internes are afraid to go into the section on errands of mercy, Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia said in a meeting here last week. A policeman on each ambulance was suggested, but turned down by the mayor.

McKinley Jr. Hi P-TA Slates Tea

The Welfare and Health committees of McKinley Jr. High P-TA, under chairmen Mrs. Hall and Miss Wigman, will give a tea at the home of Mrs. Mary Troy 1438 E. 57th Street, Friday, Jan 26, from 2 to 5.

Since nutrition has been chosen as the problem for the health committee to work on, this tea will be in the interests of the free lunch and milk fund.

Mrs. Jessie Terry, member of the Los Angeles Housing Authority, will speak on the progress being made to get modern, low-rent homes in place of slum-dwellings for people of low income.

All P-TA members and friends of the school are invited.

SPENCER CAVE snapped by the cameraman on a warmer more springlike day than the January day on which he was honored at Park College last Sunday. He was "caught" here as he went about his gardening duties on the Park campus. Mr. Cave says that he will never stop working for Park. "I am on sort of a pension now," he says, "but I will always be at Park." Mr. Cave, now 77, has worked continuously at Park since the day the college was established sixty-five years ago.

eddie anderson, 'rochester' of stage, radio, screen fame, really wants to be aviator

From chorus in an all Negro revue to tops among Negro screen and radio performers.

That's the story in a nutshell of the career of one Eddie Anderson, better known to millions of radio fans as Jack Benny's man, "Rochester", now appearing in "Buck Benny Rides Again", his second film with Benny.

Anderson was born in Oakland on Sept. 18, 1905. He attended grammar schools in both Oakland and San Francisco, and completed his education with two years in high school in San Mateo.

In 1919, he did his first show, a song and dance act in a revue featuring Edith Sterling, but his initial professional appearance was in a musical comedy called "Struttin Along," which featured Mamie Smith, forerunner of all colored blues singers. Anderson was a chorus boy and general utility man.

With his elder brother, Cornie, he then appeared in a Los Angeles vaudeville act with the "Strut" Mitchell Troupe, and followed this by forming the "Three Black Aces," a trio which teamed him with Cornie and one "Flying' Ford. They played 14 weeks at the Plantation in 1923, and then went on tour in the same company with the California Collegians, a dance band which numbered among its musicians a saxophonist named Fred MacMurray.

EDDIE ANDERSON

BROKE IN OMAHA

Anderson received his first real break in 1925, when the company he was with went broke in Omaha. Eddie got a temporary sopt ha. Eddie got a temporary spot World Theater, and his reception there gained for him a Pantages Circuit contract for the rest of the season.

Returning to Los Angeles in 1926, Eddie did a Fanchon and Marco tour of the coast, and then signed as a regular on the Keith-Orpheum Circuit, which spot lasted 35 weeks. It was about this time that he began to inject a few comedy routines into his song and dance act.

After a brief appearance at the Apex Night Club on Central Avenue in Los Angeles, Anderson went into Sebastians Cotton Club, where he appeared for two and one-half years with only one night's vacation.

Anderson's start in motion pictures was a dance number in Mervyn Leroy's first feature, "No Place to Go," which starred Lloyd Hughes and Mary Astor. His first film speaking part was as Lowell Sherman's valet in "What Price Hollywood," with Constance Bennett.

After playing similar bits for several years, Eddie finally got a break in "Green Pastures," in which he undertook successfully the difficult role of Noah. He has appeared in numerous features since then, among them Bobby Breen's "Old Country Doctor" and "You Cant Take It With You," which won him real fan and critic acclaim. His part in "Buck Benny Rides Again," which stars Jack Benny, is his biggest to date, and offers him a chance to display his varied talents.

His first appearance on the Jack Benny radio program took place on Easter Sunday, 1937. Benny, looking for a Negro to play a porter on his program, tried Anderson out and, after the initial broadcast, proceeded to write him into a permanent place on the program.

Eddie lives a comparatively quiet life in his Hollywood home. His greatest extravagance is a valet, who attends him on the set. He is married.

"Rochester's" musical likes and dislikes seem a bit incongruous since he favors the classical compositions, such as rhapsodies and overtures, above the time-honored Negro swing or jazz music.

His favorite form of recreation is horse-racing, and he keeps a stable of four or five horses which race with fair success on Pacific Coast tracks. Other means of relaxation are golf and horseback riding, in both of which he actively participates. He loves automobile and motorcycle racing and seldom misses an opportunity to attend either event.

His one great ambition is to cause to be established a Negro flying corps in the United States Army. He actively advocates a training school for Negro aviators, and believes that a measure to this effect, passed by Congress, would cement patriotism among American Negroes.

Anderson has himself taken a flying course, and is consciously trying to obtain his private license. This, he feels, would give him enough prestige to seriously press his views on Negro aviation.

film execs visit Eagle plant

Arthur Dreifuss, driector and co-producer with Bert Goldberg & Port, Inc., of "Mystery in Swing", an all-colored cast picture, based on the life of a star reporter and showing what an important part the Negro press plays in the everyday life of its people, paid a visit to the California Eagle this week along with members of the technical staff of his company, to learn first-hand just what goes on behind the scenes in a newspaper office.

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, owner and dpublisher of the Eagle, gave the members of Dreifuss' party an inspiring talk on the type of picture the Negro would like to see. In her talk, Mrs. Bass pointed out that the Negro will neither condone nor support gangster films.

theatrical editor writes history of Negro in motion pictures for trade magazine

Ed. Note—This is a reprint of an article that appeared in the January issue of International Photographers Magazine (a white publication) and was written by James Asendio, Theatrical Editor of the California Eagle.

BY JAMES ASENDIO

Twenty years ago, Oscar Micheaux started producing Negro pictures in the East. These pictures have served their purpose, but could hardly be said to have kept pace with the progress of the industry. There have also been several other efforts to produce Negro pictures, but never on the same scale and with a definite trend toward quality as is now the case in Hollywood.

In 1915, a Negro boy, just out of school, had his first experience traveling through the middle west and the Mississippi Valley as a baritone singer in a quartette. This was George Randol's introduction to the stage.

Throughout the intervening 24 years, Randol has ever sought to improve the Negro's condition and position in the field of entertainment and the theatre. During these 24 years it has been his privilege to know the greater names in the theatre and concert. He has watched them grow to be stellar attractions and always had an idea that if pictures were produced that would give Marian Anderson, Roland Hayes, Katrina Yarboro and other stellar concert lights, as well as literary geniuses such as Allen Locke of Howard University, Rhodes scholar and Kelly Miller, Dean of Howard University, a vehicle in which to display their wares, there would be attracted to this industry many persons who have much to contribute, regardless of the color of their skins.

After 1762 consecutive performances with Richard B. Harrison in "The Green Pastures," where the plan to start an all-Negro motion picture company was evolved during one of the many tours, Randol came West. It was his good fortune to come to Hollywood as an assistant director for Warner Bros. Inspired by his discussion with Harrison as to the probable possibility of an all-Negro motion picture company, Randol started at once to organize such a company, being greeted, first, as a person with slightly irresponsible mental faculties.

Persons in Hollywood would look at him with a vacant stare when he talked of all-colored motion pictures on a major scale; pat him on the back gently and say, "It was nice to have known you." In other words, the old "brush off."

However, Hal Mohr, winner of the Academy Award for photography in "The Green Pastures" thought the possibility of making an all-Negro picture would offer new fields of exploration in camera craft. His experience with large groups of colored people in "The Green Pastures" gave him an insight to the very interesting study of screen technique that could be afforded by groups of Negro people with their varied coloring.

Randol was successful in interesting RKO in the production of short subjects starring the Hall Johnson Choir, with the result that in 1937, one of the shorts, "Deep South," produced under his contract, was runner-up for the Academy Award. By this time, cameramen had come to realize, the possibility for rare photographic beauty when groups of Negroes were photographed in typical racial settings. The photography on "Deep South" was really a work of art as handled by Jack McKenzie.

Between pictures at RKO, Randol interested Ralph Cooper and Ben Rinaldo, an agent of Hollywood, and they formed a company to produce the first all-colored cast motion picture with modern story, settings and costumes, released under the title "Dark Manhattan." This picture became a sensation when shown, even though it was difficult to convince the exhibitors that colored people would pay high prices to see their own race on the screen.

When word reached Hollywood that crowds were standing in unfavorable weather throughout the East to see "Dark Manhattan," which by the way was very well photographed by Roland Price; there immediately sprang up a number of companies attempting to make all-colored pictures.

For a while there was a demand for the product of these new companies, but their lack of experience with the subject matter caused inferior pictures to be made. When people viewed "Dark Manhattan," they commented favorably upon the photography and compared it with the "B" class pictures then produced by the major studios. When other pictures came along that merely sought to slap together a few images on a film, the public compared the photography of these inferior productions with "Dark Manhattan" and refused to accept them. This lack of photographic perfection was due to the lack of time and cooperation of producers.

During the past three years, important developments have taken place until today colored-cast pictures are now being produced on a major scale. This was brought about four months ago when International Road Shows entered the Hollywood field with an established distribution set-up. They have issued contracts to three producing units for their entire output during the coming year, guaranteeing to the producer an outlet for his products and to the exhibitor a standard grade of pictures, plus a definite delivery schedule, all of which has heretofore been lacking.

Bert Goldberg, vice president of this company, has surrounded himself with an experienced Hollywood staff, headed by George Randol as Chief of Production. In this executive position he will be able to give the colored race as well as the race's many white friends the long awaited opportunity to see the Negro on the screen as he is in life. Using "Double Deal," which critics acclaim as technically perfect and a photographic gem, due to the grand efforts of head-cameraman Mack Stengler and Arthur Driefuss, director, as a foundation, they hope and feel assured that at last colored pictures will take the place they rightfully deserve in the industry.

social workers bring art to district

"Not Art for Art's Sake, but Art as a Weapon for Propaganda," characterized the setting of a play given by a group of SRA social workers from the Vernon District Relief office.

The group staged its production "It's a Great Relief" at the Urban District Relief Office before fellow workers last Saturday.

"It's a Great Relief" shows the inefficiency of a poorly disorganized social service system, and the great amount of unnecessary embarrassment that a relief client it subjected to when relief is under the administration of counties," according to comments made.

Cast of the play included the following social workers from the Vernon District Relief office:

Supervisor Trio: Patricia Folsom, Evelyn Spiller, Ann Light; office manager, County Director, worker alliance representative was portrayed by Donald Houghton; Emperor Manuel was characterized by Charles Ray; the social worker and clerical workers were enacted by Josephine Wood, Louise Batson, Maxine Manning, Helen Blattenberg; the clients were portrayed by A. Lane, Jean Teitlin, Thelma Stuart and Alice Gish, assisted with lyrics by Lola Selby and Jay Moss, production manager.

In less than two weeks JIMMIE LUNCEFORD, caricatured above, shattered all previous attendance records at the Renaissance, Casino, the Manhattan Center, Rockland Palace, Golden Gate Ballroom and the Apollo theatre, all in New York. Lunceford, due on the Coast in the very near future, had a grand total attendance of something like 97,860.

Catholics join attack on 'gwtw'

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. (CNA)—The Catholic Legion of Decency this week joined the Communists in assailing the Hollywood production "Gone With the Wind." The Catholic group found the film "objectionable" on moral grounds, but was silent on its alleged anti-Negro character and "distortion of American history," points on which the Communists and many Negro organizations are centering their attacks.

The legion's objection to the film, in which were invested four million dollars, is based upon "the low moral character, principles and behavior of the main figures as depicted in the film; suggestive implications; the attractive portrayal of the immoral character of a supporting role in the story." The last reference is presumably to the character of Belle Watling, a prostitute who contributes money to the Confederate cause.

The position of the Communist Party on the film was also expressed this week by William Z. Foster, National Chairman of the party, in his column in the Daily Worker. Said Foster:

INSULT AND INJURY

"Margaret Mitchell's 'Gone With the Wind' is the most reactionary book that ever secured such a large mass circulation in this country. It is an open and brazen defense of slavery, and Negro oppression, and it constitutes an insult and an injury to the Negro people. The motion picture is of the same cloth and is open to the same condemnation."

That the favorable reviews given the film by movie critics on the big white dailies resulted from pressure by the newspaper owners was broadly hinted this week by Danton Walker in his column, "Broadway" in the New York Daily News. Referring to the refusal of the film critics organization to award first prize to "Gone With the Wind," Walker stated:

"The Communistic New Masses and Daily Worker were ribbed by the metropolitan press for panning "Gone With the Wind" as a reactionary, sociological document, too much glorifying the old South and regarded as anti-something or other. But it was exactly this same argument, advanced by representatives of the conservative dailies, which stonped Selznick's masterpiece from winning the 1939 Film Critics award."

hattie mcdaniel signs long-term contract with selznick

Hattie McDaniel whose remarkable climb to screen fame has been unparalleled, was recently signed to a long term contract by Selznick International Studios.

It is generally conceded that the fine work of the actress in the newly released "Gone With the Wind" is responsible for the contract.

Hollywood columnists and drama editors throughout the country have given unstinted praise to Miss McDaniels work in this period picture and in several polls she has been voted the best supporting actress in 1939.

The studio has intimated that it plans to give Miss McDaniel outstanding parts since she has proven her ability in Selznick's greatest production. Special parts will be written for her, and the actress is anxious for a modern role where she will be able to play a courageous, lovable Negro mother. Meanwhile, letters are pouring in to the actress praising her brilliant work in a very difficult vehicle.

TOO GOOD TO BE KEPT OUT

Pacific Coast conference basketball, they tell us, has been comparatively lily-white in the past, i. e., up until this season. The sudden change has come about because of one Jackie Robinson and two, Ray Bartlett, sepia lads who transferred to the University of California at Los Angeles from Pasadena Junior college.

Out to Westwood gym to watch UCLA play a practice game with Loyola university some few nights ago, we saw Robinson display that same speed, change of pace and deception that featured his gridiron capers this past season. The boy has plenty of athletic "it", if you know what we mean.

Some years ago, there was a sepia player on the University of Southern California cage squad by the name of Herman Hill, now a sports writer together with other duties. Hill, however, didn't have the buildup nor the setup that Robinson has at UCLA.

In fact, there have been other sepia basketballers at UCLA capable of making the squad but, as the saying goes, "no encouragement" came their way. But now, it is a new day in conference athletics and it's because Jackie Robinson is too good to not receive "encouragement" in football, basketball and track.

Several nights later we saw Bartlett in a practice session. Asked how it was we had not seen him a few nights previous in the Loyola-UCLA game, Ray said he had been "ill and unavailable" as the State Athletic commission is wont to say in its bulletins.

Some shucks as a football player himself, Bartlett is a guard in the Bruin hoop forces.

It's a matter of record, more or less, that the Bruins haven't been so hot in conference basketball circles for the past several seasons. In fact they have been the doormat rather consistently.

Coached by Wilbur Johns, the likable and able successor to Pierce "Caddy" Works who for 19 years was head coach, UCLA expects to be in the running for southern division honors this season, their two losses to the Stanford Indians to open the conference race last Friday and Saturday notwithstanding.

SHORTS IN SPORTS:

Although we have never met the gentleman, our hat is off to Larry Sunbrock of the National Rodeo Association, who has turned promoter of professional football, insofar as it concerns Kenny Washington, Woody Strode, et al. Thru Sunbrock's promotional efforts Kenny and Woody have been able to pocket a little of the wherewithal so necessary these days. Kenny's All-Americans have played here once and are scheduled to play again as their contract calls for two games in L. A. The lads drew over 10,000 in the coast city of San Diego Sunday. Which shows they have box office appeal . . . Jackie Wilson, the lightweight knockerouter, returned here this week from a holiday visit with his parents in Cleveland. The lightweight championship contender goes to the post early in February against Leo Rodak of Chicago.

A nice gesture was that of the S. P. A. A. U. and Helms Athletic Foundation under Bill Schroeder in selecting John Thomas, Southern California and Tri-City Golden Gloves champion, as the athlete of the month. Thomas, who is 19 and a student at Jefferson High, is a protege of that prominent boxing instructor, George Tolson. Tolson it was who developed Georgie Crouch, current sensation in New York, and Leon Zorrita, considered at one time by followers of the leather brigade to be one of the best glove tossers ever developed on the coast. With the Amateur Nationals opening in S. F. on Jan. 25, Thomas, a featherweight, and Alston Hoosman, heavyweight, sepia representatives of the coast, may find their toughest opposition coming from sepians of the East. In that number, Theodore Wint, New York heavyweight, has already been compared to ring immortals. The three other sepians among the eight eastern All-American amateurs are Basil Jones, another standout and holder of the 112-lb. title; George Beckles, lightweight king; and Danny Cox, lightheavyweight titleholder.

The Negro baseball leagues are getting ready for the summer campaign. A number of the "name" players, attracted to the tropics during the winter, are staying down there. And speaking of "name" players, that seemed to be responsible for the poor showing of Winter League baseball here on the coast this season. Some of the players who had packed 'em in in other years were playing in Cuba. It is to be hoped that during the coming league campaign the coast will be kept informed of the doings of the Negro leagues so that when it comes time for Winter League baseball those who make up the sepia entry won't be "cold" to local fans.

ATTORNEY HUGH E. MACBETH
"Spearhead in fight to get Negro boxers in Legion stadium."

ASSERTED HOLLYWOOD LEGION JIM CROW TO BE AIRED FRIDAY

Armstrong-Garcia Muddle Also Slated to Be Probed by State Commission

rimination complaints and that the commission had broad powers in granting and revoking licenses and legally could inquire into allegations that civil rights were violated.

The commission, thru its chairman, promised at its Nov. 17 meeting that the matter would be "fully and completely" aired at its next meeting here Jan. 19.

Also slated to be heard Friday, probably at the 10 a. m. session, is the Henry Armstrong-Ceferino Garcia muddle. Armstrong signed articles some months ago to fight Garcia for the middleweight title here Feb. 22 under the auspices of Hollywood Post with Charley McDonald, stadium matchmaker, as promoter.

Calling off the fight himself, Armstrong, who is in the East training for a welterweight title defense Jan. 24 in New York against Pedro Montanez, reportedly stated that he was doing so because Garcia weighed too much and because Hollywood Legion Post discriminated against Negro fighters.

According to the daily press, Negro leaders had contacted Armstrong and his statement anent discrimination followed. That report, however, has not been verified, although it appears that Hank's decision aids the current move toward ending Jim Crow at Hollywood Legion.

WOULD BAN HANK

Geisler, commission chairman, told newsmen this week that unless "Hustlin' Hank" went thru with his fight here with Garcia he would recommend a lifetime ban in this State against Henry and his manager, Eddie Mead.

California rules call for no more than an 11-pound difference in weights for middleweight bouts, the division limit being 160 pounds. There reportedly was no weight stipulation in the contracts signed by Armstrong and Garcia other than the bout would be at the middleweight limit or under.

In view of the fact that no squawk was made about discrimination at the time the papers were signed, the question is being asked in some quarters "Is Mead trying to get some free publicity?"

At any rate, if the fight is cancelled it will undoubtedly be a severe jolt to Hollywood Post No. 43 as it is reported that it has an indebtedness of more than $100,000 and the Armstrong-Garcia fight would have drawn an estimated $150,000.

The enigma: Armstrong can help pay off the Post's indebtedness but cannot appear in a Hollywood Legion stadium ring as a contender. It is claimed the stadium is purely a business enterprise although no percentage is paid into State Athletic Commission coffers as is required under the law of other boxing arenas. In this regard it is said that the Post is under compassion of legislative privilege, having been exempt from tax thru legislative enactment.

According to reliable sources, Hollywood Legion objects to putting in Negro boxers, with present indebtedness, because change of policy might affect their business success. Which leads to the query of whether or not the regulatory powers of the State Athletic Commission affect Hollywood Legion stadium which conducts boxing and wrestling bouts. Obviously, the retort is "what's sauce for the goose, is sauce for the gander".

No other post in California, or possibly in the nation, it is claimed, enjoys such immunity as does Hollywood Post No. 43, reputed to be the richest in the entire Legion.

REFUTES DOCTRINE

Hollywood Post, apparently is one of the greatest transgressors of its own doctrine—that of tolerance, democracy and equality without regard to race, creed or color—on record. The Post's officials have been loyally and steadfastly supported by Negro legionnaires, it is said.

Every legionnaire thruout the country is no doubt anxiously awaiting the outcome of this case—national and international in its consequences. For actually, the Legion can least afford to "give aid and comfort" to the national and international enemies of democracy during these times of warfare, threatened and actual. This policy of exclusion, open, notorious and publicly undenied, strikes at the vitals of all democratic institutions.

The Bill of Rights, enumerated in the Constitution as the first 10 Amendments, clearly show personal rights as fundamental. Property rights, secondary, and an outgrowth of personal rights, can never predominate. This has been an age-old truth.

It is understood that community forces behind this fight are willing to dedicate time and energy over a period of years to see that justice is done. Within the past 10 days, it is said, there has been a remarkable surge for solidarity in this move by all civic activities and agencies.

BEN BOWIE TO AID

Ben Bowie Post has been reported as going on record at a rally meeting this week as offering 100 per cent cooperation to Attorney MacBeth, spearhead of the move against discrimination by Hollywood Legion, and his brother-partner, Gobert MacBeth who is also a legionnaire.

Post representation will be in attendance Friday. Norman O. Houston, who requests all legionnaires and auxiliary members to wear their caps, and Jerome Hubert, both nationally prominent in Legion affairs, will be on hand the EAGLE learned this week, "contending for the effective operation of the principles of democracy within the Legion as well as without.

Among those scheduled to appear tomorrow afternoon are Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor-publisher of the EAGLE; the writer, George P. Moore; Dr. Alonzo Adams, boxing manager; George Tiddington, Houston and Hubert, Prof. William Easter of the State Department of Adult Education; Rev. Clayton D. Russell, pastor of the People's Independent Church of Christ; Dan Shaw, newsman; La Mar DeLavallade, boxing manager; Charles Williams, boxing manager; Harry Levette, newsman; Dr. F. R. Whiteman, Leon Washington of the L. A. Sentinel; George Tolson, boxing manager; Eugene Sorral, Elk ruler and sportsman; Baron Lawson, and Dr. E. I. Robinson, member of the commission's medical examining board.

NEGRO DRAWS GOLD

The commercial value of the Negro athlete is astounding as well as unlimited. For three years, Kenny Washington and Woodrow Strode conspired on the football field to fill the coffers of the University of California at Los Angeles. A few weeks ago, Washington was presented a watch in the Hollywood Legion stadium ring by Legion officials and was acclaimed by a capacity house.

Thus, it papears, the Legion will present awards to Negro athletes but will not allow them to enter its ring as a contender. Mexicans, Filipinos and Puerto Ricans, among others, are welcomed but the bar is down so far as the Negro is concerned.

By the way, we have never heard of a Mexican or Filipino world's heavyweight champion but we do know of a Negro — Joe Louis!

'Y' Weightlifters Prepare for Meet

After one month of hard training, the 28th Street YMCA has at last developed a weightlifting team ready to meet some of the competition around the city, a 'Y' official said today. Their first challenge comes from South Park's neighborhood "Big Brother" Team. The squad has a great aggregation of lifters, has two teams, A. and B.

The YMCA team having had only a month's training cannot compete yet with the first team, but after a few months they will be ready to meet all opposition, it was stated. The weightlifting meet is set for tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the 28th St. "Y" gym.

Borican to Run Mile Against Cunningham

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. (C)—John Borican, Shore A. C. 1939 champion half-miler, who made such a concerted splash last winter from 800 to 1000 meters, is headed for his first and last mile of the new year when he toes off in Boston's Prout games, Jan. 27, against Glenn Cunningham.

Borican who was there strictly in a spectators role, having spent the last week on his back with the grippe.

"I've signed for the Prout Mile in Boston," he explained. "I expect it to be my first and last 1940 mile. But I'm taking it more as a half mile conditioner, than anything else."

Louis Trains for Godoy Bout

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., Jan. 18.—Joe Louis, heavyweight champion of the world, will commence training for his bout in February with Arturo Godoy, South American champion, this week.

Weighing 208 pounds and looking fit, the champion said he wanted four title bouts in 1940, the same number he had last year, and would extend his activities through 1941 before he seriously considered retiring.

Louis started sparring Saturday, going three rounds against George Nicholson and Clarence Brown of Chicago. This week he began his usual routine of six rounds a day, four days weekly.

Long Beach Stops 'Y'

Ill fortune caught up with the 28th Street "Y" Varsity last Saturday when Long Beach defeated them on the Long Beach court The absence of the three crack centers, Underwood, Scott and Burris, was too much of a handicap for the home team to overcome, but they caused Long Beach enough trouble before the game ended. Leading the score 20-18 at the end of the first half the 'Y' Varsity was headed for victory, but Long Beach got hot in the second half to out score 28th Street 20 to 11. At the final gun, Long Beach led 28-31.

McLaurin of the 28th Street 'Y' tallied for 16 points to carry off high scoring honors for the evening. Parrish, of Long Beach trailed with 12 points. The "Y" varsity plays Hollywood tomorrow night at the Hollywood 'Y'.

Robinson to Lead Bruins Against USC

Robinson-Vaughn Duel in Offing at Shrine Aud.

Led by all-round athlete Jackie Robinson, star UCLA forward, the Bruins tangle with the hoopsters of the University of Southern California Friday and Saturday nights at Shrine auditorium in the second round of southern division Pacific Coast conference play.

The Bruins, since the last setto of the 1932 season, have not won from SC in 28 tries. Coach Wilbur Johns, however, with Robinson and John Colla, all conference guard and scoring leader at Sacramento jaysee last season, as spearheads, expects to floor a smooth-working combination capable of upsetting the favored cagers from Troy.

Robinson indicated he has found his deadly basket eye last Friday and Saturday nights when he scored 35 digits against Stanford at Palo Alto. Twenty-three of those points came in the first game. The Uclans lost both tilts.

A battle between Ralph Vaughn, SC's southern division scoring leader, and Robinson, who is in second spot, is expected to materialize this weekend. Vaughn is the mainstay of the Trojan attack.

'Turkey' In Easy Win Over Pedro

Blimp Williams Faces Sloan in Top 10 Tuesday

"Turkey" Thompson, continuing his mad dash to the top of the middleweight ladder, had an easy time of it Tuesday night at the Olympic as referee Lieut. Jack Kennedy awarded him a technical knockout victory over Lorenzo Pedro, Oakland battler born in Brazil of Portuguese parents.

On the floor four times, Pedro was no match for "Turkey", failing to land a single telling punch.

Henry Hook decisioned Frankie Kainrath in the six-round semi. Other results (all four-rounders): Jimmy McDaniels, hitting his stride after a 12-month layoff, TKO'ed Nick Massiello, in four; William Metcalf, "Rochester's" importation, TKO'ed Ozzie Carroll in four; Paul Woods and Johnny Grady battled to a draw as did Frenchy Savidan and Frankie Gardea in the opener.

Next Tuesday night matchmaker Jimmy Murray cards two 10-rounders. "Haystack Sloan faces Blimp Williams in a heavyweight go, and Jimmy Casino meets the veteran Bobby Pacho.

Compton J.C. Primed for City College

Game Slated for Tomorrow Night in Tartars' Gym

In one of the classic basketball games of the current season, Compton Junior college's class quintet will meet Dave Ferrell's Los Angeles City College five in a crucial Metropolitan Conference hoop tilt tomorrow night in the Tartar gymnasium. Both colleges are natural athletic rivals which will add further interest to the encounter and assures an overflow audience. The game is slated to begin at 8 o'clock.

The Cubs have one of the finest basketball players in junior college ranks in the United States. That man is Francis Garland, a 6 foot 5 inch colored giant, who holds down the center spot for Los Angeles. Garland scored 27 points in one game and in the State tournament title tilt, tallied 26 points against Pasadena.

Garland is also a brilliant all-around hoop player. His passing and defensive play, almost equal his sensational shooting. He is exceptionally valuable in getting the ball off the backboard on rebounds.

ROBINSON NEMESIS

The tough duty of guarding Mister Garland will probably fall upon Leonard Buchanan, veteran Tartar guard. Buchanan showed that he is capable of turning in some fancy defensive play when he held Pasadena's famed Jackie Robinson to a minimum of points last year to enable Compton to nip the Bulldogs in a thriller.

The Cubs are particularly anxious to avenge four straight defeats handed them by the Tartars during the past two years and Mentor Ferrell has been putting his cagers through their stiffest drills of the season this week.

Robinson Second in Hoop Scoring

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 18.—Ralph Vaughn, University of Southern California forward, is leading the Pacific Coast Conference southern division scoring with 39 points in two games, reports show this week. In second place, only four points behind Vaughn, is Jackie Robinson, U. C. L. A. forward and erstwhile football star, with 35 points. Robinson has played string music with 12 field goals and 11 free throws.

Kenny Runs Grid Wild in San Diego

Leads All-Americans Against Bulldogs Sunday at Gilmore

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 18.—More than 10,000 natives of this coast city Sunday saw the great Kenny Washington, former University of California at Los Angeles gridiron star, lead his All-American Professionals to a decisive 26 to 13 victory over the Northern Professionals in an exhibition game.

The big crowd witnessed a thrilling brand of open field running as "The General" ran 102 yards for one touchdown, plunged over from the one-yard line for another and passed 23 yards to end Ralph Stanley, formerly of the University of Southern California, for a third. The standout back of the nation this past season ran 85 yards on a punt return for still another tally, but the play was nullified by a clipping penalty.

Washington and his All-Americans, bolstered by the addition of the two-year All-American USC guard, Harry Smith, and triple-threat Doyle Nave, USC quarterback, play the Los Angeles Bulldogs a return engagement Sunday afternoon at Gilmore stadium.

The Bulldogs won the first game three weeks ago, Washington scoring the lone tally for his team.

Name Suggested for Texas Housing Project

FORT WORTH (Tex.) Jan. 11. (ANP)—In nominating the name of Buttler Place for the $1,063,300 local Negro housing project, the committee who selected it as their choice, paid homage to one of Fort Worth's outstanding citizens as well as educators.

The committee, composed of representatives from each civic organization, chose to perpetuate the memory of a man who began life as a slave in Virginia, saw service with the Union army in Arkansas during the Civil war; and after freedom, educated himself at Washburn college, Topeka, Kan. Professor Buttler was approximately 90-years old when he passed more than a year ago.

The name, Buttler Place, will be submitted by the committee to the U. S. housing authority and it is very likely that the wishes of the committee in the matter will be respected by the Authority.

...e Educational System

...is revealed this week that the Ad...ory Board of the R. O. T. C. at ...stwood has denied for the fourth ...e the appeal of a Negro student ...undertake an advanced course in ...itary science.

...This flagrant abuse to all the prin...les of democratic education is a ...llenge to the tax-paying Negro ...ctorate of California. ...An arrogant armed force is the ...atest enemy of democratic gov...ment; the outstanding character...c of a Fascist dictatorship.

One of the outstanding motion-pictures of all time was the Paul Muni opus, "The Life of Emile Zola" which told a significant story of military control in a democratic society. The climax was achieved when an aroused civilian population forced needed reforms in a military set-up that had forgotten to be servant and not master of the people's will.

These are perilous times during which supposedly civilized nations are hurling themselves into a destructive and unwanted war. Events in Europe that seem distant today may be tragic factors in American life within a few years. We must remember that U. S. public opinion was almost the same in 1914 as it is in 1940. There is still a possibiity that war-fever might sweep the nation as it did in '17.

If this fearful eventuality should occur, there is every reason to believe, as in the last conflict, black Americans will be called upon to share the responsibility of "saving democracy". But how can you ask man to save democracy in a foreign land when he knows that democracy does not exist for himself at home?

Throughout the military history of the nation, Afro-Americans have fought valiantly--each time purchasing with blood and sacrifice the rights to full citizenship. The price has been paid, but America has not delivered the goods. It will be very difficult to persuade the young man who has been refused the advanced course in military science at UCLA that he is a fit candidate to save the world for democracy. Somebody had best save it for him.

Trouble at Jefferson

It is stated this week that the class in the study of radio has been eliminated from the curriculum at Thomas Jefferson Evening High School. According to authoritative statements, this was the only such course available to Negroes in the city. The excuse was that not sufficient students enrolled for training.

An independent investigation conducted by the EAGLE at Jefferson Evening school a few weeks ago revealed that several other classes still being conducted had fewer students than the eliminated radio course.

It is strange that the axe should fall so heavily upon this greatly needed technical training that has long been denied colored applicants at Frank Wiggins and other industrial schools.

It is comforting to know that Vierling Kersey is the Superintendent of the Los Angeles City Schools and that Fay E. Allen is a member of the Board of Education.

The Same Old Story

The salvation of the Republican party rests in the development of new concepts and new leaders.

The old guard--in thought and in action--has got to go. Especially is this true among colored Republicans. The Democratic party is hopelessly shackled to the Negro-baiting, hate-drenched South--this fact alone should be enough to attract the black vote back to the GOP ranks. But, so long as the old-line leadership continues to strangle every progressive move in the party, even this salient fact will not include black voters to return to the Elephant.

At a recent party conclave, however, it was made clear that the boys from yesterday will not give the organization an opportunity to rebuild on sound, realistic foundations. The same old game of power politics was played with flawless skill by the old-timers. Great sport, but the ruination of the political party that migh restore the nation to balanced government. Yes, it's the same old story in the same old way.

PLENTY MORE TO DO

THE WORLD THIS WEEK

A SACRIFICE FOR DEFENSE

The Atlantic ocean is a fine institution. Its 4000-mile breadth, separating America's shores from the embattled coastlines of Europe, gives this country needed immunity from the blazing fires of warfare abroad. But in this tightly knit modern world, 4000 or 14,000 miles is not enough. War in Europe calls for new defenses at home. And new defenses, reaching an all-time peace high of $2,300,000,000 this year, mean new taxes. In proposing a special national defense tax last week, President Roosevelt will find the country as a whole solidly in support of such a measure. A recent American institute of public opinion poll found a majority of the public wholly willing to shoulder the burden of new taxes for that purpose. Needless to say, there's no such sentiment toward new taxes for other purposes, with both State and national deficits mounting steadily toward astronomical heights with little sign of abatement. Defense is a needful, legitimate expense. Therefore, the American people, in general, are wholehearted in their willingness to make sacrifices in the interests of their country's security.

WATERFRONT PEACE

There's steam up in the winches in San Francisco harbor today, and ship clerks and stevedore gangs back at their jobs, are once more bringing a bustle of activity to the Embarcadero. With the signing of a back-to-work order between employers and ship clerks' officials, and the opening of round table parleys last week, the 53-day siege which paralyzed 'Frisco port has come to an end. How are the disputes still pending to be settled? By an amicable round table conference of employers and workers, a sane, simple, civilized course of action that should have been resorted to in the first place and continued till both sides reached agreement. Sadder and, we hope, definitely wiser, San Francisco counts the toll of its seven-and-one-half weeks' dispute in millions of dollars lost, and seeks with determination to find the basis of an enduring peace.

AMERICA GROWS NEW WINGS

Literally hundreds of private airplanes swarming to the annual three-day carnival at Miami, Fla., the other day, attest far better than any statistics the rapid growth of civilian aviation in this country. This gathering of sportsmen, amateur flyers and racing pilots, made up the greatest concentration of private aircraft in aviation history. Next year it promises to be even greater. Robert Hinckley, of the Civil Aeronautics Authority, predicts no less than 70,000 civilian pilots will be holding flying certificates by the end of 1941. Today more than 300 colleges and universities, having met the qualifications of the CAA, are giving instructions in aviation to student—and not a few of them are women! On their flight southward to Miami's aerial show last week, it would be interesting to know if any of the pilots wheeled over Manteo, N. C., for a brief look down at the huge granite memorial pylon on Kill Devil Hill. It was from the sides of that hill, just 36 years ago, that the brothers Orville and Wilbur Wright took off in their creaky, box-like crate one cold wintry afternoon, and proved to a skeptical world for the first time than man could fly in a craft heavier than air! Four weeks ag that memorial was dedicated in tribute to their inventive genius which first gave wings to man.

$71 MILLION— NONE WANTS IT!

Even at a time when government appropriations run to billions, and when the national debt has climbed so close to the $45 billion limit an extension may be necessary, $71 million is no small turnips! Yet that sum went a-begging last week for want of takers and now—it's too late. The deadline was reached when World War veterans, entitled to bonus payments, might submit applications for their rightful share. And the deadline found $71 million still resting in the government till. When a sum that size goes unclaimed, times can't be as dark as sometimes painted!

CALIFORNIA DOES IT!

"We're re-discovering America," says W. H. Stetser, vice president of a large travel organization. Examination of more than 20,000 inquiries received in tourist bureaus throughout the United States and Canada revealed that the West Indies and Central American countries hold fifth place in popularity, South America, fourth, Florida and the deep South claim third, Mexico, forging to the front, is second, and leading the choice of millions of vacation-seeking Americans—California. Enough said!

The LAUNDRYMAN

Father Divine is being given the once-over, according to Ted Poston, staff correspondent of the Pittsburgh Courier. He states that two Federal Bureau of Investigation representatives appeared as daily spectators last week, at the receivership suit pressed against Father Divine in the Manhattan Supreme Court, by Verinda Brown. According to Poston a novel situation may ensue in the event that Father sue in the event that "Father" contention that the money was a gift. For in that case the U. S. agents might demand to examine his income tax receipts—if he has any—to see if he paid taxes upon the gift-money. A few thoughtful people may wonder whether or no the fact of Divine's purchase of an estate in the immediate vicinity of President Roosevelt's Hudson estate, may have any bearing upon the interest displayed by the FBI in his affairs. . . .

Negroes in New York City have been more successful in securing white-collar employment in the Un-employment Compensation administration of that city than group members in any other city of the Union. A recent survey of conditions there reveals that:

One of three members of New York's Unemployment Insurance Appeals Board is a Negro; One of the three Oral Examiners on the Civil Service staff which grades applicants, is a Negro; qualified Negro workers are employed as supervisors, district office managers, deputy managers, senior and junior examiners, and pay-roll examiners. There are also three Negroes serving as Referees.

This is a highly encouraging report, and shows what can be accomplished by aggressive leadership, intelligent organization and co-operation, and Unity of aim by Race groups. This success was not achieved without a struggle however. It took four years of unremitting pressure directed by inspired leadership to achieve this signal victory. What one group has done, other groups can do also. Race members in Los Angeles should sit up and take notice.

According to a joint report of the State Department of Education, and the State Relief Administration, there are between 160,000 and 170,000 California youths between the ages of 15 and 24, out of school and out of work. The majority of them have no specific training for any particular calling or trade. The skilled labor markets just now are clamoring for skilled artisans and craftsmen. It is reliably reported that it is next to impossible to secure skilled workmen today, under 30 to 50 years of age. These facts lead inevitably to one conclusion.

Dr. A. A. Douglas, Assistant State Director of Education, comments as follows: "Both parents and pupils shy away from vocational training courses when they are set up in the schools. It seems a tradition that more 'social reliability' appears to be attached to academic courses. The result is the over-crowding of the white-collar educational field".

These remarks seem to indicate that the late Booker T. Washington was indeed a seer, and that his prophetic vision as to the need and opportunity for skilled vocational workers in this American Commonwealth included the youth of all races, the whites as well as the blacks.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EXCELLENT STATEMENTS

Dear Editor:

We have read recently your many excellent statements concerning America's inequalities in the administration of the National Defense program. This includes the editorials appearing in the January 4 issue of the California Eagle.

In the fact of a not too optimistic world outlook, you have forcibly epitomized the group's predicament when you state, "At any rate, the attitude of military authorities in the nation is to be one of the Negro's greatest problems during the year 1940." With the current attitude of military officials toward Negro participation, we dread the thought of America's involvement in war for too well is it evident of his cannon-fodder position to shock-troop for an indifferent national expression of democracy.

With many good wishes for 1940, we are

Sincerely yours,

LOT IN STORE

Dear Editor:

Very recently there appeared in our local daily, the Fresno Bee, a couple of items written by whites. One dealt with television, explaining how its perfection will do away with racial discrimination and religious intolerance, and that it would reduce world languages to about two.

The other dealt with world peace and how the League of Nations had a voice and wouldn't use it at the outbreak of the Italo-Ethiopian war, it's too late to achieve it now. The sound thinking white American related the course of world turmoil and disaster and stated emphatically that the British will be shaken as an aftermath of that conflict. He went so far as to say and proved it, that there was France and England's chance to act. And if they had, that war would have been stopped or Ethiopia would have won.

"As you didn't aid Ethiopia, a small peace-loving nation, which after many thousands of years, had no war debt, it is unfair to aid Finland in any way," he said.

I don't know your attitude in regards to helping Finland, but I think we've enough help to lend here at home. Necessary help!

In the first place the father of Russian literature, Alexander Pushkin, would that no blacks be against him. And I believe Russia argued in favor of Ethiopia whereas Finland did the reverse in the League. Let all small states fall, if Ethiopia remains so. Maybe when it gets warm, the Russians will give the white imperialists a good dose including Italy. This, then will be a part of the dark races' rise in restoring their domination.

Haile Selassie may be the key to world peace for the last of the free black countries shouldn't have been disturbed. According to a white West Indian prophet who says he wishes he was black, as other whites will try to be, 1940 winds up whites as has already been pointed out. There's a lot in store for the blacks. But suffice it to say, let's turn again to the Republican party and see if it will return to former ideals of excelling Democrats in Justice and Truth.

Believe me most sincerely.
B. BASIL HURD

MORE GROUCHES

Dear Editor:

I heartily concur with "A Reader's" letter, "Grouch List," in your issue of Jan. 11. Add to grouches mentioned therein the following:

1. Poor service at the California Bank, Vernon and Central avenue.

2. Poorer service in the understaffed ten cent stores on the Avenue.

Incidentally, not because I am prejudiced, but because white girls and Mexicans are not prohibited from employment elsewhere, I have been irked recently by the sight of so many of them working at the ten cent stores. At one time, Woolworths staff was all-colored. Now it seems to be growing gradually predominantly white. Kress' has never, in my estimation, employed a fair percentage of colored girls. I suggest our community organizations, having employment opportunity on their program, look into this.

Sincerely
HATTIE REED

OTHER PAPERS SAY

No Money for Dies

From The Crisis, January 1940.

One of the items which will come up for consideration in the new Congress will be a new appropriation for the committee on so-called un-American activities of which Congressman Martin Dies of Texas is chairman.

Chairman Dies has investigated (in his own peculiar way) just about everything except the activities of the lynching mobs, the Klu Klux Klan, the Black Legion and similar groups. Mr. Dies has turned a deaf ear to repeaoted requests that his committee probe these groups. Mr. Dies, coming from Texas where more than 500 lynchings have taken place, seems unwilling, or afraid, to investigate this American form of subversive activity.

We believe Mr. Dies has gone far enough. His conduct of investigations thus far has smelled strongly of political 'smearing." The fact that he has refused to investigate the practice of lynching, which is certainly contrary to the Constitution and the American form of Government, indicates pretty clearly that the Texan is after only certain types of information and not the whole truth. The Crisis urges its readers to write their congressmen and oppose any additional appropriation for the Dies Committee.

A Blot on the New Deal

From the Washington Tribune

For the citizens on relief rolls who have had to choose in past elections between a New Deal meal ticket and the right to cast a ballot according to their political connections, the restrictions promulgated by the Civil Service Commission last week constitute a proclamation of their emancipation.

The several regulations specifically limit the activity and participation of Federal employes in politics.

Most significant is that which prohibits the solicitation of either contributions or votes from any person on Federal relief.

The practice which made the restriction necessary is one of the darkest blots on the New Deal regime . . . .

The vast centralized WPA organization, in its outer reaches, is honeycombed with partisan, political administration. The money taken from taxpayers' pockets, to alleviate distress, and not to be used to perpetuate political organizations and to line the pockets of New Deal patronage racketeers, is being mishandled, to apply no harsher term. The vicious political manipulation of WPA work-relief must be stopped.

BEN FRANKLIN DID IT, TOO

Truth will out! Now we hear--after some 150 years--that Ben Franklin, staunch devotee of thrift, apparently had no end of trouble, even as you and I, in making his bank account match his expenses. The news comes from Presdient W. G. Kurtz of the Pennsylvania Company who, after examining records of the old Bank of North America where Franklin kept his accounts, found that "Poor Richard" was overdrawn at the bank at least three days out of every week, during the time he was a depositor there. However, we think Printer Franklin's reputation will survive the blow. Anyone three times a week, and yet make who could overdraw his funds nearly $100,000 profit in 18 years as publisher and printer, was certainly, in the long run, a faithful practitioner of thrfit!

Introducing the R. R. W.'s

By T. ROY GILES

"My arch will stand when disease and death assail! It will be standing when the sun has grown cold . . . . when Deceit, Hypocrisy, Prejudice, Hatred and Malice have faded into the abyss of nothingness and Faith, Hope and Charity have come into their own!

"I have erected it as a tribute to Negro Womanhood!!"

The above quotation contains the last lines of "My Arch" the oration from the pen of Prof. Vernon W. Reynolds, founder of the R. R. W.'s, written as a tribute to Negro womanhood.

R. R. W. stands for Respectors of Race Womanhood, not an organization in the common acceptance of the word, but rather a movement dedicated to the honorable duty of glorifying Negro women; of keeping them on the highest level of esteem and protecting them against every difficult, dangerous and demoralizing influence when humanly possible.

Acting upon the fact that our women are the important vertebrae in the backbone of the Race, and that their virtue, loyalty and courage are incomparable, we have endeavored to institute a dignified campaign, designed to keep this thought continuously in the minds of Race men, especially our youth, and thereby inculcate in them the attributes of respect and chivalry toward our womanhood and the practice of living honorably.

The movement will serve a two-fold purpose. Wherein the duty of honoring and respecting our women necessitates the practice of living honorably and respectably ourselves as men, it also will inspire our women and girls to so live as to justify that honor and respect.

Prof. Reynolds, henceforth to be known as the glorifier of Negro womanhood, advanced the theory of this movement last April to a group of convalescent war veterans in Veterans' Hospital. It came as an aftermath to a four-day discussion about Race women in which their many virtues were recounted and in which the glorious deeds of many notable women were mentioned. He further suggested that the movement be started in the hope that it claim the attention of all our men and thereby be continued and encouraged That suggestion gave birth to the R. R. W.'s.

The plan is fundamentally secular and as aforestated, is not an organization in which officers are elected, dues paid, et al. We are simply a group of crusaders who believe that a quiet, dignified campaign of teaching, educating and admonishing will ultimately cause that element of our men, whose nauseating practice of disrespect is so pronounced, to see the light. However, we will never resort to beating drums, blowing horns or making a lot of ostentatious noise.

To sum it up, Respectors of Race Womanhood is a movement whose admonishing slogan is: "Succeed. Live Honorably and You Will be Honored."

We hope that all of America will have the pleasure of reading or hearing read, "My Arch," the first of many tributes to be given Negro womanhood for their virtue, loyalty and courage . . . . their Integrity.

If Congress passes the Dickstein bill the Negro press is doomed, declared Rev. Owen A. Troy, Seventh Day Adventist minister of Pasadena, in a statement made today to the CALIFORNIA EAGLE.

"This bill, Rev. Mr. Troy continued," is one of the most insidious that is to come before Congress in that it is disguised as a protective measure for racial and religious groups and is, therefore, likely to gain the support of unwary, peace loving and tolerant congressmen and senators."

The resolution if passed will destroy the freedom of the press, Troy pointed out, by making unmailable whatever may incite "racial or religious hatred or bigotry or intolerance." A fine of $5,000 or imprisonment for five years or both can be imposed if convicted of breaking this measure if passed.

The terms used in the bill have considerable lattitude for definition and interpretation. Thus anything published condemning the mistreatment of minority racial or religious groups, depicting conditions and the necessity of action or redress can easily be interpreted as causing racial hatred or intolerance.

Every liberty-loving citizen should write congressmen and senators opposing this liberty-destroying measure.

The bill is known as House Joint Resolution 228 and was introduced in the House of Representatives. It has been referred to the Committee on Post Office and Post Roads. It reads as follows:

JOINT RESOLUTION

To declare certain papers, pamphlets, books, pictures, and writing non-mailable, to provide a penalty for mailing same, and for other purposes.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That in addition to the matter described as nonmailable pursuant to section 211 of the Criminal Code, as amended (U.S.C., title 18, sec. 344), all papers, pamphlets, magazines, periodicals, books, pictures and writing of any kind, and every article and thing designed or adapted or intended to cause racial or religious hatred or bigotry or intolerance, or to, directly or indirectly, incite to racial or religious hatred or bigotry or intolerance are hereby declared nonmailable matter and shall not be transmitted through the mails nor delivered from any post office or by any letter carrier. Whoever shall knowingly dispose of, or cause to be disposed of, by mailing or delivering for mailing anything declared herein to be nonmailable, or anyone who shall take or cause to be taken from the mails, domestic or foreign, for the purpose of circulating or otherwise disposing thereof, or for the purpose of assisting in the circulation or other disposition thereof, shall upon conviction thereof be fined not more than $5,000 or imprisoned not more than five years, or both fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 2. This resolution shall take effect immediately.

The Cure

By ELSIE LONG

I know the most precious treasure
That human heart can hold
It cannot be purchased by favors,
It is not in the market for gold.
Social prestige cannot win it.
Nor Mammon crown it as king.
Political power can't claim it.
This priceless and heavenly thing.

The heart that has kindness and pity
Tenderness, sympathy, love
Born of compassion for sorrow
Is one with heaven above,
Tho' you've not a crust for the begger
Nor a cup of water to give,
Shed a tear with the heart that is broken.
If you care it will help him to live.

Not even a smile is the greatest Gift to a brother that's lost
In a quandry of troubled confusion,
Be affectionate whatever the cost.
Get close to him, tell him you're sorry,
And mean it with all of your heart.
Tenderly show your compassion,
That is Charity's Christlike part.

I know this old world to a finish.
Its tarnish,its tinsel, its shame,
Its fraud and deception and nonsense,
Its lust and its greed and its blame.
IT HASN'T A THING THAT I COVET
While the cry of a brother is heard;
But those in woe shall remember
A tear and a kind, loving word.

DID YOU KNOW—Greatest Negro jockey and one of the greatest of all time was Isaac Murphy. In the Saratoga season of 1882, Murphy won 49 of 51 races; rode three winners in the Kentucky Derby; four in the American Derby.

MRS. BETHUNE CALLS ON PRESIDENT BUT WON'T TELL WHAT WAS SAID

Says School Needs Her But America and FDR Need Her More In Official Statement

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (ANP)—An official statement from the office of the National Youth Administration issued for the press says:

mrs. bethune

"At 11:45 Friday morning, Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune went to the White House executive offices for a conference with the president. She was ushered into the office by his secretary, General Watson.

"Mrs. Bethune said after the conference, 'There was only God, the president and myself. Each time I go I am thrilled with his interest, sympathy and desire to help the masses of the American people secure wholesome social and economic security.

"He was greatly interested in what I had to say. He inquired anxiously about the work with youth and the National Youth administration. He was particularly interested in how the Negro is faring under the various federal programs.

"Each time I go to see him, I return with greater courage to continue my fight for my people. My only excuse for being in Washington away from my school is because I believe in Franklin Delano Roosevelt and his program. My school needs me, but America and Franklin Delano Roosevelt need me more."

Refusing to discuss her interview further with the president, Mrs. Bethune, who left for Florida Friday evening, had the statement prepared and handed out by R. O. Lanier, her assistant.

However, it was learned unofficially that Mrs. Bneuhte HH ficially that Mrs. Bethune discussed with the president the advisability of appointing more federal judges; elimination of the photograph from the civil service blanks; fuller representation in the agriculture department with Negroes on policy-forming boards and in such positions; and the appointment of Negroes to Annapolis and more cadets to West Point.

At NYA headquarters, it was said the visit was merely a routine one and that Mrs. Bethune makes such visits once every two or three months or so. It was further stated that on these visits, Mrs. Bethune gives an account of the progress of the work of the NYA and as far as possible on other New Deal activities with which she is in contact.

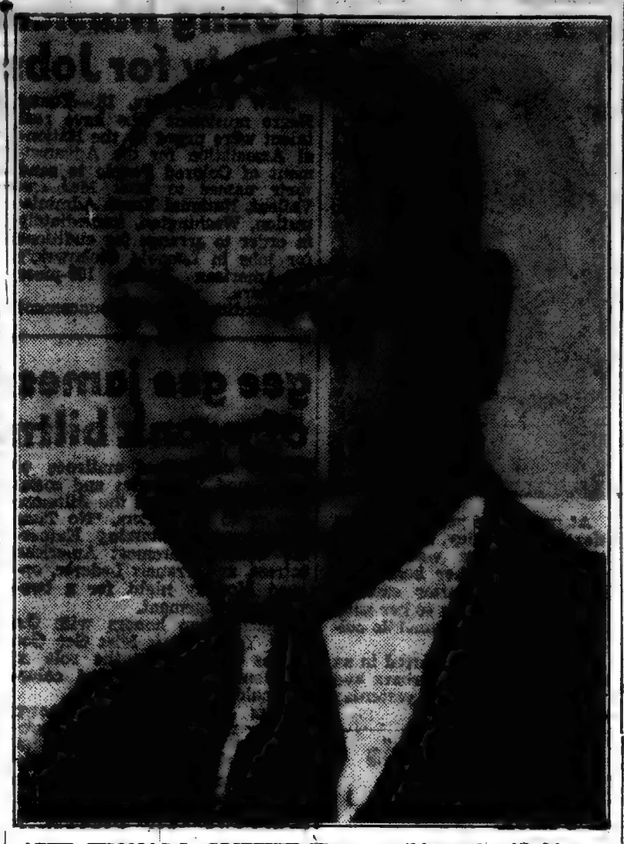
14 JURORS DISMISSED

Fourteen prospective jurors were released before the required "12 men, good and true", couldd be obtained. Eight were dismissed by Judge Galbreath on their admission that they considered it approximate "social equality" for Negroes to eat with whites; that the races should not be permitted such intimacies. Four were disqualified by Atty. Griffith for the same admission, and two by the defense attorney. Five of the disqualified jurors were born and reared in California, one a graduate of the University of California.

Rumors were prevalent about the Hall of Justice, where the case attracted considerable attention, that the jury refused to consider evidence in the case and was outspoken in opinions that the three Negro women were "out of place" in seeking service from the Roxy.

The drive-in restaurant is located at 8601 S. Alameda, a block from the office of the Bureau of Indigent Relief where Mrs. Miller is stationed in a supervisorial capacity. Miss Keyser is an attendance officer for the Board of Education, and Miss Thomas, a case worker for the Los Angeles Charities.



On June 5, the trio selected the Roxy for lunch, driving in, parked there to await service. They said they waited 15 minutes while the waitresses served all who came after them, disregarding their automobile.

Finally, they said, they got out of the car and sat at the counter. After 20 minutes, during which the attendants seemed to have time, but no inclination to take their orders, they requested service.

Three times the counter attendant asserted "Negroes cannot be served", the women claimed.

On the witness stand, the Roxy's sole witness told the court that the women had not been served because they "got tired of waiting".

The jury trial was requested by the defendants. Under the California Civil Rights statute, each woman was entitled to $100.00 damages for the asserted violation of their civil privileges.

RED CAPS CHANGE 'UNDIGNIFIED' TITLE; WILL STILL WEAR RED CAPS

Brotherhood Votes to Become "United Transport Service Employes" at Meet

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. (ANP)—Deciding that the title, "Red Cap", had through the years come to be undignified, the International Brotherhood of Red Caps at its second annual convention Saturday voted to change its name to United Transport Service Employes of America. Efforts will be made to get the public adopt the change, according to Ernest Calloway of Chicago, secretary of the constitution committee which recommended the new name.

WILL WEAR RED

Although the name has been changed, the men who carry luggage in railroad stations will continue to wear red caps but the new designation will increase their prestige, Mr. Calloway believes.

The Interstate Commerce commission has ruled that these men are railroad employes and the "dignity" added to their position by this official change in status prompted the desire for a new title, the secretary explained. Members felt that the term "red caps," had no meaning anyway, said Mr. Calloway.

UCLA in 1937, he was personally invited to join "Pershing's Rifles," a national honorary military society, and transferred into that company. He became guidon bearer in his first semester as well as attaining the rank of corporal. He was not discouraged from applying for the "Advanced Course,' which leads to becoming an officer, but was turned down in spite of his accomplishments and recommendations from all immediate commanding officers.

Since then, he has applied on three occasions, each time with greater recommendations and increased laurels. In spite of the fact that the "Board" is only composed of three members, and two of them recommended him in January, 1939, and the other officer stated afterwards that he had voted in favor of Hartsfield's acceptance, he was one of the small number of four men judged not qualified. He was the only man from "Pershing Rifles" who was not rated among the top ranking men accepted.

Civil liberties organizations (student) at UCLA, the EAGLE, and other civic organizations promise a rousing battle against discriminatory practice.

White Urges Aid from Back Home Citizens for Bill southern states where denial of civil liberties, leading to lynchings, has been most flagrant."

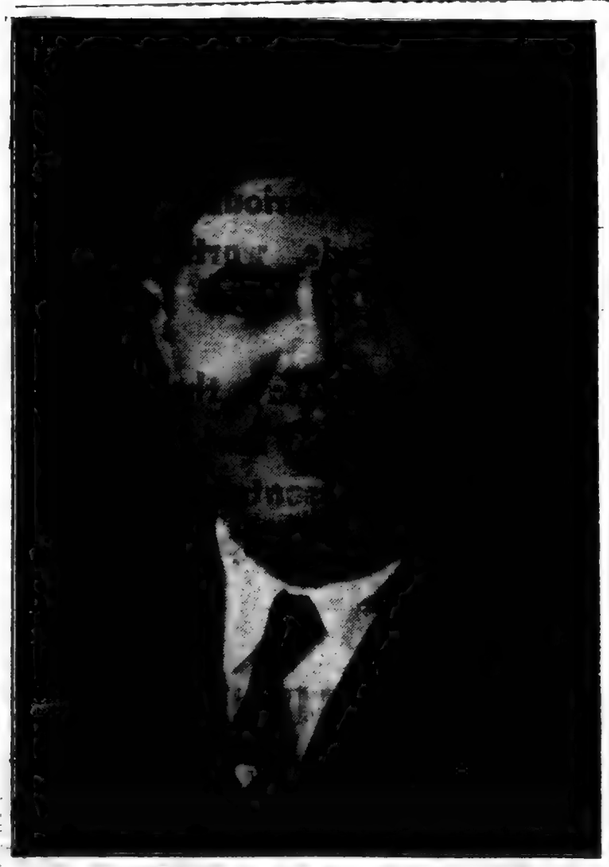
Urging that citizens buy Anti-lynching buttons, Mr. White added: "We need money badly to carry this fight forward. That is why we want every one of our 125,000 anti-lynching buttons sold."



Commenting on the passage of the bill in the House this week, he said:

"Two things stand out in the passage of the bill in the House. The first is that Representative Joseph Gavagan, who made such a spirited fight two years ago, saw the results of his labor this week. There was a mildness about the Southern reaction to the bill today, except for the tirades of Rankin, of Mississippi and Cox of Georgia, that was absent two years ago. With Representative Gavagan driving forward in his usual hard-hitting manner, the bill went through despite opposition.

"The second important note in the House fight was the appreciation by Representatives of the fact that the Negro vote in 1940 is an important balance of power in those states which will have the final say about the presidential election, and that this vote is increasingly intelligent and independent."

BEAUTY and ROMANCE

SPONSORED BY LARIEUSE BEAUTY FOUNDATION

The Larieuse Beauty Foundation was established by the Godefroy Manufacturing Company to study methods of preserving women's natural beauty, and to make the results of this research available to the public.

In my last column, we planned the dress and make-up for you younger girls who are going to your first big party this Christmas. Now we'll go into the actual preparations for the big event. Be sure to take a brief nap before you dress to make your eyes brighter and your spirits higher. Even if you can't sleep, lie still and rest for a half-hour at least. Take your bath before or after your nap, depending on whether you find a warm bath conducive to sleep or not.

Do Not Apply Make-Up In Public

Be sure to cleanse your face thoroughly before applying your make-up. A light application of foundation cream will give your face a smoother appearance and make the make-up go on more evenly and stay on longer. And this last is a great asset since there is nothing that detracts more from a girl's charm than constant applications of make-up. Get it on well at home and then forget about it until you can excuse yourself and retouch it in private. Men like to see women carefully made up but watching the process is an unglamorous experience. If you chose cosmetics made for your type of skin, you will have little such difficulties.

Be Natural

If you are worrying about the conversational end of the evening, here is just one suggestion that I wish you would take to heart. Obviously "made" conversation has a stifling effect on any natural talk. It is better to relax in comfortable silence than to prattle nervously about nothing in particular. Nervous, jerky conversation is a dead give away. Act perfectly at ease and the first thing you know you will be.

And when other people start going home, don't act as though this is the first time you have ever been out and you are afraid it may be the last. Remember, your young man may have to get up early the next morning and go to work. Show him a little consideration by leaving at a reasonable hour. The chances of his calling you again will be much better if he isn't afraid that every time he takes you out, he will be kept up half the night.

Bear in mind that naturalness is the keynote of charm—be natural in your actions, your conversation, and your make-up and your evening is bound to be a success.

What are your beauty problems? Write Marie Downing, Larieuse Beauty Foundation, Room 521—319 North Fourth St., St. Louis, Mo., and she will be glad to answer them. Be sure to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

he originators of the Van de Kamp bakeries go through the motions of putting finishing touches to ica of their first retail store, opened in January, 1915, at 236½ South Spring Street, Los Angeles. tore was only 8½ feet wide and customers were served through an aperture in the door. Left to Theodore J. Van de Kamp and Lawrence L. Frank, the founders, being encouraged by one of the Van de Kamp saleslaadies of today, Irene Dieffenbach.

They emphasized im- te cleanliness, guaranteed es, finest quality, pleasing and smiling service. Within nths they had three small and the business continued w as the public found at Kamp's the quality of food e kind of service they wanted. ing pace with the growth of rn California, Van de Kamp's were expanded with the ent toward neighborhood unity centers and the develop- of cities surrounding Los s.

the introduction of super- ts, which enable the food r to make all purchases un- e roof, Van de Kamp's co- operated with this development and now their stores in markets predominate.

All stores are served from huge central baking kitchens at Fletcher Drive and San Fernando Road, Los Angeles, a completely modern establishment occupying a floor area of about 3½ acres. So well located is this plant that the average time between stores is less than 18 minutes.

For the Silver Jubilee Week, all departments of markets in which Van de Kamp's are located will join by celebrating with attractive specials that say, "Southern California, Van de Kamp's thank you." Stores are decorated and a festive atmosphere prevails.

Noteworthy in the celebration is the reproduction of the first store which is now to be seen at the corner of San Fernando Road and Fletcher Drive, next to one of Van de Kamp's most modern windmill bakeries.

In bulletin form on the sides of this original shop are photographs and descriptive material pertaining to the company's modest beginning, which is attracting widespread attention.

During their 25 years of business, Van de Kamp's have made a host of friends who are appreciative of the company's ideals and its policy of fair-dealing. The two originators, Lawrence L. Frank and Theodore J. Van de Kamp, who still are active in every phase of the business today and who still own the enterprise, are alert to changing trends and are known for their progressive ideas. Among the latest developments has been the introduction of two coffee shops—one in Pasadena and the other adjoining the plant, both of which are tremendously popular. Requests for Van de Kamp stores in neighborhoods are constantly being made in large numbers, and as soon as shopping centers warrant another store. Van de Kamp's make their services available.

The company produces more than 250 well-baked products, fresh daily, and they are also widely and favorably known for their fresh, fine Candies and fine Ice Cream.

Saleslaadies in their trim blue-and-white Dutch costumes, are uniformly pleasant and courteous and much of the progress of the company is due to their enthusiastic co-operation.

Many celebrations by company employees and well-wishers of the firm are scheduled during and after the Silver Jubilee Week.

Court Upholds Segregation in Ohio

WILMINGTON, O., Jan. 18. (ANP)—In one of the most reactionary opinions since in 1887 the Ohio legislature repealed laws first district court of appeals last week decided that the two children of Theodore Lewis may not attend the school in their district which is attended solely by whites.

Lewis filed an action to compel the school board of Wilmington to sanction admittance of his children to the school nearest his home after the board had ordered them to attend a segregated school two miles away.

The appellate court's decision held that the power of the school board to assign pupils includes the power to segregate according to color or race.

Counsel for Lewis has filed notice of appeal to the supreme court.

gee gee james wins plaudits of swank biltmore audience

With a brilliant audience of Hollywood luminaries and social leaders that packed the Biltmore theater to the rafters, "No Time For Comedy," starring Katherine Cornell, foremost American actress, and Francis Lederer, opened Monday night for a two-weeks engagement.

Sharing top honors with the New York cast is Miss Gee Gee James who essays the role of Clementine, sophisticated colored maid.

Miss James was best known for her radio work before assuming her present commission as one of the theatre's strictly malapert abigails. Her first stage appearance was in the ranks of a colored stock company in Philadelphia, her birthplace. She later came to Broadway to be a chorine, but was lifted from the chorus of "Hot Rhythm" and given some songs to sock, as they say, across. She socked with such effect that later she found it profitable to sing with the bands of Cab and Blanche Calloway, Chick Webb, Jimmie Lunceford, Don Redman and others. She has been co-starred with such ether luminaries as Kate Smith, Rudy Vallee and Ruth Chatterton. Her first Broadway chance in a dramatic play came in "Michael Drops In," earlier this season.

No stranger to Angelenos, Miss James is being roundly entertained during her stay here. She occupies the luxurious guest suite at the Hotel Dunbar.

GOP Lincoln Day Dinner to Launch Drive for Negro Vote

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (ANP)—A series of Lincoln Day dinners between Feb. 10 and Feb. 15 will officially launch the campaign of the Republican National committee to return the Negro vote to the fold.

Largest of these dinners will be the one in New York on Feb. 12 at which some 5000 persons will be in attendance. Aaaron H. Payne, Chicago Southside attorney and political leader, will share in the spotlight at this affair along ith Chairman John Hamilton and Mrs. Robert A. Taft, wife of the Ohio cenator and presidential possibility. Next day, the committee will meet to fix the date and place f the national convention.

Competition by both Republican and Democrats for the colored vote is expected to be especially bitter this year. Defections in 1932 and 1936 by Negroes from the GOP has awakened that party to the fact that it no longer has the Negro vote sewed up, and the Democrats realize that it is necessary to keep them in order to win the 1940 election.

ANTI-LYNCH BATTLE

Much of the battle hinges around the anti-lynching bill. The measure sponsored by Rep. Gavagan, New York Democrat, passed the house with Republican representatives behind it to a large extent. These Republicans know that if it is blocked in the Senate, as seems likely, it will be by Democrats from the South—which gives the GOP a strong selling point.

It looks as if northern Democrats are likely to be embarrassed by this legislation because of the usual filibuster by the southern members of the party. This is so important that is is believed President Roosevelt himself may take an active part in fighting for passage of the measure.

Both parties realize Negroes hold a balance of power in 9 important States.

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

"There is no victor in this conflict but that flag!" Those were the ringing words of Attorney Hugh E. MacBeth as he pointed to the American flag at the conclusion of the two-day hearing Friday and Saturday before the State Athletic Commission into charges of discrimination on the part of Hollywood Legion stadium, operated by Hollywood Post No. 43, against Negro boxers.

In the future, Negro boxers will appear on Hollywood Legion stadium cards.

Following a private conference Saturday afternoon between commission members, protestants and stadium representatives, called by the latter, Ernest Orfila, Legion spokesman, presented this agreed judgment verdict to the commission.

This marked a change in the stadium's 16-year exclusion policy, no time limit being placed on the "truce".

The drama-packed hearing, during which witneses paraded to the stand in behalf of the protestants and the stadium, closed with both sides "making up" and commission chairman Jerry Geisler congratulating both parties and stating that the amicable adjustment should not be construed as meaning a defeat for one side and a victory for the other and that the commission felt the best interests of boxing and all parties concerned would be well served.

NO ANTIPATHY

Orfila, who is a past commander of Hollywood Post, in announcing the "truce", said:

"The Hollywood Legion Post has never felt any antipathy toward Negroes as a race. We have excluded them from our boxing cards in the past, only for economic reasons. We recognize now that the Negro has merit and feeling, that their race has been suffering a social injustice.

"We are willing to use Negro fighters in the future," Orfila continued, "and let our patrons decide if they prefer the continuance of Negro boxers appearing on the card. Naturally, our policy in the past has proven financially successful, but we will give Negro boxers a thorough trial and will continue to use them as long as it is financially profitable."

It was brought out during the hearing that a holding company, of three persons, elected by the post, hold the land upon which the stadium is situated and thus if the post was regarded as a private or semi-private enterprise, the commission was virtually powerless to tell the matchmaker who is or who is not to fight.

Too, if that was the case, the post was liable for the five per cent tax which must be turned over to the State for the operation of the athletic commission and the Yountsville Soldiers' Home. The statement was made previously to the effect that fights were being conducted by Hollywood Post No. 43 which was entitled to be exempt from the tax which all non-charitable boxing and wrestling promoters must hand to the State.

When the stadium and the protestants presented the agreed verdict, however, it became unnecessary for the commission to render a decision.

NUMEROUS WITNESSES

Attorney MacBeth, coordinator of the Community Builders Inc., chief counsel, and Attorney Gobert MacBeth, associate counsel, for the protestants, called numerous witnesses and presented a preponderance of material and factual evidence, gathered over months of investigation to make secure the case against the Hollywood Legion stadium.

Witnesses called by the protestants were:

Anthony S. McCarthy, white, scenario writer; George P. Moore, former manager and promoter of Portland, Ore., who fathered mixed bouts in New York state; Atty. Jacob J. Moidel, white, member of American Bar Ass'n, California State Bar, L. A. Lawyers' club, and chairman of the Lawyers' Civil Liberties committee; Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor-publisher of the EAGLE and only woman to testify;

Roberts, former assemblyman from 62nd district and member of legislature at time of passage of Boxing Act; Superior Court Judge John Beardsley, white; Clarence Muse, radio, stage and screen star; Drs. E. I. Robinson, W. A. Wright and Curtis G. Carr, medical examiners for the State Athletic Commission; Dr. F. R. Whiteman, member of Social Service Commission; Harry Levette, newspaperman;

EVER SO OFTEN I receive a letter in my mail that seems to me the most pathetic I have ever encountered. Sometimes they stir only pity, but frequently inspire a great wave of indignation on my part against some eloquently reported injustice.

This week, however, I find a communication that is so guileless in its simplicity, so completely human, that I confess it left me rather limp. I pass it on to you:

"Dear Editor:

I am an inmate—here we cut the name—of a certain Rest Home. I am very grateful that I was brought here. I don't mean I'm glad I was sick, but I am glad someone said they would help me. But, oh, dear editor! I hope there is something you can do here. Following are some of the things that really happen in this lonely place.

We don't get enough to eat and somehow what we get is sour—even molded, especially cereal. And if we want an extra piece of toast we have to write a special order for it one day in order to get it the next day, and then, most times, we get it 3 or 4 days later and sometimes not at all. We hardly ever see a nurse, and when we do see one, if we ask her to do anything, she will flatly refuse or tell us, if we dislike the service, get out—and that they are not compelled to do this or that. The tray boys that serve the trays here come in most nites drunk and very noisy—oh, so noisy it is almost unbearable.

A lady came here to give something to the inmates for Xmas, but because she was giving to colored people, she was almost not admitted. These are some of the conditions that really exist here. Please see if you can help us. We feel so bad, being denied even the bread, when that is all they have here we can eat. Please help us if you can. These mean things that are being done to us are done by the manager, the one the place is named after. We are not giving any names, for we are afraid of what may happen to us—food or drink—I hope you will understand.

Even people die of hemorriods and the mattress, being only wiped off with a wet rag, is used for someone else, without sterilization. Patients occupying cabins with concrete floors have chills day and nite without the accomodation of even a rug. On the floors, they yell and cry day and nite and you never can get a nurse to go near in serving the meals. Cabins are rotation. Colored cabins are skipped, and when all the patients are fed, then the colored are fed what's left. Cabins run in numbers 14-15 16-17 and if there are colored in one and white in another—colored in the next—white in the next and so on, they always skip the colored cabins, and serve the whites. I hope I can live to see you someday in person. You can see one of the inmate's mother-in-law at—we omit the address. She really knows what conditions exist here. . . .

It is difficult for us to imagine the life that inmates of such institutions must endure: the heartless regimentation, the lack of personal pleasure and family ties. It is so easy for us to forget such real desperation in the little tragedies and triumphs of our daily lives. But, always, on the outskirts of existence, there is the great army of the sick and dying, living symbols of all the things we prefer not to think about. The flashing moment of imagination

Woodrow Strode Assumes Duties for D. A.'s Office

A far cry from toting a pigskin, Woodrow Wilson Strode, famed UCLA football player, took up his new duties this week as process server and investigator for the Bureau of Investigation in the District Attorney's office.

Strode was sworn in Jan. 15 and began work Monday. His new job has been arranged to fit in with his university classes. A senior at UCLA, the Bruins' end will be graduated in June.

District Attorney Buron Fitts is responsible for the youth's appointment. A spokesman from the D. A.'s office this week said Fitts read in the papers of Strode's need of employment in order to finish school, and provided the youth with a job almost immediately.

Twenty-five years old, Strode partially supports his family, consisting of an elder brother, who is ill; his father and mother. The Strodes are pioneer Californians, both boys having been born here.

Turned professional with Kenny Washington last month, Strode has played two games for the Washington All-Stars, reportedly received $750.00 per game.

146-Year Jim Crow Ban In Library Held Illegal

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Jan. 25 (CNA)—For the first time since 1794, when the public library of Alexandria was established, Negro Americans will be able to use its facilities, according to a decision handed down by Judge William O. Woolls of the Corporation Court in a case involving a retired U. S. Army sergeant, who was denied admittance to the library because of his race.

Judge Wools, in his decision, declared that "in this case there has not been introduced any evidence that the Alexandria Library Association has any regulation limiting the library's use and facilities to the white race."

The case had been pending in court since last May when Attorney S. W. Tucker filed a petition for a writ of mandamus ordering Librarian Katherine Scoggin to sue a library card to George Wilson, retired army sergeant. Judge Woolls did not grant the writ on the ground that Wilson had not properly applied for the card. He promised that the library would be told to comply with his decision as soon as possible.

La Guardia Stands By Myles Paige Appointment

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (CNA)—Mayor LaGuardia said this week he would insist on his appointment elevating Myles A. Paige, Harlem progressive, from the Magistrate's bench to the Special Sessions Court, despite the opinion expressed in legal circles that Paige could not take the job because he was not a resident of Brooklyn, where the court vacancy exists.

In answer to an inquiry by City Hall reporter, the Mayor wrote across the typed question a Germon word which means "keep your shirts on."

Later, in simple English, the Mayor indicated he would insist on the Paige appointment even if he had to circumvent the law.

Ku Klux Klan Faces Probe in South Carolina Flareup

ANDERSON (S. C.) Jan. 25. (Special to CNA)—Ku Klux Klan terror here has reached such proportions that Gov. Burnet R. Maybank has been forced to order an investigation into the increasing activities of the night raiders.

Fred. V. Johnson of Greenville, Klan chief in South Carolina, was recently detained by the police.

The decision of the Governor to investigate the hooded order, is attributed to the growing strength of the United Textile Workers (CIO) and Labor's Non-Partisan League. It followed charges of the flogging of a Negro World War veteran, and of wide-spread "labor espionage" by the Klan which, according to material now in the hands of the police, has been conducting an "espionage service" for local employers.

Evidence was placed before United States District Attorney Oscar H. Doyle of Anderson, of the violation of the constitutional rights of a Negro war vet by Klansmen, who invaded his home at night, spirited him away, stripped and flogged him and then left him in front of the residence of his attorney. The vet was abducted because he had written a letter to a local newspaper condemning the activities of the Klan.

Form Women's Civil Liberties Commission; Editor Is Chairman

A new, vital organization was born Monday at the Elks auditorium as the women's Civil Liberties Commission, headed by Daughter C. A. Bass, held its initial meeting.

The body will aim its big guns at constitutional and statutory violations of citizens' rights in and about Los Angeles.

Members include Daughters Thelma Norwood, Elizabeth Robertson, May Denton, Geneva H. Robinson, Elizabeth McDowell Minnie Mayfield, Mary E. Fowlkes, Mallia Johnson, Myrtle Paul, Edna V. Elgin, Bertha W. Triplett, Odessie Arnnell, Flora Moore, A. B. Taylor, Kate L. Cecil Florence Hoskins, Bessie McCallum, Agnes Roberts, Lottie Forrester, Adele B. Ashford, and Mother Hicks.

It is believed that such an organization has been a long felt need in the community and that its work will do much to improve racial conditions here.

"Politics" on Eagle's Drama Workshop Airing

"Politics" was the red-hot title of last night's Negro Newspaper of the Air Drama Workshop presentation (KGFJ, 8:15). Featuring Laurence Harris and Eddie Keyes of Thomas Jefferson High school, along with John Kinloch, EAGLE announcer, the program was a scorching ether wallop. Robert Brooks, another Jeffersonite, functioned as sound effects aide.

The Drama Workshop has become a favorite.

NEGRO NEWSPAPER OF THE AIR CONCLUDES TWO-YEAR SERIES

Concluding a two-year series that penned radio history, the Negro Newspaper of the Air rolls its presses for the last time Friday night under its current sponsor and over station KGFJ.

Smashing precedent as the first nightly Negro news program in the world, the program was first aired Feb. 28, 1938 . . . Jan. 28, 1940 is the closing date of the current series.

Scheduled to return to the air soon over a different station and with new sponsors, the program will return to the ether waves with sensational new features.

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass became one of Southern California's favorite radio commentators with her Thursday evening editorial stints for the program. Announcers John Kinloch and Nelle Adams were developed, while J. Cullen Fentress' distinctive sports style was hatched during the series.

Watch for announcements of the new NEGRO NEWSPAPER OF THE AIR to appear in following editions of the EAGLE!

Woman Fails In Suicide Attempt

Although witnesses could give no reason for her actions, Gladys Adams, 26, of 1426 East 17th St., attempted to take her life early Tuesday morning by drinking a potion of potassium permanganate Newton street police revealed today.

According to Cecile Frazier, who was in the room rented three days before by Miss Adams, the latter entered the room and asked where the poison was. Told it was in the medicine cabinet, Miss Adams got it, went to the kitchen and drank part of it, returned to the living room where she slumped to the floor.

Newton street ambulance rushed her to Georgia Street Receiving hospital where her condition is reported as not serious.

Tenants Strike In Harlem At Rent Raise

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (CNA)—Fifteen Harlem families residing at 510-12 Manhattan avenue, went on a rent strike this week against an increase in rent from $8 to $30 monthly.

The increase would shoot up the rents to $53 on apartments now renting for $45 and to $61 for apartments renting for $53.

Despite the bitter cold, tenants have been picketing the houses daily with signs reading: "Horrors of Harlem: Overcrowded apartment houses! Hungry Children! First Fired—Last Hired! Lowest wages—Highest Rents! One Hospital for 300,000! High Rents Deprive Our Children of Food."

Report Garvey Near Death

LONDON, Jan. 25. (CNA)—Marcus Garvey, leader of the "Back to Africa" movement which gained prominence in the United States shortly after the World War, is reported to be near death at his home in West Kensington, London. The founder of the Universal Negro Improvement association is suffering from asthma and his condition has been aggravated by London's damp climate and soup fogs, it was stated.

Garvey was deported from the United States after serving a five-year sentence in Atlanta penitentiary on conviction of using the mails to defraud.

Plan to Kill Measure in Hearings

Texas Senator May Bring in Stooges, Claim

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 25. — Hearings on the federal anti-lynching bill which passed the House Jan. 10 will begin before a Senate sub-committee of the judiciary on Feb. 6, it was announced here today. The following senators will make up the sub-committee of the Senate judiciary committee:

Frederick Van Nuys, Indiana, chairman; Matthews M. Neeley, West Virginia; Alexander Wiley, Wisconsin; Tom Connally, Texas, and Warren Austin, Vermont.

CONNALLY DEMANDS HEARINGS

Although the facts about lynching are well-known and sponsors of the bill felt it would be a waste of time to hold hearings, Senator Connally of Texas demanded hearings on the bill. Connally says he is going to ask for an appropriation from the Senate to bring witnesses to testify against the bill. The Texas senator, who led the 7-week filibuster against the bill two years ago, hopes to be able to block it in hearings. Predictions are made that he will bring up "stooges," including some "Uncle Tom" Negroes from Texas, who will declare the anti-lynching bill is not needed in the South.

Friends of the bill will try to have some of the Senate appropriation for witnesses applied to their witnesses also, but it was pointed out by Walter White, NAACP secretary here this week that colored people must raise their own money to pay expenses of witnesses for their side.

"We know Senator Conally is not demanding a hearing to help the bill," said White. "He hopes to kill it in committee.

Investigator Goes On Trial Today

Arthur Sims, alleged one time investigator for Clifford E. Clinton, will be tried in Superior Judge Frank G. Swain's court today on charges of extortion.

Sims was held under $5000 bail at the arraignment Monday after his attorney, Samuel L. Rummell told the court that he had affidavits "indicating my client was induced to commit perjury before the last grand jury by Clifford E. Clinton."

Sims is charged with extorting money from Central Avenue lottery proprietors in return for "protection". He was arrested December 22.

At the preliminary trial Jan. 4, Sims was accused by Ed Demery, confectioner, 5862 Hooper avenue, and Napoleon Jackson, of securing money from them.

Say Children Victims Of Race Hatred

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. (CNA)—"Millions of children in the United States suffer disadvantages and handicaps arising out of the fact that they were born into groups widely regarded and treated as inferior to the major part of the population because of their racial or national origin," the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor pointed out this week in making a plea for racial tolerance in a report on "Children in Minority Groups."

The report, presented at the White House conference on children in a democracy, suggested various approaches to the minori-

SIX KILLED BY ALA. TORNADOES

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 25 (CNA)—Six Negro workers were killed and many others injured by tornadoes which struck at widely separated sections of this state last week, demolishing the flimsy shacks of the victims.

The howling, ranting, fussing, and fuming hypersensitive colored journalists is best typified in the sad affair concerning that certain communist journal. Because the white reviewer who passed on the pictorial worth of "G. W. T. W." merely termed it "a magnificent bore", he was discharged through the efforts of a Negro member of this publication's executive board. The offending reviewer had even dared praise certain virtues of production; had commented favorably upon the photography.

It is significant that the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the single organization most vigilant in seeking out anti-Negro propaganda, was quite undisturbed about the picture. With their usual competence, executive officers of the organization had brought pressure to bear long ago—at the time when it was able to accomplish something—at the time when Sidney Howard was actually writing the screen version.

G. W. T. W. neither insults nor humiliates Negro audiences. There is no more or less misinterpretation than usual. Indeed in this case, we have the welcome spectacle of Hattie McDaniels and Butterfly McQueen marching off with many of the film's most effective scenes. Great performances were given by both these fine colored artists; and, for once proper recognition was accorded them in columns and reviews throughout the nation.

An innovation in the community is the Civil Liberties Commission of the Women Elks to hold initial meet next Monday. Answering a long felt need these women will attempt to deal with the civil liberties problems of the Eastside. Laxity in the enforcement of certain constitutional rights in the apprehension of criminals on the Eastside has long been commented upon, along with various other alleged civil liberty discrepancies.

It is hoped that this fine organization of women will effect, finally, a cure for many of the community diseases which we have suffered, lo, these many years.

Uncalled For Furs to Go On Sale

Sterns Fur Shop, popular furriers of the Eastside, at 4310 S. Central, announces its first clearance sale of all uncalled for fur garments, left in storage on their hands, starting Thursday, Feb. 1.

Many garments that have been restyled into the latest models of capes, jackets, chubbies and coats are included.

H. J. Sterns, proprietor of the store, states: "We have tried every way possible to deliver these fine garment but to no avail. Against our policy of never selling anything if possible, I must sacrifice these garments for the balance due, as we have kept some over a year. Many fine coats can be had for as low as $5.00 in perfect condition. Jackets, chubbies, and capes as low as $3.00 Also foxes as low as $1.00."

Included in the sale are many new garments that are slightly shop-worn. Mr. Sterns wishes to dispose of these garments at a fraction of what they are worth. He also states that anything $10.00 or over can be charged. Budget terms can be arranged at no extra charge. The sale starts Feb. 1 and will continue for 2 weeks.

WRIGHT'S NOVEL IS BOOK OF MONTH

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (CNA)—The forthcoming novel, "Native Son," by Richard Wright, brilliant young Harlem writer, is the selection of the Book of the Month Club for March, it was announced this week. Wright's first novel, "Uncle Tom's Children," won warm praise in this country and abroad.

MCDONALD MAY MATCH POLITE WITH LEMOS AS FIRST MIXED BOUT

Bout Hinges on Armstrong's Decision in Garcia Tiff; Telegram Sent Olson

MAKES MATCH

Charley McDonald, stadium matchmaker who, with Moore, and S. A. Capodic, former national vice commander of the Legion, was called to testify by Attorney John D. Home, representing the Legion stadium, announced after the hearing a tentative bout for Feb. 23 between Richard Polite, New Orleans Negro, and Richard Lemos, lightweights.

The match depends on whether Henry Armstrong responds favorably to the commission's 10-to-12 day ultimatum that he go thru with his fight with Ceferino Garcia here Feb. 22 for the middleweight crown.

A telegram was dispatched to Armstrong last Saturday night by the Attorneys MacBeth, Muse, Houston, Moore, Shaw and Hardi...g, to wit:

"The long fought matter of discrimination against Negro fighters by the Hollywood Legion stadium ended today. The California State Athletic Commission after a day and a half of continuous session listening to the protests of Negro citizens here, accepted the Hollywood Legion Post's offer to drop the ban against Negro fighters. It is our suggestion that if this former Jim Crow practice of the Hollywood Legion Post had anything to do with your cancelling the Garcia fight with them, that you immediately reconsider said cancellation. The matchmaker of the Legion Post expressed, unofficially, that the difference in weights between you and Garcia can be ironed out.

"The entire State of California is very happy over this true American decision. We await your immediate reply."

OLSON SENT TELEGRAM

Armstrong allegedly cancelled the Garcia bout here under the promotion of Hollywood Legion because Garcia weighed too much and because the post discriminated against Negro fighters in their stadium although his match with the middleweight champion would be held out of doors.

Attorney MacBeth also sent a telegram Saturday night to Governor Culbert L. Olson, saying: "The colored citizens of California thank you for the truly American attitude of your State Athletic Commission, which today under the matchless leadership of Jerry Geisler, has brought a happy and mutually satisfactory conclusion to 16 years of racial strife at the Hollywood Legion stadium."

It was the contention of the protestants that the stadium's policy of exclusion was opposed "to the spirit and purpose of the Constitution of the United States of America, the Constitution and laws of the State of California, and the fundamental principles of truly great sportsmanship".

Sitting with Attorneys Orfila and Home was Hollywood Post No. 43 commander, Walter Sullivan.

Besides chairman Geisler, in attendance were commissioners Everett Sanders, Jules Covey, John Rustigan and Archie Closson. Representatives of the daily and weekly press were also present throughout the sessions.

Art Student to Open Dress Shop

Pretty Melonee B. Temple, U. C. L. A. art student, is only 18-years old, but she is going into business, for herself, to put herself through school. Opening of her Hazel Temple Dress shop at 3625 S. Western avenue was announced today.

Offering an attractive array of merchandise, dresses, hose, lingerie, and uniforms the Hazel Temple Dress shop will be opened ot the public Monday morning at 9 a. m.

Miss Temple is the daughter of Richard Temple, and lives at 1659 W. 36th Place. Her mother for whom the dress shop is named, died early last year. The Westside's newest, and possibly youngest, businesswoman, is also the niece of Dr. Ruth Temple, well known physician and four-director of the Temple Health institute.

At UCLA where Miss Temple will be forced to budget her time in order to care for her shop, the young woman is a talented art student, interested in designing. An excellent seamstress, she expects to design her own line of dresses "some day". She is ambitious, at present, to install a "made to order" department, for dresses, coats and suits in her shop.

The Hazel Temple shop will feature "exceptionally attractive dresses for street and afternoon wear pretty bright prints for the house". Prices for all merchandise will be reasonable.

A notable undertaknig, the young girl deserves the cooperation and patronage of the public.

Anti-Lynching Hearings Set

We have got to raise money to bring our own witnesses to Washington to see that his scheme is blocked.

"A filibuster can be broken by the voters back home. Southern senators want to play politics with this bill. All right, we can play politics, too. The New Deal and the Democratic party will be fighting for their lives in this election year. The Negro voters in the Eastern and Middle Western States hold the answer. If southern senators talk this bill to death in a filibuster, they very well may be talking their party out of power. The choice is up to those who control party politics. Negroes will answer a filibuster by turning from the party of the filibusterers. There it is. They can take it or leave it."

Randol Tells Of Great Negro Actors

Editor's Note: This article contributed by George Randol, president of George Randol Productions, as Guest Editor for the week.

Several days ago, I heard two young actors at the studio discussing pictures and the theatre. Their comment was that we have no great Negro actors, nor have we ever had any greats in the theatre. Really, it is nice to hear these young people in earnest discussion of things that have to do with their profession and one wonders sometimes why more of them don't try to get real facts concerning those who have gone on before, making it possible for us today.

These people that spout off at the studio because someone they hope to impress stands within earshot, do themselves no good when they attempt to underrate others. Regardless of what we may think, people are aware of the great performances given by actors of bygone days. Ira Aldridge, Ernest Hogan, Bob Cole, S. H. Dudley, Johnson of Cole and Johnson, Bert Williams, George Walker, Ada Overton Walker, Florence Mills, Charles Gilpin, Aubrey Lyles, Rose McClindon, Richard B. Harrison, Evelyn Preer, to name a few that had taken their last curtain call. Still making history working against heavy odds are many more that we will not try to name, who can be considered great.

Those names I mention come to me out of the twenty-five years of my experience without having to give a second thought to the matter. These names are great because critics acclaimed them on two continents. Broadway raved about all of these people at one time or another, and Broadway does not rave without cause. Who are we to take from these people, made immortal by their God-given talents, one vestige of the hard-won praise they so richly deserve. They came through in the hard way, when a person had to get all of his knowledge thru experience, when the person working next to you everyday would not give you a helping hand. Everyone was jealous of everyone else, and made every effort to prevent any progress. An artist made good then with native talent and not after years of training and coaching.

We have many boys and girls now seeking a career in pictures who have possibilities. Some of them can see the future in building pictures for theatres that cater to Negro people. This great field holds out to them a hope for the future. A bright hope that will not be dimmed by the cloud of racial limitation.

Others having enjoyed some measure of success feel that playing in the colored cast pictures would not be to their liking and hide behind their agent's objections. There are a few however, who have made good at major studios, and who must consider the effect that small budget pictures would have on their future salary demands. These people are for the most part willing to make the sacrifice to help colored pictures, but we hesitate to take advantage of their generous offer until we are in a position to assure them a living income.

Many young actors are so eager to become stars that they overestimate the importance of parts played, and make unreasonable demands on the producer when the use of their name means nothing at the box office. We will be glad to pay big salaries when the people we must use can draw big grosses.

• ON THE POLITICAL HORIZON

The death of Senator Borah was a great shock to the nation. It is doubted whether any other political figure outside of the President could have caused such intense national mourning as the veteran Idahoan has.

He was an enemy of the anti-lynching bill. As such, he should be "taboo" with Afro-Americans, as are so many other anti-lynch enemies. However, black America never developed a grudge against Borah, and thereby reflected great honor upon itself.

Senator Borah was among the few—if not the only—who opposed the bill in the nation's highest legislative body on principles devoid of politics or prejudice. There were not many more fair-minded men than he.

Borah believed that the bill was unconstitutional—an opinion which is shared by many legal authorities. However, he did not attack it through the cowardly means of filibuster or other forms of congressional sabotage. He brought his objections to Negro audiences in Negro districts far away from his own constituency and where he could hope for no political advantage.

Once, before a highly antagonistic audience in Brooklyn, New York, Borah calmly voiced his opposition to the measure, despite the fact that a communist mob threatened riot outside the auditorium in which he spoke.

The incident was typical of him. His was a spirit that answered directly and without compromise considerations to his fine sense of duty.

Although an astute politician, Borah was never known to angle for public plaudits at the expense of personal conviction. The 1936 presidential election was a fair example of this high moral sense. Though a veteran Republican, Borah refused to support Alf. M. Landon because he believed the man incompetent as a presidential aspirant.

Borah's foreign connections operated with uncanny accuracy—newsmen came to trust his analyses of foreign situations more readily than the official bulletins of the Dept. of State! Few senators in the nation's capital had such a wide sphere of influence. Borah was known and feared in Nazi Germany, Fascist Italy and Red Russia. When he discussed these nations on the senate floor, he took the trouble to KNOW what he was talking about. An American statesman disposed in this direction must have been very bewildering to foreign diplomats, accustomed to the foreign affairs ignorance of the average U. S. congressman.

As a final tribute to a great American, we quote the stirring article by Robert S. Allen of the famous Pearson-Allen "Washington Merry Go Round" column:

"I think I am the last newsman he talked to . . . It was late in the afternoon. I knew that the president's message on the Finnish loan was due the next day, and I dropped into Borah's office to get his views. Wrapped in an army blanket, he was lying on a couch reading an article on trade treaties. He motioned me to a chair which I pulled up near him. On the marble mantle, directly over him, was a striking new photograph of himself which he liked very much.

"Borah looked well, but frail and, recalling that during the Christmas holiday he had told me he was thinking of taking Mrs. Borah South, I said 'What about your trip?'

"I guess that's off, Robert,' he replied. "Mrs. Borah won't stay if I don't and I can't.

"Why not? Things aren't so active now. A few weeks of warm weather and sunshine would do you a lot of good.'

'Yes, but I can't leave. Those trade treaties are up and I've got to be on hand to keep an eye on developments. It's a close fight and we can't take chances. I would like a little rest, but I feel it's my duty to stay on the job and oppose this act.

"What about this Finnish loan?' I asked.

"That's a very distressing dilemma for me, Robert,' he said. 'My heart goes out to those gallant people, but at the same time I have grave misgivings about lending money to anyone in Europe. Once we let down the bars we can't foresee what it may lead to. We must keep out of that mess regardless of our personal sympathies."

His Aunt, Concerts, Chores and People Cause Eugene Huffman to Go in Dithers Over 'Sweet Sunday'

SWEET SUNDAY
By
EUGENE HENRY HUFFMAN

Sunday, January 25th was a bright, beautiful, and very pleasant day. Everyone thought of his or her Creator, and how good it was to be alive. I arose early and gave unusually fervent thanks, for my dear Aunt with whom I make my home, had had a close call into the Great Beyond on the very first Saturday in the new year, having suddenly been stricken with one of her ever recurrent heart attacks. This beautiful Sunday morning found her much improved, and for the first time this year I felt free to go out into the world and drink of the elixir of life.

After doing the morning chores and making my Aunt comfortable I rushed off to Avalon Christian Church, arriving there exactly one hour late! Glory to God, nevertheless!

I cannot report just what the first part of the service was all about, but I am sure that it must have been something about the Lord. And as if to reassure all late comers that it had been a purely devotional service in its entirety, immediately after I had been ushered to a seat, the choir arose and sang the "Inflammatus" with the silvery-voiced Mrs. Marguerite Chapman singing the solo. And seldom have I heard the "Inflammatus" rendered more brilliantly. They really did lift the souls of the audience on high.

The Reverend Mr. Duke introduced Dr. Clifford A. Cole, State Secretary of Christian Churches, a bald-pated white gentleman, who preached from Acts 27:25, "Sire: be of good cheer. I believe in God". And long before he concluded we had decided that it was a very good idea—to believe in God.

So after shaking hands with quite a lot of lovely people and being told—right to my face that I looked handsome I got all excited, rushed home and did a few more chores, and then hit the trail for the Wilshire Ebell Theatre to hear the accomplished Naida Portia McCullough and the exquisite Tomiko Kanasawa in their joint concert, being presented by Auxiliary No. 1 of the Outdoor Life and Health Association.

On West Seventh Street I glanced from the car window—"S" car—and looked right into the handsome face of Mrs. A. C. Harris Bilbrew, smartly attired, and sitting at the steering wheel of her Royal blue Plymouth. The lady bowed and flashed her pearly teeth and it was very exhilarating! La Bilbrew grows more stunning with the years.

During intermission at the concert I wandered into the gentlemen's smoker, and standing in a corner, off to himself, I saw a most magnificent man who looked as if he had just stepped down from the throne of all Africa. I looked at him and we exchanged smiles. Then I extended my hand and walked toward him. "Sir, I have never laid eyes on you before," I said, "but I KNOW you! You are 'Exel "Bilbrew" Harris!'" He left heartily and I am sure that I made a friend. Mr. Floyd Covington sauntered through, flashing his genial smile and adding to the charm of Sunday.

The concert over, I melted into the lava of charming people that were flowing outsided. Suddenly I found myself face to face with the famous Miss Hattie McDaniel who immediately began to gently but very deftly yank nearly every one of my tail feathers out because I had written in the newspapers about a certain motion picture called "Gone With The Wind" and hadn't said that I thought it was altogether a very lovely wind, etc., etc. She said something about "race" and "Colored" and then got into her smart Packard and drove off, with little Miss Doris Edwards, the Boston Pianist en tour, and leaving one or two other people to stand there and guffaw. But with-all, how we do adore our Hattie!"

Returning in an automobile with a company of people, with one of Los Angeles' most dashing widows at the wheel, discussion fell naturally upon the concert we had just heard, and the artists who had performed. I made the observation that our fair Naida was a master technician and as such she "highly pleased", but as an artist her life had been too tranquil, she had led a completely sheltered life, consequently none of life's soul-awakening storms had ever surged within her breast to set her aflame, therefore she lacked the ability to "electrify".

No one was prepared for such a statement and it came as a shock. Some of the ladies in the car admitted that it was a shrewd observation and quite true, but in "Heaven's" name they implored in great panic, "don't go and SAY such a thing in the papers!" So I will be nice and say "nary" a word. But I do wish that our people would realize that when a race reaches the point where it cannot permit anything but empty praise, and ridiculous flattery then that race has reached its zenith, and our present cultural development is not an extravagant compliment to human history.

So back to Avalon to listen to an inter-racial symposium on —Solution to Youth's Problems in a Democratic Community, presented by the George Carver Fellowship Club. And while I am not at all sure that a satisfactory solution to these all-important problems was propounded, to see the crowd these youngsters drew, and then to observe the seriousness with which the extremely youthful speakers plunged into the subject, and to hear some of the intelligent remarks reassured one that there is still enough balm in Gilead to heal this greed-sick world! Altogether, the past Sunday was one of the swe-test I have spent for a very long time!

GLOBE NEWS & GOSSIP

By JAY

This column has been invited out to the "White Elephant," Hollywood Club, to be the guest of Lew Crawford and see the new colored floor show he is producing there.

Local radio listeners gang around their radios nitely to hear LeRoy "Stuff" Smith, the "Emperor of Swing" get in the groove with his marvelous orchestra at 10:30 from the Hollywood Onyx club. The music is mellow and hits like a million.

Haven't seen Mae Turner Brooks, Gwendolyn Shaffer, Edna Cunningham, Irene DeCuire or Marjorie Wilson up and down "melody lane" or around the swanky spots lately.

Sanders King and his orchestra, booked solid in the swanky downtown San Francisco spots, racked 'em back the other nite in Lomax's Dunbar Cocktail Lounge here, until the place closed in the wee hours of the morning.

Mabel Rowe Ramsey got her divorcing papers from hubby George Ramsey after feuding for the past five years. Friends say the couple didn't speak to each other while living under the same roof. The San Diego court directed Ramsey to either buy or sell his share of the Douglas hotel. He sold for $3,500.00 and walked out. Mrs. Ramsey immediately lowered all the prices and changed the help and made everything new except the name which is still the Douglas Hotel and the Creole Palace Nite Club. George is now at Santa Anita race track daily, planning a new racing stable.

Chester "Clocker" Morris, private timer for L. B. Myers, owner of a big racing stable, had the right horse but the wrong day. Their stable bet a lot of money on Quincy which finished up the track in the middle of the week. McMorris dashed cold water on Quincy's bad race and took him back Saturday in the last event and the horse won from wire to wire. Rumor has it that the outfit cashed in 40 G's as the payoff was $20.80 for $2.00.

The Mills Bros. 4 arrived here this week to start making a picture. For the same reason, the Dandridge sisters are here.

Delphine Goodman, a charming pianist, is planning her own six-piece all-girl orchestra. She has a contract awaiting its completion. She's at the Dunbar Hotel.

Curtis Mosby is busy rehearsing his famous "Blues Blowers' Ochestra" for work in motion pictures. Several years ago, Mosby's "Blues Blowers' " were the best known dance orchestra on the coast.

Lucius Lomax, who has been on the ailing list for a few days, has taken over complete charge of the Dunbar Cocktail Lounge and installed his son, Lucius, Jr., as manager. Lucius bought Spates' half interest for 5 G's. Harry motored away for Seattle singing, "I'm glad to be on the loose."

According to Elder A. C. Benjamin, Alfonso "Jax" Wilson is improving rapidly out at the General hospital. That's swell.

Sydonia Taft is looking prettier than ever since he. return up 'Frisco Way. Says hello to Leonora Winkler, Louise Robinson and Maggie Mae Hathaway.

Bal Taboran, popular Englewood nite spot, got the gravy of entertainment last Friday night when Bill Hefflin took Kenny "All-American" Washington, Woody Strode, Jack Cohen and Leo Cantor, all former UCLA football stars, there to see the show and hear Ceele Burke's band. Kenny sang, as did Strode, while Cohen acted as Em Cee and Leo Cantor read off the names of the acts. The patrons at the spot went wild over the star footballers' act.

Vernon Brown, co-owner of the Club (S. F.) Alabam must be doing a tremendous business as he loosened up and sent this writer a quart bottle of rare champagne as a Christmas gift. I kept it well wrapped and sent it back to him as a New Year's present. I couldn't understand such expensive drinks from Vernon.

After all the fuss Hattie Brennan kicked up about having her hair bleached blonde to suit her boy friend, she now likes the shade so much that she'll keep it permanent.

U. S. "Slow Kid" Thompson, Sleepy Williams', Sunshine Sammy and Peter Ray are THE globetrotters among the dance entertainers. They think nothing of trips to Australia and the Orient at least twice a year.

Luther "Soldier Boy" McGaffin writes friends from New York where he went with Les Hite's Orchestra, that the band is going great guns. He also informs this pillar that the 4 Hotshots, popular dancers at Earl Carroll's there, are yearning for dear old California after an absence of barely a month.

Harry Fiddler, one of the real old timers among the rapidly thinning ranks of showfolks, was guest at the monthly meeting of the L. A. Fellowship League breakfast given in the YMCA Sunday. Fiddler was with Billy Cassan, W. H. West and Shelton Brooks. He was one of the "4 Aces" of the world.

Large San Diego Audience Hears Pauline Wilkerson

SAN DIEGO, (by Mrs. E. B. Wesley)—A large and appreciative audience heard Miss Pauline Wilkerson, young singer of Los Angeles, in an artistically rendered program at Bethel Baptist church, Friday night. Miss Wilkerson, whose personality is very attractive, possesses a voice of rare beauty which was exemplified in the rendition of her classical numbers, each of which met with warm response from her enthusiastic listeners. Miss Wilkerson was ably accompanied by Miss Edith Katherine Owens, an accomplished musician. Miss June Dickens, San Diego's promising young pianist, was heard in a selection which she skillfully performed. Miss Wilkerson was presented by the Woman's Missionary society of Bethel Baptist church.

Man Freed on Charges of Grand Theft

Stern Attitude Toward Relief Racketeers Revealed

Alex Fisher, 918 East 32nd St., was freed on Grand Theft charges Friday afternoon before Superior Judge Frank Smith sitting without a jury after a trial lasting all day during which time much testimony was heard by the Court.

The prosecution had charged that Fisher, a relief client, had, on September 13th or thereabouts, taken a check for the sum of thirty-four dollars to Zisken's Thriftown Market located at Adams and Central avenue and had cashed the check but failed to endorse the same through oversight by the clerk. Bledsoe, the clerk, testified that he remembered Fisher coming into the store with the check. T. H. Linden, manager of the store, took the witness stand and testified that he discovered the unendorsed check September 20th, when it was dishonored by the Bank for being non-endorsed, and that he had immediately sent Harry Broussard, colored, to the Fisher's home for an endorsement on the check but that Broussard had returned without the check as a result of Fisher taking the check away from Broussard and refusing to endorse it or return the same. Broussard confirmed Bledsoe's story, and upon cross-examination by defense counsel revealed that Zisken did not allow him to handle any money or the register. Fisher was then called to the stand by defense counsel, Walter L. Gordon, Jr., and related that the check had never been in his possession until Broussard handed him the check to be endorsed, whereupon he told Broussard that the check was his and that he couldn't understand what the store was doing with it as he had never taken it to the store, and that in fact he had never received it. He further testified that he immediately went to the Thriftown Market and informed Zisken and the manager that he was going to report the check stolen and that he was going to turn it in at the relief office. He was at the relief office reporting the occurences when he was arrested by store employees and police officers on the charge of Grand Theft from the person because of his purportedly snatching the check from Broussard. The defense also called L. G. Robinson, custodian of the County offices, as a character witness as well as Elizabeth Hampton, colored, Welfare worker and Fisher's Visitor, to testify to Fisher's immediate reporting to the office of the claim of the Market to the check. Ralph Blake, also colored, testified that the check was handed to Fisher by Broussard and was not snatched from Broussard, as Broussard testified. Attorney Gordon pointed out to the Court that checks were stolen so often on the eastside and other districts of the City that W. P. A. authorities were sending out slips of warning through the mail advising persons awaiting or expecting checks to be on hand when the mail man arrived to prevent a gang of thieves from reaching the check first. Judge Smith commented that the fact was an interesting one and asked to see the warning note, placing same after reading it into evidence for the defense. In his decision, Judge Smith stated that he was confident that Fisher had cashed the check at the store and that the same had not been stolen but that the claim of the store was civil in nature and that there was not sufficient evidence to convince him that a crime had been committed. Consequently, he must find the defendant "Not Guilty".

Judge Smith also commented on Fisher's revelations that he had been on relief two years and that he was driving a 1935 Pontiac car. The searching examination of Fisher by the Court as regards his case history impressed on all those present the trend toward treating with a sterner attitude those individuals who depend upon relief other than in times of temporary emergency.

Negro Minister Served White Congregations

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 25—The story of a colored minister, Lemuel Haynes, who successfully served white congregations for more than 50 years almost a century and a half ago, is recalled in the current issue of the Arts Quarterly, published at Dillard University, and serves as background for two excellent photographs, one a portrait of Lemuel Haynes, the other a mural of Lemuel Haynes preaching in the Meeting House at Bennington, Vermont.

• PROPER MAKEUP

By SADIE LOUISE

Ladies, the first requirement for a feminine charm is good complexion. It is important to make up correctly, also to make the most of your attractiveness.

The first requisite of proper make up is to be certain that your skin is thoroughly cleansed.

You may, if you choose, use warm water and soap, but make certain that your use of a cleansing cream follows, to remove all dirt, grit, oil from the skin.

After your face is thoroughly cleansed, the pores are open, it is desirable before applying the make up to close the pores of your skin.

It is also necessary to tone and tighten the complexion. I now suggest that you use a powder foundation for your make up. It will make your make up water proof.

Make up when applied correctly, is really an exhibition of the "art which conceals art", as so well the pink, red, yellow, or orange tones blend with the skin to produce the effect of nature itself.

You are now ready to apply your make up.

HYGEIA IN THE SCHOOL ROOM

Instruction in personal hygiene in one manner or other is part of the program of most secondary schools. In some, a certain amount of this instruction is incorporaetd in the gymnasium and athletic training, while in others, it is presented as a separate academic course. Opinion is divided as to whether or not a separate course in personal and community hygiene should be required of all students In many colleges this subject is an elective, rather than a required course.

Apart from any question as to the value of a well planned hygiene course, from eithtr the personal or the public health point of view, it is often a problem to find room for it along with the great number of diverse subjects in the crowded modern curriculum. Thus we must have excellent reasons for adding any required course to a modern school program.

It seems obvious that with the conditions of present day American Life, a child's first thorough instruction in some of the facts of personal health should come many years before he reaches the junior college age. If such instruction has been received it is a question whether or not it should be repeated with the chance of boring the student. Presenting this subject on an advanced or semi-technical basis may be an answer to the question; yet we must not overlap to too great an extent our elective biologic science courses.

A two unity course in hygiene is required for graduation from Santa Ana, California Junior College. We are under no illusions that the majority of good or bad health habits are not already strongly established by the time the boy or girl finishes high school and that to change these habits more or less completely is highly visionary. We attempt to make the approach logical or scientific, giving the reasons for our health rules so that the students may interpret for themselves certain of the more obvious biologic facts and evaluate new data and arguments which they are certain to hear in the future. We find continual evidence that much of our energy is most profitably spent in teaching what might be expressed by the term "sales resistance". It is altogether likely that no place in the world can be compared with Southern California in the amount of quackery, cults, nostrums, irregulars, money-making health fads and patent medicines, which is to be found. Legal control of these things seems to be more or less at a standstill. It is beyond our power to cope with the matter directly at present; but when barrages of pseudoscientific propaganda reaches such volume as to obscure most logical ideas, we find that even those relatively few people, who otherwise think for themselves, grow to accept various kinds of nonsense. It is this tendency which we attempt to counteract.

The purpose of our health course, then, is to outline a system of health rules and a philosophy of sane living, explain the logical and scientific basis for most of this and expose as much pseudoscience as it is possible for us to do under the circumstances.

To develop a well balanced course it seems obviously desirable to supplement class lectures with worthwhile authoritative, up-to-date reading. In this subject in particular, we must try to avoid dry or "trite" assignments. We find that Hygeia, which we have been using for assigned reading, is worthwhile, authoritative and up-to-date. It is more readable and attractive than a textbook and, since a new issue comes out each month, it holds all the attractiveness of magazine reading.

Signing off until next week, your announcer, Ruth J. Temple, M. D., Station KWA (Keep Well Always).

Anniversary Of Queen of Sheba Chapter Held

Sunday, Jan. 14, marked the celebration of the "36th Anniversary of Progress" of Queen of Sheba Chapter No. 7, OES.

It was given in the beautiful spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, 952 E. 54th street. Mrs. Wilson (Alice), is one of the Chapter's devoted and faithful members.

The house was beautifully decorated with baskets of gorgeous flowers and the dining room was exquisite in that the table was covered with an attractive, expensive banquet cloth; in the center was a beautiful crystal flower bowl with artistically arranged flowers; on either side of the bowl was crystal candle-holders with white candles. The silver service was of the best and the delicacies were very appetizing.

Each one of the excellent committee of 26 ladies of the Chapter, with Sis. Beulah Johnson, P. M. of Queen of Sheba, as chairman, were charming in their very becoming vari-colored formals and corsages.

They served the guests with pride and dignity. Special OES napkins and a slice of the anniversary cake was given each guest as a souvenir.

The repast consisted of open-face sandwiches, made of every cut imaginable, the majority of them stars; coffee, tea, delicious cakes, candies, nuts and ice cream.

A continuous program was rendered and many notables appeared, among whom were Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, Mr. Earl Pleasant, Mrs. Marguerite Chapman, and many others, whom I cannot find space to mention. Even the lady of the house, Mrs. Wilson, read two very appreciated numbers. Miss Freddie Ruth Parks was at the piano.

At the last, Mrs. Theresa Bailey, chairman of the program, called the name of Bro. S. P. Johnson, the first charter member of Queen of Sheba chapter. He gave us food for thought when he went back to the organization of the chapter and gave facts up to and including the present day.

After he concluded, he was presented with an OES Desk lamp by our own Matron Anna L. Beavers; each P. M. present was called to stand in line as they served the chapter, respectively, and after a few words from each, they were presented with a corsage of gardenias.

Then the Worthy Matron was presented a beautiful white OES year book, in which she may write all her doings for the entire year.

Because of her 12 years of faithful service as financial secretary of the Chapter, Mrs. Bessie T. Greggs was presented an OES desk set by Sister Novella Curtis. Our own Patron, Bro. Arthur L. Crosby was called upon and gave some very encouraging remarks. He and Bro. Johnson were presented with a button-hole gardenia.

Thurs ended our celebration without Grand Worthy Matron.

CONTRACT BRIDGE FINALYSIS

Thos Newby Winslow

This is the first of a series of articles by Col. Thos. Newby Winslow, lawyer, master accountant tax expert and for more than sixty years a student of cards and now one of the foremost card analysts of the world.

For the past ten years Col. Winslow has devoted his time to the study and analysis of Bidding at Contract Bridge and now presents his "Win Winslow Way" as the simplest most perfected system of Bidding and Analysis ever devised.

The principle features encouched in this system are:

1. The strength of the hand and the length of the suit is given with one and the same bid.

2. The number of tricks to be taken (level) is denoted with first response of partner.

3. The opponents have no method of placing the high cards of the suit bid, therefore are weakened in defense.

4. The Winslow Convention places all the Aces at a level of 4 no-trumps, thereby preventing slam attempts at the expense of game contracts. This convention will revolutionize the Bridge world.

The Winslow system is based on the Natural value of the cards. There are 12 Naturals in the entire deck, never more, never less. The count is:

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"O Lord, thou art my God; I will exalt thee, I will praise thy name; for thou hast done wonderful things; thy counsels of old are faithfulness and truth." This verse from Isaiah is the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Truth" on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist.

A Scriptural selection in the Lesson-Sermon includes these verses from Deuteronomy: "Give ear, O ye heavens, and I will speak; and hear, O earth, the words of my mouth. My doctrine shall drop as the rain, my speech shall distil as the dew, as the small rain upon the tender herb, and as the showers upon the grass: Because I will publish the name of the LORD: ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he."

Passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, state: "As adherents of Truth, we take the inspired Word of the Bible as our sufficient guide to eternal Life." "Divine Science derives its sanction from the Bible, and the divine origin of Science is demonstrated through the holy influence of Truth in healing sickness and sin."

JAMES L. H. PECK began writing in High school but quit, after two years of university study, to take up flying. His first book "Armies With Wings", combines both interests. Actually it is one of the first books to tell about modern aerial warfare from a pilot's point of view. Many of the conclusions in the discussion are based on the author's experience with combat units of the Republican army in Spain.

Mr. Peck is an expert swimmer and diver and plays the drums professionally, having twice toured the country with professional orchestras. He lives near Pittsburgh but spends a large part of his time in New York where he has a host of friends, particularly in literary and journalistic circles.

Van Slack, and Mrs. Logan taking charge; Chorus under the directorship of Mr. B. Callery; Civic Youth League, with Miss J. Van Slack as guardian.

The Center is opened to all children of the community between the ages of 6 to 16, with a mixed leadership in charge, all members of the NAACP.

That Luscious Lima Bean

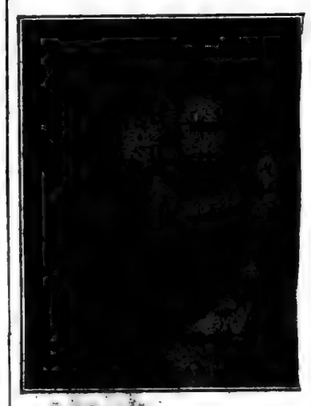
By BETTY BARCLAY

We force ourselves to eat many foods because we are told they contain some vitamin or mineral we need. So far as Lima beans are concerned, we eat them because we like them — a mighty good reason for eating any food. Check the orders in your favorite restaurant when Limas are listed with the vegetables, and see how consistently they are ordered.

Yet that luscious Lima bean is far more than an enjoyable food. It tops the list of alkaline-reaction foods that are needed to offset acidity. It contains more calcium than lean beef or eggs; more phosphorus than milk or lean beef; more sulphur than milk or potatoes; and more iron than any of these other foods. It's an excellent source of those minerals so necessary to perfect health.

Now that cooked dried Limas are available anywhere in cans and hot nutritious dishes are particularly desirable to protect the body from cold, the following recipes for Baked Limas with Marshmallows (see illustration) and Lima Chowder, are presented to you as tasty treats for nineteen forty:

Baked Limas with Marshmallows



3 cups cooked dried Limas
½ teaspoon salt
1½ tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons brown sugar
¼ cup hot water
3 stripe bacon
3 to 6 marshmallows

Put Limas in a buttered casserole dish, adding water and stirring in salt, butter and brown sugar. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) for about 20 minutes (until thoroughly heated). Then place bacon strips over top, dot with marshmallows and place under broiler flame until toasted a golden brown.

Lima Chowder

2 cups cooked Limas
2 cups diced potatoes
2 slices fat salt pork
1 small onion, sliced
1 cup boiling water
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
3 cups hot milk
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Cut salt pork into dice. Place in a saucepan and cook 5 minutes; add onion and cook until just turning yellow, then add potatoes and boiling water. Cook until potatoes are tender, then add Limas. Melt butter, add flour, stir until smooth, then add hot milk; cook, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened, then add Lima mixture and seasonings.

Long Beach Club Head Recovers

LONG BEACH, (By Darthula V. Bouggess)—Members and friends of the Roland Hayes Study club are glad to know that its esteemed president, Mrs. R. B. White, is recovering at her home from what might well have been a fatal automobile accident, caused by a drunken motorist crashing into the White's family car just as the latter was leaving Second Baptist church, Dec. 22. Mr. and Mrs. White, sitting in the front seat of the car, were pitched headlong by the shock of the impact into the rear seat atop their cousin, John Grigsby. Wr. White was only slightly shaken up, but Mrs. White and Mr. Grigsby were required to remain in the hospital for several days. While suffering no broken bones, they have been confined to the house at the order of their physician until this present week.

The Rainbow club, a church organization of young women of Second Baptist, is planning wonderful things for the future. Mrs. Lomax, the pastor's wife, is president. It's Christmas party, at which the members entertained their husbands and escorts, was one of the outstanding events of the holiday season. The club is planning a Fashion Show to be given February 24, at the church.

A Modern Treasure Chest

Mr. Burpee at the Treasure Chest Photo of Single Zinnia

By RICHARD S. BOND

During many years of Luther Burbank's life he cherished an iron-bound trunk in which he religiously stored little sacks and packets of his experimental seeds. This romantic old relic, battered and scarred by journeys with Burbank since 1875, is really his legacy to the world's flower lovers. Time alone can tell the horticultural wonders that may emerge from this treasure chest of a famous man.

Today it is owned by David Burpee of Philadelphia, who by the way is not only a horticulturist of note but a cousin of Mr. Burbank. The chest still contains many packages of rare seeds, carefully labeled by the original owner. Among them Burpee found seeds of the Giant Zinnia in pastel shades — the offspring of zinnia seeds once secured by Burbank from David Burpee's father. Last year there were only fifteen ounces of the new David Burpee Zinnia seed in the world. This year the seed is comparatively plentiful and the David Burpee Zinnia will be grown in thousands of gardens. It is an astonishing flower, five and a half to six inches across, and sometimes four inches deep. Actually, it looks more like a big Chrysanthemum than a descendant of the "Old Maid" grows by our grandmothers in their little plots of ground.

The colors are soft and rich — soft pastel shades of apricot, buff, salmon pink, burnt orange, peach and terra-cotta-cerise. Many of the flowers are bi-colored and some are tri-colored in combinations that are very pleasing.

Best of all, this zinnia is still a foolproof flower — one that will grow anywhere, as its great-grandparent, the "Old Maid" grew. From the treasure chest of Luther Burbank one more wonder has been produced.

FREDERICK M. ROBERTS, veteran figure in California Republican politics, was named alternate to Committeeman William D. Campbell to the Republican National convention.

Mr. Roberts, for 18 years Republican assemblyman from the 62nd district, is a local newspaper editor.

All are invited. The church and the city at large wish the young pastor, the Reverend Mr. Lomax a speedy recovery.

Ask Funds for Art Mural of Noted Singer

Money May Be Sent to Offices of The EAGLE

To those of you who do not as yet know, and those who have not contributed, and to all who are interested—and we hope there are many—we are making this appeal.

We are asking for donations of any denomination, to be used toward the painting of an Art Mural of Marian Anderson, a top-ranking artist of the world, depicting the scene last Easter Sunday, at the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D. C. when she sang to an outdoor audience of 75,000 people.

In that audience there were outstanding men and women of governmental and civic activities, some of whom were the Honorable Harold Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, Edward Bruce, Chief, Section of Fine Arts, Treasury Department; His Excellency the President of these Treasury Dept.; Honorable Oscar L. Chapman, Assistant secretary of the Interior; Mr. Todd Duncan, Howard School of Music, Howard University, Washington, D. C.; Walter White, Secretary of the NAACP and a host of others who readily joined the movement as sponsors, and who are serving without any compensation, as are all of us who can possibly do so. However, there happens to be some expenses that can not be eliminated, the greatest being that of painting the Mural. Mr. Ickes has assured the committee that the Mural would be given a permanent place in one of the government buildings.

We believe the idea to be of such great inspiration to those who are forced to carry on their advancement against such obstacles that were and are faced by Marian Anderson and all others of her race, a minority group in this Democratic Nation, that whatever efforts are made toward the fulfillment of our purpose, will go a long way in urging those generations that are following, to greater efforts.

All contributions great or small may be sent to the California Eagle office, 4075 S. Central avenue or Mr. Charles A. Black, 2179 W. 28th street.

Children Aid to Happy Union, Claim

The more children in a family, the happier the marriage. That is the statistical conclusion of the Los Angeles Institute of Family Relations, from a survey of 8370 married couples in the educated part of the population—that is, with a high school education or more.

All the families were complete in the sense that it was known, due to the wife's age or other reasons, that no more children would be born. Information was furnished by close friends and relatives, who also rated the marriage as happy, doubtful, or unhappy.

Of the childless couples 59% were rated as happy, but Institute officials declared this gives too favorable a picture, since a large part of the couples without children have probably found their way into the divorce court. Their studies show a majority of all divorces in Los Angeles county to have no children, although these couples have been married an average of nine years before the divorce.

Couples with one child showed 62% of happiness, two children and three children brought the same rating, 68%, while couples with four or more children included 72% of happy marriages.

Current and religious news was brought by Dr. E. W. Moore. Reverends K. Downs of Pasadena and F. L. Taylor, presidents of the Interdenominational Ministers' Alliance of Pasadena and the Baptist Ministers' Union, respectively, were presented.

All California Solons, But 1, Back Mob Bill

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Jan. 25—All of California's 17 congressmen, but one, voted "Yes" on the Gavagan federal anti-lynching bill which passed the House Jan. 10 by a vote of 252-131, it was shown in the official vote released today.

Because of absence, Congressman Geyer, Democrat, was the lone California legislator not casting a vote. Congressman Geyer would have voted for the bill had he been present, it was generally admitted, as he had already stated his partisanship to it.

California congressmen are divided into Democrats and Republicans, 12 of the former and five of the latter. The Democrats were: Congressmen Englebright, Eliott, Voorhis, Kramer, Tolan, Izac, Costello, Havenner, Buck,

Library Book Notes

(Courtesy Vernon Branch Public Library)

To make or not to make New Year's resolutions is in the back of all our minds in January and whether we do or do not, the idea of turning over a new leaf is always a prevailing symptom in the first month of the year.

For each one of us there are different hurdles to clear, but for all thinking people there is a common meeting ground in the field of good books. Whatever your interest there are numberless books in the public library to lift you over daily routine and the present moment into the fresh green pastures of adventure and romance.

Books for children follow the same general pattern of adult ones, throwing new light on the past, bringing distant lands vividly to our door, and illuminating the events of today. And if a child does not read these days of his own volition, the intelligent guidance of parent, teacher or librarian may lead him to explore books that will appeal to his particular interest of the moment and from that point on to wider reading.

In truth when you introduce children to books, you confer a benefit on them that will last through all the days of their lives. And if you do not know how to put books on the calendar for 1940, for yourselves and for your children, come to the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 S. Central avenue, or to the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch library, 2330 Naomi avenue, and let us help you. Here is a sample to begin the New Year.

"We Didn't Mean to Go to Sea", Arthur Ransome. An unpredictable accident sets four children adrift in a small boat. Against odds of storm and fog they cross the North Sea from England to Holland.

"All the Days were Antonia's", Gretchen McKowen. A convincing picture of a pioneer town and a pioneer girl who has a will of her own.

"Lost Lagoon", Armstrong. A mysteryship goes in search of buried treasure among the islands of the Pacific.

"Long Wharf", Howard Pease. A story of the San Francisco water-front in the gold rush days.

Shorthand Aids Prize Winning

"Winning prize contests, believe it or not, is one of the things students of shorthand may expect to find easy," Mrs. Mary C. Ross, instructor, told her shorthand class at Jefferson Evening High school recently.

"Those who have no idea of obtaining positions in offices as stenographers and clerks have otherwise found that the innumerable contests for enormous cash prizes now on the radio and in the large newspapers offer good chances to those who know shorthand. The shorthand student can take down the radio announcement, or lecture contests, and thus have a much better chance of winning than his non shorthand competitor," Mrs. Ross said. Enrollment for the semester of Feb. 2 is now open, according to Edwin L. Martin, principal.

Editor Listed on Pasadena Club Honor Roll

The Pasadena Sunday Evening club last week issued its selection for the most outstanding Negroes on the Pacific Coast for the year 1939. Among those included were: Mrs. Charletta A. Bass, Mr. Wm. Nickerson, Jr., Kenny Washington; Rev. Baxter Duke, Miss Hattie McDaniels; Henry Armstrong; Woodrow Strode; Mrs. Hattie Burke; Mrs. Fay Allen; Mrs. Gwendolyn Russell; Mr. Eddie Anderson; Mr. Ralph Cooper; Mr. Leon Washington; Mr. Baxter Scruggs and Mr. Jimmy LuValle.

Aside from its regular functions this club expects to present these honorees to the Pasadena public during the year 1940 as a project of education especially among the white citizens of the city. The groups which meet are usually interracial. Jackie Robinson has been named chairman of the club and Gray Evans has been named secretary-treasurer. This club meets every Sunday evening at 6 o'clock at the Scott Methodist Church, 55 Mary street, Pasadena. It is an auxiliary of the Young People's work of the church. The public is invited to the meetings which consist of an address, worship, open forum, tea and a social evening.

LARY Reports Thousands of Unclaimed Articles

More than 24,000 lost articles were found on street cars and motor buses in 1939, P. V. Mann of the Los Angeles Railway Lost Articles Department, reported today. Only slightly more than 8,000 owners called to claim their property.

In addition to this, sums of money totaling more than $4,000 were lost by passengers on cars and buses and all but a very small part of this was claimed by the owners, Mann said.

Rainy season is a problem for the Lost Articles Department because passengers cannot seem to remember their umbrellas, raincoats and overshoes. More than 500 umbrellas, turned in since the first of the year are awaiting their owners at the Department, 1060 South Broadway. Christmas time also filled the cars with forgotten packages.

Library and public school books are returned to the Libraray and the Board of Education, while foods and other articles of perishable nature are necessarily discarded. Articles not claimed by their owners are returned to the finders, Mann said.

Increased efforts are being made to acquaint riders with the free services offered by the Lost Article Department to the end that the return of misplaced property shall approach as nearly as possible 100 per cent.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25—The nation-wide sale of Anti-Lynching buttons launched by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has passed the 90,000 mark, it was announced here today by Mrs. Daisy E. Lampkin, national field secretary of the Association, who is directing the drive.

Doctors Hold Enthusiastic Meeting

The large dining room of Camille's Den was crowded to capacity last Wednesday night when the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association held its regular monthly dinner meeting. Dr. H. H. Towles, president, turned the program over to Doctors Howard Allen, W. E. Bailey, A. J. Booker, and Claudius Ballard, who proved themselves real hosts.

Changing the usual order of the meeting, Dr. Allen permitted each member of the group to talk freely about the proposed plans of the Association to continue its cooperation with the East Area Health Program and to work toward a great State Meeting of the Association.

It will be remembered that a fwe years ago the Southern California doctors invited the Northern medicos to the city. It is planned this year to make the joint session even more beneficial and interesting. Out of State physicians as well as local laymen will cooperate with the Association to put on a mammoth public meeting and a public reception and a laymen's study hour. All scientific groups will cooperate to bring together the very latest and best in modern medicine at the private scientific meeting.

Enthusiasm ran so high last week that it was with difficulty the meeting was adjourned at midnight and all look forward to the session next month with Dr. Mahlon C. Cooley, with Doctors W. Bledsoe, P. P. Cobbs, and B. L. Boswell as hosts.

DEAD 13 YEARS, TODAY'S BIRTHDAY OF FLO MILLS, BELOVED STAGE STAR

FLORENCE MILLS

"Little Twinks" Was Favorite of Two Continents

By ALMENA DAVIS

Florence Mills would have been 45 years old today. Today is the birthday of that radiant star, whose peer has not been found in the 13 years since her death.

Forty-five years ago on Jan. 25, 1895, Florence Mills was born in Washington, D. C. Thirty-two years later on Nov. 1, 1927, the piquant "Little Blackbird Looking for a Bluebird," was still and silent.

A surge of memories is released by reminiscence on the birthday anniversary of Florence Mills. They are memories almost as green as if it were only yesterday.—Yesterday that a whimsical, seductive pixie flashed on the theatrical firmament, spiraled to the top-most tip of the heights, then was snuffed out in the horrified eyes of a world delighted by her charming genius.

BABY STAR

Florence Mills was on the stage practically all her life. Her career began before she was six and stopped only with death. She could have shown today's juvenile stars a thing or two about bridging the gap between adolescence and maturity.

"Baby Florence," she was billed—singing and dancing before foreign diplomats in the Capital City. Picture an elfin brown girl with features and form as dainty as a lady finger, audacious, but never impudent; naive, but never babyish; singing "Hannah from Savannah," hit of the day, and you have "Baby Florence" Mills.

There was an act played with sisters Olivia and Maude. Both reportedly are alive today. From then on there were vaudeville and road companies, from Coast to Coast, a struggle for 15 years. You wouldnt have known it was a struggle to have known Florence, however. Things made so slight an impression. Always her chin was tilted, her smile radiant, her eyes brimming with sweet witchery, wistfulness and piquancy lurking in their depths.

THE BREAK

Her salary was nine dollars a week and she sang and danced like all of the Seven Dwarfs. Until 1921, she never got more than $45.00 per week and then the breaks came. She went from a Harlem cabaret to Broadway, taking the place of Gertrude Saunders . . . (Remember her . . . "Run, Lil Chillun, The Mikado in Swing" . . .) . . . in "Shuffle Along."

She left "Shuffle Along' to star in Lew Leslie's "Plantation Revue;" went with it to London and captivated the surprised Britishers.

"Unequaled by an American playing here in the last decade," wrote London critics of her success. Leslie brought her home for "Dixie to Broadway." The original "Blackbirds" was the next vehicle, and the never-to-be-forgotten song, "I'm a Little Blackbird Looking for a Bluebird."

Wrote James Weldon Johnson of her and that song in his book, "Black Manhattan:"

"It was a rather magical thing Florence Mills used to do with that small voice in her favorite song. . . .

"And yet, after all, did she really sing?

"The upper range of her voice was full of bubbling, bell-like, bird-like tones."

"Blackbirds" went to Paris for five months, to London for six. Seventeen times the Prince of Wales, now the long-faced Duke of Windsor, saw the revue. He called her, as did all of London, "Little Twinks' and pronounced her "ripping."

"Lttle Twinks" came home Oct. 12, 1927 for a delayed appendicitis operation . . . . It had been delayed too long. Twenty days later, she was dead.

Five thousand people packed Mother Zion church for the funeral. Women screamed. Men cried. Children gazed in bewilderment and wonder at the mass sorrow. The shock that follows death of one both young and promising stunned Harlem, the Harlems of cities all over the country.

Dead she is these 13 years. But today is her birthday and it seems she is not forgotten.

Happy Birthday, Florence!

Charity Day at Santa Anita Slated

Fourth Annual Charity Day at Santa Anita will be staged Valentine's Day, Feb. 14, it was announced this week by the four participating organizations, Jewish Welfare Agencies, Catholic Youth Organizations, Shrine and the Elks.

All proceeds from every source including gate receipts, concessions as well as the pari-mutuel machines will go to the four groups to be used in the furtherance of their charitable work.

Last year approximately $100,000 was divided between the four organizations. Officials stated that without these funds many of the excellent charitable programs would have to be eliminated.

The race program will be the usual set of eight races, topped off with the Fourth Annual Charity Day Handicap. Valentine's day will be a regular day of racing with the Handicap set for the sixth race.

Last year's Handicap was won by Happy Bolivar, owned by A. M. Kowler and trained by W. A. Thomas.

2Y8 Varsity Trips H'wood

Bouncing back from the defeat at the hands of the Long Beach Y last week, the 28th Street "Y" Varsity trimmed Hollywood "Y" varsity 51-47.

It was a wild serving game with Spiller of the 28th Street "Y" and Wilson of the Hollywood "Y" battling it out for high point honors. Each scored 17 points while Thompson of the Hollywood team rang up 13 pts. to become runner up.

Aside from Spiller other players McClain, Mars, Brewer, Underwood and Richie did some fine playing. The score after the first half was 29-28. The 2Y8 boys managed to maintain their lead through the closely fought second half.

The victory places Coach Nat George's team in a tie for first place with Long Beach. Tonight they defend their position against Los Angeles "Y" on the Jefferson High school court. The public is invited to attend, admission is free.

'Y' 145-lb. Cagers Win

Showing vast improvement since its defeat by the Phalanx last week Coach Ralph Cooper's YMCA 145 lb. basketball team literally ran off from the San Bernardino Knights Wednesday night. Led by Bullock and Cherry who scored 14 points apiece, thet 28th St. team put everything through the opponents basket except San Bernardino's own players. Reinforced since the start of the season by such men as Brewer, Woodson and Bradford, coach Cooper spoke well of Bullock and Cherry while he also commended the good work of Brewer, Curry, Lewis, Woodson and Nickerson. They established an early lead which was never in danger. The final score read 49-25.

On the next night in the Jefferson High Gym, they continued to display improvement by smothering Downtown 37-18. Tonight they meet Long Beach, their toughest opposition.

Lunceford To Play At Shrine, Feb. 11

Jimmie Lunceford and his band will play for dance lovers at the Shrine auditorium on Feb. 11, it was announced today. Lunceford's aggregation, rated one of the country's top bands, is expected to repeat its sensational triumph of two years ago.

Lunceford and his "boys" have been aplauded all over the U. S. and Europe as outstanding exponents of dance music. Popular recording musicians, they are favorites in European countries, better liked today than the great Duke Ellington, according to "Billboard," international theatrical magazine.

Many Girls Would Like to Emote Opposite Football Ace

In every mail, by wire, telephone, and in person, applications have been pouring into Million Dollar Production offices, following announcement a week ago that a search was being made for a leading lady to play opposite Kenny Washington. The famous All-American Bruin halfback is under contract to the all-colored cast motion picture company to star in a series of pictures, reportedly at $2500 per film.

It was at first planned to cast one of the players opposite Kenny who has been acting in the previous features released by Million Dollar. Instead it has been made an open nationwide contest, with the young lady who qualifies to be signed to a contract.

Because of the many requests for information, and entries offered, the casting director of Million Dollar Productions asks that all who wish to apply, write in giving description, a full statement of past experience on stage or screen and enclosing a full length photo. Mail it to the casting department, Million Dollar Productions, 6048 Sunset blvd., Hollywood.

Pianist McCullough and Singer Kanazawa in Superb Performances at Wilshire-Ebell Theatre Sunday

By JOHN KINLOCH

Society, in its bib and tucker, turned out Sunday afternoon at the Wilshire Ebell theatre to hear the remarkable joint recital of pianist Naida Portia McCullough and singer Tomiko Kanazawa sponsored by Auxiliary No. 1 of the Outdoor Life and Health Association.

That superb performances were rendered by both artists was the unanimous opinion of press and patrons.

Tomiko Kanazawa distinguished herself early in a group of foreign language songs. Bachelet's 'Chere Nuit" was accomplished with gentle feeling, although Miss Kanasawa's excellent soprano rose to the challenge of the concluding measures. "Die Mai Nacht", Brahms, was an excellent contrast in its powerful demands to the following Strauss "Morgen". Miss Kanazawa ended her first series dramatically with Charpentier's "Depuis Le Jour". However, her greatest success came with the encore, the glorious "One Fine Day" aria from Puccini's "Mme. Butterfly". Even more striking than her beautiful voice in this rendition was the singer's histrionic performance.

Miss McCullough hit her full stride with a group of Chopin works including Etude in F major, and Scherzo in C minor. The latter of the trio was most brilliantly done, reflecting as it did the flawless artistry and sheer digital perfection. Chopin is the show window through which virtuoso performances shine brightest. Some of the passages were almost acrobatic in the rapidity, lightness and occasional power of their demands.

Miss McCullough's second group was ushered in with the charming "Le Chat et La Souris" (the Cat and the Mouse), by Copland, which was delightful in its whimsy. While the first group reflected a flashing brilliance, tonal beauty and delicate interpretation was found in the second. Most effective here, perhaps, was the gentle, "Ragusa", Schelling. Still's "Radiant Pinnacle" was a welcome addition, while Tschaikowsky's "Flower Waltz Paraphrase" enchanted with its familiar, flowing grace.

Miss Kanazawa returned with a group of English songs that were delivered with artistic finesse, although the general standard here was not so high as in her foreign songs. Most appealing of these songs were "The Little Shepherd Song", by Winter Watts, and the brief, final "Midsummer", by Amy Worth. But Miss Kanazawa regained peak performance in her two striking encores. This reviewer has never heard the thrilling measures of Howard White's "Robin Song" so skilfully handled. The unnamed Japanese song which concluded the singer's performance fitted snugly in her not over extensive register.

Miss Kanazawa, perhaps lacking exceptional range, compensates this slight handicap with rare interpretive genius.

Miss Mildred Seymore, her accompanist, was perfectly and properly inconspicuous.

In her final group, Miss McCullough succumbed to the rhythmic sway of Lecuona's "Y La Negro Bailaba", and topped off her rendition with a superbly dashing "El Vito", by Infante. Encore was Samuel Coleridge Taylor's "Juba Dance". In our humble opinion, this particular piece has never been handled with greater skill.

Officers of Auxiliary No. 1 include Mrs. Louaida Hunigan, president; Mrs. Aria Walker, vice-president; Mrs. Clara Boyd, recording secretary; Mrs. Olive Dean, treasurer; Mrs. Arsine Gordon, corresponding sec'y; Mrs. Edith Hudnell, ways, and means; Mrs. Beulah Arnaud, program. The Recital Committee was composed of Mrs. Betty Hill, chairman; Mrs. Madlyn LeSesne, Mrs. Mattie Grady, Mrs. Thelma Long, and Mrs. Bertha Dardenne. Ushers were the undergraduate chapters of Alpha Kappa Alpha, Delta Sigma Theta, sororities. Gwendolyn Jones headed the usher corps.

Resplendent in a shimmering gold creation was Mrs. Caroline Rivers, organizer of Auxiliary No. 1.

From Chorus Girl to Motion Picture Star--That's LeGon

BY JAMES ASCENDIO

A girl walked through a room, leaving behind her impressions that a comet has passed by. No one spoke for a moment, and the very air seemed charged with electricity. Even the people who knew her, and to whom she had spoken in passing, were impressed, and everyone sat in a half breathless state, awaiting her return. That's the way this new bronze Film queen affects people.

You will understand her youthful fascination when you see her on the screen. You will know why when she is in a crowd of people, she will have the attention of everyone. It is personality plus a physical vitality, and—that diivne spark, yes, she's as easy to meet and as comfortable to talk to as your next door neighbor. A lot more interesting, simple and friendly. She might attract you first with her beauty, but she will hold your attention with her great charm, her sense of humor, and a quick comeback hat will leave you breathless.

This new vivacious star is perfectly proportioned with a girlish figure, she walks with a graceful purposeful stride, in the manner of one who walks a lot, she does. Her big, brown sparkling eyes, set well beneath well-shaped eyebrows ,and high forehead, her hair, which she usually wears in a long bob, forms a halo around her beautiful bronze face.

When Jeni talks, her eyes sparkle like diamonds in the night, her smiles come easily, and even when speaking of serious matters, she punctuates her remarks with a rippling musical laugh.

Jeni's career is one of those meteoric rises to fame, for which Hollywood is so famous. Even to her, it seems somewhat unreal. since just a few years ago—you know it couldn't have been many, she's only 21 now—she was just a little chorus girl with the Whitman Sister's show, trying to get to the top of the ladder of success.

She was not one to go out with others in the company to night clubs and parties after the show at night, as her money had to be sent back to Chicago to help her widowed mother to support their large family, and when the other girls went on shopping tours in the various cities they visited, buying fineries for themselves Jeni had to be contented with window-shopping, and hoping and wishing and dreaming that someday she would be able to buy these things for herself like the other girls were doing.

But this was only to help, not hinder her on the way up, as the charming Jeni could be found backstage between the shows tapping and singing and working away on new dance routines and songs, which proved later such great help to her.

After leaving this show, she returned to Chicago to work as mistress of ceremonies at a night club for two months. Then moving to Detroit to the Plantation Club, where she became a great hit, and started to build a reputation for herself. When the Plantation closed, she came to California to go in the Cotton Club, but seemingly there was some financial misunderstanding and she found herself without a job in a strange city, 2000 miles from home. True she had ability, but that was not known. Her reputation extended no further than Detroit.

Broke and wihout a job, but not discouraged, Jeni continued rehearsing everyday, and at one of these rehearsals, a man saw her dance and heard her sing, and offered her a job. He was the owner of the El Tempo Club, which was, at that time, the Eastside rendevous of the Film Capital. She danced, and was applauded. She danced some more, until finally she became the sensation of the Pacific Coast, and was signed by RKO for a picture to team with Bill Robinson. She scored so tremendously in "Hooray for Love," that offers for pictures came one after the other, and she was kept busy playing in "Ala Baba Goes to Town," with Eddie Cantor, "Fools for Scandal," for Columbia Pictures and many other major studio releases, This seemed so strange to her, as only a few months before, she was out of a job, and had a very dark looking future; but fate was still playing in her hand, and lady luck was still dealing her the cards, for a talent scout for Cochran, the Ziegfield of England, saw her, and bid for her service. Going to London to star in a Cochran Revue was a long jump from a Chicago night club, but there was no stopping her now, on her way up the ladder of a successful theatrical career.

While making a hit in London, she had the honor of appearing before the King and Queen of England. After her successful engagement in England, she toured the Continent and became a favorite there as well, only returning to Hollywood to play the starring role in an all-colored picture, which she feels is the highest round on the ladder of success that she has reached yet, and the picture to carry her to the top of this ladder.

Well, there's something pretty ironic about the Russian-Finish mixup. Everybody knows the Olympic Games are supposed to promote international goodwill, yet it's the Olympic Championship skiers who are putting the skids under the Bolshies--with very little goodwill attached. The ski champs work on the same lightning attack principle that made Robin Hood, William Tell and Lawrence of Arabia famous, Those snowy athletes swish down out of nowhere on a couple of oversize splinters, take a railroad to pieces, toss a hatful of bombs, and dare off in a cloud of snow before the Russians can say, "Jack Robinsonski". "Ski" happens to be a common ending on Russian names—it may prove an ending to the whole nation.

DOWN IN FRONT

WHAT NOW?

There's something radically wrong with a system wherein an athlete is the toast of a race, a nation and the world one year and a few years later, a "forgotten" man.

We are speaking directly of Mack Robinson, brother of Jackie, who in 1938 was the Pacific Coast champion in the low hurdles and broadjump and the National Collegiate and National AAU champion in the 200 meters. This was while he was matriculating at the University of Oregon.

This week, and for some time past, Mack Robinson has been tramping the streets of Los Angeles in search of a job!

Mack has had an illustrious athletic career. He has brought fame and world recognition to Uncle Samuel thru his exploits on the tracks of two continents, and yet today, married and with two children, he is faced with the realization that all the medals, trophies, etc. which came to him during his years of competition are but symbols of a greatness that does not carry over into his present extremity—that of feeding and clothing a family and providing it some measure of security.

RUNNER-UP TO JESSE OWENS

While a student at Muir Tech, Robinson set a school, league and Southern California record in the broadjump. In 1936, while at Pasadena Jaysee, except in one instance, he was undefeated in the 100, 220, broadjump and low hurdles. He reversed the only defeat he suffered in the century.

In qualifying for the American Olympic team in 1936, Mack Robinson broke the 200 meter mark in the trial heats here before going to New York, doing 21.1. He also set up a national junior college broadjump mark of 25' 5½". In 1935, 1936 and 1937 he won the Santa Barbara high point trophy in the 100, 220 and broadjump.

Competing in the Olympics in Berlin, Mack was second to the great Jesse Owens in the 200 meters. He toured Norway and with Cornelius Johnson, Al Fitch and John Woodruff, set a world record in the 1000 meters. He broke Charley Paddock's 200-meter record in Paris, and competed in London as a member of the relay team.

WOULD LIKE TO COACH ATHLETIC CLUB

Mack says on his return to the States in 1936, there was no official reception committee from the City of Pasadena to greet him at the train and outside of numerous speaking engagements, during which he told of his experiences, there was little or no appreciation shown by the Crown City. Of course his personal friends did their share to make him welcome.

Because of his wide and varied experiences as a track star, Mack believes he could be of real service as coach of an athletic club. He thinks there are many youngsters, of both sexes, and especially girls, who have much native ability, only needing some one to bring their talents to the front.

Speaking of an A. C., it reminded us that Los Angeles does not have an athletic club, sponsored by Negroes.

And then, Mack, thoughtfully, began talking about the abilities and capabilities of current track prospects of sepia hue.

JACKIE CAN (!) OUTJUMP OWENS

Contrary to information published in football programs during the past season, Mack says his brother Jackie is only 20, his next birthday being on Jan. 31. Mack is only 25. To our query as to whether or not Jackie will be a four-sport man at UCLA, Mack laughingly replied he was not in a position to say. He did say, however, that Jackie would rather play baseball and since track and the diamond sport conflict somewhat as to season he felt that Jackie may decide in favor of the latter. Jackie has been playing baseball since he was nine, Mack says. Described as one of the greatest natural ball players developed on the coast, Jack can pitch or catch, although his favorite position is shortstop. Mack ascribes Jackie's versatility to his amazing ability of timing and deception. Add his speed to that and you have a rare combination.

Jackie CAN surpass Jesse Owens' world broadjump mark, his brother believes. Of the current sepia track aces, Mack thinks Tommy Nelson of Fresno State; Hal Sinclair of UCLA; and Lawson should hit their strides this coming season. Of Wilbur Miller, he says the former Compton Jaysee star, has the makings of a great quartermiler, providing he leaves the sprints alone, since they call for a different type of training. And too, Ray Bartlett, of UCLA, may prove some shucks as a pole vaulter, Mack believes.

As for himself, Mack says he may compete this summer. In the meantime, he's looking for a job—any kind of job!

Field Goal Beat Kenny Washington's Collegians

Three field goals, booted from the trusty toe of Tillie Manton, were the downfall of Kenny Washington's Collegians Sunday afternoon at Gilmore stadium, the former college All-Americans losing a thrilling 14-15 decision to the Los Angeles Bulldogs.

The last of the football season here, the game saw Kenny, the great Bruin All-American score both of the Collegians' touchdowns, one on a 44-yard run. Vic Bottari booted the extra points.

Kay Bell went over for the Bulldogs lone tally in the first uarter. Manton kicked two field goals in the second quarter and late in the fourth stanza with the scoreboardd reading "Collegians 14, Bulldogs 12", Manton hoisted the porkhide thru the uprights from the Collegians 40-yard line for the points that meant the game.

Kenny Gets Three of 5 Trophies

Washington and Strode Honored at Football Fete

"Success does not ask thy race, nor does it ask thy birth. Alone it requires of thee what hast thou done on earth."

Five hundred UCLA Bruin football enthusiasts crowded Kerchoff Hall on the Westwood campus last Thursday night, as attendants of the 21st annual football banquet given for the undefeated Bruin football team and paid tribute to Kenny Washington and Woodrow Strode.

Washington was presented with three of five trophies.

Alfred McLarren awarded Kenny the huge perpetual trophy of the American Legion of California, who received it for the second time during his career.

Earl Sedgewick, motion picture producer, presented the Bruin ace with a gold watch as "the most valuable player" to his team. And the title "most valuable All-American", as selected by opponents, was affixed to Kenny's name by Norman Speer who presented Washington the Douglas Fairbanks award. Recipients of the award in the past have been Bones Hamilton, Stanford; Whizzer White, Colorado; and Davy O'Brien, TCU.

Strode was presented with the Joe E. Brown trophy for being the most improved player on the Bruin squad. Jim Mitchell, fightend, won the N. Sugarman trophy for best team spirit and scholarship.

Bobby Pacho, veteran Mexican gladiator, decisioned Jimmy Casino in the second 10-rounder, a real slugging match that had the fans on the edge of their seats. There were no knockdowns.

In the prelims: Johnny Jackson, a newcomer, nodded Nat Bor in the six round semi, Dave Johnson outpointed Jim Egnatoff in four; and Redd Shannon shaded Ken Wrenn in the four-round opener.

15 KANSAS CITY BOXERS GAIN RIGHT TO ENTER GOLDEN GLOVE "TOURNAMENT OF CHAMPS"

More than 50 Negro amateur boxers fought on three nights last week at the Municipal auditorium in Kansas City, Mo., to gain the right to enter the annual Golden Gloves "tournament of champions" sponsored by the Kansas City Star in connection with the national Golden Gloves tournament. Last week's tournament decided which of the fighters, aside from those "seeded" the right to compete, would participate in the sectional tournament to be held at the Municipal auditorium on February 5, 6 and 9. Winners were crowned champions of Kansas City. Negro fighters held a tournament of their own, fighting on the same three nights on which the whites fought, but fighting among themselves. The Gateway A. C. ran off with club honors, winning all but two positions in both the open and novice divisions. There was no Negro entrant for the novice heavyweight title. Xavier Wins 24 Straight Hoop Tilts

Gold Rush Cagers Dominate Dixie's Basketball Circles

NE WORLEANS, Jan. 28. (By Charles L. deLay)—The colorful Xavier University Gold Rush cagers continue to pile up victories and dominate "Dixie Cage Circles!" The 'Rush recently returned from a tour of Texas where they met and defeated Prairie View in two games, 40-25 and 38-28, Tillotson college, 38-29, and Houston Junior college, 52-26. These first four games of the season for the Xavierites carried their win streak of 18, started last year during which they won the SIAC title for the second consecutive year and defeated Langston University (Southwest Conference Champs) to claim the mythical "Dixie" cage title for the second consecutive years, to 22-straight.

Prairie View opened the home season of the Xavier clan, and bowed twice last Friday and Saturday here in Xavier Gymnasium, to run the total to 24. They may even eclipse the amazing record of last year which ran to 45 straight before dropping the only game lost out of 29 played during the season in the South. The 'Rush played and won four in the No. h last year.

The locals were never threatened in either game as Coaches Giles "Unc" Wright and Robert "Tee" Pearson used three different quints for experimental purposes to win 51-31 in the first game and 46-30 in the last encounter.

Wince "Champ' King of Los Angeles, Calif., was high point man for Xavier with six baskets and a free throw for 13 points in the initial contest while Carter's four baskets and three free throws for 11 points distinguished him as the outstanding man for Prairie View.

The Xavierites journey to Atlanta, Ga., to engage the clever Clark University five in a game which has been heralded as the "Classic of the Collegiate Cage World." Clark has been called the only power in SIAC carge circles strong enough to cope with Xavier.

The Gold Rush will return to New Orleans to engage the fast-breaking Bishop College Tigers, second only to Langston (champions in '38 and '39) in the Southwest Conference, Lundi Gras (Mon., Feb. 5, and Tues., Feb. 6) and Mardi Gras to high-light the Carnival season. Texas College will meet the 'Rush in Xavier Gymnasium in the 7th and 8th, and world famous world champion Renaissance "5" will be on hand for the week-end for a pair of exhibition games in Xavier Gym.

The Bison eleven will engage in nine contests during the 1940 campaign. Virginia Union University returns to Howard's schedule for the frist time since 1936.

At our last meeting, Comrade Elijah Goodwin was initiated in-to the post and was immediately appointed service officer by Com-mander Staten. Comrade Good-win served more than 35 years in the United States Army and retired with the rank of a first lieutenant. By training and ex-perience he should be a great asset to the organization. The meeting was held at our club room and was well attended and much important business was dis-posed of.

Our Club Room has taken on new life. Every morning there is a large and congenial crowd of comrades present, enjoying them-selves at the many recreational activities offered there.

Our sick list remains untouch-ed from last week. The two com-rades in Sawtelle, McCormick and Shores, are both doing nice-ly the last report.

TESTED RECIPE

By Frances Lee Barton

THE humble prune was once de trop. "Not wanted," I translate. But dietitians studied it and brought it up to date. Today it proudly takes its place in many a luscious dish that brings "repeat de-mands" from men — from women. "It's delish!"

Prune Medallion Pudding

1 package lemon or raspberry flavored gelatin; 1 pint hot water and prune juice; ¼ cup sugar; dash of salt; dash of cinnamon; ½ cup finely cut raisins; 1 cup finely cut cooked prunes; ¼ cup broken nut meats.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water and prune juice. Add sugar, salt, cin-namon, raisins, and prunes. Chill. When slightly thickened, fold in nuts. Turn into small baking powder can or molds. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serve in slices. Garnish each slice with whipped cream, if desired. Serves 6.

L. G. Robinson Lauds Spirit of Department During Year

In his annual message to the Custodian Department of the County of Los Angeles, L. G. Robinson, superintendent of Cus-todians, expressed his apprecia-tion of the splendid work and cooperation of the department during the past year, and asked that each one make an earnest effort and exercise the same loy-alty during the New Year.

"The janitors fully realize that in Mr. Robinson, they have a sup-erintendent who has their wel-fare at heart, and whose leader-ship enables the department to take its proper place among the County groups," a spokesman for the group said.

Assistant Chief Janitor Ed Robinson, addressed the custodi-ans in the headquarters at the Hall of Justice, and he also ex-pressed his appreciation for the work done by that unit during the past year.

At the election of officers for 1940, Roy Nealy, who has been employed in the County service for many years, was chosen presi-dent of the Los Angeles County Protective League. He urged that each member of the League join the Los Angeles County Employ-es Association, and give their whole hearted supported to the questions that concern County employes.

I h a v e no quarrel h the Negro race, but we ought to forget white supremacy!"

Quick to respond to the Congsman's blast was a certain natally distributed daily. We quote: "We had hoped that 'white sumacy' as a political issue was d and buried so that the rest of with any talent for thinking ratally and constructively and with ense of social responsibility about nmon human problems might at st develop our talents, energies d our influence unreservedly to respectable cause of achieving a her, richer, sweeter standard for God's chillun.

"Congressman Sam Hobbs holld 'Nigger!' when there wasn't a odpile in a thousand miles of his dience. He pleaded for 'white sumacy' at an hour when civilized en everywhere should be more eply concerned with salvaging the vels of our western civilization and ending our c o m m o n firesides ainst the Hun and Slav.

"There are 12,000,000 Negroes the United States. Because most them live in the South most of em are politically helpless. If they re not politically helpless they uld not be subject to humiliation. uldn't Sam have left that out of speech?

"We have our 'white supremacy' w, but what else have we? Have we blacks and whites? Have we proled an honest living for men and men of all colors and classes? solved the problem of employment Have we solved the problem of giving all our children, white and black, a fair chance to acquire an education? What have we done to put flowers on the lawns of our humbler folk and paint on their wretched houses? What have we done to improve their eating habits? What have we done to give them a sense of citizenship? What have we done to strike down the diseases of infection and malnutrition? What are we doing to prepare all our people for the ways and responsibilities of democracy?

..."We are sorry that Sam Hobbs gave any thought to 'white supremacy' about which there is so little uncertainty, and devoted his talents so sparingly to the great human problem of survival in a troubled world."

Question: What paper have we quoted?

Answer: THE MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA, ADVERTISER!

Sense to Censor?

Last week that august body, the Los Angeles City Council, voted 10 to 4 that new, sharp teeth be placed in civic regulations of both stage and screen.

It is contended that when entertainment "violates standards of decency" the civic Fathers should have the parental prerogative of squashing it.

Obviously, these new regulations are aimed at the glorified peep shows that spot Fifth and Main streets in downtown Los Angeles; and, as such, they will no doubt exercise a very edifying influence. Few will deny the desirability of removing or at least controlling these dubious estabilshments.

However, there is a concealed and vital danger in such regulatory statutes that far outweighs whatever moral benefit which might accrue to the community through them. Whenever civic authorities are given a strangle-hold over art, art suffers; and when art suffers, the intellectual progress of the people is seriously impaired.

What is generally overlooked at the time such regulations are passed into law is the fact that wide discretionary powers on the part of city censors allow them to strike with equal deadliness at low vulgarity and honest, though perhaps unconventional drama.

Politicians and playwrites often disagree upon w h a t constitutes "good theatre". Frequently, the civic authority leans toward innocuous drama, void of social implications or realistic thought. He entertains exhaustive doubts as regards public ability to consume new or challenging ideas. Finally, the city censor becomes so enamoured of "public morals" that he allows nothing to be exposed to them except unmitigated twaddle. This is no pipe dream: It has happened in several American cities.

The threat against h o n e s t drama is particularly important to a minority group. After all, is there much sense in censoring?

The Elephant and The Donkey

The elephant and the donkey got heads together in the case of the Dies committee.

This week, after a two hour debate in the midst of some quite loud talking and many unpolished epithets, the House of Representatives vote 345 to 21 in favor of the Dies committee continuing its investigations for another year.

The committee was organized in 1938 and extended in 1939. It will now continue until the end of the present congressional session.

NOT A NEW BELT BUT A DIET

• THE WORLD THIS WEEK

FLAGS FROM POLE TO POLE?

"Let us work to see that the flags of the Americas fly from pole to pole in the Western hemisphere!" In ius dramatic a fashion, Senator Lundeen (Minn.) opened his campaign in Congress last week to have America dispossess European powers, by one means or another, of all their territories in this hemisphere. But friendly critics promptly suggested might be best for Uncle Sam to set his own house in order first before trying to run the whole Western world. And they were right! We need to combat the forces of despair and disunity in their midst. We need to make a fresh and concerted attack on unemployment—ever a good breeding ground of the demagogue and dictator. We need to ignore the appeals of professional hate-mongering. The defense of American democracy in the end, as Atty. Gen. Murphy said the other day, will be found in the wisdom of the people and their determination not to be led on the paths that have taken other people to Communism and Fascism. By uniting in a common will and with a common purpose to defend democracy and to make it work better than ever before, every American will be fulfilling a historic task. When that job is done, it will be time enough to worry about flags flying from pole to pole!

LET OTHER STATES SHARE!

First aid to California and the giant army of dust bowl refugees she supports comes—at last!—in a proposal of Rep. John H. Tolan. His common-sense suggestion, made to House members last week, provides that when cities, counties, or the State, expend funds for indigents who have been within their borders less than a year, they receive an additional allocation of relief money, subtracted from the quota of the state from which the indigent has come. Rep. Tolan hopes, as will most Californians, that this plan will meet the approval of representatives of other states. In all fairness it should. It will take an unjust burden off California's shoulders and enable other states to share, as they should, some of the load this State has been supporting by herself.

REDS IN THE RED

And now a third Russian division has been wiped out by the Finns, bringing to at least 50,000 the number of Russians slain during the last three weeks. If this sort of thing keeps up, it will put Earl Browder back in the headlines again—asking contributions for a Russian relief fund.

FREEDOM IS INDIVISIBLE

The presence in the House of Representatives of some 70 anti-alien bills gives point to the timely warning made by an American Bar Association Committee last week: "The dislike and opposition of nearly all Americans to the activities of certain minority groups are leading some of our citizens to employ methods subversive to the American system". This sudden epidemic of measures directed against the alien or the racial minority cannot be lightly ignored. From discrimination against aliens or racial groups a matter which has nothing to do with suppression or saboteurs and spies—is but a step to discrimination against political minorities, and from that point, but another step to the suppression of free political sentiment in general. If recent history abroad can teach America anything to help her avoid the pitfalls into which other nations have fallen, it is this: political freedom is indivisible. It cannot be apportioned among some groups, and withdrawn from others, without paving the way for its withdrawl from everyone, Persecution of minorities, because of race, politics, religion, has ever been the first chapter of a short, swift drama which ends with the enslavement of the majority by an all-powerful State.

UNCLE SAM TAKES STOCK

It's much more than a nose-counting task that Uncle Sam is undertaking when he launches the sixteenth decennial census in earnest on April 1.

It will be, say officials, the most comprehensive statistical job ever undertaken by this nation. As a thorough-going inventory into America's human and economic resources, it should tell us much about our country's strength and weaknesses and give to both industry and government a vast fund of facts, instead of theories, on which to base their actions.

With the genuine cooperation from all citizens it deserves, this g i a n t fact-finding enterprise should reveal vital information on home ownership and home building, on unemployment, on the effects of the depression on jobless youuth, on housing as well as show the extent and causes of the large migrations of people which have taken place within the last ten years.

The LAUNDRYMAN

There is some stir just now in congressional circles in regard to a proposed loan to Finland. Many senators are opposed to it, and this writer agrees with their views. Upon scanning the news reports carefully, one gleans that the loan, if made, would probably be made to a Finnish corporation instead of the Finnish government direct. This ruse is to be resorted to in order to avoid the breaking of the international neutrality law, such hair-splitting having b e c o m e quite popular nowadays.

However, brushing aside the subterfuges practiced by modern international law-breakers, the main issue involved would seem to me to be: How will Uncle Sam get this money back if the loan is made, and Finland loses? What then? Are we rich enough to shoot $25,000,000.00 and a nickle, without knowing whether the man at the box (Finland) has the remotest chance of paying the bet?

Assuming that we are—which must be the standpoint of those who favor it—it seems to me that it would be much more practical, much more rational, to shoot this $25,000,000.00 here in America to bolster the relief checks of thousands of undernourished, impoverished Americans. They would at least put it back in circulation here, so that it would not be a total loss—which will certainly happen if Finland loses.

I must confess that international politics are the same as a crystal maze to your humble servant. They do not conform to any of the orthodox rules or regulations in any other avenues of modern business. For instance, suppose a rancher owned and kept a big herd of cattle on an unfenced ranch in some remote county in our sparsely settled Northwest, and that six cowboy helpers were all the help he was able to secure in that section. Suppose that one million vicious wolves suddenly appeared from all directions and began slaughtering the cattle! How much money do you think he could borrow on that herd from any sane banker? Not a white quarter.

Finland is in about the same predicament, yet a loan to her is being seriously considered. They are a brave little nation and we all sympathize with them in this hour of national turmoil. If we can afford it, if we have that much loose money lying around that we have no need of, why let them have it. But if press reports on our unbalanced budget are true, and if American citizens in many cities and rural districts are suffering for lack of food and shelter, then I say, "Charity S h o u l d Begin at Home".

According to news reports, more and more people are being stricken from the relief rolls. I personally know of one case where a young woman with two half-grown boys is receiving less than $30.00 per month for food, clothing, rent, gas and light for three people. She is listed as an unemployable, from the fact that her children are young enough to need her supervision at home. Another similar case is that of another young mother with two youngsters who was laid off for over a month a short while ago. How these people manage to exist is a mystery. One realizes that the task of looking after thousands of such cases is a tremendous one, involving much departmental red tape, yet the fact remains that there IS much suffering in this country among the submerged tenth of our citizens. Therefore I feel that the duty of our government is to look after the welfare of American citizens FIRST.

• LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WE ARE WAITING

Dear Editor:

Screaming headlines of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, (Jan. 15, 1940) "Plot to Overthrow U. S. Exposed by F. B. I." set me thinking. Among other things, I recalled the many accounts in the EAGLE of the Negro's struggle for recognition in the U. S. military service. Of special interest was the editorial of Jan. 4, 1940.

The "Globe" list of prisoners read in part thus: "Michael Joseph Berine, 32, born in Ireland, 9 years a naturalized citizen. Corporal in the New York National Guard.

Andrew Buckley, 34, born in Ireland, naturalized in 1939. A sergeant and qualified gunner in Company H, 165th Infantry, New York National Guard.

'Clarke Gunther Ernecke, 36, born in Berlin, filed first citizenship papers, enlisted in 1936 in Troop A of the United States Army Cavalry, but was discharged.

"John Franklin Cook, 19, citizenship unknown. Corporal in U. S. Marine Corps Reserve.

"Alfred Quinlan, 27, citizenship unknown, member of the New York National Guard.

If there is a real danger, as Mr. Hoover is reported to believe there is, or if it is at all a "fantastic" plot, as the "Globe" thinks; the Negro Race has never produced "18 guys like these" (Mr. LaGuardias phrase).

The Negro was born a citizen and is ever conscious of his grave responsibility. Let it be preparing meals on the high seas for his foreign-born or unnaturalized superiors. Let it be in the labor battalions on land. Let it be a Col. B. O. Davis. Whatever the duty assigned, the Negro has honorably performed it.

The Army and Uavy departments have assumed the position (apparently) of desiring potential seditionists of uncertain origin and record (at tax payers' expense) rather than tax paying citizens with an enviable group record in military service.

"We are waiting" . . .but not to bore from within.

Sincerely,
MAYNARD TURNER, Jr
St. Louis, Mi

P. S.: I am so far away, it is several days into the following week when I get my copy of the "EAGLE", but it is still devoured page by page, as it was the few years I lived in Los Angeles.

FIRST-RATE THRILL

Dear Editor:

I have been here in the East for three years and you can imagine my pleasure, recently, in picking up an EAGLE, here in Harlem, and reading Bill Smallwood's column on the doings of all my old friends at home in California. It was a real, first-rate thrill, I can tell you.

My thanks to Mr. Smallwood for bringing L. A. nearer to we Californians so many miles away from home. Our chief regret is that he doesn't tell us even more of what's what and who's who.

Yours truly
MRS. C. VENTON COX, Jr.

To A Friend Who Disappointed Me

By RUBY BERKLEY GOODWIN

I'm deeply disappointed in you friend;
Somehow, I had hoped better things of you;
What of your lofty hopes, your high ideals?
Where is your dream that was to guide you through?

Were all the virtues I ascribed to you,
Merely reflections of the image fair
I had engraven in my heart, but you
Never possessed them, nor did you care?

For I have watched as only a friend watches,
For any little sign of your advance;
And I have prayed, and hoped, and dreamed that always
You'd march ahead without a backward glance.

Not only did you look back, but you faltered;
You ceased to struggle, and gave up the fight.
Why did you let the roseate dreams you cherished
Be lost amid the terrors of your night?

I'm disappointed; still I'll ever ever shield you,
For maybe there were things I never knew;
Maybe you are still blessed with the virtues
That I once did accredit unto you.

Since everyday life brings us to strange cross-roads,
And we alone must face Gethsemane;
The least a friend can do is to stand by you,
And try to be just what a friend should be.

On Success

By EARLINE WILLIAMS

(A tribute to one, Kenneth Stanley Washington, halfback star of University of California at Los Angeles football team.)

. . . "And his name shall be great even unto the end of the earth"—O, pray tell me who, some few years ago would have prophesied for one Negro lad, perhaps then just one of the crowd that a few years hence, ere he trudged the way of gaining knowledge from one, University of California at Los Angeles for his last year, 1939, his name would be echoed and re-echoed across the continent. Doubtless, such success was never (until more recent times of course) anticipated in the dreams of this lad or his loved ones, not even his mother.

I mention particularly h i s mothers for only mothers know a certain joy, experience a certain feeling of thankfulness and reverence to a God to whom they pray during all the years they toil to rear children that are somebody, children that are worth the while. Yes, only a mother has that certain, overwhelming satisfying contentment that 'My child is this, or my child did such and such", whatever the case may be, to know that her child, in whom she planted all her prayers, her efforts, her hopes, her desires, her all, that hers may be children worthy of the name they bear, worthy of all the things she has struggled through the years to put in their way.

But, even so, I daresay that even his mother did not anticipate that at this early age in her son's life anyone could say of him—

His name is sung on every lip,
A Negro boy I vow;
As into history he slips
In football he makes a bow.

The greatest back the game has known
A hero in his age;
For sportsmanship he has shown
Ability on every page.

And his name shall be great and his name shall go far,

'Tis Kenneth Washington;
Agreat man and a great star,
Kenneth S. Washington.

Let us help him to go beyond all bounds—
This Kenneth Washington;
Let us help him to keep his name renown
Kenneth S. Washington

Let us stand behind him and all others
Who fain success would know;
Let us treat all men as brothers
But, stand us for the right we would know.

Heavy Republican Support Passes Anti-Lynching Bill

By EMMETT J. SCOTT

The Anti-Lynching Bill was the first item on the Calendar in the House of Representatives Monday, January 8, forced there last July by a bi-partisan vote of 116 Republicans, 99 Democrats, 2 Progressives and 1 Laborite.

The Anti-Lynching Bill now under consideration, it may be well to state, is a consolidation, by agreement, of bills introduced in the House respectively by Congressman Joseph A. Gavagan, Democrat, of the 21st New York District, and Congressman Hamilton F i s h, Republican, of 26th New York District.

The National Association for the Advancement of C o l o r e d People, and dozens of other liberal organizations, supported the bill, and have kept interest in it alive by educational campaigns in every section of the country.

The Gavagan-Fish Bill in the House and the Wagner-Van Nuys-Capper Bill in the Senate seek the same remedies proposed by the Dyer Bill first introduced in the House by Congressman L. C. Dyer, a Republican from Missouri, and passed January 28, 1922, by a vote of 231 to 119.

The above recital clearly indicates that the Anti-Lynching Bill has been supported by Republicans and Democrats alike in the House and in the Senate, and by liberal elements of the North and South. Efforts h a v e been made to keep the question from becoming a partisan one.

The debate on the measure started Monday in the most pacific way in connection with the vote as to whether the Committee on Rules should be discharged from further consideration of the resolution. When the vote was taken, there were 256 ayes and -114 nays, 1 answered "present, not voting 52. 149 Republicans, 104 Democrats, 2 Progressives and 1 American Laborite voted to take up the bill. Against it were 111 Democrats and 3 Republicans.

Congressman Martin J. Kennedy, of New York, who opened the debate stated that Jackson Day is a most appropriate day to discuss so important a resolution. Andrew Jackson, he said, was a courageous and fearless mar. He urged that the pending bill be considered in an atmosphere of good-fellowship and brotherhood, and in a calm, friendly and dispassionate manner. He particularly emphasized the fact that there is nothing of sectional importance about his bill. It simply implimentş our democracy to protect minorities a g a i n s t mob law wherever it may break out, he said.

Also, he called attention to the fact that the Nation is now warring on crime and that "the only gap is a lack of an "Anti-Lynching Statute.'

"Pass this Bill," he said "and lynching, the crime against democracy and tolerance will be gone with the wind."

Unhappily, the debate did not proceed in the atmosphere challenged by Mr. Kennedy. Sectionalism and bitter recriminatory and racial antagonisms entered it. Tempers were frayed. Sectional emotionalism was to the forefront in many of the s p e e c h e s made.

It remained for Congressman Arthur W. Mitchell, Democrat, the o n l y colored member of Congress, to hotly charge the Republican Party with "trying to buy back the colored vote" in supporting the p e n d i n g Anti-Lynching Bill. Equally hot resentment followed this statement by several Republicans, including Representative Hamilton Fish of New York, and Representative McDowell, Republican of Pennsylvania. The latter accused Mr. Mitchell of trying to alienate the Republicans from the bill's support, and asserted that 98 per cent of his P a r t y colleagues would vote for it.

Congressman Mitchell's speech was assertedly in support of the Bill. His political charges brought i n t o the discussion, however, tangents calculated to wreck it, by alienating Republican support.

Republican Congressman Robsion of Kentucky pointed out that: "It is not a matter of votes for me. I have practically no colored people in my district. In one county in my district, there has not lived a colored person for forty years. It is not a question of politics, I want to say to the distinguished Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary. We can entertain honest convictions on legislation as well as the gentlemen who oppose this legislation. I am honestly in favor of it and have been through the years . . .

"I believe this measure is constitutional and that we ought to wipe out forever this dark blot on our country, because America is the worst sinner of any country in the world for murdering people by mob violence. There is no excuse for it. This law will stop it. I think it is constitutional, and I just as earnestly support it as my distinguished friend from T e x a s (Mr. Summers) opposes it."

Congressman James Seccombe, Republican of Ohio, stated that he intended to vote for the Bill as a matter of principle with the feeling that it is absolutely constitutional and not a matter of trying to buy anyone's vote as stated by Congressman Mitchell. He also said that this is not a racial question. He quoted Congressman Mitchell's letter to Joseph Parvis of 2600 Calumet avenue, Chicago, s a y i n g that he could not take up the matter of securing a job for him with the W o r k Projects Administration unless he first had a letter from his Ward-Committeeman.

"I think this is a question of principle, and I think this betrays his sincerity in trying to claim who is Santa Claus and who is not," Congressman Seccombe said. "I have the highest regard for the colored race, and it is on that principle that I intend to vote for this bill. But if a n y o n e ever talked against a just bill in behalf of the colored people, then certainly the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Mitchell) did this afternoon. I think he should have some explaining to do to the white people as well as the colored people in his district, and to the people of this Nation, as to the contents of this letter, where he plays politics with the necessities and privileges of his constituents."

The question naturally arises: Are Congressman Gavagan, Senator Wagner, Senator Van Nuys, and the 104 Democrats who supported the Bill, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, an organization most favorable to the New Deal, "trying to buy Negro votes" for the Democratic P a r t y as he charges the 149 Republicans are seeking to do for their Party?

Congressman Hamilton Fish of New York, summed up the Republican attitude when he said: "I wish to reiterate for the sake of the record that I do not believe the colored vote is for sale on this Federal Anti-Lynching Bill or any other legislation and I do not want any such implication to be carried in the Congressional R e c o r d, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Mitchell) to the contrary notwithstanding. It is an unjust and unfair reflection on the colored people of America. We on this side are voting for this legislation because we believe it is right and constitutional and as the leader of this side in the fight, I want every Republican who does not believe this bill is constitutional, to vote against it. I am absolutely convinced and I have been for 20 years of the constitutionality of this type of legislation, the need for it and the right of the Negro people to have it. That is why we are going to fight for this Federal Anti-Lynching Bill now and in the years to come until it is enacted into law as long as t h e r e is one lynching in the United States of America."

The final vote on the measure was taken Wednesday, January 10. The Bill passed, 252 to 131. A tabulation shows 140 Republicans, 109 Democrats, 1 American Laborite and 2 Progressives voted for the Bill, while 123 Democrats and only 8 Republicans opposed it.

"GWTW" VIEWS

"Gone With the Wind", the controversial film made from Margaret Mitchell's best seller, has caused to be expressed in the Negro press two opposite views; views of such importance that they should not be overlooked.

We have yet to see "GWTW" but, until we do we rather like the editorial analysis of The Washington (D. C.) Tribune. We quote:

"The motion picture 'Gone With the Wind', seems to have created a furore in some circles, though corresponding denunciation of the best seller of the same title is not recorded.

"The Daily Worker writes of the Atlantic premiere:

"'The local landlord gentry welcomed the movies with the 'Rebel yell'. . . . They (the Negro people) were treated at the movie publicity party with the same contempt and jim-crow enslavement as Miss Mitchell treats them in her book.'

"As to the rebel yell—what else was to be expected? Whenever Southern Congressmen or Senators desire, the halls of the Capitol of the nation the South would have destroyed, echo the same yell. As long as Northerners bear that without protest, why complain of the native poor whites in the heart of the Southland?

"Miss Mitchell, in her choice of plot, followed a best-seller trend of recent years. Witness 'Scarlett Sister Mary' and 'Tobacco Road'. There have been others. Vivid reminders of slave ancestry, the theme may be distasteful to Negroes. But art is more largely a matter of expression than of selection of subject. If the artist deals faithfully with facts, there is slight basis for valid objection.

"The Negro is so often held up to ridicule and made the butt of belittling jokes that some have doubtless developed a supersensitiveness. This may be the case with certain critics of the movie based on the Mitchell novel.

"It was certainly the case when local leaders among Washington Jews protested the presentation by high school dramatic clubs of Shakespeare's 'Merchant of Venice', and subsequently caused Shylock to be barred from local high school stages.

"Such extreme reaction indicates nothing more truly than a consciousness of inferiority.

"Neither movie nor novel can alter the deeds of past generations. Denunciation is futile.

"Let us profitably use our energy to influence the future and bring about the betterment of the race."

LEGION SIDELIGHTS

Now that Hollywood Legion Stadium officials have voluntarily offered to use Negro boxers on future cards comes the desire of all parties concerned that no "victory display" accompany their appearance on said cards. It is the opinion of this pillar that there will be none . . . State Athletic Commission secretary Genshlea bears a striking resemblance to President Roosevelt . . . To Attorneys Hugh E. and Gobert MacBeth, counsel and associate counsel for the protestants in the matter of discrimination charges against Hollywood Legion go the merited plaudits of the masses for aiding the cause of Americanism . . . To Hollywood Legion officials likewise goes the favor of all peoples interested in seeing that this country live up to its declaration of the rights of all citizens to freedom under the law . . . The amicable settlement was a feather in the collective cap of the State Athletic commission for the democratic way in which the "hot potato" was disposed of . . . To Dan Shaw and Harry Levette the decision for inclusion of Negro boxers must have been a thrill of a lifetime, both having been on the firing line against the policy since its inception 16 years ago . . .

PROPOSED SOJOURNER TRUTH HOME TO SUPPLY HOUSING NEEDS

To be enlarged at the cost of $10,000 appeals to the general public for financial aid, as the Community Chest does not contribute to a Building Fund, but assists in its maintenance.

In all ages there have been dreamers, Sojourner Truth, for the freedom of her Race, Frederick Douglas, the abolitionist, Booker T. Washington, argicultural freedom, and Paul Williams, architect.

The women of the Sojourner Truth Club dreamed, and in their dream they saw the need of housing Negro girls, and women, before there were a Social Agency, or an Community Chest,(and pioneered by buying a lot, and erecting a home to consernate that dream.

This was to be an haven for many a lonely, tired, and weary girl and often we did not have rooms but prepared beds in the Library, and Granada that they could be sheltered, and protected, and have social contact with others.

They could have the privilege of the library, laundry, cooking, and entertain their friends.

Our building does not meet our present need, and growing population. The Community Chest has consented for a Building Drive, and our success depends on our loyal friends, and supporters.

We hope to have many duplications of the S. P. and Santa Fe Red Cap Union which contributed $100.00 towards our Building Fund through Mrs. Exie Bontee.

A larger Sojourner Truth Building is a matter in which we as a Race stand, or fall, together. Oneness of mind and purpose is what we are asking in this Drive. Give, give, give, it will return in a thousand folds. We have "faith".

269 Children Treated for Social Diseases During Year

Two hundred and sixty-nine babies, children and young girls, many of them innocent victims of social diseases, received hospitalization and treatment at the Ruth Home during the last year, according to the report just made public by its president, A. S. Van Denbergh.

The Home, located in El Monte, is a Community Chest agency, and received $12,563.74 from this source last year. It is the only organization in Southern California specializing in treatment for children and girls from babyhood to 21 years of age.

Among the children cared for during the year were 41 babies, 133 children between 1 and 12 years of age, and 95 girls over 12. A total of 34,722 treatments were given.

NO PREJUDICE

In common with all Chest agencies, no distinction is made as to race or creed, and only the definitely feeble-minded and girls known to have repeated delinquency records are refused admittance. Patients are referred to the Home from Juvenile court, health departments, county and private hospitals, social agencies and private physicians and individuals throughout Southern California. In addition to hospitalization, the Home conducts regular study and rehabilitation programs for its patients.

During the last 15 years, reports show, no baby has been born blind at the Home, which during that time gave service in more than 504 maternity cases.

Coincident with the curative work done by the Home, its membership has been largely instrumental in securing legislation looking to the eradication of social disease in California. Included in this is the marriage law which recently went into effect requiring parties to the marriage contract to pass physical tests before the issuance of a license, and also the law requiring Wasserman tests of all expectant mothers. It is believed by authorities that this legislation will do much to stamp out venereal infections in the community. California has an estimated death rate of 12,000 persons per year from the effects of syphilis.

Robeson, Marian Anderson Discs to Be Heard Sunday

The music stores are reporting a great run on the records of Paul Robeson since he made the national radio program "The Pursuit of Happiness" a stampede—as Time magazine put it. Earl Robinson's "Ballad for Americans," which Paul Robeson sang over the CBS national hook-up twice, will soon be the central attraction in a forthcoming Broadway production, it is reported.

Similarly, since Eleanor Roosevelt protested discrimination by the Washington, D. C., Daughters of the American Revolution against Marian Anderson, the stock of the latter has risen sharply.

Los Angeles will be interested, therefore, to learn that a two-hour concert by these two greatest American voices will be held Sunday afternoon at the First Unitarian church, 2936 W. 8th street at three o'clock. Featured on this program of the outstanding recordings of Robeson and Anderson are: "Killing Song" and "Congo Lullaby;" "Steal Away;" "Dere's a Man Goin' Roun' Takin' Names;" "Dere's No Hidin' Place Down Dere;" a number of Gershwin's unforgettable songs from "Porgy and Bess" including the "Lullaby" and "Ah Still Suits Me;" a Finnish Folk Song. Of course Robeson sings the "St. Louis Blues" and "Ol' Man River" and Marian Anderson does "Deep River."

Sponsors are the Committee for Defense of Civil Rights—for whose benefit the program is being given. A popular price of 25 cents will be charged. As a special treat, a broadcast transcription of the historic "Ballad for Americans" will be given.

"Just a word of thanks for one of your conductors. One day last week I had been shopping and was heavily laden with packages. . . . Due to traffic I was unable to get to the car zone. Interracial YMCA Plan Is Underway in San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 25—All races unite in Logan Heights community to foster a YMCA for the boys of this particular district. A number of public spirited citizens of various racial groups under the leadership of Dr. J. J. Kimbrough have moved along in a very unique way accomplishing much. This group, namely W. N. Ross, Rev. L. M. McCoy, Rev. C. H. Hampton, James P. Tate, Rev. Shuman, Rev. Rodriquez, B. Ritchie, T. Brinson, J. N. Doria, E. Wentworth and Rev. J. L. Branham.

These aforementioned names are men who served under the former chairman, W. N. Ross, who has worked untiringly in pushing this project forward. Since the selection of Dr. J. J. Kimbrough as the chairman of of the Board of Management, remarkable strides have been made in plans for a gigantic mass meeting to be held at the Logan School Auditorium in order to promote interests and finance in this sorely needed institution for all groups. Plans are being made to accomodate a capacity crowd; for from all indications there is a great deal of enthusiasm manifested by the community for the development of this project.

In view of the national racial prejudices and misunderstanding that have been exemplified by various groups during this present crisis through which the world is passing, San Diego takes pride in establishing cooperation and goodwill among all groups. This is a great step forward in interracial cooperation and goodwill. Other San Diego communities are watching with great interest the result of such a movement.

ONE OF the most vital forces operating in defense of American civil liberties today is the Negro newspaper. This fact is being given increasingly significant recognition by the nation's leading thinkers and by government officials. There is a fine young Negro in Washington, D. C., whose sole duty is to compile a daily resume of editorial opinions in Negro newspapers for the president of the United States.

This twentieth century eminence, however, was little suspected when the first colored journals were published more than a hundred years ago in this country. The story of the birth of Negro newspapers is one of the most important in our national journalistic history.

From the year 1827 to 1859 there were nearly thirty anti-slavery papers published by Negroes. The first came out of New York City; it was the historic "Freedom's Journal".

As we look back upon this vital, courageous period in the saga of the black press, it is easy for us to select from all these sheets the most outstanding: without a doubt, the most important of them all was Frederick Douglas' "North Star", published in Rochester, New York.

Douglas' life story is one of the epic tales of America. He was born a slave in Maryland. Leader of two escape trys before his twenty-first birthday, Douglas finally managed a successful break for freedom through the aid of the Underground Railroad. He arrived in New York a large, penniless Negro lad with little or no prospects for a "future". Underground Railroad friends shipped him off to New Bedford, Mass., where he became a carpenter and ship builder. Soon young Douglas was taking part in abolition meetings throughout New England, establishing for himself a reputation as an orator. Before many years had passed, Frederick Douglas was one of the striking figures of the anti-slavery movement; a companion of William Lloyd Garrison and James Russell Lowell.

Despite the greatness of his oratorical powers, Douglas soon realized that a more penetrating medium was needed to prick America's conscience. So, in Rochester, New York, "The North Star" was born--a newspaper that carried forward the abolition battle until the day of victory was gained and four million enslaved Americans liberated.

Although these pioneer Negro newspapers fought valiantly in the name of humanity, judged on the standards of today, they were journalistic flops. According to modern values, the prime function of a newspaper is the impartial and complete covering of the news. In this department, the anti-slavery newspaper was particularly inferior. Their sole inspiration and purpose was to bring an editorial message to their readers. In so doing, these sheets hastened the end of an institution that never had a bona fide place in American life; and, but for one vote, would have been eliminated in the original U. S. constitution!

Because their entire existence depended upon the abolition fight, most of these early Negro newspapers died soon after the Emancipation Proclamation--folded ther tents and faded away into the night. Most colored editors believed that the job was finished, victory gained, Judgement Day at hand. So bitter and concentrated had become the anti-slavery campaign, that many leaders believed physical freedom to be the ultimate triumph.

Of course, nothing could have been further from the truth. At no time in the Afro-American's history was an active press more seriously needed than during the Reconstruction era. Imagine the condition: four million illiterate slaves were thrust into freedom, given full citizenship rights--almost complete political domination in the South. Totally unprepared for such responsibility, the black legislatures of the Reconstruction period plunged the nation into chaos. So the vote was snatched away from the colored southerner, and he was made victim of vicious economic persecution, if anything, worse than slavery itself.

The steadying effect of an intelligent black press might have worked miracles in preventing this sad turn of affairs. However, Negro papers deluded themselves that the task was done and thereby lost their greatest opportunity for service.

Since that time, however, a new Negro journal has been born. Today, colored papers not only print significant editorial views, but also bring to the public world-wide news coverage.

But, we have our problems now as in yesteryear. Anti-slavery papers were bound together in a great, common fight. There was little competitive spirit and

CONTEST WINNER WHO RESEMBLED LINCOLN FOUND TO BE NEGRO

Negro Attorney Kept from Appearing on Stage of Theatre in Connection With Film

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 1. (Exclusive)—While Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, senators, representatives, cabinet members and society leaders waited spellbound, a catastrophe was narrowly averted at the Jim Crow Washington premiere of "Abe Lincoln in Illinois", as a last minute discovery revealed that the Great Emancipator is a Negro.

Or, at least, the man chosen to represent him at the ceremony, victor in the Washington Daily News contest to find a person in the city who most resembled Lincoln during the Illinois period, was revealed a colored attorney, Thomas P. Bomar, 136 S street, N. W.

The city buzzed with excitement for days before the final selection was made. Bomar, the successful candidate, was scheduled to appear at the opening, receive his prize check from the stage, his wife with him to represent Mary Todd; and, for a time, it was planned that he speak on the premiere broadcast.

Bomar submitted his photograph to the newspaper along with his correct address. There was no attempt on his part to falsify any facts.

Another regrettable circumstance to mar the opening for harrassed theater executives was the determined picket line thrown around the picture palace by white and colored protesters of the show's "exclude Negroes" policy. Signs borne by the pickets cried shame that the very people Lincoln liberated are not permitted to see a picture dedicated to his memory.

Mrs. Roosevelt and high-ranking government officials, however, crossed the picket lines.

Bomar's appearance on the theater stage was not halted until the last minute, when the discovery of his racial identity was made. The attorney had visited newspaper and theater officials the day before at the Carlton hotel and spoke with them personally. He was considered an ideal selection. Flabbergasted and speechless, the executives refused comment to newshounds after the revelation.

Somehow, we suspect Lincoln would have loved that.

THOMAS P. BOMAR, prominent attorney of Washington, D. C., who won the Washington Daily News contest to find the D. C. citizen most resembling the Great Emancipator during the Illinois period. Scheduled to be presented with prize money from the stage of the Jim Crow RKO-Keith before state officials and society leaders, including Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Bomar was "hushed up" at the last minute when theater executives discovered he was a Negro. The singular news gem was missed by national services when they reported the First Lady's crossing of a picket line to attend the fashionable opening of "Abe Lincoln In Illinois." Civil liberties groups picketed in protest of the theater's "exclude Negroes" policy.

Texas Raises Funds to Send Witnesses to Mob Hearings

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—An active campaign to raise funds to send witnesses to Washington to testify at the forthcoming hearings on the anti-lynching bill is being carried on by branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Texas, the home state of Vice President Garner, Senator Tom Connally, and Representative Martin Dies, the Association announced here today.

Among the witnesses will be a distinguished white churchman, who will tell the dramatic story of his attempt to prevent a double lynching in a southern state, the NAACP announcement said.

OPPOSE CONNALY

"These witnesses," the statement continued, "will answer the oft-repeated assertions by individuals and some groups in the South that statistics 'prove' that lynching is dead and therefore there is no need to have a federal anti-lynching bill, because the states have succeeded in checking this crime. The NAACP witnesses are able to withstand the reported vigorous barrage that Senator Connally will put in motion when the hearings begin, and the statements of witnesses that he will bring to testify."

No names of witnesses who will appear for the NAACP will be announced until the hearings begin, Association officials said, in order to prevent any efforts that might be made by enemies to anticipate their testimony.

The NAACP reiterated its call for authentic information, including signed affidavits, records and newspaper clippings on lynchings, near lynchings, and other activities growing out of this type of mob violence. The information should be sent to the organization, 69 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Aliiance of WPA Workers Withdraws Support to FDR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (CNA)—Following a meeting of its National Executive Board this week, the Workers Alliance of America served notice that it will have to reconsider its 1938 resolution approving a third term for President Roosevelt.

The impending break was interpreted as the organization's answer to the huge slash in funds for WPA and other social services proposed by the President in his budget message. The Alliance is composed of WPA workers.

The Alliance declared that the President's relief policies imperil the welfare of the country's Negro and white needy, and that "instead of marching ahead to a solution of our pressing problems," the administration is "giving ground on all fronts to the demands of reaction."

BROKE FAITH

Asserting they can no longer place confidence in the New Deal which founded the WPA, leaders of the organization said they will seek an alliance with progressive forces aimed at creation of a third major party "which shall really represent the progressive section of the American people."

Pending this development ,the jobless body made public a work-relief bill which, it declared, must replace the present set-up.

As outlined the measure calls for 3,000,000 WPA jobs, federal grants to persons for whom neither public or private employment is available, elimination of relief tests, establishment of prevailing rates of pay, and a seventy dollar monthly wage average for the entire country. It provides for differentials between sections in accordance with differences in the cost of living. Efforts will be made to introduce the bill in this session of Congress.

Congress Told of Dies' Link to 'Christian Front'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (CNA)—Representative Frank Hook, Rep. Mich., announced this week that he had "documentary evidence" which shows close fraternization between Representative Dies and the Christian Front, alleged anti-Negro, anti-Semitic organization.

Seventeen members of the Christian Front organization were arrested in New York a few weeks ago by FBI agents on charges of plotting to assassinate 12 Congressmen, blow up a number of public and private buildings, spread a virtual reign of terror and seize the government.

Representative Hook hurled the accusation as the House was preparing to argue over continuation of the Dies Committee.

"My evidence shows that Dies has been working hand-in-glove with the Christian Front which I consider a threat to our democracy," Hook stated.

The Michigan Congressman added that he will also call for a report of the Department of Justice in which "they learned of the operation of Dies in the

WAGE LEGAL BATTLE OVER WILL AS NURSE, BOOTBLACK LEFT SUM

Descendants of Spinster's Half Brother, Three Half Sisters Dispute Document

$1,000 to a Negro bootblack; $10,000 to a Negro nurse.

Thus, over the will of quaint little Abigail Stark, 80-year old spinster who lived her years in victorious defiance to the growth of a great city, there was waged an involved legal battle this week.

The elderly woman died last November, leaving an estate of more than $60,000, divided between her doctor, her business agent, and a strange assortment of friends. Miss Stark lived the life of a country spinster, in the shadow of giant downtown buildings at her decrepit residence at 723 S. Flower street.

Nineteen persons, claiming to be nephews, nieces, grandnephews and grandnieces of the old lady, disputed the will Monday.

The 19, their contest sets forth, are descendants of Miss Stark's half brother and three half sisters, children of her father by a first marriage in Kentucky.

The protesters assert that Miss Stark was incompetent when the will was executed, and that it had been prepared by the beneficiaries.

Beneficiaries include Charlie Williams, Negro bootblack, $1000; Mrs. Daisy Carter, Negro nurse and a friend of 20 years standing, $10,000; Sam Smith, who still operates a key making business on the front porch of the ancient house.

To each of two other friends, Edward Inch, employed in a neighboring store, and A. J. Clark, manager of a bank where she kept her funds, she also left $10,000.

Glendale property that she owned was left to Mrs. Jane Green, its present occupant.

Remainder of the estate was left to her physician, Dr. Roland Cummings. The "remainder" included the Flower street property, for which Miss Stark had refused as much as $8000 per front foot.

In the overwhelmingly commercial neighborhood, Miss Stark upheld an illusion that she lived in the Los Angeles of fifty years ago. To many of the people to whom she had been a neighbor for decades, she is yet unknown.

The little house, a dull, tired green, stands a deserted symbol of the revolt of one little woman against the onslaughts of time. Flanked by the imperious Barker Bros. Department store, faced by another great commercial house, the tiny building appears to be a quiet country home lost and bewildered in the great city.

The bare furnishings of the house attest to the simplicity with which the elderly spinster lived. The electric lights, one of her few concessions to the Machine Age, are suspended from the high ceiling by ungainly cords. Not more than twenty feet from the center of Miss Starks' unpretentious living room, ten thousand people work daily in a tremendous merchandising house; yet there remains an aura about the lost little house of jolly years, long since dead and buried.

Tomorrow, perhaps, a commercial city will envelop the ancient wooden structure, and the last symbol of a gallant defiance will be gone forever.

Woman Medic Attacks Race in Article on Social Disease

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—A vigorous protest against an unsupported statement in a so-called scientific article that the black race is guilty of "presumably greater promiscuity" and that therefore Negroes are "more susceptible" to gonorrhea was sent this week to the New York Tuberculosis and Health Association, Inc. by the NAACP.

The statement characterized by the NAACP as 'vicious slander against a whole race," appeared in the January bulletin of the Social Hygiene Committee of the health association and was under the signature of Dr. Emily Dunning Barringer, white. The article is entitled "Gonorrhea in the Female" and the sentence about Negroes reads:

"Some races are apparently more susceptible as for instance the Negroes, but the reason for this may largely be due to the presumably greater promiscuity of the black race."

CHALLENGES DOCTOR

The NAACP letter asked if Dr. Barringer is prepared to prove that Negroes are more promiscuous than other races and challenged sharply her right to include a mere presumption in a supposedly scientific article which brands a whole race.

"The principle damage of the statement lies in its effect upon the earning of a livelihood by colored people. This association knows of no study, made on an unbiased scientific basis, which shows Negroes to be more promiscuous than other races.

Frank Kiernan, director of the health association has acknowledged the protest, stating that it would be taken up with the Social Hygiene Committee.

Dr. Louis T. Wright Receives 1939 Spingarn Medal Award

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—Dr. Louis T. Wright, long an outstanding figure in medical and civil rights fields was selected as the 25th recipient of the Spingarn gold medal award at a meeting of the award committee held in New York, Jan. 13, it was announced today by the NAACP.

The committee issued the following statement in connection with awarding the medal:

"LOUIS T. WRIGHT—Spingarn Medalist, for his contributions to the healing of mankind and for his courageous and uncompromising position held often in the face of bitter attack, that Negro men of medicine should measure up to the most absolute standards of technical excellence and, as a corollary, that having done so, Negro medical men and nurses should be accorded every opportunity to serve, without discrimination on account of race or color. He has been a consistent and persistent foe of every form of segregation and denial of opportunity and has played a major part in the establishment of a yardstick of medical proficiency which has done much to change the attitude of both the white and Negro medical world and of the public at large.

"But Dr. Wright has not confined his efforts to important crusades for principle. He has made distinguished contributions to medical and surgical development. He was chosen as an outstanding authority to write the section on skull fractures in "The Standard Treatment of Fractures" edited by Dr. Charles L. Scudder. In that contribution Dr. Wright broke new ground and successfully challenged and disproved the soundness of previously held theories on the treatment of skull fractures.

"In his original work in the development of more effective treatment of the hookworm, on more successful methods of vaccination, and in other fields, he has pushed forward the frontiers of medical development. His distinguished work as a surgeon led to the color line being broken in the American College of Surgeons thru his election as a Fellow in 1934. During his service as Surgical Director at Harlem Hospital in New York City he greatly improved standards and lowered the mortality rate.

"As an officer in the United States Army during the World War his was one of the outstanding careers.

"Scientist, public servant, indefatigable and uncompromising fighter for complete justice and democracy in all avenues of life as well as in the field of medicine, Dr. Wright is a distinguished citizen of America by any standards and without regard to race, creed, or color."

Members of the award committee are: Robert A. Pelham, publisher of the Washington, D. C. Tribune; Mrs. George Backer, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, A. Philip Randolph, president of the

Dies Condones 'Un-American' Activity in His Own Home Town, Newsman Says

BALTIMORE, Feb. 1—Congressman Martin Dies is guilty of condoning "un-American" activity in his own home town, accused Ralph Matthews, Baltimore journalist, this week.

Writing in the Baltimore Afro-American. which sent him to Dies' home, Orange, Texas, to investigate the investigator, Matthews brought back pictures showing unpaved streets in the Negro sections of Orange, idle laborers, whom he contended were ill paid and seldom hired.

"I wanted to know what sort of job Martin Dies had done in creating an Utopia in his small experimental laboratory at home before setting out to save the nation," Matthews wrote. He called the Congressman, who was recently reassigned to continue his un-American investigations, "the No. 1 defender of the Ship of State."

Intimidation of voters and discrimination in relief roles were also charged against Orange.

The present plant represents an investment of over $3,000,000 with a student enrollment of over 1200, the second largest college for Negroes in America.

STUDY CLUB TO PROBE ALLEGED JIM CROW AT OLIVE VIEW SANITARIUM

State Council of Women's Political Study

Reported discrimination in the employment of nurses at Olive View Tubercular sanitarium will be investigated by the Women's Political Study Club, the organization announced today.

The case of Mrs. Lois Asbury, graduate nurse, who was told that Olive View "didn't take Negro nurses" when she applied for employment there after passing required examinations, was studied by the State council of the WPSC in session at the 28th street branch YWCA last Thursday. Mrs. Betty Hill, executive secretary of the Club, ordered the investigation.

Plans for the 11th annual convention of WPSC, Oct. 24-26 in Los Angeles, were laid at the state board meeting, held just before the state council session, with Mrs. Beatrice Mason, president, presiding. Plans were also made for the opening of the Study club campaign headquarters, financed by the units. The units also paid their dues to the National Federation of Republican Women in Washington.

IRE AROUSED

The ire of the assembled ladies was incurred by a report stating that Republican County Central committees in the congressional districts were not notified as to the election of delegates.

"All eyes are looking toward the National convention," a spokesman for the group stated.

Guests speakers at the Thursday session included Councilman Briggs from the fifth district, who spoke on Slum Clearance. Jules Kievits, representative of State Relief in L. A. County, explained the Co-operative system. Rev. Rutledge of Riverside was an interested visitor and spoke commendably of the organization.

Adequate street lighting has been ordered for Furlong Tract, the council was informed by Mrs. Harriet Harrison, president of Elzora Gibson unit, who was in receipt of a letter from Councilman Evan Lewis, assuring, the improvement.

The council also received a report on the addition of 200 young people to the WPSC ranks. Four junior leagues of voting age have been organized and one auxiliary between the ages of 16 and 21.

Reports were received on the summoning of various women for jury service, particularly Mrs. Eva Burton of Pasadena, who is serving in the Pasadena Superior Court.

The meeting adjourned offering commendation to First district Supervisor Gordon McDonough for the stand recently taken by him in regards to relief to the aged without property liens.

almost no division. Today we find that colored papers often battle one another with more vigor than they center in the important fight for general racial progress. his condition has been very skillfully encouraged by certain members of the white group. They have recognized the vast power of a press that is the voice of thirteen million potential voters. If it were possible to bring about a united front of Negro newspapers, there would be no more powerful editorial force in the nation. So, in order to stave off such a momentous development, shrewd politicians have managed to keep the black press divided during the past several decades. The Republican Negro paper has become the deadly enemy of the Democratic sheet--the mutual enmity thus inspired prevents any worthwhile cooperation between two such publications.

We of the Negro press must learn to differ without division, to disagree without anger.

The real service that colored papers must render is equally important to Negroes, as a part, and the nation, as a whole. Colored dpublicatoins fight racial discrimination. This sentence sums up as well as any their fundamental reason for existence. In other words, black papers fight for civil liberties--to be shared equally by all Americans.

There is no more patriotic duty than the defense of civil liberties. In an age which seemingly has forgotten principles of democracy and freedom, it is doubly important that America purify itself. For, if this is a false democracy, if the promises of "equal protection under the law" in our constitution, are so much lip-service, the nation is lost.

Prejudice and racial antagonisms are luxuries which America cannot afford at this time. The President pleads for "unity within the nation"; there can be no such unity if one part of America hates and exploits another part. More than ever before, citizens of the United States must remember that intolerance is the greatest treason against this nation. Every thought of racial superiority or class distinction harbored by American citizens is a blot upon the national morale. It is not very consistent for us to deplore conditions in Germany while between here and there, we find the great southland of the United States, where eight million constitutionally guaranteed voters are denied the franchise.

Hatred against any fellow American is the worst enemy of our national civilization. The defense of civil liberties is a vital means of fighting such unwanted hatreds in the United States.

Hence, a black press dedicated to civil liberties is an important national safeguard. Unfortunately, though, it is still a business that must show a reasonable profit in order to exist. Colored citizens often fail to support their own publications.

Then, too, the problem of the white advertiser. Often, white businessmen are more willing to contribute to some colored church than they are to do business with a legitimate newspaper. National surveys have proved over and again the tremendous "pulling power" of colored papers as advertising media.

Also, Negro shoppers would do well to "boost" ther racial publications more consistently; for, in so doing, they help themselves, the race, and the nation.

One of the most heartening of recent developments in the black press is the proposed National Negro Press Association which is developing with headquarters in Chicago. A national organization of colored publishers could weild immense influence upon all phases of interracial life. Such a body might finally teach us to DIFFER WITHOUT DIVISION.

Among the sponsors are Prof. W. E. B. DuBois of Atlanta University, T. Arnold Hill of the National Urban League, Prof. Abram L. Harris of Howard University, A. LaGuardia of New York City, Carrie Chapman Catt, Theodore Dreiser, David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union, President Frank P. SURVEY REVEALS ONLY ONE NEW YORK DAILY HIRES NEGRO WRITERS

Daily Worker Employs Four; No Other Daily Has Negro on Editorial Staff

NEW YORK, Feb. 1. (CNA)—A survey conducted by the Crusader News Agency on employment of Negro writers by New York dailies brought out the fact that there are four Negro workers on the staff of the Communist paper, the Daily Worker. The survey revealed, further that not one of the metropolitan dailies has a Negro on its editorial staff.

The four Negroes on the Daily Worker's staff are: Ben Davis, Jr., Angelo Herndon, Spencer Raukx, all three in the editorial department, and Melvina Sumners, an office worker employed in the Accounts Receivable Department of the business office.

Ted Poston, whose by-line appears occasionally over news stories in the New York Evening Post, does space work for that paper, on occasional special assignments in Harlem, the editor of the Post told the CNA in response to a telephone inquiry. Poston does not get a regular salary, and is not recognized as a staff member of the Post, but is paid on the basis of such news stories of his that are used by the paper.

The white press first took notice of the presence of Davis on the staff of the Daily Worker when that paper dropped Howard Rushmore, a white movie critic, for his review of "Gone With the Wind."

It was Davis who had found his review of the film unacceptable and had ordered him to rewrite it. Rushmore refused and was fired.

SON OF A REPUBLICAN

Davis is an associate editor of the Daily Worker, a leading member of its editorial board, and vice president of the Daily Publishing Co., Inc., publishers of the paper.

Davis is 36-years old. He was born in Dawson, Ga., and lived most of his life in Atlanta, Ga., before coming to New York. He is a graduate of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., Amherst College, Amherst, Mass., and Harvard Law School. As an attorney in Atlanta he conducted the successful defense of Angelo Herndon, against an indictment on charges of violating an ancient Georgia slave statute aimed against slave insurrections. Davis also played a prominent part in the preparation of the defense of the Scottsboro Boys. He has been on the Daily Worker since 1936.

His father was for many years a leading Republican politician in Atlanta, Ga., and publisher and editor of The Atlanta Independent. He was a member of the Republican National Committee until eliminated by the Coolidge Administration.

Spencer Raukx has been in charge of the morgue of the Daily Worker since 1936. Miss Sumners has been with the paper for about the same period.

Angelo Herndon, who is known for his famous Atlanta trial, joined the Daily Worker staff early last year. He is the author of the book, "Let Me Live," an autobiography.

Tuskegee Celebrates FDR's Birthday With Two Balls

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Feb. 1.—Tuskegee Institute celebrated the birthday of President Roosevelt with two gala balls Tuesday.

Mrs. T. M. Campbell, president of the Community Hospital Aid Society of the John A. Andrew Memorial Hospital stated that the sale of local tickets for the ball was most gratifying. Many people, she said, who had not planned to attend had purchased tickets to swell the fund for the infantile paralysis sufferers and as an expression on their interest in Tuskegee's part in the national program.

Stimulus has been given to the interest in the 1940 ball by the recent ground breaking ceremony for the erection on the campus of Tuskegee Institute of an infantile paralysis center through a grant of $161,365 from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The Tuskegee Institute Center, similar to the Warm Springs Unit in appointments and directed by Dr. John W. Chenault, not only will afford the latest methods of treatment to polio sufferers of all ages, but will be a training center for Negro doctors and nurses who wish to become proficient in the special techniques required for the treatment of this dreaded disease.

SAFEWAY CO-OPERATES -WITH U.S. GOVERNMENT FOOD STAMP PLAN TO MARKET SURPLUS FARM PRODUCTS

BLUE STAMP VALUES

ON FEBRUARY 1st, the new Federal Government Food Stamp plan to market surplus farm commodities went into effect in Los Angeles County. The stamp plan has been inaugurated to give the farmer a greater return for his products, and to assure better nutritional balance of food to the families that are being provided with surplus foods by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation. It replaces, in Los Angeles County, the method by which the Government made purchases of surplus foods direct from the farmers and gave them direct to the needy from warehouse depots.

Since our stores have long taken an active part in moving surplus farm products (in our organization-wide Producer-Consumer Campaigns), it is only natural that Safeway should be ready and willing to co-operate with the new Government plan. For their designated purposes, the new stamps are like so much cash at all Safeway stores in Los Angeles County. Blue stamps are good for the purchase of all surplus foods listed by the Secretary of Agriculture. Orange stamps are good for the purchase of any food-stuffs consumed at home, and for cleaning and laundry materials (but not utensils). Food stamps buy exactly the same foods, and at the same prices as cash.

Everyone should be interested in this new stamp plan—whether he is eligible to buy food stamps or not. For it is smart and thrifty to watch for and buy the foods that are listed as surplus (blue stamp items). There are more of these foods available from farmers than normal buying has consumed—so they represent better values than usual. Buy these surplus foods and get more for your money whether you use food stamps or cash!

These surplus foods can be purchased with Blue Food-Order Stamps or with cash. Note the low prices at your Safeway.

BUTTER, PORK, DRIED PRUNES, FRESH ORANGES, RAISINS, WHEAT, FRESH PEARS, HOMINY GRITS, RICE, CORN MEAL, FRESH APPLES, DRY EDIBLE BEANS, PORK LARD, EGGS, FRESH GRAPEFRUIT, DRY ONIONS, FLOUR AND WHOLE WHEAT (GRAHAM) FLOUR

HOW THE PLAN OPERATES:

Public assistance households and W.P.A. workers of Los Angeles County have been provided by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation with identification cards. These cards must be shown when food stamps are purchased. Addresses given on the backs of the identification cards show where the eligible participants may purchase stamps.

FROM $4.00 TO $6.00 WORTH OF STAMPS MAY BE PURCHASED EACH MONTH FOR EACH MEMBER OF A PARTICIPANT'S FAMILY

For each member of his family, a participant may buy from four to six dollars worth of orange colored food-order stamps per month. With each dollar's worth of orange stamps purchased, the participant is given free, fifty cents worth of blue stamps. Therefore, he gets $1.50 worth of food stamps for every $1.00 spent.

ORANGE STAMPS ARE GOOD FOR ALL FOODS, BLUE STAMPS ARE GOOD FOR SURPLUS FOODS ONLY

Orange stamps are good for the purchase of any foods for home consumption, at participating food stores—whether the food be surplus or not. The blue stamps are only good for those foods that the Secretary of Agriculture has listed as surplus. The requirement that the orange stamps be purchased, insures that regular food purchases are maintained so that the food received free with the blue stamps will be in addition to, and not in place of regular purchases.

MANY FOODS ARE LISTED AS SURPLUS AT THE PRESENT TIME

Effective December 15, 1939, and until further notice thereafter, the list of surplus foods includes:

Butter, Raisins, Rice, Pork Lard, Pork*, Wheat, Corn Meal, Shell Eggs, Dried Prunes, Fresh Pears, Fresh Apples, Fresh Oranges, Fresh Grapefruit, Hominy Grits, Dry Edible Beans, Onions (except Green Onions), Flour and Whole Wheat (Graham) Flour.

* Pork shall include all cuts, fresh (including chilled or frozen), pickled, salted, cured or smoked, but not cooked or packed in metal or glass containers.

THOSE USING FOOD STAMPS GET THE SAME SERVICE, SAME FOODS AND SAME PRICES AT SAFEWAY AS PERSONS PAYING CASH

Absolutely no discrimination will be made at Safeway stores between cash purchases and purchases made with food stamps. Exactly the same high quality foods and the same low prices will be given to those who use food stamps. Naturally, there will be no difference made in the type of service—all will receive the best.

SAFEWAY STORES TO ISSUE CREDIT COUPONS TO TAKE THE PLACE OF CHANGE IN FOOD STAMP TRANSACTIONS . . .

Since retailers are forbidden by the Government to give change in cash where the exact amount of purchase does not come out "even" in stamps (all food stamps are 50c denomination), Safeway stores have had change coupons printed. These coupons can be used for future purchases in any Safeway store in Los Angeles County. They are of two kinds—one for change from orange stamps and one for change from blue stamps.

• BRIDGE POINTS

By M. L. MILLIGAN

The Culbertson system is the acme of scientific contract bridge. Many years will pass before a system can be devised that can equal, more less surpass its simplicity and scientific precision.

EXAMPLES

1. The rule of X-plus-one, 2 3, 4-5-6, and 8 run the gamut of bidding and distribution requirements to contract for a given number of tricks.

2. Tre rule of leads and the play of the hand. The rule of 11, blind leads Q92, echo's and reading pips—is perfection personified. In this field, his 4-5 no-trump convention and asking bids has no peers.

When one has mastered the above, no other system player can stand up under the rapid-fire barrage of their fast and accurate decisions. Natural'y, this means they know the basis of: bid, rebids, raises and takeout bids. Hence, bridgers "Beware the Ides of March" when playing against such a fortified system.

• PROPER MAKEUP

You are ready to apply your makeup.

This calls for two shades of powder, a lighter tone for the neck and a blended darker tone for the face.

Do not rub powder in. Put it on, beginning with the neck in an upward motion all over the face. Then with a clean sponge or brush, remove the excess powder.

It is important to select the correct shade of rouge, but it is even more important to know where and how to apply it.

Draw an imaginary line from the center of your eye downward with one hand. Draw a horizontal line from the bottom of your nose. Where the two lines meet is a starting point. Dab some rouge on and then rush it until it assumes a natural color.

If your face is elongated or oval, blend the rouge toward the ears. This will make the face seem rounder. Or if there is a hollow in your cheek, apply the rouge just above the hollow. A little rouge in the center, above of a long uppper lip will make it appear shorter.

Next is the eye shadow. In some cases use cold cream. Eye shadow is advisable for daytime as well as for evening. Eye shadow accentuates the size of the eyes and makes any unnatural darkness less noticeable. You are now ready for lipstick.

To form that perfect "Cupid's Bow," begin by applying the lip stick on the two natural points in the center of the upper lip, complete the bow on each side. Close your mouth and fill in the bottom lip very carefully. If your lips are too full, apply lipstick in the center of your lips and blend out lightly to the corners of your mouth. Never make your lower lip look as if it is pulling the lower down.

Use on arched brows the pencil or mascara brush. The proper brushing of mascara on the upper lids (only) gives an enlarged effect to the eyes.

A final touch to your makeup is a tiny bit of perfume to your ears and neck . . . NEVER your clothes.

P. S.: Don't forget your age lines, which are around the eyes, along the side of the nose and the neck. They should be treated with warm oil or cream. A new subject next week.

Murray's Dude Ranch Called Desert Playground for Youth

VICTORVILLE, Feb. 1—Last Sunday morning could have been called Young People's Day at Murray's Ranch were it not that the Ranch is already a young people's desert play ground almost the year 'round.

Early in the morning, several cars filled with youngsters, rolled into the ranch grounds dressed for whatever weather conditions they might encounter and found everything to their liking even to a spill off frisky little Miss Mable by one of the "Professional Bronco riders," who afterwards admitted that it was his first time ever on a horse. Members of the party were: Lillian Cornish, Bobbie Marie Lee Maxine Lee, Beverly Ann Wylie, Marcia J. Wylie, Winifred C. Wylie, Rosalie Johnson, Mavis Taylor, Conner White.

Other visitors during the day were Mae Ella Thomas, Beulah Baker, Frances Gordon, John Davis, Charles Harris, Vernon Gordon. Miss Ella Mae Thomas is visiting L. A. from Galveston, Texas and Frances Gordon is a resident of Riverside.

We were happy to have as guest at the ranch during the week, Mrs. Jaunita Henderson, her mother, Mrs. Owens and daughter, Clara Smith, with husband and baby Chris.

It was quite an exciting moment when on last Monday afternoon, a late model plane landed on Murray's Ranch and taxied almost up to the house and Jack R. Sickler of Valley Airport stepped out and greeted us. Gailey "Dad" Roberson of Shreveport, La., who has been staying at the Ranch for ceveral months, was first to be given a ride in the plane. Both Mr. and Mrs. Murray were taken up and given instructions in the art of flying which was quite thrilling.

The weather in the Desert this year has been great. No freeze.

Way "Build-Up" Helps Will Interest Women

The cause of a woman's periodic suffering from headache, irritability, cramp-like pain, may be functional dysmenorrhea due to a malnutrition, a condition that is often helped by CARDUI.

Principal way CARDUI helps is by stimulating appetite and the flow of gastric juices. Thus it may aid digestion; help build up a woman's strength, energy and nerve-force; so increase physical resistance to periodic discomfort.

It also helps reduce periodic distress for many who take it a few days before and during "the time." Your confidence in CARDUI is invited by its 50 years of popularity.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

These words of Paul to the Romans, "The love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us," constitute the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Love" on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist.

Among the Bible citations are these words about Jesus from John: "Now a certain man was sick, named Lazarus, of Bethany, . . . Therefore his sisters sent unto him, saying, Lord, behold, he whom thou lovest is sick. . . . Then when Jesus came, he found that he had lain in the grave four days already. . . . And some of them said, Could not this man, which opened the eyes of the blind, have caused that even this man should not have died? . . And Jesus lifted up his eyes, and said, Father, I thank thee that thou hast heard me. . . . And when he thus had spoken, he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth. And he that was dead came forth, bound hand and foot with grave-clothes: . . . Jesus saith unto them, Loose him, and let him go."

Passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the statements: "It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good." "It is indeed adequate to unclasp the hold and to destroy disease, sin, and death."

Rev. Owen Troy Reveals Gains in Membership

Community as well as church interest is running high in the special $500.00 improvement fund which the church is raising. Exterior and interior improvements promise to make the church a real material as well as spiritual asset to the district.

The books of the treasurer, Mrs. Edythe Morgan have been audited by the conference auditing department and have been declared accurate for the year ending 1939. The church owes nothing on its building, is free from mortgages.

Next Sabbath at the 11 o'clock preaching hour, the pastor will present as his theme: "The Quitter Who Came Back and Made Good."

Require First Aid Courses for Jobs in Private Homes

Moved by the appalling increase of deaths resulting from accidents in homes, Principal Edwin L. Martin of Jefferson Evening High school announced yesterday that all students seeking recommendations from the school as a means to employment in private homes will be required to take the school's course in the science of first aid.

"According to figures just published by leading insurance companies," Mr. Martin said "over half the deaths in the United States during the past year have been due to accidents in homes. In keeping with the spirit of public safety, we shall require all persons seeking our school's recommendation for employment as domestics to complete our course in first aid and life saving.

Statisticians pointed out", Mr. Martin said, "that a majority of the deaths from accidents in the home could have been prevented if someone present had known what to do for the injured person during those few critical minutes before the doctor arrived.

"It is of special importance to know first aid when one is employed in homes where there are children."

The course in first aid at the school, under the direction of Catherine Taylor, widely known life saving expert, is now accepting enrollment for the new semester which begins Monday at 6:30 p. m.

Negro Education Menaced, Emmett J. Scott Writes

BY EMMETT J. SCOTT

WASHINGTON, D.C. Feb. 1.—ndowed colleges and universit-s throughout the country are eeling tht disastrous effects of eclines in the earnings of Amer-can business and industry, due o the depression, punitive tax-tion, government competition, nd regulated activity under resent New Deal administration.

Three examples will be cited this article—rich and power-ul Columbia University in New ork City; progressive University f Chicago, and the famous Tus-egee Norman and Industrial In-itute, Alabama, founded by ooker T. Washington for the ducation of Negro youth.

The almost unbelievable story hich comes from each of them substantially the same.

The University of Chicago, for istance, cites this situation: The ontroller's report for 1938-1939 hows a total endowment balance $70,944,247.82 on June 30, 1939. he income from this endow-ent was $2,808,866 or 4 percent. The endowment income for 938-1939 was $728,601 less than an received in 1930-31, a peak ear. Significantly, this huge re-uction occurred in spite of a ET INCREASE in endowment rincipal of $11,014,349 in the me nine year period.

Explanation: This grave situ-ion results because of a decline the rate of return from 6.1 er cent in 1930-31 to 4 per cent 1938-39. The Controller com-ents:

"Since the variation of 1 per nt in the rate of return on the resent principal of endoment is qual to $709,442 in annual in-ome, the importance of a satis-ctory yield from endowment vestments in the operation of e university budget is rapidly pparent."

TRINGENT ECONOMIES EING ENFORCED

President Nicholas Murray But-r called the attention to an es-mated deficit faced by Colum-a at the beginning of the year 38-39 amounting to approxi-ately a Million, Two Hundred housand Dollars, and stated this nount was reduced to $363,052-1 by the "most stringent ec-ies." He warned that such ec-omies cannot be continued in-efinitely without seriously af-cting the work of the univer-y.

Had the university been able collect its entire income, he id, after making crippling budg-t cuts, the budget for the year ould have been in balance. The dget had already been cut by ore than $2,000,000 under the ar before.

INANCIAL CRAMPS

The third example is the Tus-egee Institute. Here is a school rough the devoted labors of its ustees and its three Principals. ooker T. Washington, Robert R. oton and Frederick D. Patter-n, which has been able to se-re an endowment which now ounts to something more than ,000,000, the largest endow-ent of any of the schools for egro education with the excep-on of Hampton Institute which as an endowment of approxi-ately $10,000,000.

Both Hampton and Tuskegee e undergoing financial 'cramps' this time. The reasons there-r have been set forth by Presi-ent Patterson in an interview hich recently appeared in the ttsburgh Courier. His state-ent is enlightening as to the resent situation: "The philan-ropists of an earlier generation ave died and in their places ave come their sons and daugh-rs. Gone are Peabody, Ogden, osenwald and hundreds of other ch whites whose hearts spoke to em of the need of education for e Negro. The hearts of their ns and daughters, for the most rt, are silent. Therefore, there re fewer and fewer gifts for Ne-o education."

AX SYSTEM ORKS INJURY

President Patterson mentions nother factor which has to do ith the new times.

"Taxes are heavier now than ey were in times past", he ex-lains. "The man with an in-ome of a million dollars a year day will probably have to give e Government three-quarters it. He doesn't have as much ft for private philanthropy. In me cases, his gifts are taxed. ust or unjust, the present tax stem works to the injury of r private schools."

And still another factor which as to do with endowments. hey are not yielding the ex-ected returns. What has hap-ened?

'Bond issues which have paid or 5 per cent," explans Presi-ent Patterson, 'are being called and re-issued at a lower in-erest rate, 2 or 3 per cent. There nothing the schools can do bout this."

MENACE TO EDUCATION

In all of this there is a grave enace to education in Ameri-a. The cases cited are but ex-mples. The same situation exists ith respect to all privately en-owed institutions. The Control-r of the University of Chicago n a survey of the finances of hat institution has shown that ncome from endowments has de-reased more than 34 per cent in he last ten years. In other words, he income value of one dollar f endowment principal now is orth less than two-thirds of its ncome value of a decade ago.

HE FATE OF EGRO INSTITUTIONS

If Columbia, the University of hicago, Harvard, Yale, and such nstitutions are crying out, what ust be the condition and fate f the privately-supported insti-utions for the education of Ne-ro youth—Hampton, Tuskegee, isk, Talladega, Atlanta, Dillard, eharry. Howard will suffer less han the others because its sup-ort comes mainly from the gov-rnment. Still, its endowment ecurities of approximately one illion dollars have suffered reviously along with the others. The endowments of these Ne-gro institutions are moderately small; their current incomes far below that of other years; and the parents of pupils are so impoverished they cannot meet the higher tuition charges made necessary to meet the needs, obligations and opportunities for service which are required of them. What all this means to Negro education of the future is all too apparent. Without relief of a substantial character our colleges and universities are headed for lowered standards and probable extinction.

WHAT IT MEANS

The impoverishment of these colleges and universities hits hardest the sons and daughters of the lower income group, the poor. If this thing goes on it means denial to them of opportunities to secure higher education.

This impairment of income from endowments also means increased tuition rates which only the wealthy and those in the upper brackets can afford—or decreased activities by these institutions.

It means, unless there is a change, that many promising Negro boys and girls will be denied the liberal education to which they are entitled, and which they otherwise would be able to secure.

The so-called abundant life is playing havoc with the only people able and willing to help support Negro education in the United States—the rich and the very rich. Federal income taxes in the highest bracket are nearly 80 per cent. The Federal estate tax runs to 70 per cent.

As President Hutchins of the University of Chicago has remarked: "You can hardly blame the rich for thinking that whatever the tax-gatherer leaves them is necessary for their own social security."

In 1913, American Federal State and local government taxes amounted to 12 per cent of the national income: now, they are nearly 24 per cent.

GOVERNMENT COMPETITION IN BUSINESS

Industry has borne many burdens since the New Deal came into being. It will doubtless be a surprise to the average citizen to be informed that 35 separate agencies with a capitalization of nearly 13 billions of dollars are operating in direct competition with business—and the end is not yet; other units are now being hinted.

This government competition has helped to slow up industry Private education as indicated, is suffering. Unemployment continues. And, all the while, we hear of how the rich are being soaked, while most of the taxes collected actually come from the lower income groups, and every increase in taxes inevitably must be collected from them.

These are some of the things to be pondered as we enter the Presidential campaign of 1940.

Scouting Beckons All Boys

When the Boy Scouts of America celebrates its 30th birthday on Thursday, February 8, all of the 1,330,000 Scouts, Cubs and Scout leaders will re-dedicate themselves to the service motive which has characterized the Movement for three decades. Scouting offers adventure, fun and achievement—attractive to all boys—through the democratic life of the Scout Troop and Patrol, as essential ingredients in its character-influencing program for the boys of America. Drawing on the rich experience of the Movement, local and national Scout leaders anticipate the opportunity to serve more boys annually.

Back Browder for Seat in Congress

NEW YORK, Feb. 1. (CNA)—Earl Browder, General Secretary of the Communist Party, reportedly received a letter from a group of Los Angeles Negroes this week, pledging him their support "in his present hour of persecution," and urging New York members of the race to "fully and unequivocally support his coming election as labor's foremost champion in America." Names of the letter writers were not revealed.

Simultaneously, 5000 registered voters, many of them Negroes, signed election petitions for the Communist candidate, thereby insuring him a place on the ballot. Browder is a candidate for Congress for the 14th Congressional district, New York City, to succeed the late Representative William Sirovich.

Following his conviction this week on a passport charge, Browder said he received hundreds of letters from all parts of the country, assailing his four-year prison sentence and two-thousand dollar fine, and pledging him support.

NEGRO LIKELY TO GO REPUBLICAN EVEN IF ROOSEVELT IS CANDIDATE

Rivers Says Race Resents Administration's Failure to Integrate It into Demo Party

By EARL BROWN
in New York Herald-Tribune

Even if President Roosevelt should seek a third term, the chances are good that the Negro voters will support the Republican presidential candidate, according to Francis E. Rivers, assistant district attorney of New York county and chairman of the eastern division of the Republican national campaign among Negroes in 1936.

"This administration", Mr. Rivers said, "has failed to pass an Anti-Lynching Bill; to solve even in part the unemployment problem, which affects the Negro people more than any other group; to integrate the race into the Democratic party on an equal basis with all others, or to integrate the Negro Democratic leaders into the policy-making forces of the party".

One the other hand, he said, the Republicans have integrated the Negroes into their party. . . and Negro Republican leaders have more voice in the national Republican affairs than Negro Democrats have in theirs.

Mr. Rivers cited as examples of the integral part the Negro leaders play in the Republican party the role of the Negro delegates from the South at the Republican National Convention; the activities of the Negro churches in both state and national Republican campaigns, and the support of the party by the Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the World, of which J. Finley Wilson is the Grand Exalted Ruler.

"After all is said and done", he said, "the main reason why the Negro vote may be found in the Republican fold next year is that, except in one or two states, the Negro voters have never really supported the Democratic party, but have supported President Roosevelt in spite of the party."

Mr. Rivers said there was a constant trek back to the Republican party by Negro voters in Pennsylvania, Ohio and New Jersey. He said the shift of the Negro vote in Philadelphia, last November from the New Deal to the Republican party was looked upon as an omen.

Having realized their power, potential as well as real, Negro voters in many states are determined to gain through their ballots a better "break" for the race. Herbert L. Bruce, Tammany leader of of the 21st Assembly District, supports this view, as does Mrs. Crystal Byrd Fauset, former member of the Pennsylvania State Legislature from Philadelphia.

Following is an estimate of the number of Negro voters in seventeen states, in eight of which, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Missouri, they hold the balance of power in any election that is not a runaway:

Connecticut, 12,000; Deleware, 14,000; Illinois, 200,000; Indiana, 60,000; Kansas, 30,000; Kentucky, 55,000; Maryland, 45,000; Massachusetts, 16,000; Michigan, 90,000; Missouri, 60,000; New Jersey, 100,000; New York, 240,000; Ohio, 140,000; Oklahoma, 35,000; Pensylvania, 210,000; Rhode Island, 2,500; West Virginia, 35,000.

NATIONAL NEGRO CONGRESS SAYS DIES' LANGUAGE INSULT TO RACE

NNC Says Texas Congressman Profaned High Office in Telephone Conversation

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Martin Dies, Texas congressman who is chairman of the committee to investigate un-American activity, is charged by the National Negro Congress with using "obscene and vituperative language, insulting to the Negro race" during a telephone conversation with a Negro Congress representative.

The charge, along with several others, was made against Dies at the mid-winter meeting of the executive board here last week. The board, with President A. Phillip Randolph presiding, laid plans for the third national convention of the Congress in Washington April 26, 27, and 28.

Congressman Dies profaned his 'high office as a member of the United States House of Representatives" by his language over the phone to a representative of the NNC, the body accused in a four page statement. The Congress representative was trying to adjust with Dies the matter of the appearance of a NNC spokesman before the Dies Committee to answer charges made by the Committee that the Congress is a "Communist Front Organization."

CHARGE PERJURY

William Nowell of Detroit, self-asserted Communist and "one of the chief organizers" of the National Negro Congress, perjured himself in testimony before the Dies Committee on the final day of the hearings, the Congress charged. In a statement issued in December, soon after Nowell "talked", the NNC denied that Nowell was ever "official or member of any Committee of any Congress body, locally or nationally."

Nowell had declared under oath that he had been a Communist and that the Congress was controlled by Communists.

Is Mr. Dies afraid of the "persistent and ugly rumor that he is himself a member of the Ku Klux Klan," asked the NNC in the course of its statement. The Dies Committee's failure to probe the Klan was scored bitterly by the Congress, which charged Dies with "covering up the un-American activities" of the Klan.

On Jan. 3, the congressional investigating committee on un-American activities, whose chairman is Dies, declared before the House of Representatives that the National Negro Congress "might properly be classified as a Communist Front Organization."

Denying the charge, the Congress claims that the Committee permitted one Walter S. Skeele to file a statement about the Congress which was made the basis of the Committee's charges. The NNC claimed that Skeele represented the United Sons and Daughters of the Confederacy.

Efforts of the Congress to obtain a hearing before the Committee to oppose Skeele's charges failed, the Congress said, and were finally climaxed by the telephone conversation with Mr. Dies in which the representative assertedly cursed and insulted the Race.

Launch Drive to Popularize Name of Frederick Douglass

NEW YORK, Feb. 1. (CNA)—Deploring the slight recognition accorded Frederick Douglas by historians, the Frederick Douglas Historical and Cultural League started a movement this week designed to place the name of the slave boy who rose to national prominence in its proper place in American history.

As an initial step the League will actively support an endeavor in this city to add the name of the great abolitionist to the Hall of Fame in Columbia University.

The campaign to elevate Douglas alongside other national historical personages was launched at a meeting held at the Harlem Art Center, attended by about 50 persons, including a number of students of Negro History.

In announcing the drive a spokesman for the League said that plans will be undertaken to promote the publication and wide distribution of "The Life and Times of Frederick Douglas," as well as to encourage the study of the rich historical and cultural heritage of the Negro people.

Clarence Darrow Defendant Buried

DETROIT, Feb. 1—Funeral services were held here last week for Atty. Henry W. Sweet, 33-year old famed defendant in a Clarence Darrow trial. Sweet died at a tuberculosis hospital where he had been a patient for six months.

In 1926, Sweet was acquitted of a murder charge, arising out of the death of a white man, Leon E. Breiner in a racial disturbance. Defending Sweet, his two brothers, a sister and 7 others, was famed "champion of the oppressed," Clarence Darrow, now dead. Purchase of a home by Sweet in an all-white neighborhood led to the shooting of Breiner.

DIRECT TO FAME

Week to week perusal of the daily and weekly press gives birth to the thought that Dame Fortune, fleeting though she may be, can best be nabbed and held for a longer period of time by those against whom some form of discrimination has been directed.

Two recent cases come to mind in support of this contention. When Marian Anderson was barred by the Daughters of the American Revolution from singing at Constitution Hall she was catapulted to lasting, undying fame.

Wherever she appears now, her audiences are made up of music lovers yes, but the curious and sympathetic, too.

Kenny Washington was barred from participating in an all-star football game, kept off several mythical teams, kept out of pro leagues, but now the daily and weekly press still goes in dithers over Kenny Washington, the football player, though the season has been over since Dec. 9.

COUNTY BEAUTIFIES VAL VERDE PARK FOR EARLY GRAND OPENING

Detailed Plan of Improvements Revealed as Modern Swimming Pool Is Completed

By FAY M. JACKSON

With the allocation of 1000 trees to Val Verde County Park this week by the Board of Supervisors, final touches to a beautification program for the park are being made prior to the grand opening of the swimming pool early next month.

According to Mrs. Hattie Baldwin, president of the Val Verde Property Owners Association, and Harry M. Waterman, owner of the subdivision and donor of the park site, there will be a mile of California Pepper trees decorating the main highway leading to the swimming pool when visitors attend the special ceremonies for its opening.

This is but one of the many features outlined by Mr. Waterman and Val Verdians to improve the park and adjoining property, it was disclosed.

Attorney Hugh E. MacBeth, who owns one of the ranch sites, is working on plans for an Art Museum where paintings, sculpture, manuscripts of music and literature, and inventions secured and loaned from all parts of the world will establish there a shrine of the race's contribution to world culture.

IMPROVEMENTS

There is a natural bowl situated in one of the hill sites which Mr. Waterman expects to give to the county and its colored citizens for the construction of an amphitheatre where concerts and plays may be given by distinguished colored artists.

It was stated unofficially that Los Angeles county's original budget for improvements for this area totaled approximately half a million dollars with a part of this sum contributed from Federal funds.

A detailed plan of improvements shows that $75,000 in roads, grading, firebreaks and 35,000 trees and shrubbery and more than 2 acres of lawn have been installed to date.

The swimming pool, around which much of the interest centers this spring, is said to be the second largest in the entire county.

POOL READY

It is a 150-foot tile structure, with indirect lighting at all points, ranging in depth from 3 feet to 18 feet. Every modern feature and safety device for swimmers, divers and plain waders is installed in this pool. Special lighting systems have been installed to illuminate the pool and its grounds for night swimming.

A beautiful Spanish-type bath house marks the entrance to the pool. Individual lockers, showers and dressing rooms are included in its features.

In order to complete the final work on the pool, 50 men were assigned to work on a 6-weeks construction program. They began last week.

FOR ALL RACES

While Val Verde is not restricted to Negroes, most of the surrounding home and ranch sites are owned by members of the race. The public recreation hall and other park facilities are always open to residents of surrounding towns: Saugus, Newhall, Santa Paula, Whittier, Fillmore, Piru and San Fernando.

It is estimated that, prior to the pool's opening, about 10,000 visitors of all races used the park. This number is expected to increase appreciably after the pool is opened next month.

Arrangements are being made to set the date of opening before the regular swimming season. It was suggested by Mr. Waterman and Mrs. Baldwin that a mammoth program will be arranged for Decoration Day.

SALES FORCE

Waterman stated this week that no competitive sale of property in Val Verde had been encouraged by him because he wished to see the district first improved and made attractive as an ideal country home and ranch site for small wage earners and retired workers.

A capable sales force is being selected to handle prospective buyers and the price of lots is being kept within the buying power of modest incomes.

Some of the well-known Val Verde property owners are: J. H. Scott, George Beavers, Mrs. Hattie Baldwin, Oscar Smith, Dr. E. B. Liddell, Hugh E. MacBeth, Ida Billups, Hattie Bruce, Ruth and Perry Fowler, Albert Baumann, Paul Williams, Harvey Brothers, Emily Portwig, Mrs. C. A. Bass, Howard Johnson, H. P. Page, Lillian Watkins, C. H. Dudley, C. K. Hawkins, Lenora Watkins and scores of others.

READING TRENDS

Books in lively demand at the Los Angeles Public Library during 1939 reflect an active interest in world affairs according to statistics gathered by branch and central librarians.

Seven in the thirteen best-sellers of non-fiction are concerned with the foreign situation: My Battle by Hitler, Days of Our Years by Van Passen, Inside Europe by Gunther, Reaching for the Stars by Waln. Stalin by Souvarine, Revolution of Nihilism by Rauschning, Not Peace but a Sword by Sheean.

Other popular titles included two on aviation: Anne Morrow Lindbergh's Listen! The Wind and Sain Exupery's Wind, Sand and Stars; Lin Yutang's Importance of Living, Richard Byrd's Alone and Margaret Halsey's humorous picture of the English, With Malice Toward Some.

Librarians recall that non-fiction came into best-seller lists only since 1920. Comparing the reading preferences of 1939 with those of a decade ago, the trend seems away from reading for pure relaxation or self analysis and toward a desire for information on world problems.

To be sure, there will always remain the desire for "escape" from too much reality and the predominating escape trend in fiction is toward the historical romance or adventure tale. Tree of Liberty, the story of Jeffersonian principles, by Elizabeth Page; All This and Heaven, Too, a novel of nineteenth century Boston, by Rachel Field; Children of God, a story of the Mormons, by Vardis Fisher are examples of good writing and historical background brought into fiction form.

In keeping with the idea of a larger youth participation in the official management of the Association, Melvin Nickerson was named to the Board. Nickerson, son of Wm. Nickerson, Jr., insurance executive, has been active in "Y" affairs for many years, starting as a boy, during which time he has taken an active part in the camp, club, and physical activities programs.

Count Basie to Play for Anniversary Ball in N. Y. on Feb. 9

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The Columbia Broadcasting system will carry the strains of Count Basie's music at the NAACP 31st anniversary ball here Feb. 9, over a national hookup through 15 stations on the chain, the Association announced today. The affair will be held at the Golden Gate ballroom.

The broadcast will last for half an hour beginning at 1:30 a. m. The program will be carried over stations as far as the west coast. Because southern stations are generally closed at that hour, the broadcast will probably be heard only as far south as Washington, D. C., it was said. The Association, however advised all its branches to check with their local CBS radio stations.

Teh New York affair is the key dance in a series which will include dances in many of the larger cities in the country, with several smaller localities participating. Money raised from tht sale of tickets for the dance will help to cut down a deficit from the last anti-lynching fight, and to aid in pushing the present anti-lynching bill through the Senate.

RUBY ELZY RETURNS; DISAPPOINTED IN CLOSING OF PLAY, 'JOHN HENRY'

By ALMENA DAVIS

Ruby Elzy is back in town, happy to be re-united with her husband, but quite frankly disappointed by the abrupt closing of "John Henry". Practically a native Californian after 12 months residence, Ruby went back to Broadway in October to play opposite Paul Robeson in "John Henry". The Roark Bradford play was shortlived, however. It closed at the 44th street theatre in Manhattan after five performances.

Miss Elzy talked frankly in a telephone interview early this week, about everything: "John Henry," Broadway, her own plans . . . . Unfortunately, there's no television apparatus attached to the EAGLE phone, so I couldn't see the changes, if any, three months away from California's alleged sunshine had made. There weren't any evident in her voice . . . the same friendly, enthusiastic and outspoken young woman, who has won many admirers since she set up residence here.

"'John Henry' didn't have to close," she said. "It had $8000 in advance sales the week it closed. People were coming to see it.

"But it wasn't a very good play. It wasn't put together very well . . . that wasn't very good for Mr. Robeson."

BAD NOTICES

Even way out here we were familiar with the critics' verdicts . . . 'An elaborate bore . . . 800 pounds of bad play," Time magazine called it. Ruby told why.

"It was slow. The music was not exciting." . . . for one thing.

The music was by Jacques Wolfe who wrote "The Glory Road," and "Shortening Bread." For "John Henry," Wolfe went South and got some "typically Negro" tunes, but they were "too much in the same key," said Elzy . . . of the same tone color.

And out here too, we had heard that the play's hit was Elzy's rendition of "Carleless Love". It stopped the show. But that piece, Elzy reminded us, was written by W. C. Handy. It's an old favorite of lovers of the blues.

"John Henry" opened first in Philadelphia and it was pretty bad. Its backers got another director, who re-wrote it and put it on in Boston. It was better, but still bad. Fingers crossed, it opened in New York . . . They might have gotten a better play out of the best parts of both versions, Elzy opined.

It was Robeson's decision to squash the play, just as it was Robeson who selected the classic because of its folk nature. Robeson also had objected to and had changed certain portions of the script in which the Negro was portrayed in lights that might be misunderstood and that might prove offensive to Negroes. With all due respect to the great actor-singer-scholar-athlete, Elzy disagreed with him there, thought those concessions made the play "spineless."

" 'John Henry' has great social significance," she said . . .

"But we, as Negroes, are too sensitive about what goes on about us in the theatre." Frankly, Elzy liked the play. She said, with a laugh, that it was her first portrayal of a young girl in love and loved. She was John Henry's Juliette . . . (that must have been an ATTRACTIVE part).

MONEY NO BAR

Money was no stumbling-block, Elzy claimed, giving the lie to reports that the play needed more backing. It started off with $80,000 and was well fixed when it closed. It was largely a question of Paul Robeson's name carrying a bad play . . . which isn't good for any actor, no matter how well placed he might be.

Present plans call for intensive study to prepare her lovely soprano voice for a concert tour next season. Of course, there's Hollywood, and to our tactfully worded question . . ."if something you like is offered you?", Ruby shot right back, . . . "if anything is offered me."

Curious discovery: When ex-Pres. Hoover described the Virgin Islands as "an effective poor house," he placed a stigma upon them that hasn't been wholly lifted. Someone should do an article on the two low-cost housing projects for urban-dwellers which are so successful over there.

By HARRY T. MORGAN

The "Ladies from Hell" have lost their skirts—by official decree, I might add. The said "Ladies" are the Scotch troups who fight in kilts and they won their name back in 1914. The British war office has turned thumbs down on the plaid kilties, while the Scots are insisting that "A man's a man for a' that". I'm all for the Gaelic lads, and if they win the argument I suppose German prisoners will greet newly arrived captives with, "Who was that lady I seen you with last night?"

I notice the Russian generals were recalled to explain to Stalin why they fumbled in Finland. That's one army where the generals are in a tougher spot than the privates. The soldiers get shot if they do—the generals if they don't.

Many folks are missing the full enjoyment of good bonded whiskeys because they think the prices are too high. Many choice, full flavored whiskeys from government bonded warehouse cost little more than ordinary kinds. Let Harry Morgan show you the difference. • KINLOCH REVIEWS FILM

Picture: "The Fighting 69th"
Players: J. Cagney, P. O'Brien, G. Brent
Place: Warner's

For a while "The Fighting 69th" makes a noise like a good picture, but after a time its woeful inadequacies are visible to the naked eye—and the blasted ear.

The whole thing is a cross between glorification of war, condemnation of war, the story of a regiment, the story of some of its members, the story of one member in particular, the story of Father Duffy, and a first lesson in how to wave the flag.

Sandwiched in between all of this are several highly reali tic battle scenes with bombs bursting everywhere but in the third row front. The men die so thick and fast that the audience is never given time to regret any single demise with particular concern.

Any six-year old audience is able to predict at the drop of the second reel that Master Cagney will finally defeat his cowardice and die a hero. Jerry Plunkett is the essence of all Jimmy Cagney roles, although in this instance he takes longer than usual to emerge heroic and a credit to his regiment and nation.

The initial scene at Camp Mills, New York, give promise of interesting development—but it turns out to be a politician's promise.

Pat O'Brien's impersonation of Father Duffy is singularly colorless. There is little or no attempt on his part to achieve what might have been a striking characterization. Father Duffy in the film is simply Pat O'Brien talking a little slower.

Jeffrey Lynn as Joyce Kilmer spouts poetry complete and beautiful on all occasions without premeditation or notes on scratch paper until his unfortunate liquidation.

George Brent bears the butt end of three rousing Americanism speeches in a resounding British accent. Most effective.

James Cagney manages a rather forceful interpretation of Jerry Plunkett and, unhampered by script and director, might have made him human and believable. At any rate, his was a nice try.

There is only one straight performance in the picture that rings the bell solidly—that of Alan Hale as the lusty top-sergeant Wynn.

Frank McHugh is also a tremendous aid as the comic doughboy. Without inhibitions on the one hand or great valor on the other, he is a sort of Mr. Average Soldier.

Sammy Cohen is good fun in a phoney role as a Jew who wants to fight in the exalted company of the Irish.

Once again the war is fought without the visible presence of any of the 342,277 Negro soldiers engaged therein.

. . . The second feature is a well-knit Philo Vance yarn, materially benefiting by smooth direction from William Clemens and a nice performance from James Stephenson.

Melodrama Enjoying Popularity

Melodrama is getting its face lifted and is undergoing a streamlining process in Hollywood.

Until the last few months, the melodrama had been relegated to the category of minor pictures and was used largely as a training ground for inexperienced youngsters.

Today, there is a long list of melodramas with star studded casts either in production or almost ready for release at every studio in the cinema capital. These vary in type from the comedy-melodrama to the heavy-handed features.

SEVERAL BEFORE CAMERAS

The latest one to start at Paramount is "Destiny," which is Basil Rathbone's first picture under his contract with the Marathon street studio. In the cast with Rathbone are John Howard, Ellen Drew, Ralph Morgan, Martin Kosleck, Vera Vague and Kitty Kelly, with Tim Whelan directing.

As it goes before the cameras Director James Hogan is completing the shooting of "The Woman From Hell" with Blanche Yurka, J. Carrol Naish, William Henry, Ralph Bellamy and Paul Kelly.

Bob Hope and Paulette Goddard are scheduled to start work in "The Ghost Breakers" soon. This is to be a successor to the highly successful "The Cat and the Canary".

Paramount also has "Adventure in Diamonds," with George Brent and Isa Miranda and "The Way of All Flesh" with Gladys George and Akim Tamiroff, almost ready for release.

MANY IN PREPARATION

In stages of preparation are such pictures as "The Night of January 16," a courtroom drama.

Twentieth Century-Fox will soon release the controversial "The Grapes of Wrath", saga of the migratory workers which stars Henry Fonda.

John Howard and Joan Bennett already have completed "Green Hell" for Universal. Hal Roach's "Of Mice and Men" is on the screens of the country.

Walter Wanger is preparing "Dynasty of Death," story of a munitions family, while Metro-Goldwyn Mayer is getting ready to put "Escape" in production.

Next film for Vivien (Scarlett O'Hara) Leigh is "Sidewalks of London", a comedy-melodrama in which she co-stars with Charles Laughton.

Marian Anderson to Sing Work of Young Composer

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Feb. 1—"Dark Virgin," a new work by Florence B. Price, young Negro composer, will be sung by Marian Anderson, famed contralto, in her appearance here tonight. Miss Price has to her credit a symphony which has been played by the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Newspaper stories here credited to Miss Anderson the complaint that American composers "do not somehow put enough 'meat' into their songs and that they are too short." The contralto reportedly stated however that she is always searching for songs that will "move her deeply" and consequently move her audience in a similar manner. Miss Anderson has a repertoire of 300 songs.

HODGE-PODGE IN SPORTS . . .

This is written before welterweight champion Henry Armstrong hits town but, the "Mighty Mite" will probably get his biggest reception on his arrival. Circumstances surrounding his Feb. 22 date with middleweight champion Ceferino Garcia has the whole town title-bout-minded . . . Dolly King, the Long Island university basketball ace, joins up with the world's champion Rennaisance basketball team in 1941. King is also a footballer of considerable repute . . .

From world's heavyweight champion Joe Louis' camp at Pompton Lakes, New Jersey, where the Brown Bomber is readying himself for the title bid of one Arturo Godoy, South American hopeful comes word that Louis has developed a new punch, a sort of left hook-uppercut . . . Up in San Francisco today Kenny Washington is honor guest at a Shrine luncheon. Last month, football fans over the nation, were hot under the collar over the injustice done him when he was not invited to participate in the Shrine East vs. West classic. Turning pro, Washington, plus his mates, will probably pack them into Kezar stadium Sunday in a benefit game . . .

The piece that appeared here last week about Mack Robinson brought forth several remarks, comments, et al, on the merits of the case but, as yet, no results. Mack is still looking for a job . . . One of the highlights of the Hollywood Legion hearing before the State Athletic Commission recently was the appearance, in behalf of the protestants, of Judge John Beardsley and attorney Jacob J. Moidel. The honorable judge and prominent attorney —the latter being chairman of the committee on the Bill of Rights of the Lawyers Club of Los Angeles — minced no words in their condemnation of the attitude of the stadium's officials. Both have long been warm friends of the race and have time and again battled racial discrimination. Moidel recently addressed the American Bar Association on the Bill of Rights and successfully introduced a Bill of Rights resolution before the recent convention of the California State Bar . . .

The hottest basketball crackerjack in high school or junior college circles is Francis Garland, L. A. City College's six-five center who currently tops all the jaysee individual scoring threats . . . The "experts" are beginning to take back their reports that Hank Armstrong is all washed up. Henry's performance last week when he TKO'd Pedro Montanez was classic . . .

Compton J.C. Cagers Battle Santa Monica and LACC

Compton Junior College's basketball team will either be very much in the race for the title or completely eliminated, following games this week-end against Santa Monica Junior College, winner of the Chaffey Invitational Tournament championship, and Los Angeles City College, winners of the State-wide jaysee tourney crown and victor over the Tartars in a close game two weeks ago. The Tartars will battle the strong Santa Monicans at Compton tonight and face Los Angeles in the Cub gymnasium tomorrow night.

Sango Crumpacker, Corsair mentor, is confident that he will have his team back in shape that he displayed in winning the Chaffey tournament crown, when the beach city five comes here tonight. In the tournament, the Santa Monicans outlasted 16 Central and Southern Jaysee fives to garner the championship.

The Tartars were toppled in a first round contest at Chaffey.

MARK IMPROVEMENT

Since that time, the Tartars have shown marked improvement, are regarded as serious title threats in the Metropolitan Conference.

Until this week, the Corsairs have been unimpressive since their triumphs at Chaffey. But the beach team is understood to be approaching their "red hot" form that won them the Tournament crown.

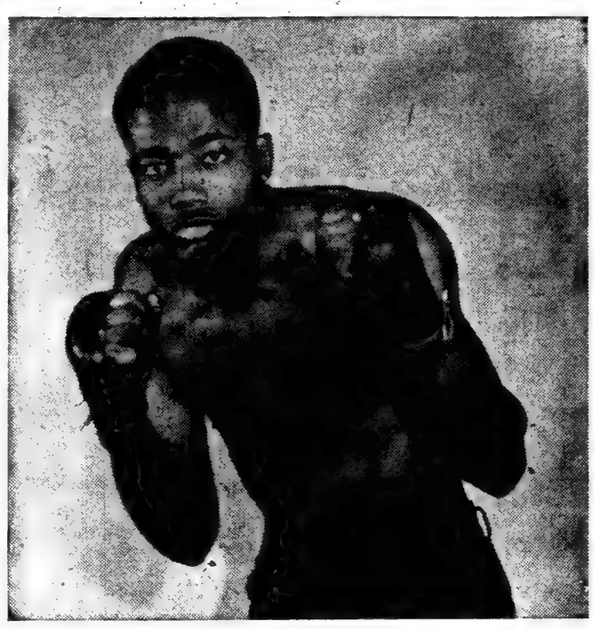
The Los Angeles-Compton tussle tomorrow night appears likely to settle the championship race. A victory for the Cubs would cinch the championship for the Los Angeles institution. A Tartar victory would probably throw the race in a deadlock between the Cubs and the Tartars, and the two teams would be expected to finish in a tie for top spot.

The Tartar-Cub clash will bring together for the second time this season Francis Garland, giant Cub Negro center, and Nye Moses, high-scoring Compton forward. Garland is one of the most dangerous scornig threats that the conference has known, ranking along with such Tartar greats as Vic Townsend and Carl "Buttercup" Anderson.

Great Thorobreds on Santa Anita Charity Card

Greatest thoroughbreds ever to participatte in the annual Charity Day race program will be on the 8-race card this year when the Fourth Annual benefit event is staged at Santa Anita, Valentine's Day, Feb. 14.

The reason is that this year's Charity Day falls about the middle of the Santa Anita meeting, whereas in other years Charity Day was scheduled either the last week or the final day of the meeting. Last year's program was the last day of racing at the Arcadia oval.



Webb Everett, Santa Anita official, stated this week that the calibre of thoroughbreds in the Charity Day Handicap would surpass all previous records.

Charity Day at Santa Anita is sponsored each year by four important Southern California organizations: the Elks, Catholic Youth Organizations, the Shrine and the Jewish Welfare Agencies.

Washington to Play in 'Frisco

Kenny's Team Plays in Golden Gate Bowl Benefit Tilt Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—Northern California football fans will have chance to see famed Kenny Washington, the UCLA Bruin halfback, and acclaimed the greatest football star in the West, in his first appearance here, Sunday at Kezar stadium; according to plans for the Golden Gate Bowl benefit game.

Washington is to head a great team of varsity seniors from various coast colleges, including Santa Clara, California, Stanford, Southern California, U. C. L. A., San Jose State, St. Mary's University of San Francisco, Pacific and other varsities.

The collegians will oppose a team of professional footballers from the National and American major pro leagues. The pro team will include many former coast grid stars who have achieved fame and fortune in professional ranks.

BOWL STARS DUE

It is expected that Washington will be flanked by a dozen stars currently supporting him in postseason exhibitions in Southern California. These include All-American Harry Smith, Doyle Nave and Fisk of U. S. C. Trojan's Rose Bowl fame, Woodie Strode, Frawley and other Bruin team mates of Kenny's, Leroy Zimmerman of San Jose State, and Whitey Smith of St. Mary's. Bay district college seniors will be added to the team, to give him a strong array.

The game at Kezar will be staged under the auspices of the Golden Gate Bowl committee incorporated by a citizen's committee of prominent leaders of fraternal, veterans, civic and patriotic organizations of San Francisco. Proceeds will aid needy, disabled and wounded veterans and their families, and fraternal charities. Secretary Jack Whalen faithful navigator of St. Francis assembly, fourth degree, Knights of Columbus, stated that in addition to serving deserving beneficiaries, the Golden Gate Bowl is intended to add to San Francisco's winter advertising features. Harry E. Wentworth, state executive chairman and past national vice-commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, is chairman of the executive committee. The coming game will be San Francisco's 10th annual post-season major professional benefit grid event.

Garland Leads Jaysee Scorers

Standing a fair chance of breaking the individual scoring mark of 190 points set last year by Vic Townsend of Compton Junior college, Francis Garland lanky center of Los Angeles City college, is leading the Metropolitan conference scorers this week with 85 digits.

The sensatinoal LACC basketball star must average slightly in excess to 21 points per game, however, during the second half of the double round robin schedule to break the record. Garland'saverage thus far has been 17 points per game.

Nye Moses, Compton forward, is in second slot behind Garland with an even 80 points. Bob Rohrer, Santa Monica forward, is third with 60.

Second Baptist Loses Cage Tilt

In a thrilling basketball game Jan. 23 which held the interest of the spectators until the very last second, the Second Baptist basketball team lost its first game of the year to a very tricky aggregation from the First Baptist church by the score of 36 to 30. The game was so close and interesting that a second game will be played in the First Baptist gym, Tuesday. Douglas Van Vactor was high point man for Second Baptist, scoring 16 points.

In a warm-up game for their next tilt with First Baptist, Second Baptist took the Tophatters Social club into camp Saturday night at the YMCA by a score of 26-25. Johnny Brakins was high scorer for SBC, scoring 9 points.

Long Beach 'Y' Trims 28th St. 145-lb. Hoopmen

Long Beach's 145 pound basketball team was "too hot to handle" as they scored a 55 to 33 victory over the 28th Street boys last Saturday. In the first quarter it looked as if Ralph Cooper's aggregation was off to the races, when Nickerson, Brewer, Cherry, Lewis and Bullock piled up a 12 to 4 lead.

Then the Long Beach machine began to roll and didn't stop until the half time whistle with the score 24 to 14 in their favor. Watts, Cherry, Lewis, Brewer and Christian started the second half and caught up a few points.

Then Long Beach started to roll again and increased their lead to 20 points. Al Brewer got hot in the last quarter and began swishing baske from all angles. The time-keeper's gun checked this last minute drive.

High point honors went to Remele, Long Beach guard who scored 16 points. Brewer was a runner up with 12 points. The teams meet again Saturday night in the Long Beach YMCA Gym.

DEMPSEY KNOCKS OUT LOUIS!

oOo oOo oOo oOo

Yep, Sportswriter Gene Tunney Says So

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—Jack Dempsey knocked out Joe Louis here tonight—in a mythical ring battle envisioned by none other than Gene Tunney, who used to be a boxing man himself.

Gene was asked by the editors of Look magazine to put on a contest between the present heavyweight champion and Jack Dempsey in his prime. Gene obliged with a blow-by-blow description, illustrated by a running picture story made up of sketches and composite photographs. The story appears in the issue of Look, out last Tuesday.

Says Gene of the fght: "One has to go back to the Homeric contest between Ulysses and Irus, the Beggar, to find its equal. For let it be known by all that never before have two gladiators with such capacity for destruction been pitted against each other."

BRIEF THRILLER

The fight, brief but thrilling, ended two and a half minutes after the opening bell. Louis had the better of it at the beginning and in fact succeeded in knocking the Manassa Mauler down with his deadly right—"probably the hardest punch ever seen in a ring when working right." But Jack came right back, "raining deadening rabbit blows" on the back of Joe's neck.

Then: "Dempsey close with a left uppercut meant for the liver. Jack's blow was low. The referee cautioned Dempsey" . . . and later: "another blow landed with a terrific thud against Louis' jaw."

From that point the fight was all Dempsey's. Joe went down but was too dazed to take his full count of 9. When he got up, "Dempsey leaped in with another overhand right that landed behind Louis' left ear. With the landing of that blow the 'call of the wild' in Louis was silenced, and the abysmal urge in Dempsey was gratified. Louis fell face down, where he was counted out."

It might have been different if Joe could have taken it as well as he could dish it out. But Gene Tunney, still literary, prefers to put it this way: "Had Louis' resistance been commensurate with the force of his own blow, he would have won."

2Y8 Varsity Wins Overtime Thriller at Jefferson High

Nate George and his stellar basketeers strengthened their championship aspirations with a smash hit performance, garnering them a 38-36 win over the Downtown Y. M. C. A. varsity at Jefferson high. Leading man, Frank Underwood, playing opposite Dodd, assumed the stellar role of high point man and was ably assisted by a fine supporting cast including Mars. McLaurin. Flynn, McLain, Richie, Scott, J. Brewer and Spiller.

The game closely fought and extended into an overtime period. High point men of each team were Underwood of 2Y8 and Baily of the Downtown team with 13 and 14 points respectively. Baily sank a tying basket just before the final gun, necessitating an overtime period. During the overtime period, Dave Flynn scored the two points that won the game for 2Y8. 2Y8 is now tied with Long Beach for first place.

'Blimp' Goes into Tailspin at Olympic

Crowell Punctures 'Blimp' in 3; Polite Tops Tuesday Fare

Floored five times in less than nine minutes, 315-pound 'Blimp' Williams, the Fresno big boy, was knocked out by Chuck Crowell in the third round of a scheduled 10-round bout at the Olympic Tuesday night.

Chuck tipped the Fairbanks at 94 pounds less than the "Blimp".

In the opening round, both giants became entangled and fell to the canvas. From then on, however, a winging session was held to the evident delight of 6500 fans on hand to witness the Finnish benefit boxing card.

NEEDS EXPERIENCE

Chuck began to deflate the "Blimp" in the second heat when a scorching right cross dropped the Fresno gladiator for the count of nine. In the next and last round, Williams was on the canvas four times, being counted out by referee Jack McDonald while resting on one knee.

"Blimp" made a hit here last week when he TKO'ed Haystack Sloan, a fair country belter in the ninth round. The long, rangy Crowell, who hails from Artesia, soon convinced the ringwise that the 315-pound behemoth needs more experience before being considered as a heavyweight prospect.

In the semi-windup, Jack Coggins, Negro heavy from San Diego, stopped George Blake's Johnny Petry in the third round.

Other results: Jimmy McDaniels nodded Everett Simmington in six, the latter being on the floor in the fourth; Carlos Miranda squelched Zeke Castro in three; and William "Society" Metcalf TKO'd Vic Vienna in round three of the curtain raiser.

Next week, Richard "Young" Polite meets Toby Virgil at the Olympic.

Jackie No. 4 in Scoring Race

Fourth in the southern division scoring race with 48 points, "Jitterbug" Jackie Robinson, U. C. L. A. basketball star, will get chance to increase his point total this week end when the Bruins battle the California Bears at Berkeley.

The Bruin-Bear series is the only southern division Pacific Coast conference activity this week. USC and Stanford are idle, the former leading the conference pack at present.

Topping Robinson in the scoring race are Vaughn, USC, with 64 digits; Sears, USC, 55; and Williams, Stanford 54.

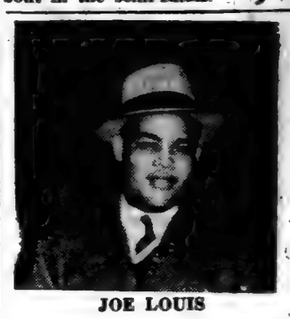
Negro Amateurs Take 5 Out of 8 National Belt Crowns

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—Although Alston Hoosman, heavyweight, and John Thomas, featherweight, both of Los Angeles, were eliminated, Negro boxerr won five of the eight titles in the National Hearst Diamond Belt championships held here last Wednesday night.



Teddy Wint, Diamond Belt champion from New York and a British West Indian, took the heavyweight crown, eliminating Hoosman, of the Urban League A. C. in the semi-final round. Danny Cox, New England's 175-pound champion, added the national title to his collection, technically knocking out Bill Lundy of Pittsburgh, also a Negro, in his final bout.

HOLDS 8 TITLES

The middleweight bauble was captured by Odell Reilly of Detroit. Reilly eliminated Ramon Velarde, middleweight hope of Los Angeles, in a semi-final match. James Edgar of Detroit, clinched national welterweight honors. Edgar holds eight titles, including three Diamond belts, two Golden Gloves, Midwes ern and Hearst All-American.

Tommy Campbell, also of Detroit, technically knocked out Tommy Moyer of Seattle, to take the lightweight championship. Moyer decisioned George Beckles of Boston in the semi final round. Basil Jones, Negro Diamond Belt champion of New England who hails from New York, could not make the prescribed 114 pourds to fight for the national flyweight crown.

Hoosman, who is the Southern California Golden Gloves and Tri-City heavyweight champion lost a close verdict to Wint. And Thomas, also Southern Cal. and Tri-City kingpin, was up against too much class in loosing his bout in the semi-finals.

WITH THE CHURCHES

Sweet Home Baptist church announces its corner stone laying exercises Sunday, February 11. Salton Sea Lodge of Elks will have charge of the ritualistic part of the work, Rev. Melton is the pastor.

4$ The Missionary Society of the C. M. E. church has extended invitations to similar organizations of the city for a union meeting in the home of Mrs. Vera Terry, E astSoteta Terry, East State Street, next Tuesday evening.

The services at the Second Baptist church were largely attended last Sunday, the pastor, Rev. Whitten preaching at both services. Miss Odessa Washington was soloist Sunday morning. Rehearsals have begun for the Easter Cantata and special music that will be rendered by the choir.

Indications are that the new church building will be ready for occupancy and dedication during the month of February. The pastor and the building committee are working towards that end.

Johnson's Chapel A. M. E. Church held inspirational services yesterday, the pastor preaching morning and evening. The attendance continues exceptionally good. The church will present A Negro Achievement Program Feb. 11. At this time there will be rendered a special program of music. Well informed citizens will bring addresses on this occasion. The publicity committee plans to make the program known throughout the city and valley. Much interest is shown in the plans for the meeting.

Miss Ophelia Walker, president of the Douglass high Girl Reserves represented her organization at a conference of leaders in San Diego last Saturday. The conference planned the program for the Mid winter session of the Girl Reserves of Southern California which will be held in San Diego during the month of March.

Messrs. Rudolph Johnson, William Powell and George Johnson of San Diego were week end visitors here. On their return home they were accompanied by Mrs. Rudolph Johnson.

Among those spending the week end on the Coast were Miss M. L. Phillips, Miss Wilhemina Lewis, Mrs. Ruth P. McGregor and son Allan, Mr. Augustus Shaw.

Jackson, journalist, who served for 8 years as an accredited Hollywood press correspondent for the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors Association and was a member of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Prominent figures in Hollywood film production are also expected to participate on the program.

Lincoln Must Be Laughing

In Washington, D. C., at the recent premiere there of "Abe Lincoln of Illinois", a catastrophic state of affairs was narrowly averted by the executives of the RKO Keith.

The Washington Daily News had conducted a city-wide campaign to find the Washingtonian who most resembled Lincoln of the Illinois period. Thomas P. Bomar, a Negro attorney, was finally selected, although the fact of his racial identity was unknown to contest judges.

Bomar was to receive his prize award from the stage of the jim crow theater, as the President's wife and other - ranking national officials were watched. His wife was to represent Mary Todd. He was to be heard on a great radio station along with Raymond Massey, the film's star.

However, minutes before the ceremony the earth-quaking discovery was made that Bomar is a Negro. The part of the evening's entertainment involving the "20th century Lincoln" was abruptly dropped.

Unless the Great Emancipator has lost his sense of humor, surely there was chuckling in heaven that night.

Revolt in Sacramento

Scorching news out of the state capital this week was the revolt of assembly members against gubernatorial dictatorship. Symbolically, the duly elected House Speaker Garrard ripped out the telephone wires connecting his dsek in the Assembly with the governor's office.

This is only the latest and most dramatic in a series of mishaps that have plagued the Olson administration. Previously, the Governor has lost the following important probations (1) the state treasury spent almost empty before half the fiscal year was completed, (2) the prolonged San Francisco dock strike, (3) increased immigration of "Okies" from the Dust Bowl areas.

The exhaustion of state funds a few months ago was by far the most embarrassing, since it was directly traceable to the sloppiest appropriation of funds in the state's history. It is fantastic to conceive that the governor could have planned an administration so carelessly that virtual bankruptcy overtook California before it was half executed. It was a unique, shocking and politically fatal performance.

Seemingly, the governor has surrounded himself with a group of Grain Trusters whose notions of expenditure outstrip the state treasury by several millions. Not to be discouraged, these men simply spent and spent until the coffers were empty and thousands of state employees on the risk of drawing blank pay checks. Their collective wisdom along monetary lines about equals that of the inmates of the Chicago stock yards--jackass section.

This fact is painfully evident in the governor's demands for increased taxation to the tune of $50,000,000. Who will pay it? You and I and the man next door. How will we pay it? Through the bread we eat, the rent we pay, the clothing we wear.

With his record to date as chief executive of one of the nation's greatest states, it is little wonder that the Assembly booted Olson's handpicked House Speaker candidate clear out of the political arena.

NEST HOMES COMPLETED

The joyous tidings that two new building units have been completed at the Duarte location of the Outdoor Life and Health Association brings the whole community so much closer to the realization of a favorite dream.

As the work of this tremendously beneficial organization goes forward quietly and modest- citizens would do well to remember the man who first envisioned such a body—our own beloved Dr. Leonard Stovall.

News from Newton Street

Several years ago there was an administration at Newton-Street Police Station that committed a momentous error. It ignored the rights, human and constitutional, of the community which it served.

Civil liberties were not observed, arrests were made without sufficient evidence, Negro officers were discriminated against. For a time, the community was terrorized by the very organization that was employed to protect it against crime.

Brutality and arrogance were the rule with administrative officers. The vicious notion was harbored by those in authority that a difference in skin texture presaged a difference in police methods. Certain gentlemen in the department, late of the great State of Texas, were known to have deflated opinions of the Negro citizen. It was also indicated by these individuals that colored leaders would do well "not to interfere with the police organization". On occasion, they added the fearful threat " . . . or else". This was calculated to place the fear of God and the police force in the hearts of community protesters.

One of the most effective means of subduing "civilian criticism" by this once-upon-a-time administration was the maltreatment of young Negro officers. They were demoted without just cause, treated without fitting respect, and given the worst assignments.

Pretty soon the citizens of the community got very tired of this sort of thing. The EAGLE and other local newspapers carried forward a militant fight to correct obvious injustices existent at Newton street. The consistent disturbance thus inspired finally raised considerable funk, a term recently dignified by the President of the United States, no less.

Soon certain police officials, formerly of the great State of Texas, found themselves formerly of the great police station of Newton St. In fact, some woke up patrolling beats in Watts and other far removed districts.

All this, of course, happened a long time ago.

MORAL: HISTORY OFTEN REPEATS ITSELF.

Fire Houses Aren't So Hot

City building superintendent Charles O. Brittan reported this week that several fire stations in the city must be abandoned and that many others are in dire condition.

Among these he placed "13 wooden firehouses that have been in use for 35 years or more."

Now, it would appear, this is striking pretty close to home. The fire stations in the Central Avenue area are undeniably timber masterpieces.

It would be very smart for local citizens, then, to watch fire commission appropriations in order to make sure that Central Avenue firehouse remodeling takes places sometime previous to that tragic moment when the commissioners, with woeful long faces, announce that the funds are all gone.

In the past, we have noted a singular tendency of civic funds to expire just before planned improvements are realized in the Central Ave. area.

PAT ON THE BACK

Often it is the way of the world to expend itself in pious denouncement of evil-doers, while totally ignoring the tremendous services and sacrifices of those we posthumously label "benefactors of mankind".

So, we pause in the midst of high editorial indignation at this and that, to administer a well-deserved "pat on the back" to Miss Theresa Dixon, a young nurse who came into our community something over a year ago and has since been involved in an unreasonable number of good deeds.

MODERN PIONEERS

NEWS ITEM: MODERN PIONEERS TO BE HONORED IN FEBRUARY COMMEMORATING 150TH ANNIVERSARY OF PATENT SYSTEM.

THE WORLD THIS WEEK

FIFTY YEARS OF CCC

No work to be done in the United States? Page the CCC!

Following an all-year survey of the jobs Federal and state departments are anxious to have the Civilian Conservation Corps tackle, James J. McEntee, acting director, reports enough public work available to keep 1500 CCC camps, staffed with 300,000 youths busily at work until 1990

Consternation and alarm would have greeted any report that such a government work agency as the WPA might abide with us another half century.

That no such outburst greeted the possibility of having CCC youths in our midst for a good many years to come indicates how closely and how successfully, the CCC has held fast to the purpose for which it was created: To conserve the nation's economic resources, to give idle lads a chance to learn a trade and earn some money to send parents in need back home.

Even Paul Bunyan, mightiest of woodsmen, could envy what these green-horn foresters—refugees from the city streets, from gangs of homeless youths, roaming the land—have accomplished in the short span of six years.

To have planted nearly 2,000,000 trees, built over 100,000 miles of mountain trails erected 71,692 miles of telephone lines, constructed some 40,000 bridges—to mention but a few items—is to have written an indelible record of accomplishment.

Whether the CCC will survive until 1990 is problematical. But one thing is certain. Its benefits will be recorded.

ADLESS NEWSPAPER

Sometimes the dream of the reformer, and always the despair of the practical man, a newspaper without paid advertising will make its debut on the sidewalks of New York about June 1. Entering on ground where angels—and newspapermen—generally fear to tread, Ralph McA. Ingersoll, publisher of a weekly newsmagazine announced plans for his adless journal.

It will be an evening paper, smaller in size than the usual tabloid, with news classified under headlines and very much briefed. It will sell for five cents. Most New York dailies cost three cents.

The results of this bold venture will be well worth watching. Will Mr. and Mrs. Average Reader pay that extra two cents—amounting to more than six dollars a year—for a super-streamlined daily digest of the news? If Mrs. Average Reader who does 85 percent of the nation's buying finds the absence of complete, detailed, and regular advertising a severe loss will she and Mr. Reader be willing to pay an extra 12 a year for a subscription to an additional newspaper which does not carry the essential service of advertising? As a concession to the vital role advertising plays in making possible low-cost mass production, the paper will carry an unsolicited digest of advertised items. But the question remains: Will its appeal as a novelty and time-saver outweigh its minus factors higher price and absence of thorough detailed advertising.

Publisher Ingersoll says he has been working on this project for several years. Therefore he should have most of the answers. By the year's end he, and an interested American audience, should have all the answers when New York's Mr. and Mrs. Newspaper Reader render a final verdict with nickles!

SIR JOHN'S NOT IN

Having won a reputation as a shrewd master of artful diplomacy in the last war, Britain now seems rapidly bending every effort to lose it. Putting a square peg in a round hole, the government has appointed Sir John Reith, celebrated for his dislike of newspapermen, as new head of the Ministry of Information. One of his first official acts was to have his secretary read over a loudspeaker, "an important announcement" to all correspondents. The announcement: "Sir John cannot see newspapermen." If Britain wants to create the impression she is only a bumbling muddler, she is succeeding excellently. And maybe that's smart diplomacy, too!

HER GAIN, OUR LOSS?

On the eve of the California legislature's special session, called to appropriate relief funds and vote new taxes, news coming out of Oklahoma enables this State to point with pride—or view with alarm.

Californians may pridefully point to the fact that at least one State CAN reduce expenses. Oklahoma's Governor Phillips has cut State expenditures $1,570,000 below appropriations since last July. At the present rate he will have saved $3,400,000 by the end of the fiscal year.

But hold on there! That word "Oklahoma" sounds familiar. Didn't they have a dust-bowl there once that sent, and sends thousands of penniless persons flocking to California for this State to support? Could it be that Oklahoma's budget saving is just so much budget deficit for us?

Let he who will point with pride. We view with alarm.

LEARN AND GUARD

Today is National Hygiene Day--and what does that mean?

It means that today added millions of people will by various media of publicity be made aware of the perils of syphilis and gonorrhea, the most prevalent of serious infectious diseases; that some of these people will take warning and some others action; and that more progress in the reduction of these misery-making maladies, costly to both public and private purse, will be recorded.

The American Social Hygiene Association and its National Anti-Syphilis Committee tell us that one in twenty adults have syphilis. This figure was obtained through 200 different group tests upon 4,000,000 persons. In some groups the incidence was quite low, in others alarmingly high. But the happier note is that syphilis in a large percentage of cases yields to medical science and that it can be rendered non-infectious to others.

Soundly, the American Social Hygiene Association and its sponsors are primarily interested in prevention of venereal disease. This is accomplished through education of young people, parents, and expectant parents, with the work paid for by private contributions of a voluntary nature. The Association wants children to be born free of syphilis, and many states now have made that easier through legislation. It wants youngsters taught that sex is a normal thing--a part of life, the abuse of which too frequently brings sad physical, mental, and economic consequences. It wants law enforcement and adequate recreation to lessen certain temptations which are known to breed disease.

But the Association knows that with all the preventive measures, too many unfortunates--mostly youths--contract syphilis nevertheless and that this disease and gonorrhea spread like wildfire. For this situation the procedure is straight-line: discover, treat regularly, and find the source of the infection to prevent further infection.

There is a fine working alliance between federal, state and local health officials and the American Social Hygiene Association, which organization inaugurated National Social Hygiene Day in 1937. Surgeon General Parran says:

"Action by government is not sufficient to deal with problems such as this which affects the whole people. Increasingly there is needed a strong national voluntary agency through which citizen interest can make itself felt. We are fortunate in having such an agency in the American Social Hygiene Association and its National Anti-Syphilis Committee."

Every citizens who can read or who listens to his radio can learn more about the prevention of syphilis. The American Social Hygiene Association, 50 West 50th Street, New York City, has information and advisory service for young people, for expectant mothers, and for parents. It will guide interested clubs and groups of all kinds. The Association does not treat infected persons. That is for the medical profession, hospitals, and health departments, but not for quacks, charlatans and unethical counter prescribers.

Learn more about syphilis and you surely will guard against syphilis!

Can We Count All the Negroes?

From The Black Dispatch

WHETHER the Negro is going forward or backward in American life will be completely reflected in the current census now under way in the United States. The Black Dispatch wants to stress the importance of every Negro giving correct answers to all questions asked by the enumerators in order that certain basic facts regarding Negro life may be fully established.

Certainly it is important to know whether there is an increase in the Negro population, or whether, like the Indian, the black man is passing off the scene. Even if the Negro population is increasing and Negroes for one reason or another fail of enumeration, the estimates finally assembled by the census bureau will be accepted as the truth, and failure to be numerated will, in the sum total, throw an improper reflection upon Negro life.

The first census of our country, taken in 1790, brought to light one fact the Negro population that is just as startling now as it was then. It showed that among the 3,929,214 persons who lived in the United States, 757,208 were of African ancestry. In other words, that Negroes constituted 19.3 per cent of the country's total population in those years just after the Revolution; that to every 1,000 white persons in the States, there were 239 Negroes! This earliest governmental population count was then, and still is, of tremendous importance, being one of the first tangible indications that America was to be a country which more than one racial group migh call "my native land."

Census that followed showed a gradual, sure rise in the number of Negroes in this country. By 1800 they numbered 1,002,037; by 1850, 3,638,808; by 1900, 8,833, 994; and by 1930. 11,891,143. Today, unofficial estimates of the number range upward from 12,000,000. Yet the PROPORTION of Negroes in the total population has consistently decreased. By 1800 it had dropped from 19.3 per cent to 18.9 per cent. By 1900 it had fallen to 11.6 per cent, and by 1940 it stood only 9.7 per cent. It is debatable whether Negroes will constitute as large a percentage of the total population in 1940 as they did in 1930.

The figures above, taken from census reports, should in no wise cause Negroes to gather the wrong notion about the virility of the black man's physical machine in the American climate and enviroment. As a matter of fact they do not reflect an accurate picture at all. For instance, there are two classes of Negroes in America; the legal Negro and the biological black man. Government statistics do not count any but legal Negroes on the black man's side of the fence, when as a matter of fact, biological studies will show integration of black into places where no recognition is given.

While in American life it is argued that one drop of black blood converts an individual into a Negro, it is also well known that today millions of light-skinned Negroes have stepped over into the white race, in order to make contact with power, finance, social position and other emoluments, and privileges not accorded black men. One outstanding observer in the West Coast several years ago in a published statement asserted dependable statistics showed that 10,000 mulatto Negroes are annually stepping over into the white race. If this is true, census statistics fall short in failure to record the biological changes coming to white blood by accretion.

Accepting the legal Negro as the standard, most citizens of the United States are inclined to say "Negroes are getting lighter." A very sensible thing to say in discussing such a subject would be "White folk are getting darker." We may turn our baik in Amerika upon this viewpoint, but if 10,000 mulatto Negroes are stepping over the line "passing" every 12 months no one can satisfactorily argue away this biological fact.

The point we wish to make is that we must give full credit to the virility of black blood, after we have counted the "legal" Negroes. It is safe to say that millions among the accepted white and Indian population have percentages of Negro blood.

In other words, the lowering of the population ration of legal Negroes may be indicatory of a very disturbing fact. We think it does prove that amalgamation is rapidly fusing ethnic strains here in America.

We, of course, do not believe that one drop of black blood makes an individual a Negro, but if this theory of the white man, which he has written into most of the state constitutions of the South, has any basis in fact, he must give the black man credit for the millions of mulattoes who have stepped over the line. All are Negroes measured by the bogus and silly yard stick used, so long as the ethnic strain is evidenced through color. Are we going to reverse our reasoning about blood after the color line fades?

We think the federal census will show a decided gain in the Negro population of the United States, but whatever the final count, we are sure Uncle Sam will not attempt to dig into our ethnic organization sufficiently to determine blood balances, which, after all, has a great deal to do with the most important question extant in the United States.

The LAUNDRYMAN

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Upon the cover of a recent issue of Life magazine, is a picture of a group of bronze-colored children of the Dutch East-Indies islands, executing a dance called the "Djanger". The accompanying article states that the Dutch East Indies comprises 20,000 islands peopled by sixty-five million brown, Javanese natives, and is Holland's richest possession, bringing to that country billions of dollars annually from oil, rice, rubber and quinine.

Perhaps unconscious of the irony conveyed by his words, in almost the next breath the writer calmly states that ONLY 2,000 OF THE 65,000,000 JAVANESE NATIVES EARN MORE THAN MORE THAN $2000 PER YEAR. (the caps are mine). The rest of them rarely ever see or handle any cash at all. In vivid contrast, the 240,000 Europeans residing there live like petty feudal princes according to the writer. Every one of them has at least two servants, whose top wages never exceed $8.00 per month.

Quite a few illustrated pictures accompany the article, portraying the various industries, portraying oil, and rice fields, the rubber plantations which produce the wealth of this prized Dutch possession. And as I read, and looked at the various pictures I could not help but conclude that the natives, whose labor has made possible the industrial development of this fertile country, should undoubtedly receive a much larger proportion of its wealth than they now do.

Frequently, one finds white writers quite lacking in a sense of humor when writing about the darker races. This particular writer went on to say that the Dutch were quite uneasy over the possibility that the Japs may try to seize the islands on account of the oil produced there, which the Japs need badly. Their uneasiness is heightened by the fact that the Dutch navy is no match for that of the Nipponese. However, he went on, "The United States would probably intervene in behalf of the Dutch because the seizure of the Dutch possessions by the Japs would constitute a threat to the Phillipines."

As I mulled over his statements, various thoughts flashed through my brain. The first was, that it never occurred to the writer that the brown natives might be much better off under Japanese rule than under their present masters. By no stretch of the imagination could it hardly be any worse. More than likely their condition would be immensely improved, since the two races have similar backgrounds and would not be hopelessly separated by the impassable, superiority-complex wall that the white man hauls around with him where ever he goes.

My next wonderment was, why the writer was so confidently hopeful that the USA would step in to save the Dutch from probable defeat, in case of war. His excuse about the proximity of the Phillipines did not sound sufficiently plausible, so I delved farther into his article and finally discovered the "Nordic" in the wood-pile. It was this. In speaking of the oil development in Java, the richest island, he stated that three Standard Oil Companies, those of New Jersey, New York, and California have invested heavily in oil production there. At once I began to see the light.

Nevertheless, I cannot believe that our honored president would consider sending American boys that far away from home to fight and die for Standard Oil. I hope not. On the other hand, if the conditions cited in the article are true, I earnestly hope and pray that the Japs will blast the Dutch out of the Orient, and give those 65,000,000 brown people a chance to participate more equally in the enormous wealth they are producing for their Dutch masters. And Believe It or Not, that day may not be so very far away.

Fay Allen Tells Objective — 1,000 Members By March

Off to an enthusiastic start this week was the campaign for associate members of the Los Angeles Council of the National Negro Congress.

Following a meeting of executive officers, division captains and committeemen, Mrs. Fay E. Allen, executive chairman of the Congress said: "Our objective to secure a thousand membtrs for the Congress by March promises to be extremely successful. We know that many of these individuals and organizations who have co-operated so splendidly with the Congress in all its efforts during the past three years, will welcome this opportunity to become more closely associated ith us."

Unique feature of the campaign will be the organization of committeemen into four special divisions, each assigned to a specific contact field. Concentrating on craftsmen and workers will be the division headed by Mrs. Clyde Howell, well known union auxiliary leader and civic orker. Helen Duncan, prominent young socialite, will captain a team which will contact professional and business groups. Religious groups will be contacted by a group directed by Mrs. Myrtle Williams, active church worker. Robert Strather and his team will concentrate on civic and social groups.

Each team will aim at demonstrating by the number of memberships secured that persons in the special field each is assigned to contact are most interested in civic and economic progress. It is expected that keen competition among the four groups will thus be developed.

Full information regarding the Congress can be secured by telephoning Federal 7295.
